THE UNIVERSITY

California State University, Fullerton is a broadly based liberal arts institution that also offers many professional studies such as business administration, education, engineering and nursing.

Classes were offered for the first time in 1959 and the first commencement — for five students — took place in 1960.

The University's 24,000 students come primarily from Southern California with many from other states and other nations. Most students commute each day to and from classes; many come to classes only in the evening.

Drawn from throughout the world, the 775-member faculty is noted for its commitment to effective teaching and scholarly activity. Research is actively pursued, typically with students involved.

The University enjoys full accreditation for its overall program. In addition, national recognition has been accorded to programs in art, athletic training, business, chemistry, communications, dance, education, engineering, music, nursing, public administration, speech and hearing, and theatre. All told there are 85 degree programs — 41 of them at the graduate level plus several credential programs and six certificate programs.

Reinforcing classroom instruction is an internship and cooperative education program that allows students to gain on-the-job experience while continuing their regular studies.

Another amenity is the extended education program. It provides classes, workshops, conferences and study tours without the formalities of regular admission to the University.

Still another strong point is the University's cultural events program. It includes a series that brings nationally known professional artists to the campus for residencies as well as public performances.

An extensive recreation program aimed chiefly at students but also open to community members is another highlight, as is the network of community support groups. Another is Continuing Learning Experience, which spearheaded the fund-raising campaign to build a gerontology center on campus.

Further examples of community outreach are joint ventures with the City of Fullerton. One resulted in the Fullerton Arboretum, which opened on campus in 1979. Another produced lighting for the baseball field and adjoining soccer fields, while a third yielded two lighted softball fields. The long-awaited reality of an on-campus football/soccer complex and baseball stadium in conjunction with an on-campus Marriott Hotel recently was approved with a fall, 1989 completion date targeted for the athletic facilities. To reinforce the University's commitment to high academic standards and community services, Cal State has embarked on a comprehensive fund-raising campaign. Its purpose is to raise the necessary non-state funding to make a very good university a great university.

ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Jewel Plummer Cobb, President

Dr. Jewel Plummer Cobb became the third president of Cal State Fullerton on Oct. 1, 1981.

Dr. Cobb had served as dean of Douglass College at Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey, since 1976. There she also held the rank of professor of biological sciences. Prior to her Douglass appointment she was dean of Connecticut College and professor of zoology for seven years. Previously, she was professor of biology at Sarah Lawrence College in New York.

Known for her work in cell physiology, her promotion of the advancement of women in scientific fields and her activities on behalf of minorities, she is the first black woman to head a major public university on the West Coast.

Cobb earned her bachelor's degree from Talladega College in Alabama and her M.S. and Ph.D. in cell physiology from New York University. She also holds 16 honorary doctorates. She is the mother of a son, Jonathan, a graduate of the Cornell University Medical School now serving as a resident physician at Mt. Sinai Medical Center in New York.

— THE NICKNAME and MASCOT —

"What exactly is a Titan?"

"Why do you have an elephant for your mascot?"

Those are two of the first questions that arise when a Cal State Fullerton athletic team makes its inaugural visit to a new town. While the relatively young institution carved out of citrus groves may be too new for many traditions, there are some legends.

"It was the students' decision in a vote," explains Dr. Ernest Becker, founding Dean of Students, of the nickname 'Titans.' "More than a hundred names were suggested, and the Student Council took on the job of narrowing the list down for the purposes of an election. The vote was close, with Titans narrowly prevailing over Aardvarks and Rebels."

It was a unique student body at "Orange County State College" at the outset with only upper division students until 1963. There were 453 students, mostly female, in 1959, the first year of classes. They voted to organize as a student body and assess themselves $10 per semester.

"Even when it was decided that 'Titans' would be the nickname, there was confusion as to what it represented," said Becker. "I was thinking of a large mythological figure from Greek history, not unlike Tommy Trojan, but with perhaps straighter, more modern lines. In the same vein, the original dormitories were named Othrys Hall. There were others, however, who related the name to the Titan missile then in prominence."

Nothing official was done about a mascot because no one knew quite what to do. Until, of course, the "First Intercollegiate Elephant Race in Human History."

What began as a practical joke turned into probably the biggest "happening" on the campus to this day. The "gag" attracted elephants from universities around the nation and even Oxford from England. A crowd estimated at more than 10,000 people turned out on "Dumbo Downs" as the hastily graded field became known that Spring afternoon in 1962.

To publicize the event, a circus-like elephant called "Tuffy the Titan" was used and it began appearing on sweaters and notebook covers around the campus. Several revisions in the caricature have been made in recent years to create a more tenacious Tuffy, or Titus as he also was called in an attempt to make him Greek.

