

Non-tax status Ad concern

SF State's administration won't act on Bill 6-64 until it knows what the measure will do to the Associated Students' non-tax status.

The Summer Community Involvement Leadership Training Program, also known as the "SNCC bill," was passed by the Legislature May 14. A total of $3,000 was allocated to enact the program.

While the bill proposed no specific plan, it does say that there will be no participation in "any activities prohibited by the California State Educational Code, or the Federal or State codes governing the expenditure of funds of non-profit corporations."

But some administrators believe that activities of a political nature will be included in the program.

This would endanger the AS's non-tax status. According to the California Administration Code, (Title five), no funds shall be used "to support or to oppose any political issue or candidate."

AS Business Manager Harold Harroun said Monday that copies of the bill will be sent to Harry Brakebill, vice-president-business affairs, to be reviewed by the college administration.

Brakebill, who was reached just before press time, refused to anticipate any action on the bill.

"The bill can't be given much consideration until we know what it is," he said. "There isn't indication of what the program is," he said, referring to the wording of the measure.

A copy will also be sent to the Board of Trustees' legal department for their recommendations and interpretations.

Former AS President Tom Ramsay said Monday that specific conferences and events would be presented to a six-man administrating committee, which would allocate funds.

Assistant Speaker Jim Nixon, who sponsored the legislation, said Friday that proposed conferences include:

- The National Student Association's presidents conference.

- A tentative conference on tutorials in Chicago.

- A Northern Student Movement conference, from whose plans SF State's tutorial program has been developed.

- The Congress of Federated Organizations.

SF State delegation 'dissents' at confab

By RALPH HENN

SF State AS President Joe Persico was nominated as candidate for president of the California State Colleges Student Presidents' Association (CSCSPA) Saturday by the incoming presidents at the CSCSPA meeting here, but withdrew his candidacy Sunday after disagreement on a resolution passed by the outgoing presidents.

The part of a resolution on the level of student fee support in the state colleges to which SF State delegates objected recommended: "that the current level of student support of fee structures should be preserved . . . ; and that if an increase in expenses to the student is absolutely essential . . . then a direct increase in materials and service fees . . . would be acceptable to this organization."

After passage of the resolution by a 11-3 vote (Hayward, Stanislaus and SF State voted against it), SF State outgoing presxy, Tom Ramsay, asked that it be officially recorded that "SF State vigorously dis-sents from this piece of garbage just passed."

Ramsay said they had sold out the Master Plan which provides for a quality higher education for all capable students in California.

Ramsay strongly criticized the group for not knowing what was in the Master Plan. Persico then rose and withdrew as a candidate for CSCSPA president because he "must return to his campus of 15,000 and lead a fight against a fee raise" and because "SF State must reevaluate whether it wishes to continue its membership in the CSCSPA."

Incoming presidents of the group carried on SF State's fight as the three remaining candidates for president criticized the group's actions in the past as "irresponsible and irrational." One candidate said the group was "built up with its own importance."

(CSCSPA was organized in 1959 and was officially recognized by the Board of Trustees just last year. The CSCSPA president represents the group at the Board of Trustees meetings. They also frequently address resolutions to the Chancellor and the state legislature. As a channel for the campuses to communicate with these offices, the CSCSPA's recognition has grown considerable in the past year.)

Following the election of San Jose State vice-president and president elect Bob Pisano as president of CSCSPA, the newly seated presidents unanimously decided to withhold the outgoing president's resolution from being present.

Bill still needs clarification

SOME CLARIFICATION is needed regarding the Gater's stand on the AS legislature's action last week.

The Gater has not at any time attacked SNCC or its goals. We have questioned the action of the legislature in setting up a $3,000 "Summer Community Involvement Leadership Training Program" to send students to participate in various conferences and ostensibly the Mississippi voter registration project of which SNCC is taking part.

This is a subsidization of an off-campus activity, spending student funds which do not benefit the students. In the unclear wording of the bill there is no indication of what the "participants" who will be selected by a commission will do or where they will be.

THE GATER IS ALSO concerned with the intent of the legislature in acting on a $7,900 proposal to pay themselves.

Neither of these actions shows that the legislature is interested in the welfare of the students.

If the legislature wants to show that it is acting in the best interests of the campus, the rationale behind its recent actions should be clearly explained.

THIS WOULD BE a responsible alternative to a bill that is so vaguely phrased that it smacks of some "behind-the-scenes" arrangement.

Let the legislature state the rationale for a stipend. Now is the time for the legislature to exonerate itself by clearly stating its intentions.

