Bobby Kennedy coming?

An Ad Hoc committee of students and faculty is circulating a petition to bring Senator Robert Kennedy to SF State.

According to Jack McCaffrey, lecturer in anthropology, the petition is an invitation to the senator to speak at SF State about the war in Viet Nam.

Petitions may be picked up in HLL 118, and must be returned by 5 p.m. Friday, March 4.

BAEZ BLASTS 'WAR TAX;' WILL QUIT 'FOLK BAG'

Joan Baez, darling of the woolen stocking set, took a few hot licks at the income tax yesterday and intimated she'd soon give up folk songs and concerts to devote more time to being a school teacher.

Miss Baez, who runs the School of Non-violence in Carmel, visited SF State with the school's headmaster Ira Sand-perl to pose the question, "Why Pay for War?"

During the noon-time program sponsored by the Associated Students, the raven-haired ex-folk singer said she refuses to pay 60 per cent of her income tax (the amount going for defense expenditures) because she "could not voluntarily support armaments for a pointless war that, for many, was taking away the greatest freedom — the freedom to be alive."

The velvet-voiced songstress said she decided to stop paying war taxes after realizing "it was hypocritical to go around preaching and singing non-violence when they could build a small rocket with the money I pay in taxes."

"So I said no."

As a result of her refusal to contribute to government coffers, Miss Baez said she was fined and "harassed a bit" by Internal Revenue officials.

Despite pressures from an unhappy citizenry worried about "beatnik" influences, Miss Baez's School of Non-violence is still operating in Carmel.

She said there are only two requirements for enrollment in the school: applicants must be 18 years of age and want to come.

After speaking to an audience of about 500 huddled on the wind-swept Commons green, Miss Baez chatted about her future to a small group of students and friends.

She said she wanted to get out of the "folk bag" and start singing rock and roll. Her next album will be rock, followed by an album of Christmas music.

"Oh, sure, I'll get blasted for selling out," she said, "but I just won't read my mail."

A serious, bespectacled youth with unruly hair asked if her rock and roll songs would have a message.

"To dance," said Miss Baez.

Although she'll continue recording, she said she was through with concerts. "I just don't feel like folk concerts, and when I start playing rock I'm certainly not going to walk out on stage with all that stuff like Bobby does."

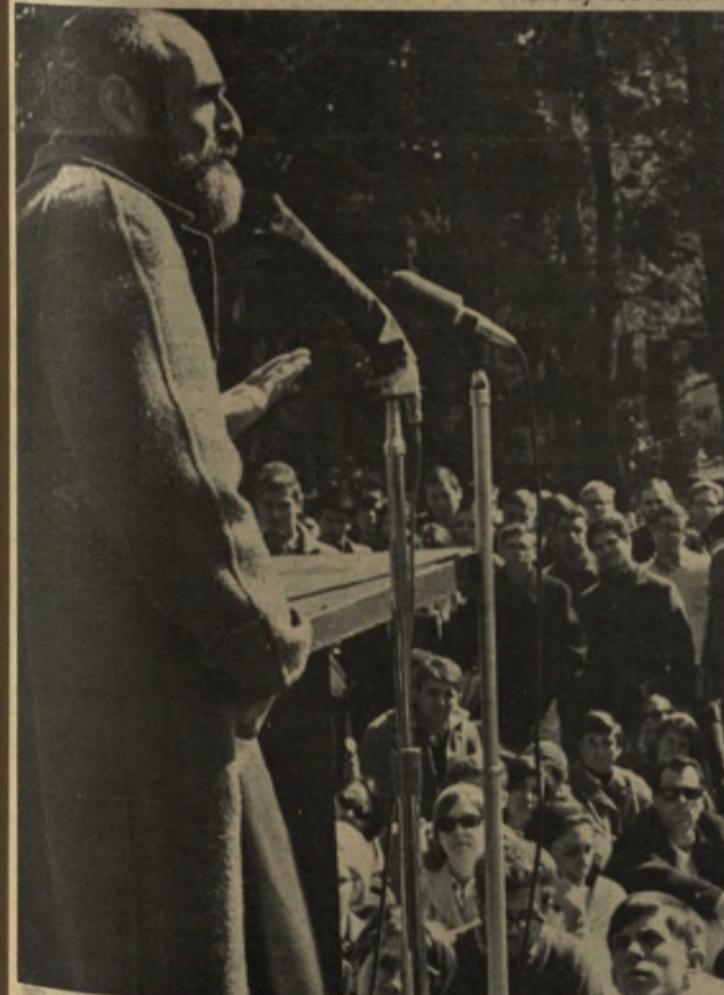

Bobby, of course, is Bob Dylan, wire-haired hero of the alienated, who also is making the transition from folk to rock.

About Dylan she said:

"Pete Seeger is really down on Bob because when he started rock he quit living."

Although Miss Baez has sung many of composer-poet Dylan's lyrics, she's not a music writer herself. "Music writing is a big fat drag," she said, "I've written a few and I'm just smart enough to know they're crummy."