The mascot easily outlived the race. In 1963, one elephant charged into the crowd causing minor injuries and the early signs of a now-common liability insurance crisis halted a tradition in the bud.

The origin of the school colors also bears discussion. The students voted for royal blue and white when they chose Titans, but the athletic equipment manager at the time thought orange was an appropriate color on uniforms for a school known as Orange County State College. The unofficial color was adopted just as the unofficial elephant.

When Lynn Eilefson was appointed athletic director in 1982, he furthered the cause of orange because of its uniqueness and brightness compared to the wide variety of blues. Thus, the "Orange Crush" booster group was born and the color remains predominant in most team uniforms.

And, finally, there is the matter of the school's name. As mentioned earlier, the name originally was Orange County State College. It's also been Orange State College and later California State College at Fullerton or California State College, Fullerton. The change to university status necessitated a further change to California State University, Fullerton, but the school's address could not be changed from 800 N. State College Boulevard. And that's only the start of the confusion.

To out-of-staters, the sky seems to be the limit because most don't realize there are two distinct systems of higher education in the state — the University of California and the State University system. So, we've been called everything from Cal-Fullerton to UC Fullerton to California State Fullerton State to simply Fullerton State. The preferred moniker is Cal State Fullerton, which is what most of the more than 50,000 graduates call it. But since there are only two other major institutions known as Titans (University of Detroit and Oral Roberts University), just call Fullerton teams the "Titans!"

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT

Ed Carroll, Athletic Director

The rapid climb of Ed Carroll through the ranks of the Cal State Fullerton athletic department culminated in his appointment as Director of Athletics on July 1, 1985.

University President Dr. Jewel Plummer Cobb made the announcement on May 28, 1985, after a nationwide search and Carroll, now 37, immediately ushered in an era of "positive thinking" for Titan athletics.

"One of my priorities has been to enhance the image of our athletic program by stressing positives," says Carroll. "We must use the power of positive thinking to overcome our limitations and build our program to greater heights."

In his first year as athletic director, Carroll immediately upgraded the football schedule. LSU, West Virginia, Florida and Tulsa signed to host the Titans while the United States Military Academy (Army) agreed to a home and home series in 2001 and 2003.

Long dormant plans for an on-campus Youth Sports Complex to provide a playing facility for football, soccer and baseball have been revived. The faculty Academic Senate and Fullerton City Council have approved plans which hinge on the construction beginning in January of a Marriott Hotel to help finance the project. At press time, architects were preparing preliminary drawings of the $6.7 million project. A multi-million dollar project to expand Titan Gymnasium also is scheduled.

Carroll began his Fullerton athletic career as a wrestler. In 1972, he served as team captain and was selected the "Most Outstanding Wrestler" in the California Collegiate Athletic Association championship meet. He later served as an assistant to former head coach Don Matson.

Carroll earned bachelor's degrees in history (1972) and physical education (1974) from Fullerton as well as a secondary teaching credential. He taught physical education classes at Fullerton and earned a master's degree in recreation administration from CSU Long Beach.

After serving in various capacities in the Fullerton recreation department, Carroll left briefly in mid-1980 to serve as a recreational sports programmer and doctoral intern at Indiana University. He returned to Fullerton in November, 1980, as an assistant athletic director and later served as acting director of the Titan Athletic Foundation. He then served under athletic director Lynn Eilefson, who left in January, 1985, for a similar post at San Jose State.

Ed and his wife Connie live in Fullerton with young children Brandon and Kimberly.

TITAN ATHLETIC FOUNDATION

Doug Smith, Executive Director

The Titan Athletic Foundation, or the T.A.F. as it is usually called, is a non-profit organization established solely for the purpose of generating financial and other support for the Cal State Fullerton athletic department.

Membership is open to everyone and the current rolls include not only alumni, faculty, staff and students but also a great many friends of the university, area businesses and respected community leaders.

Gifts received by the T.A.F. are used to provide a quality education for deserving student-athletes.

The 1987 fund drive was the most productive ever with more than $320,000 in cash pledged for 1987-88 scholarship aid.

All inquiries should be directed to: Titan Athletic Foundation, California State University, Fullerton, CA 92634, or by calling (714) 773-3480.

The current president is Den Hood. Other past presidents have included Kevin Forth, Ken Henderson, Don Karcher, Buck Johns, Pierre Nicolas, Larry Slagle, Jim Woods and Bud Steffen.

Doug Smith became the executive director in October with Andy Hurley serving as his assistant.

COACH GEORGE McQUARN

George McQuarn indelibly stamped his trademark on Cal State Fullerton basketball during the 1981-82 season when he returned the Titans to a competitive posture in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association and since then the Titans have averaged 18 victories per year and haven't had a losing season.

