

Americans have always been fortunate in the leaders who have come to the fore to guide and inspire them in times of crisis and conflict.

Each generation faced with unusual perils, nationally and internationally, and wisdom ~~has~~ has produced from its midst a leader of ~~the~~ stature to take the country through those perils. I believe that this fortunate miracle has happened again and a new leader has emerged. That man is Adlai Stevenson.

No country can afford to be wasteful of those talents for leadership which come its way at any time. In times like these today, it would be a criminal loss to the nation and world if the leadership abilities of Adlai Stevenson were not put to their greatest use in the presidency. I am for Adlai Stevenson because I believe he is the best man for the presidency and therefore the best candidate who could be chosen for the campaign.

Dear Tammany Tolmach:

Is this too high-sounding? You'll probably want something more smoke-filled but I tried. Are you going to that Goleta thing? Wouldst like a ride in the red flyer?

Amor y besos,

Betty

P.S. Delphine McK took the posters I didn't use downtown for display in Meiners Oaks where the Democrats are. BW