If these intentions are not stated, then only suspicion, distrust and enmity will result.

Controversy on Bill 6-64

Town Meeting set today

"I have initiated a petition to recall the executive and legislative officers for the academic year '64-'65. I will spend every cent I own to see the 'SNCC Bill' defeated."

These are the words of Mark Mezzetta, a senior majoring in history here and former presidential candidate for AS in fall of '63.

Joe Persico, AS president for fall of '64, and Tom Ramsay, AS president, will debate Mezzetta at a town meeting. The meeting, "Should AS pay for SNCC Delegates to the South?" will be held at noon on the Speakers Platform.

Persico will represent the AS government.

Ramsay will present SNCC's viewpoint.

"After the major speeches, the platform will be open to others who wish to speak," Bob Berkowitz, chairman of the town meeting, said.

The meeting is sponsored by the Forensics Union.

Music frat recital today

Phi Mu Alpha, the honorary music fraternity, will present a pledge recital today in the Main Auditorium at 1 p.m.

Among works to be performed will be Paul Bowles' "Music for a Farce," "La Cathedrale Englantie," by Claude Debussy, "Three Duets" by Wolfgang A. Mozart, Gerald Finzi's "Who Is Sylvia?", and "Sonata for Tuba and Piano" by Alec Wilder.

The performance will consist of solos, duets, and ensembles.

Letters to the editor

We were first

Editor:

Recently the AAUP in a manner of speaking "decorated" Dr. Clark Kerr, president of the University of California, for his policy which permits speakers of all political complexions to speak on the campuses of the university. Now we have word that the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith has awarded the Human Relations Award to Dr. Kerr. These forms of recognition of a great president of a great university are very laudable. In honoring President Kerr the organizations named have honored all who believe in and who sustain our individual liberties.

However, I regret very much that our college has not been similarly honored, for we have preceded the University of California by at least one year, and probably two, in having an "open society" campus. I have a copy of a letter, dated March 1963, published over my name in the Berkeley Gazette, wherein I complained that the University was restrictive in its policy toward "unpopular" speakers. At the time this letter was published our Speakers Platform had been in use for about a year.

All of the openings are for immediate filling.

I believe that our college is probably unique in the country with respect to its militant support of political liberty. I say this without endorsing the slightly hysterical utterances published recently in the Gater which confuse any sort of restraint in the uses of the Platform, as suggested by a Gater editorial with an abject surrender to black reaction.

Vote on SNCC bill
Editor.

I wish to take this opportunity to express my opinion on the issue of AS funds and their pending appropriation to SNCC.

Essentially I am in full accord with the principals and ideals as set forth by SNCC. However, I am also of the opinion that the various methods employed by the "committees" to demonstrate or sit in for every issue that comes along. (sic)

It is my opinion that the Negro voter registration is a very important issue, however, I do not feel that it is one that SFSC should "donate" $2,000 to.

I feel that as a member of the AS I should have the right (by vote) to say whether or not the AS should give money to any organization or cause; whether it be to SNCC or to the Ku Klux Klan. If it is legal for one it is legal for the other.

Therefore, I demand as a member of the AS that the legislature give the entire student body the opportunity to express its opinion through a ballot as to whether or not this money should be spent.

Modern dance or midnight horror?

By TOM CARTER

Welcome to Intersanctum. Yes, Virginia, there really is a horror element on this campus.

Imagine the scary distorted face of Boris Korloff, the pathological cravings of a Lon Chaney, the incensed Vincent Price rolling his eyes. And all that screechy, humming, vibrant background music. And the weird sylphs who dance like specters on freshly filled graves at midnight.

Does it make you want a bag of popcorn? Or maybe take a trip to the bathroom?

It wasn't a horror movie in the Gallery Lounge Friday. It was modern dance to electronic music.

But what it was all about is another thing. Maybe a satire, in part, on student life. May-

$2.7 million worth of expansion in CA

By GARY BOSC

The SF State Radio-Television-Film Department has fulfilled a considerable number of projects this year, including construction of a $2.7 million building now near completion.

Among the School of Creative Arts' most notable accomplishments are:

- At the beginning of this semester, the department was awarded the American Foundation for the Blind Certificate of Merit for its half hour documentary film produced by SF State's professor of Radio-Television, David Coffing.

- Orientation for new students was televised by the SF State Radio-TV Department, and the same project will continue next fall.

- A new building, which is costing more than $2 million to construct, will provide the radio-television department with a great number of mechanical facilities such as three major television studios, and a large area for the film section of the creative arts division.