During his seven-year tenure, McQuarn twice has taken Fullerton into the National Invitation Tournament and he has guided them into the PCAA Tournament championship game on two occasions. The Titans have broken into the national Top 20 rankings during portions of three different seasons and attendance has more than doubled in Titan Gym while McQuarn has developed more than a handful of National Basketball Association draft picks.

"I think we have sustained the program at a high level," says McQuarn, 46. "If you look at the PCAA standings over the past six years and discount the presence of UNLV, I think you will see that we have been one of the top three programs in the conference.

"Each year brings new challenges. We have built a solid base and have the potential to continue at the same level. But when you look at some of the bizarre things that have happened to us the last few seasons, you realize that predictions and forecasts don't mean very much."

The theme of Titan basketball under McQuarn has been "We Play Hard!" Aggressive defense and a high work ethic are the cornerstones of the concept. McQuarn exhorts his squad to play at a level of intensity that negates outside elements over which they have no control, as evidenced by strong finishes the past few seasons despite sieges of injuries and illness.

"Our offensive philosophy starts at the defensive end and each year we have tried to become more and more aggressive on defense," says McQuarn. "We want to run, but we want to do it out of our defense."

Team and individual honors have been plentiful during the McQuarn era. The 1981-82 team was the nation's most improved squad and the 1982-83 team set a school record with 21 regular-season victories while gaining the school's initial bid in the NIT. Along the way they gained the nation's attention by ruining the unbeaten season of the nation's No. 1-ranked team (UNLV).

McQuarn was selected District 15 Coach of the Year in 1982-83 by the National Association of Basketball Coaches. In 1984, he coached the West squad to the championship of the annual Aloha Classic in Honolulu, Hawaii.

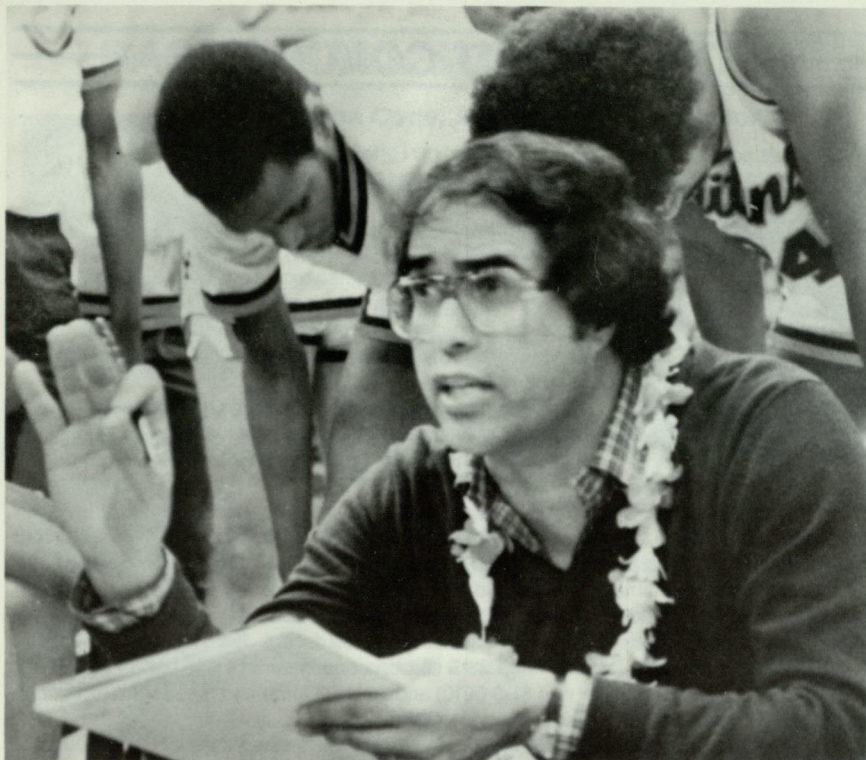

Three of McQuarn's former Titans are currently in NBA camps — Leon Wood (New Jersey), Ozell Jones (Phoenix) and Kevin Henderson (Golden State). Ricky Mixon (L.A. Lakers — 1983), Tony Neal (L.A. Lakers — 1985) and Kerry Boagni (Utah — 1986) also were drafted during recent seasons.

Critical to his success at Fullerton has been McQuarn's attention to discipline and academic progress.

"We are a goal-oriented program and the graduation of our players is an important goal to me," says McQuarn. "While I believe an athlete is responsible for his academic progress, I also believe it is the responsibility of a coach to create an atmosphere and environment conducive to academic success."

