President's Message

To the graduates of 1978, I offer my congratulations upon your successful completion of the academic program at the Academy. When you came here four years ago, the Academy was in the throes of a great transition. You were the first class to enter under the broadened and modernized four-year program, and you are the first full class to matriculate and graduate from the upgraded course of instruction which led to accreditation of your academic degree. At the same time, the Academy achieved a distinction no other maritime academy has acquired — the two core curriculums, Marine Engineering Technology and Nautical Industrial Technology, have been accredited by their respective professional societies — The Engineers' Council for Professional Development and the National Association for Industrial Technology. You have seen many changes in the academy, and in the years to come you can look back with satisfaction at the contribution you have made to the program while you were a student here.

Just as the winds of change have swept through the academy, so are they moving through the maritime industry. The complexities and sophistication of the technological developments in the modern U.S. Maritime Industry demand well educated, trained and competent merchant marine officers. To keep abreast of the changes, you must continue your personal development through continuing education, intensive study and upgrading. I challenge you to continue growing and developing and to become leaders in the maritime industry. I wish you smooth sailing and following seas as you navigate your careers into the Maritime Industry.

Admiral Joseph P. Rizza

Dedication

If there is any one singular aspect of California Maritime Academy that remains constant throughout any changes that the school has experienced, IT'S THE SECRETARIES.

When you need something done, such as typing, mailing financial aid, grades, copies, answers to questions, they are always willing to help. Sometimes way beyond the call of duty.

Need a smile? Need someone to talk to? Say "Hi" to one of them and see what happens.

To: Faith, Debbie, Alrose, Paige, Wanda, Diane, Annette, Harriet, Diane, Dorothy, Maureen, Betty, Josie, Betty, Nanci, Marg, Virginia, Adrienne, Thyliss, Sue, and Karen, thanks so much for all your help! We love you all.

I've only a few things to say about the last four years at C.M.A. The question posed is this: Why are the merchant marine oriented instructors leaving, thus affecting the potential of this school?

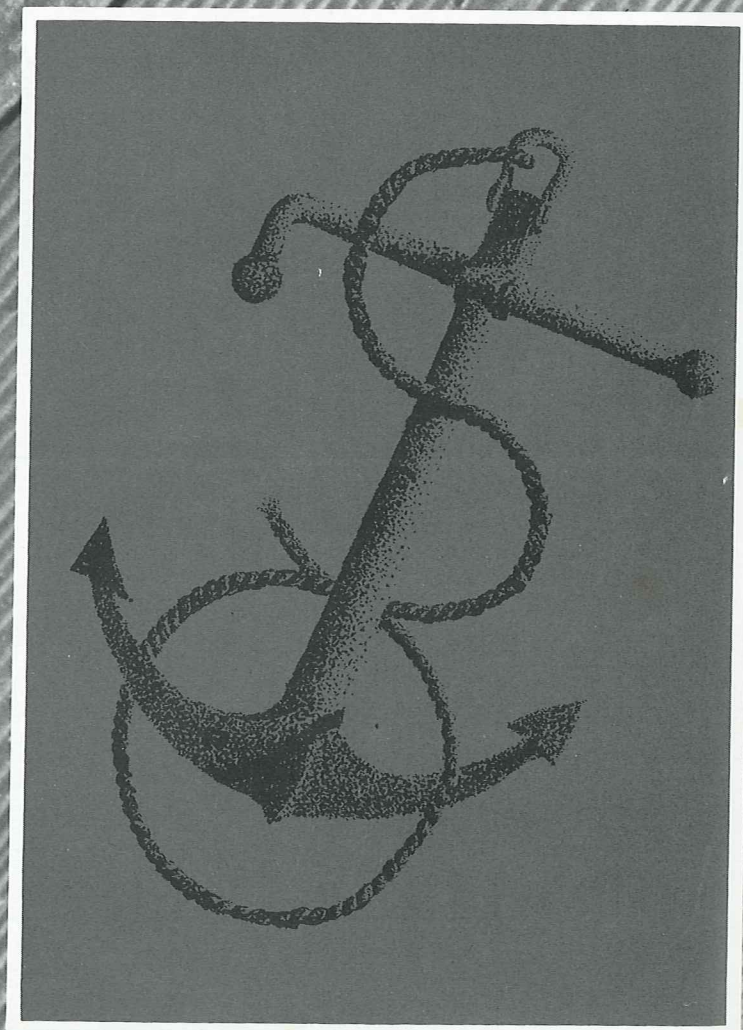

Also, I want to thank all the people who stuck up for me on that Friday afternoon, which greatly helped me getting a round trip ticket back through the gate. What a great feeling to finally be out!