- SF State's Radio-TV Department is working with the education department on campus to televise various classes at the Frederic Burk School for teaching education majors how to conduct grammar school class sessions.

- For the first time this semester, an SF State Motion Picture Guild was formed as a comparable organization to the present SF State Radio-Television Guild. The film section of the radio-TV department had always been just a part of this category until the beginning of this year.

- This was also the first year that SF State radio-television majors had a choice between two branches of this department—either broadcasting or motion picture.

- The SF State 14th Annual Radio-Television Conference also took place on campus this semester. At a banquet given by the department on April 18, five radio-television majors received awards for their efforts in particular fields of study.

In addition to the many other things that this department has accomplished this semester, there is still one major event that is scheduled to take place on campus later this month. It will be The Second Annual Film Finals, and will include a presentation of the film work done the past semester by beginning, intermediate, and advanced students.

According to Assistant Professor of Radio-Television and Film, J. Goldner, "Films, both sound and silent, black and white and color will be shown; they will range from the most simple two minute beginning production experiences to full scale composite sound projects." The program will be in the Main Auditorium, May 22 at 7 p.m.

This department's plans for the future are also great. Among the things that are to be fulfilled in the coming months include the writing of an original television play for production, the offering of a new Creative Arts class next fall which will combine both drama and radio-television departments, and the construction of both a motion picture workshop and an educational television workshop.

No free love for writers--Cela

Integration, abortion, free love and the glory of Spain are not legitimate responsibilities of an author. He has no right to fight for anything but truth for as an author he must be this world's conscience.

This was the idea Camilo Jose Cela, author of "La Familia de Pascual Duarte" concerned himself with in a speech to a group of two hundred people assembled in the Gallery Lounge Thursday.

The impact of his speech, "Examen de Conciencia de un Escritor," was lessened by the fact that many of the students understood only half of what was said. Nevertheless, his Spanish was impeccable and, for those who understood it, very meaningful.

His theme was the obligation, requirements, and essence of being an author. In Cela's existential view, an idea which he fostered as "tremendismo," the most important quality of a writer is integrity and the essence is truth. Solitude is the key word.

In Cela's terms, this means the writer must comprehend fully and therefore empathize while never allowing himself the luxuries of sympathy or antipathy. An author has no right to judge and must never be subject to personal vanities or crusades. He has an obligation to be universal and is therefore required to write according to what he sees rather than what he would like to see.

Cela said the author must recognize the tragedy of life yet must not allow this, "by inaction, to be converted into sterile resentment." Action is an integral part of Cela's concept.

A writer must be able to see the paths of others, yet he must make a path apart from theirs. The author's life "must be lived dangerously, but without anger and with love," Cela said.

A reception presented by the Club Cervantes followed the speech.

Penalty poll--500 students agree about punishments

Would freshmen subscribe more severe punishments to criminals than seniors?

After observing the results from a questionnaire presented to 500 freshmen and seniors on this subject it was found out that at SF State, educational level "doesn't make a damned bit of difference," according to Baba Shabbas, a senior sociology student here.

The questionnaire consisted of five hypothetical cases with a choice of 10 punishments to select from ranging from execution to a suspended sentence.

Unfortunately the two groups did not have enough variance for any conclusion to be drawn. The .08 difference (seniors subscribing a lighter punishment) could be caused by an accidental miscalculation.

"If the study had been made at a more conservative college, such as UC at Santa Barbara, the hypothesis might have been proven true," Shabbas continued.

The returns, which were much higher than expected, 55.4 per cent, showed that females were more lenient than

THIS IS YOUR LIFE

How are you spending it? In 20th century America we all have much freedom to pursue the goals and interests of our choice. The easiest road to follow is the one pursued by the majority of people. This includes a life filled with material comforts and pleasures, and dedicated to self exaltation. However, there are great moral laws in our universe which sooner or later will come to bear upon all our lives as inescapably as the law of gravity. Life may seem to be a great, free adventure today, but ". . . it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment." (Heb. 9:27).

If you are not a Christian, you are still subject to the law of sin and death. You can never be sure that you will live to a ripe old age. A week from now your friends could be gathered to plant you in the earth with sorrow, kind words, and praises for the "good" life you have lived.

"But we are all as an unclean thing, and all our righteousnesses are as filthy rags; and we all do fade as a leaf; and our iniquities, like the wind, have taken us away." Isaiah 64:6.

What will happen to you after physical death? The Bible tells us again and again that this will not be the end. We as individual persons will never cease to exist.

"Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming in which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice and shall come forth; they that have done good unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil unto the resurrection of damnation." John 5:28, 29.