Gatorville rejects meet

The SF State Ad Hoc Housing Committee, boycotted by its two Gatorville representatives, yesterday heard a resident of the community charge that families there "are being brainwashed."

Mrs. William Hayworth, a Gatorville resident, said leaders of the Gatorville Association had, at the urging of their attorney Melvin Belli, circulated advice to residents to stay away from the committee meeting.

Mrs. Hayworth did not reply directly to a question as to "who was doing the brainwashing," but did say Noel Myricks, Gatorville Association president, has been leading the effort to prevent the June 30 closing of Gatorville.

"He and Norm Carlin and Paul Smyth have been the ones coming around to the doors," she said.

Acting President Stanley Paulson, who is also acting chairman of the housing committee, said the absence of the Gatorville representatives "certainly makes it difficult to operate."

"The Housing Committee was set up in response to a plea by Gatorville," he said.

Myricks and Larry Geear were the two missing committee members.

The committee heard AS President Terry McGann suggest the possibility of extending the closing of Gatorville for a month or two so residents wouldn't have to plan their moving during finals.

Paulson suggested a Gallery Lounge question and answer meeting with the residents to discuss city housing and the possibility of setting up student co-operatives.

Committee to pick list of candidates to fill dean's post

The School of Humanities is selecting a committee to pick a slate of candidates for the Dean of Humanities post soon to be vacated by Jordan Churchill.

Churchill is resigning at the end of this year because the State Department of Finance will not grant him a leave for which he is eligible because they do not permit deans to take sabbaticals. Churchill will return from his sabbatical to teach.

The eleven-man committee will come from the eight departments of the School of Humanities.

The English Department, largest in the School of Humanities, will choose three representatives, while the Foreign Language Department will choose two. The other six departments will have one representative each.

The representatives will most likely be chosen by the end of next week. They will then meet with Acting Vice President Donald Garrity to select candidates for the post. Three candidates are usually chosen for the five-year appointment.

The big question, according to Churchill, is whether the committee will "go outside" the SF State faculty for nominees.

Churchill said it is possible that this may happen. "The committee will call for nominations, and someone could be nominated who teaches anywhere from San Jose to Albany, New York."

'Peace soldiers' training program

"A Training Program for Peace Volunteers for Vietnam" will be discussed today at noon at the Speaker's Platform by three members of the Committee for Non-Violent Action.

The three, are Bob Meriwether, Scott McCulagee and Dan Due. Meriwether was on campus last week relating the trio's sit-in at Treasure Island Naval Base in protest of US Vietnam policy.

According to Meriwether the Program "would probably be the rebuilding of a bombed school house" either in the South or in the North and a trip to the war zone

"in which we will share the risks the soldiers face but impose no risks on others."

Speaking in the Gallery Lounge, Meriwether said that their "peace and freedom corps," modeled after Ghandi's non-violent insurrection in India, would be trained in Vietnamese language and culture, and carpentry.

After the speeches, the audience will be invited to ask questions about the Program and planned peace trips to Vietnam.

Psych Forum project helps Napa patients

A Psych Forum project which assists in the rehabilitation of Napa State Hospital patients has attracted over 50 student volunteers this semester.

The Psych Forum sponsors the trips to Napa twice each month.

The rewards provided in this work are two fold, according to Bruce Marcus, chairman of the project. Marcus said, "Students get experience in public service, and patients get a chance for rehabilitation through outside contact."

The next trip will be this Saturday, March 5. Sign-ups will be taken until 4 p.m. Friday, outside Psy 104. Transportation to and from the hospital will be arranged.

'Miss SF' sought here

A quest is under way to find a damsel worthy of the crown of Miss San Francisco, 1966.

Alon Yu, Entries Chairman for the Miss San Francisco Pageant, is leading the search for girls who would like the chance to be San Francisco's representative for a year.

"And SF State has an overwhelming number of beautiful girls," Yu said.

Yu is convinced this year's Miss San Francisco will also be Miss America 1966! "We're bound to find the right girl in San Francisco. Besides, we're due for another Miss America," he said.

The last Miss America from San Francisco was Lee Ann Meriweather in 1955.

The pageant is run similar to the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City. Contestants are judged for beauty, personality, talent, and charm.

Yu emphasized that the talent contest is not as strict as it sounds. "The girls can do a number of things for the talent contest. They can do anything ranging from dancing and singing to reading from literary works. I know a lot of girls don't enter the contest because they are afraid they are not accomplished enough in performing in front of a lot of people, but they shouldn't be that hard on themselves."

In June, Miss San Francisco will compete in the Miss California Pageant in Santa Cruz.

Registration is March 12, preliminaries are March 25, and semi-finals are set for April 8.

The final pageant, which will be broadcast live over KGO, will be at the Civic Auditorium in conjunction with a Hi-Fi Show on April 22.

Hopefuls need only pick up an application in Hut T-1 or phone Mr. Yu, 781-4211, ext. 2138 to be on their way.