An academic enrichment program for basketball players has been established featuring a tutorial program, study halls and advisement sessions. All are utilized year-round and enrollment in a Speech Communications class is required of all Fullerton student-athletes.

McQuarn graduated from Cal State Long Beach in 1966 with a degree in physical education. An All-CIF performer in high school in basketball and baseball, he earlier attended UCLA on a baseball scholarship and earned All-West Coast honors as the Bruins' catcher.

He launched his coaching career with four outstanding seasons (123-8) at Verbum Dei High School in Los Angeles. His collegiate career began with four years as an assistant at UNLV (93-28).

ASSISTANT COACHES

John Sneed, 8th year

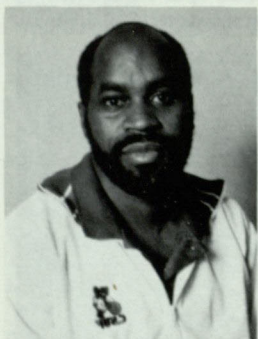

John Sneed again will work with the forwards and coordinate the scouting of opponents among his myriad duties for the Titans in 1987-88. He has coordinated recruiting and the academic program and tutorial services and also has made a major contribution toward the promotion and marketing of Titan basketball. Home attendance has more than doubled during his seven previous seasons at Fullerton.

Sneed brought experience with winning Division I programs and remarkably successful high school teams to Fullerton when he became a member of head coach George McQuarn's original Titan staff in 1980.

Sneed was an assistant for one year at the University of Arizona, a 21-6 season (1976-77) which took the Wildcats to the NCAA playoffs. During 1977-78 he was an assistant at San Diego State and the 19-8 Aztecs won the PCAA title before being eliminated in the post-season tournament by Cal State Fullerton. He also was at San Diego in 1978-79.

Sneed succeeded McQuarn at Verbum Dei High School in Los Angeles in 1974 and won the CIF 4A title and CIF Coach of the Year honors with a 30-2 record. His Eagles won two more Camino Real League titles with 28-1 and 23-5 seasons and three times he was league coach of the year. His career prep mark was 81-8 (.910) and the 1974 team was recognized as national champion by the National Sport News Service.

A Cal State Long Beach graduate, Sneed served two years as an assistant to McQuarn at Verbum Dei. He is a native of Gastonia, North Carolina. He and wife Rose live in Garden Grove and are expecting their first child during this season.

Donny Daniels, 2nd year

Donny Daniels returns for his second year as a full-time assistant at Cal State Fullerton, where he has been a familiar face for many years. The former Titan player and part-time assistant coach was appointed a full-time assistant on May 30, 1986 and his primary responsibilities are recruiting and working with the centers.

Daniels resumed his Fullerton relationship after two successful seasons at Los Angeles Harbor Junior College in Wilmington. The Seahawks posted an overall mark of 33-29 in his two seasons including the championship of the Moorpark Tournament and they made two trips to the state playoffs.

Daniels, who graduated with a degree in criminal justice, played forward for two seasons at Cal State Fullerton (1974-75 and 1975-76) under coach Bobby Dye and was selected the team's top defensive player as a senior.

A graduate of Verbum Dei High School and a member of George McQuarn's Eagle basketball team, Daniels' first coaching tour with the Titans came during the 1981-82 and 1982-83 seasons.

Donny, his wife Christine and young children Eric and Kaylyn live in Chino.

BASKETBALL SUPPORT STAFF

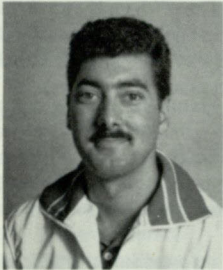

Alison Cone, Academics Coordinator

Alison Cone is in her fifth year at Cal State Fullerton as Academics Coordinator, assisting student-athletes in reaching their academic goals. She organizes the tutorial programs, sets up study halls and conducts advisement sessions with each athlete.

Cone previously served as assistant athletic director and advising and eligibility coordinator at Cal State Dominguez Hills.

A native of Washington, Cone earned her bachelor's degree at Washington State and her teaching certificate at Central Washington. She coached tennis, basketball, track and soccer at Auburn High School and basketball at Green River Community College.

Cone obtained her master's degree at Dominguez Hills, where she also lectured in physical education classes and served as women's tennis coach for the 1982-83 seasons.

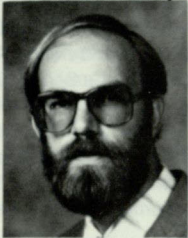

Dave Grossman, Graduate Assistant

Dave Grossman begins his first year as a graduate assistant coach for the Titans after serving on a volunteer basis during the 1986-87 season. This year he will be in charge of study hall and film exchange when not assisting on the floor.