During my years at C. M. A. I had many good times and many bad times. I lost a lot of hair and almost my head a few times, but I gained a Third Mates License. Now my hair is growing back and my head is almost back to normal. Out to make some money and start talking normal again — Hello Arkansas.

My four years at C.M.A. have been ones of work and ones of play, avoiding the Administration and Commandants as though they were the plague. The Seawall, or Bertollis were places to kick back, but playing the banjo is my only way to relax. Thanks Chuck Bates for accompanying me on guitar and Harry Bolton for driving me home in your car. Good Luck to my classmates at home and at sea, and may their future be filled with good times and prosperity.

The class of 1978 was one of experiment for the present administration. CMA needs to look back over its history and admit to itself, that the present course of momentum can use a bit of adjustment. Professionals, like Fred Newton and Calvin Bourke, to name two, are the backbone of Cal Maritime's past, and are needed here to insure the industry's future.

I believe in justice and fair treatment for the students who make this school a reality. In the past four years I have seen very little of either. I may seem a little cynical and perhaps I am. In the upgrading of the school (and obviously its students) I believe an upgrade in respect paid to the students should have occurred. It hasn't. It's sad. Most graduates in other schools feel a strong affinity for their school. They still want to identify with it.

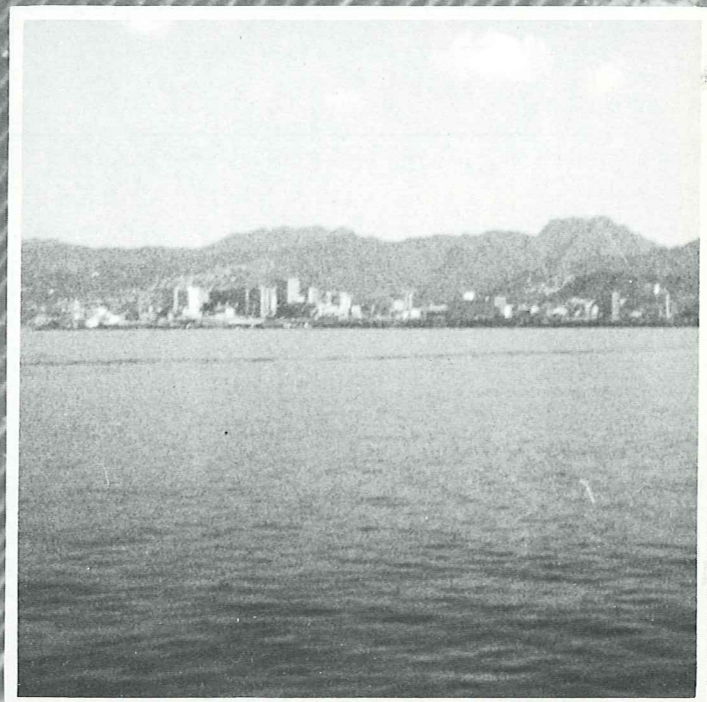

I feel two things, One, I feel sorrow for all the sufferings that have happened to myself, friends, and shipmates here. And how they could have been avoided without compromising any professional training. Second, I feel relief at finally being able to walk away from here forever, a third mate. Good luck to those who still have to bend over to it.

I put her to sea sailing on a dream, when foresaken passage changed that course of love. Like a following sea, smooth till I quartered I a man without a crew, alone on a change of course of love.