Unbelievers have an appointment after physical death before the Great White Throne of Judgment where their lives will be reviewed by a just and righteous God:

"And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God: and the books were opened: and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works." Rev. 20:12.

Unlike the popular TV program, God's review of your life will cover the bad deeds as well as the high points. The sins, lies, deceipts, hate, hypocrisy, and secret things will all be revealed:

"But I say unto you, that every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment." Matt. 12:36. "Be not deceived, God is not mocked: for whatsoever man soweth, that shall he also reap." Gal. 6:7. "For there is nothing hid, which shall not be manifested." Mark 4:22.

Standing before a just and holy God, no man can escape complete condemnation on the merits of his own life and works.

"For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." Rom. 3:23. "And whosoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire." Rev. 20:15.

But conscious eternal torment need not be your fate. "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life," John 3:16.

"If thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus Christ, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved." Rom. 10:9.

When Christ died on the cross He bore the penalty for your sins and mine. The Christian made a new creation the minute he or she accepts Jesus Christ and escapes eternal damnation.

"Verily, verily, I say unto thee, except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of heaven." John 3:3.

"Therefore, if any person is in Christ, the Messiah, he is a new creation: the old has passed away. Behold, the fresh and new has come." II Cor. 5:17.

Today you are on one of two roads in life—the road to eternal separation from God (eternal damnation) or the road of eternal life with Him. If you are on the former road, won't you accept Jesus Christ as Lord and Saviour today? Remember, this is your life! Which eternal destiny will you choose?

Many people have asked what that "dirty old man who draws the cartoons looks like" so the Gater sports staff decided to let the public feast their eyes on his countenance.

He wanted to draw a cartoon of himself and portray himself as a dashing, handsome figure but we do not believe in fooling the public.

In tomorrow's final edition Knatz has stated that he will dispose of the entire staff of little men that have roamed throughout his cartoons this semester.

Once great PEers in face-saving game

By IRA BASCOMB

The high and mighty Vets will again meet the Physical Education Faculty on the softball field today at noon.

Completely confident after their recent 3-0 win over these same Pros, the Vets have vowed not only to beat the PEers but not even allow the once powerful faculty squad to score a run.

The faculty might have their hands full again as the Vets just recently beat the Gater AC, 14-9, in something less than a pitcher's duel.

"We cannot be beaten," cried Bob Soper, self-appointed publicity manager for the Vets. "We are much too good for these guys."

Vic Rowen is a doubtful starter for the PEers this time after his mental boo-boo in the first encounter.

He was called out for leaving second base too soon and thus earned the title of "The Game's Rally Killer."

Starting pitchers for the Vets will be Jerry "Specs"

DelSecco while the Pros will counter with Frank "Limp-arm" Verducci. Admission is free.

Prexys request foreign advisors

ed to the Board of Trustees at their June meeting and to place on their September meeting agenda a resolution on fees to be presented to the Board in the fall after further study of the Master Plan could be made.

A resolution was also brought before the outgoing prexys in regard to admissions, but no action was taken until further study could be made of the Master Plan.

The resolution said the group "would view with concern any permanent adjustment of admission standards that would bar significant numbers of presently eligible students . . ."

Ramsay attacked the resolution as not dealing with the main problem — centralized admissions.

The outgoing presidents also passed several resolutions on other items.

In a resolution they asked the Board of Trustees to re-word and clarify an addition to the Educational Code on security regulations now being considered.

The addition would prohibit "Soliciting, selling, exposing for sale or offering to sell any goods, articles, wares or merchandise of any nature . . . on the state college campuses . . . except . . . by permission of the president of the college." The addition would not include private sales between individuals.

The CSCSPA said the addition would give the right of censorship to the president and asked that it be amended to exclude printed media that may be a vehicle of ideas."

It also asked that the addition exclude all sales conducted by recognized, on-campus organizations.

The CSCSPA also passed a resolution asking "that the position of Foreign Student Advisor . . . be created in the state colleges."

This resolution came after discussion on the "bootlegging" practice now used in advising foreign students.

The "whereas" clauses of the resolution state that untrained and unqualified personnel are now often taken from counseling and psychology departments.

In connection with foreign students, the group passed a resolution recommending that student governments "assume more responsibility for establishing sound well planned international programs" and that these organizations "be designed and implemented to involve both American and foreign students."

After a short presentation by Guy Sandler, in charge of the SF State tutorial project, the CSCSPA passed a resolution inviting "its member campuses to investigate" the need for special assistance for minority peoples beyond what the public schools provide.