Grossman, 25, graduated from Cal State Fullerton in June, obtaining a bachelor's degree in physical education with an emphasis in sports management. He is working on his master's degree in physical education.

A two-year varsity letterman at Emil R. Buchser High School in Santa Clara, Grossman played one season at West Valley Junior College in Saratoga. There he earned an associate arts degree in business administration before matriculating to Concordia College in Portland, Oregon.

A native of Brooklyn, New York, Grossman came to Fullerton to concentrate on academics.

SEASON PREVIEW

The return of seven lettermen including the top two scorers from last year's NIT Tournament team and the addition of three "redshirts" give coach George McQuarn an exciting foundation for the 1987-88 Cal State Fullerton basketball season.

Guard Richard Morton and forward Henry Turner top a nucleus that features key reserves Vincent Blow, Eugene Jackson and Oval Miller. Morton, a 6-4 shooting guard, led the team with an 18.4 point average while earning second-team All-PCAA honors. Turner, a 6-7 leaper, averaged 15.2 points and 6.0 rebounds and made the all-tournament teams at the Cougar Classic in Provo and the PCAA Post-Season Tournament at the Forum.

Blow, a 6-8 center-forward; Jackson, a 6-3 point guard; and Miller, a 6-8 center, have started on several occasions and played in virtually every game last year as the Titans compiled a 17-13 overall record and earned national Top 20 rankings with an impressive 7-2 non-league mark in December.

The Titans suffered a major loss on August 30 when returning starting forward Derek Jones was wounded in the back in a random shooting in front of his home in Long Beach. The 6-foot-7 southpaw averaged 8.7 points and 5.7 rebounds last year, but his basketball future is in doubt due to damage to an artery and the ulna nerve in his left arm.

"It was a very unfortunate and tragic incident for Derek and our team," said McQuarn. "Derek definitely will not play this season, and that creates a real depth problem for us at forward. Obviously, we couldn't go out and replace him with school already in session,

"I've always liked a three-man rotation at the forward positions where we have a player coming off the bench with ability comparable to the starters. It gives us better competition among the players in practice since they must maintain their intensity and compete for playing time. It makes for better basketball players and a better team over the course of the season. With Derek, Henry and Bobby Adair and Brent Calvin, we would have had our best forward depth since I've been at Fullerton."

To fill the void, McQuarn has several options that will be evaluated during pre-season practices. One includes swinging Blow between center and power forward while another swings Oregon State transfer Van Anderson between shooting guard and small forward. Adair, a redshirt who averaged 4.8 points and 4.4 rebounds in two seasons as a part-time starter at the University of Utah, now becomes an even more prominent addition to the Titan roster.

"I'd prefer to let Blow concentrate on one position, but he has experience at forward," said McQuarn of the three-year letterman who has averaged 2.6 points and 3.3 rebounds during a career that has included 17 starting assignments. "Calvin (transfer from College of the Sequoias) is a question mark because he has fallen behind due to a stress fracture in his foot. When he is healthy, he will give us considerably more depth at that spot."

The Titans have added a walk-on forward candidate in 6-7 Benson Williams, who played briefly at the University of Illinois-Chicago.

One of the players McQuarn knew he had to replace was at center, where Herman Webster was a two-year regular and set school records for field-goal shooting percentage.

"We should be able to replace Herman with the trio we have at center, but how good we will be remains a question," says McQuarn. "We have depth and good competition with an equal opportunity for someone to earn the starting role.

John Sykes is bigger and stronger than Herman, but he sat out last season (at Merced JC after transferring from the University of Texas) and you just don't know about that time away from competition. Miller started five games for us last year and has a year's experience at this level. Both he and David Moody, who's been in our program two years, should compete with Sykes."

Sykes, a 6-8, 235-pound sophomore from Merced High School, averaged 2.9 points and 2.9 rebounds in 24 games for Texas in 1985-86. Miller averaged 3.3 points and 3.0 rebounds in 27 games last year after transferring from Ventura College. Moody has played only 143 minutes in his two seasons as a Titan.

The backcourt boasts a veteran starting duo in Morton and Jackson, but the depth is very inexperienced.

Morton has emerged as a scoring force and heads into his senior year with a chance to surpass all previous Titan career scorers with the exception of All-American Leon Wood. Morton's 18.4 average last year was the Titans' third-best single-season figure and he capped it with a memorable 35-point effort at California in the NIT.

"Richard should be one of the outstanding guards on the West Coast," says McQuarn. "Neither he nor Henry are resting on their laurels. They both working hard this summer. We need Richard to develop more consistency, but his potential is exciting."