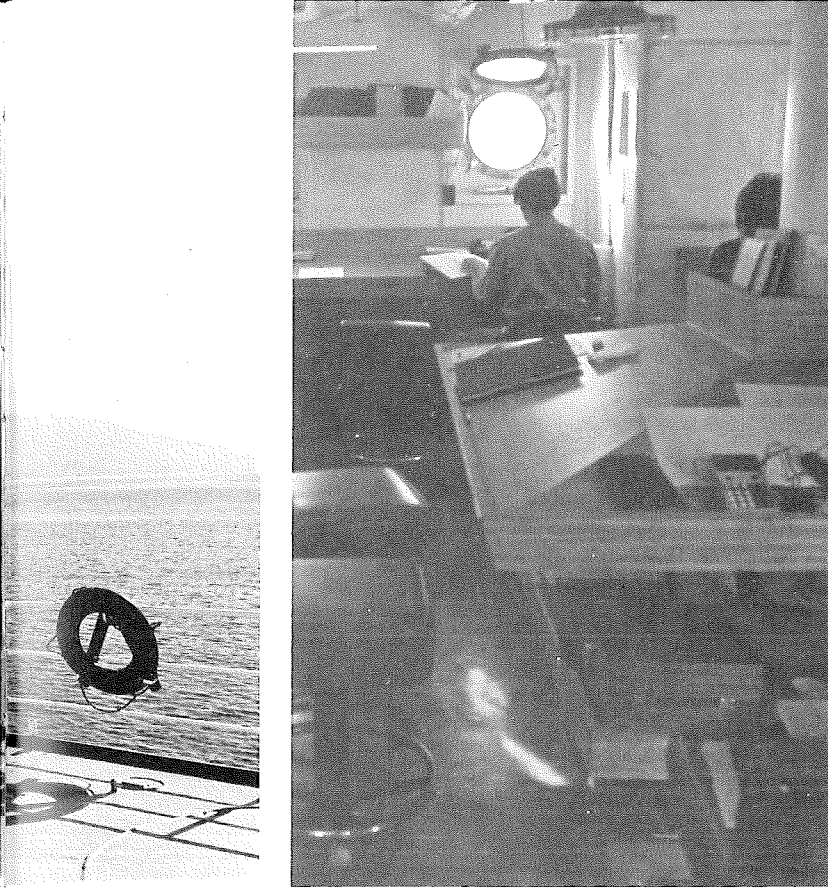

Time would tell of rough weather faired, how a change of course could change a man. For sailing on in dreams of foresaken passage. When the fathom sailor was grounded. To sail again is a man's dream, his watchful eye on chronometer time. When with a new ship a new course is steered. But, be wary sailor of changing seas.

For months on end I've sailed around, many of ship drawing my frown. I a wise oh seasoned sailor. Good seas fairing my new course steered. Each night writes of ships log, to others my kind I lend my ship, christen to sail with me alone, even on stormy passages forth told. But gathered by men of watchful eye helps to navigate that unforgotten night. When watchful eye failed and mutiney raged; ah! but all is burning bright on that new course tonight . . .

We guarantee tomorrow today.

Introducing the simplest form of life insurance we've ever offered.

New York Life's No-Frills Policy.

Here's great news for people who would like whole life insurance at a pleasingly low cost—and are willing to do without a lot of extras.

It's our streamlined, plain-language No-Frills Policy.