'Gentlemen' go Army

Test decides deferment

The "gentlemen's C" may very well take on a new interpretation in the light of a new government policy for determining student draft deferments.

The class standing requirements which were used during the Korean conflict will be similar to the new criteria. Freshmen have to be in the upper one half of their class at the end of the school year, sophomores in the upper two thirds, and juniors in the upper three fourths.

Reactions to the new rulings have been diverse. While a Brandeis University dean calls the policy "totally absurd" and seven other professors say they may stop giving grades because of it, SF State Assistant Professor of Biology Margaret Bradbury feels that such action may have "possible dangerous effects on the student's future.

"There wouldn't be any basis for judging a student's work," she explained.

Assistant Professor of Geology Raymond Sullivan considers the government policy as "fair criteria if it comes down to that" and adds that B and A students should be given preference for exemption over C students.

Class rankings and a Selective Service college qualification test will be taken into consideration by local draft boards in determining student deferments.

Psych films on therapy

Three special study films will be shown by the Psych Forum, today, at 12:30 p.m. The films titled "Activity in Group Therapy," "Approach to Understanding Group Dynamics," and "Alcoholism — The Revolving Door" are about patient analyst relationships.

According to Ralph Pollard, President of the Forum, anyone who is interested in seeing the films is welcome. They will be shown in Psy 207.

Dr. Rock, Fang, Teddy Bear loose in Mary Ward today

A casual observer might think it was a convention for comic-strip heroes, but "The Fantastic Dr. Rock," "The Fang," the "Grossery Store Proprietor," and "Teddy Bear of the Air" are really disc-jockeys.

Clothed in garb appropriate to their air-names, the men will be featured when campus radio station KRTG stages a marathon remote broadcast live from Mary Ward Hall's TV lounge today.

The noon-to-10 p.m. presentation, "On the Move," is open to all students and features contests, guest celebrities and the station's "rock" format.

All the equipment necessary for a regular broadcast will be moved to the dorm for the exhibit, according to Tom "Teddy Bear" Minor, program director.

Among guests lined up for the yearly show are KSFO disc-jockey Carter B. Smith and the New Folies Berles' six-foot-eight stripper, Ricky Covette.

The KRTG disc-jockeys slated for today are Minor from noon to 1 p.m.; Pete (Dr. Rock) Schulberg from 1-4 p.m.; Ben (The Fang) Fong-Torres, 4-7 p.m.; and Charlie Forni in his "grossery store" 'til 10 p.m.

In addition to the music and prizes, a new KRTG contest, "Stash the Cash," will be announced.

According to promotions director Tom Gericke, the first clue on where a $25 prize is hidden on campus will be given. A clue will be given each day until the prize is found.

Heats and finals will be held each day.

Today's schedule includes heats for the 500 freestyle, 200 individual medley, 50 freestyle, one meter diving, and 400 medley relay, beginning at 3 p.m.

The finals in each of these events begin tonight at 8 p.m.

The schedule for Friday and Saturday shows the heats beginning at 10 a.m. and the finals at 3 p.m.

Saturday's finale includes competition in the 1650 freestyle, 100 freestyle, 200 backstroke, 200 breaststroke, 100 butterfly, three meter diving, and 800 freestyle relay.

In discussing his team's chance of winning the title, coach Walt Hanson said:

"Chico State is the defending champion and should be the favorite again this year. UC Davis also will be a strong contender, especially after its dual meet win over Chico last week."

"We should do pretty well, and figure to be the dark horse in the meet. There also should be a close battle between Cal

The Gators have two defending FWC champs back to defend their titles. Dirk Van Gelder is the current titleholder in the 200 and 400 individual medley, and the 200 breaststroke. Rick Goode will defend his 100 butterfly crown.

SF State also will be favored in three other events.

Mike McColley has the best times of anyone in the conference in both the 100 and 200 backstroke, and the 400 medley relay team, likewise, has the best time this season.

Dirk Van Gelder, triple-time winner last year, figures the team is ready for the big meet. Van Gelder says:

"Coach Hanson's 'fatigue training' for the Far Western Conference meet has been in effect for the past two months. We have workouts seven days a week, including sometimes the day of the meets."

According to Van Gelder, the team is in better shape and has much higher morale than last year.

Van Gelder attributes the teams tremendous improvement to the return of Fred Kennelly in the freestyle, transfer Mike McColley in the backstroke, and himself in the breaststroke.

"We have the best chance to qualify and place in the NCAA regional meet in Los Angeles than any San Francisco State team in a long time," said the confident Van Gelder. "In the conference meet Chico and Davis should be favored because of the nucleus of returnees, but already we have beaten Davis in a dual meet.

"I think we can win it."

Gymnasts can win it

Coach Jerry Wright's gymnastic team meets the Sacramento State Hornets tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the main gymnasium.

A victory for the Gators would clinch the Far Western Conference dual meet championship. Both teams are 3-0 in FWC competition.

The Gators wind up their dual meet season Saturday at Chico State.