Backing up Morton will be the combination of Anderson and Santa Monica City College transfer Randall Moos. Anderson averaged 4.2 points during the 1985-86 season for Oregon State and faces a challenging role as a swing man between the shooting guard and small forward spots. Moos averaged 9.1 points and 7.7 rebounds last year for the Corsairs and will be a significant asset against zone defenses with his 3-point shooting touch.

Point guard is a very critical position in the Titan lineup and with the graduation of late-season starter Alexander Hamilton, McQuarn will give the trio of Jackson, Tyrone Ree and Marlon Vaughn some bonus attention with extra morning practices.

"We are comfortable with our situation at the point," said McQuarn, "but I am going to put in some extra work with them. It's the most difficult position to play in our system. Jackson has been a starter most of his three years here, but Ree and Vaughn have little experience."

Jackson was the starter last December when the Titans won seven of their first eight games to break into United Press International's Top 20 rankings. He has started 35 games as a Titan and carries career averages of 3.9 points and 2.4 assists. Ree played only 71 minutes last year as a sophomore transfer from Murray State JC and Vaughn was idled by the provisions of Proposition 48.

"Our offense is going to begin at the defensive end once again," summarized McQuarn. "We have another challenging schedule with several teams coming off post-season play."

Bobby Adair is a most welcome addition to the Titan basketball program, particularly in light of the loss of Derek Jones... a two-year regular at the University of Utah who sat out last season but learned the Fullerton system and is likely to start at forward opposite Henry Turner... great leaper and shot blocker... averaged 4.8 points and 4.4 rebounds in his Ute career... appeared in 61 games, 9 as a starter... scored a career-high 17 points and grabbed a career-high 12 rebounds in a two-point win over San Diego State as a freshman... biggest hoop of his career was a 15-foot jump shot in the closing seconds of the third overtime period to give Utah an 86-85 victory over arch-rival Brigham Young in Provo... led team each year in blocked shots... native of New Jersey who played the final year of his high school career in Santa Monica... averaged 14.4 points and 10.8 rebounds as a senior... second-team All-Bay League choice... selected Most Valuable Player of the Malibu Classic Christmas Tournament and the MVP of the Las Vegas Invitational in the summer of 1983, when he participated in the Slam and Jam Summer Development League... played first two years of prep ball at Bordentown High School... averaged 17 points and 13 rebounds as a junior and was named first-team all-state... team finished second in the state tournament... played in the New Jersey/Philadelphia All-Star Game played in Philadelphia... physical education major... parents are Sid and Lulee Ikner.

Van Anderson becomes eligible to play for the Titans this season after a redshirt year and his progress could be most pivotal in the team's success in 1987-88... transfer from Oregon State... will likely divide time between "off" or "shooting" guard and small forward, the latter development an offshoot of the Derek Jones situation... played in 26 games for the Beavers, 13 as a starter... averaged 4.2 points and 2.3 rebounds while playing 497 minutes or almost 20 per game... excellent free-throw shooter... outstanding prep performer at St. Anthony High School in Long Beach... selected the "Press-Telegram's" Player of the Year as a senior, when he averaged 19.5 points, 4.3 rebounds and 4.5 assists... was the MVP of the Camino Real League and an All-CIF selection... was on the "Best in the West" recruiting list... also lettered in track and field... was a 6-6 high jumper, 47-4 triple jumper and 24-2 long jumper... chose Fullerton because of its atmosphere and location... also considered USC, Arizona, UTEP and Washington... cites prep coach Daniel Marques for his understanding and friendship in developing his basketball career... business administration major... goal is to run a chain of hotels... one of six children to Edward and Sydney Anderson... off-court interests center on cars and music.

Vincent Blow has made a steady contribution to the Titan basketball program over three years and will be a key figure during his senior year... loss of Derek Jones will create more playing time at forward for Blow... has appeared in 80 games, 17 as a starter... has career averages of 2.6 points and 3.3 rebounds... statistics do not show the consistency with which he has played his role over the years... shoots within his limitations and plays solid team defense... has hit some critical free throws on several occasions... in seven career PCAA Tournament games has averaged 3.7 points and 3.0 rebounds while shooting 57 per cent from the floor and 77 per cent from the foul line.

LAST YEAR: Split time between center and power forward in 28 game appearances... started 5 times... averaged 2.9 points and 3.8 rebounds... close second on team to Oval Miller at 0.239 rebounds per minute... matched his career scoring high with 10 points on Dec. 30 vs. UCLA, shooting perfect 4-for-4 from field and 2-for-2 from foul-line and had season-high 8 rebounds... had 9 points and 5 rebounds on Jan. 29 in win over Pacific that snapped team's 6-game losing streak... another serious victim of the flu epidemic in mid-season, playing only 11 minutes in span of three home games.