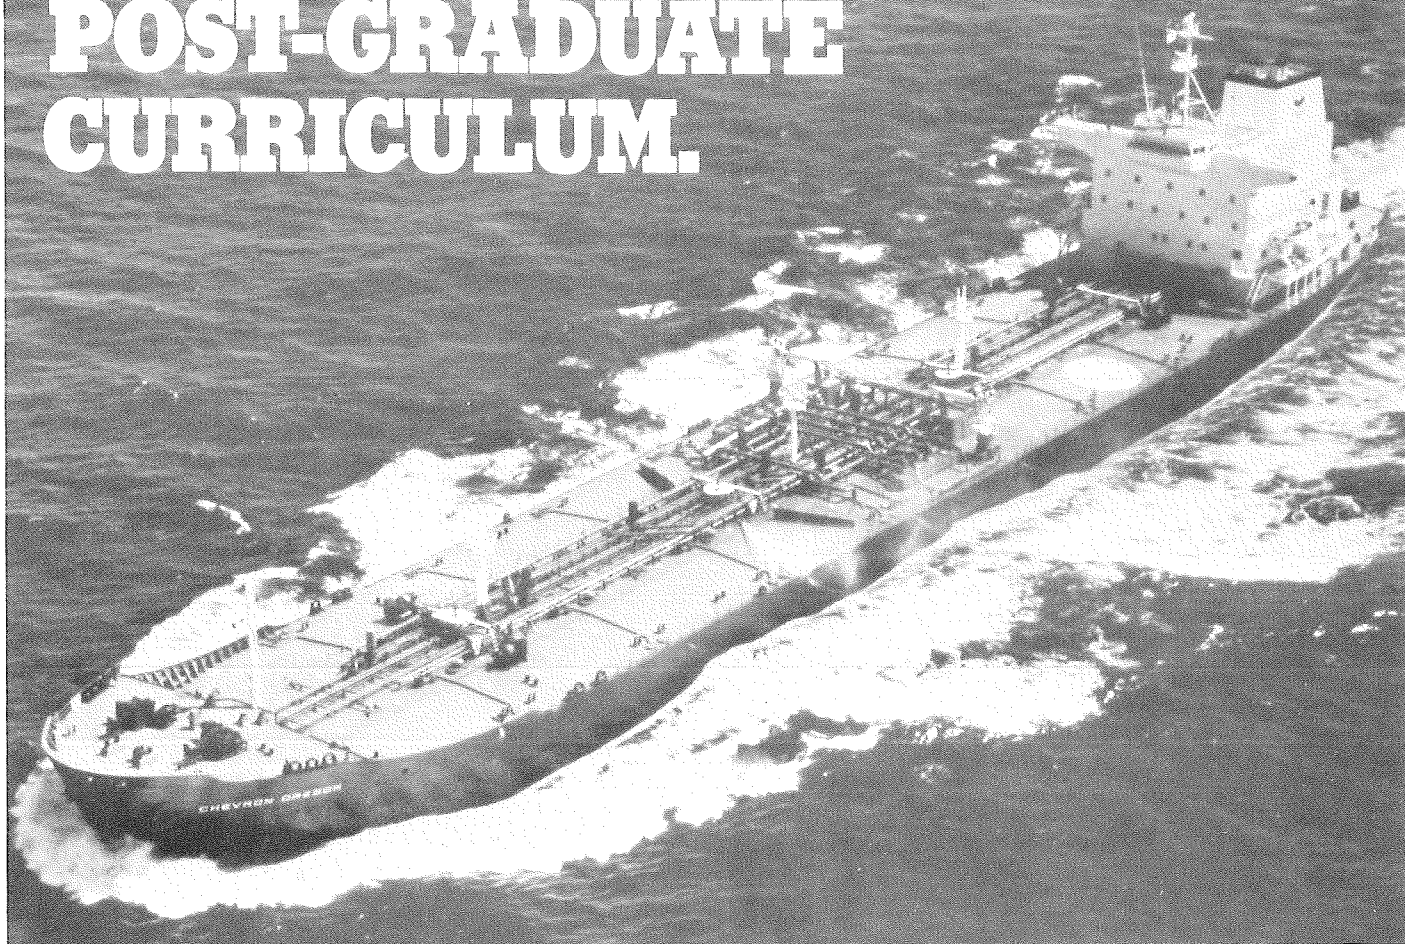

Just as the name implies, it's available only in limited amounts: $5,000 to $15,000; and just to age 45. And only a few extras are offered at the time of purchase.

That way, we can keep the cost to you down. But, otherwise, you get all the benefits of permanent whole life insurance, including cash value that grows year by year.

No policy is simpler to buy, either. There's no fuss. No long wait.

For full details, call me today.

NOW TAKE A LOOK AT THE POST-GRADUATE CURRICULUM.

Congratulations and welcome to a new and exciting career.

