Dear Tomas,

The presentation yesterday to Michael Carney, Director, Public Relations for the Pacific Telesis Group, was perfect. Michael was very impressed with the Oxnard College Technology plan. He admired the high quality and well organized work, which has already taken place. Involvement of the students made a big impression on him; Pacific Bell is always looking for well-trained technicians. I suggest you write and thank him for his visit, invite him back for the tour and outline briefly what you will be requesting in the future proposal to the Pacific Telesis Foundation.

I am very pleased to be assisting you, as a volunteer. I am truly excited about the tremendous potential in your overall Oxnard College Technology Plan. The enclosed plan might be helpful.

As per our phone conversation today, I would like your stamp of approval to proceed with the following ideas and/or activities:

1. Introduce the technology plan (same as you did to Michael Carney) to Steve Wright from GTE, perhaps invite him to the special lunch at the College on Wednesday.
2. Invite Maria Echaveste, Director of the Office of Public Liaison for the White House (Clinton Administration), to visit Oxnard College for the purpose of reviewing the Technology Plan. Maria will be coming to Oxnard on Saturday April 12, 1997 (note enclosed flyer). As you know Maria lived in La Colonia and also attended Channel Island High School. I think, technology is President Clinton's priority for education. The administration, I believe, is providing monies for technology education demonstration projects throughout the United States. It would be great if she would agree to offer support to the overall Oxnard College Technology Programs. The letter of invitation could go under your signature or Judith Valles. Her address is: The White House, 1600 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D.C. 20500. The general White House phone number is (202) 456-1414. I will be interviewing Maria for the UCSB Latino Study.
3. If OK with you I would like to continue contacting (as my limited time allows) other funding sources to support not only the Oxnard College technology plan but other College projects such as the language Institute. I would like to make preliminary contacts with the ARCO Foundation, AT&T Foundation and others.

It is a pleasure working with you.

Lupe Anguiano, President