SOPHOMORE YEAR: Played in all but one of the Titans' 32 games and started 9 times... averaged 2.9 points and 3.7 rebounds, fourth best on team... played both interior positions (center and power forward)... had four particularly outstanding games — on Dec. 5 scored 9 points and had 6 rebounds in a starting role vs. Texas Tech... on Jan. 16 scored 10 points and grabbed 6 rebounds off the bench vs. UC Irvine... on Feb. 3 scored 9 points and had 8 rebounds in relief at Fresno State... on March 6 in the PCAA Tournament opener against UC Irvine scored 7 points including 5 of 5 free throws and grabbed 5 rebounds... had career high of 9 rebounds vs. Hawaii (Nov. 22) and New Mexico State (Jan. 30).

FRESHMAN YEAR: Played in 21 games and started 3 times, including season opener at St. Mary's... played 24 minutes and grabbed a career-high 9 rebounds at Pacific on Feb. 25 and continued fine play down the stretch... averaged almost 20 minutes, 4.6 rebounds and 3.8 points over the final five games... hit 3 of 4 free throws in closing minutes of last-second victory over Fresno State in the PCAA Tournament semi-finals... was 4 of 6 from the floor and 5 of 8 from the line with 11 rebounds in the Tournament.

HIGH SCHOOL: Was the CIF AA Player of the Year after leading Workman High School of La Puente to the CIF championship... averaged 23 points, 14 rebounds and 8 blocked shots... All-CIF junior year as well... All-San Gabriel Valley and all-league for two years... league's MVP two times... all-state and San Gabriel Valley Tribune Player of the Year... three-year letterman... biggest sports thrill was winning the CIF Southern Section title and playing in the Final Four of the state tournament.

PERSONAL: Parents are Jean and Matthew Blow... has one brother and one sister... enjoys fishing, ping pong and playing pool... favorite player is Julius Erving... also considered Oregon, Brigham Young, San Jose State and Hawaii.

Eugene Jackson enters his senior year with a tremendous amount of experience in 88 games and a variety of situations as the Titans' point guard... has started 34 times but also has admirably handled a subordinate's role to some of the most physically talented players in Fullerton history... as a freshman had the unenviable task of following in the footsteps of All-American Leon Wood, now of the New Jersey Nets... as a sophomore, shared time with All-PCAA selection Kevin Henderson, now of the Golden State Warriors... as a junior was the starter as Fullerton won seven of its first eight games and gained national Top 20 rankings, only to be felled by illness and lose his starting job to Alexander Hamilton during PCAA play... this year must ward off the challenges of junior Tyrone Ree and sophomore Marlon Vaughn... excellent ball handler and playmaker and shooting continues to improve... has averaged 3.9 points and 2.4 assists... must play with confidence and aggressiveness to key Titans' 1987-88 success.

LAST YEAR: Started 12 times and played in all 30 games... started 11 of first 12 games as team went 8-4... averaged 4.6 points and 2.4 assists... shot 48 per cent from the floor... mid-season 2-for-12 slump over 11 games dropped free-throw performance to 62 per cent for the year... scored career-high 14 points on Jan. 22 at Utah State as he hit 7-of-10 shots and led rally that forced game into overtime... last-second basket while fouled on Feb. 14 at UC Irvine tied score but he missed free throw, forcing overtime... vs. Pepperdine on Dec. 17 was 5-of-5 from floor and 2-of-2 at line in only 13 minutes of play, scoring 12 points for fourth time in career... had season-high 7 assists on Dec. 8 vs. Southern Utah.

SOPHOMORE YEAR: Played in all but one of Titans' 32 games, starting 12 times, primarily during the PCAA conference schedule... averaged 4.4 points and 2.8 assists... in starting role averaged 5.3 points... had season high 12 points on three occasions — Dec. 16 vs. Seattle... Jan. 16 vs. UC Irvine and Feb. 1 vs. CSU Long Beach... was critical performer in Jan. 16 home victory over UCI, hitting 4 of 6 field goal tries, 4 of 5 free throws and handing out 3 assists while gaining 3 steals, committing only 2 turnovers and shutting down Anteaters' backcourt... best assist game was 9 at Pepperdine on Dec. 28, when he was denied a chance to send the game into overtime because of a lane violation after he had made the first of two pressure free throw attempts... did win a game at the line on Jan. 11 at San Jose State when his free throw with 28 seconds left broke a 40-40 tie.