You'll be more sophisticated seamen than your graduating counterparts just ten years ago. And the Chevron Oregon is one reason why.

The Oregon was the first gas turbine-powered tanker in the American Merchant Marine. Its turbine system drives an electric generator which produces the power to propel the vessel.

And the Oregon is just one of five such turbine tankers now in service for Chevron.

Engineering breakthroughs like the Chevron Oregon will be a constant challenge to you throughout your career in the Merchant Marine. We at Chevron are proud to be a part of it all.

Welcome aboard.

Cargo doesn't complain if it's late, but passengers do — loud and clear.

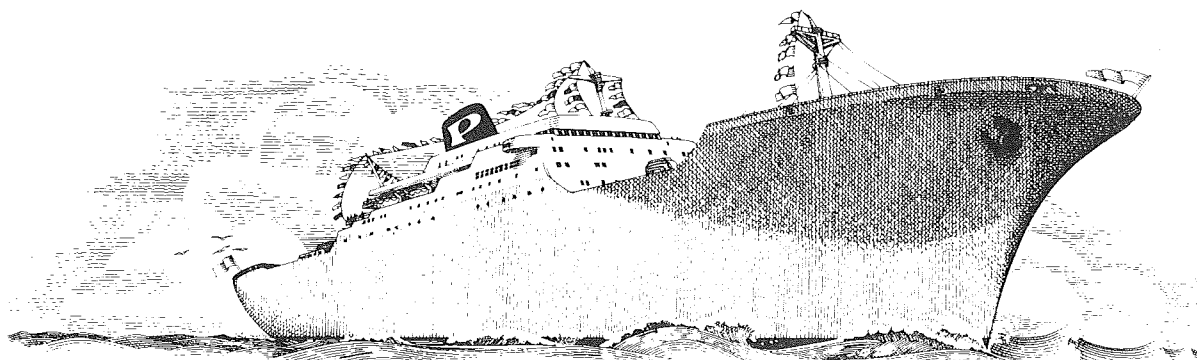

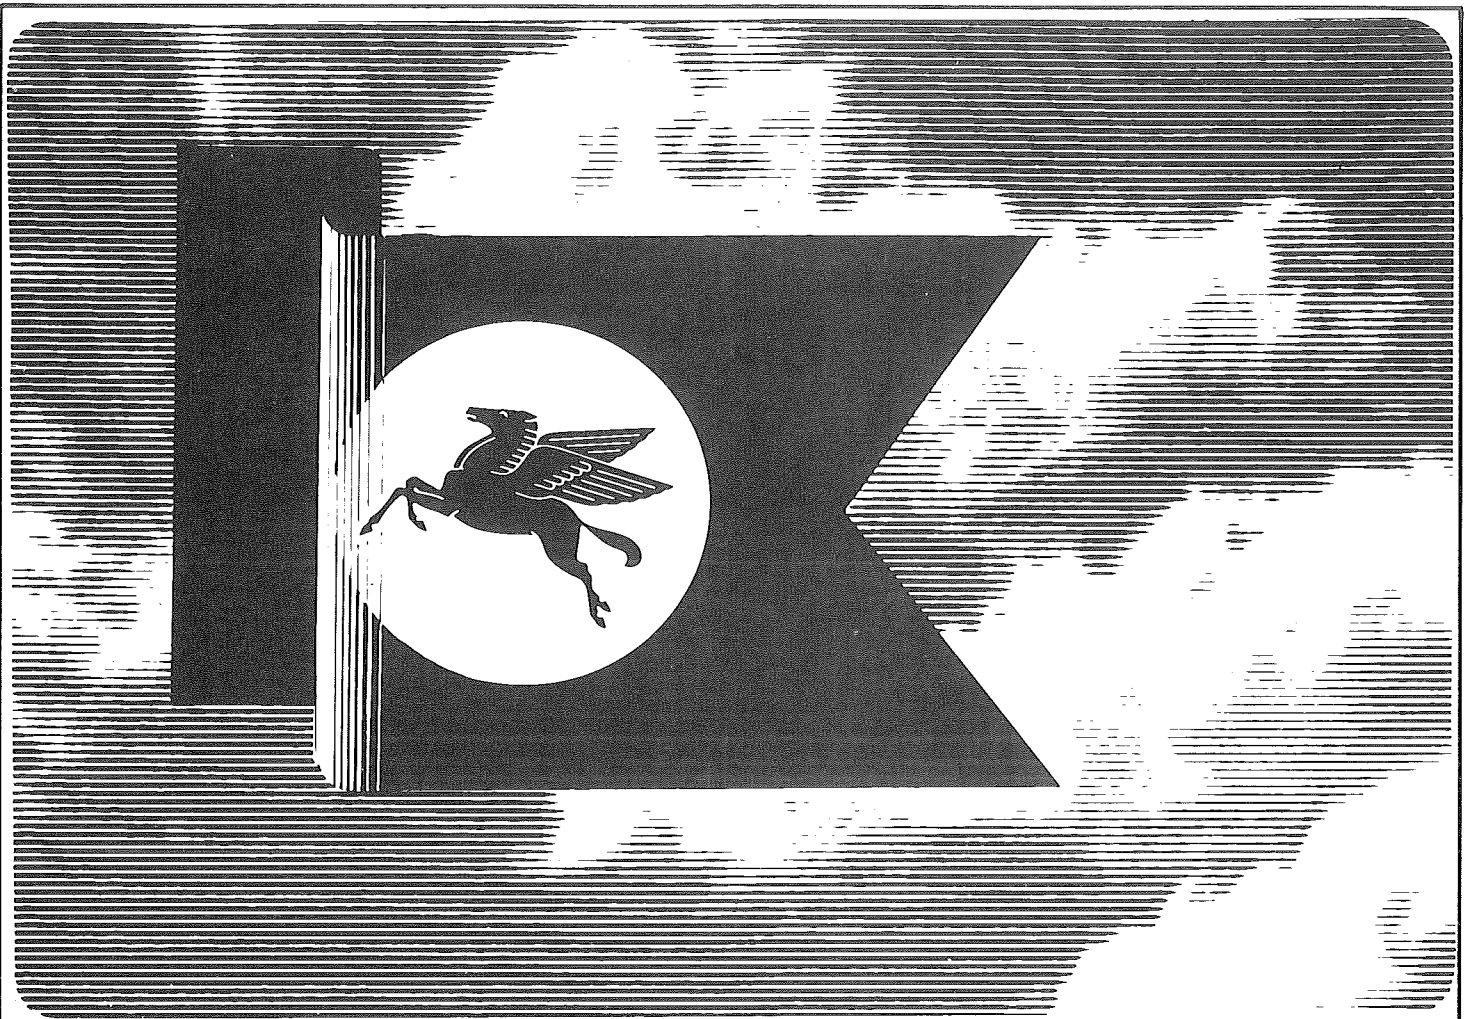

Because Prudential carries 100 passengers to South America along with your cargo, our on-time record simply has to be good — or we'll hear about it.

Our four Prudential Liners are American Flag ships that leave every two weeks for South America. Complete cargo capabilities include containerized, refrigerated, unitized, dry bulk and break bulk. What's more, our ships are stabilized and our cargo handling facilities are streamlined.

Chapter 116

Sky above, Sea below, all life is hidden amongst the clouds and the gentle waves. Alone you stand in the middle trusting your judgement as you plot your life each passing day. There is a sense of freedom as you find yourself not troubled from sorrow and pain far ashore. But the sea holds its own . . .

As unpredictable as a woman can be . . . Mother Nature spreads her wings and stamps her feet. Mountains of water come alive and stars flee from the sky, all direction is lost. The beauty of the sea is suddenly forsaken as the colourless sky fills your eyes. Figures and shadows dancing all around . . . tormenting your mind. With no time to think each second becomes quicker, each tear becomes heavier and each breath becomes more precious . . .

Then God dips His hands deep into the ocean floor and absorbs all . . . The sea is then restored and soon, all that is past is forgotten. What is left is mystery and peace for those whose life is upon the Sea . . .