FRESHMAN YEAR: Started the first 10 games of the season before giving way to Henderson for league play... appeared in total of 27 games, averaging 2.7 points and 2.0 assists for the year... as a starter, averaged 5.3 points and 4.4 assists... best game was on Dec. 22 vs. Pepperdine when he hit 4 of 5 field goals, dished out season-high 9 assists and even grabbed 4 rebounds... proved to be a clutch free-throw shooter... at WolfPack Classic in Reno, went to the line three times in the final three minutes with bonus opportunities and sank all six attempts as Titans clung to a one-point lead.

HIGH SCHOOL: The Los Angeles City AAA Player of the Year at Reseda High School... led team into the city playoffs and to an overall 25-2 record as a senior... school and league's Most Valuable Player... twice an All-San Fernando Valley selection... third-team All-West Coast pick... averaged 25.9 points and 8 assists in senior year... three-year letterman... shot 67 per cent from the floor... biggest thrill was dunking in the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

PERSONAL: Has two sisters... enjoys bike riding and watching television... also recruited by Pepperdine, Washington and Texas.

Oval Miller has a full season of Division I basketball under his belt and will battle with less experienced newcomer John Sykes for starting center job this year... appeared in all but three of last season's contests, averaging 3.3 points and 3.0 rebounds... started 6 times... had best rebounds-per-minute-played ratio on squad at 0.24 rebounds per minute... had two particularly strong games... in season opener on Nov. 28 at Texas Tech scored 10 points and grabbed 10 rebounds in only 17 minutes of play as the starter... on Jan. 22 at Utah State, scored season-high 18 points and had 10 rebounds... 10 of his points came in the overtime periods including 8-of-8 pressure shots at the free-throw line... probably the most severely affected Titan by mid-season flu epidemic, playing only 27 minutes over four-game span.

JUNIOR COLLEGE: Was a key ingredient in returning Ventura College to basketball respectability in 1985-86 under coach Phil Mathews, a former Cal State Fullerton assistant... led Ventura to share of Western States Conference championship and into state play-offs for first time in years... averaged 13.5 points and 7.5 rebounds... earned first-team All-Western States honors... shot 78 per cent from the free-throw line... second-team all-conference pick as a freshman, when he averaged 15.2 points and 10.1 rebounds.

HIGH SCHOOL:A three-year varsity letterman at Morningside High School in Inglewood... league's Most Valuable Player... All-South Bay first team... averaged 20 points and 10 rebounds as a senior... biggest thrill was scoring 42 points and grabbing 12 rebounds vs. rival Inglewood.

PERSONAL:Enrolled at Fullerton "because of the respect and faith I have in the coaching staff. I know they will get the most out of me as a student and as a basketball player"... credits Morningside coach Carl Franklin for introducing him to basketball and pushing him... enjoys people... mother is Barbara French... has one sister... major is criminal justice.

Richard Morton enters his senior year with the Titans recognized as one of the top guards on the West Coast... a pre-season honorable mention All-American by "Street and Smith" magazine... a second-team All-PCAA selection last year... multi-talented performer with great court sense and poise... excellent passer, rebounder and dribbler... provides the bulk of Fullerton's outside scoring punch... proven marksman from 3-point range with career percentage of .400 (74 of 185).. with 1,066 points, could trail only Wood in Titan career scoring by season's end... a streak shooter throughout his career, hopes to improve upon a 46 per cent lifetime field-goal shooting percentage... outstanding free-throw shooter whose .786 career percentage is fourth best in school history... co-captain with Henry Turner and duo played in international tournament last summer in The Philippines... selected the "outstanding player" in San Francisco summer league play in 1985.

LAST YEAR: Morton's scoring average of 18.4 points was the third best in Titan history, surpassed only by Leon Wood's senior and sophomore campaigns... scored 18 or more points in final 12 games capped by sensational career-high 35-point effort at California in NIT first-round overtime thriller... hit 9 of 18 shots including all four 3-point attempts and converted 13 of 14 free throws while leading team with 7 rebounds... averaged 2.7 assists and 3.0 rebounds... selected team's Most Valuable Player... shot much better from the floor on the road in PCAA play (50 per cent) than at home (40 per cent)... for the year hit 61 of 153 attempts (.399) from 3-point range... two-time PCAA Player of the Week selection: Dec. 15-21 when he scored 37 points on 15 of 25 shooting in routs of Pepperdine and Washington and Feb. 2-8 when he totaled 74 points in wins at home vs. San Jose State and one the road at New Mexico State and CSU Long Beach... during latter 3-game span hit phenomenal 63 per cent (22 of 35) from 3-point range including 5 of 6 at Long Beach... failed to start only two of last year's 30 games... set PCAA Tournament single-game record by taking 24 shots vs. UNLV.

SOPHOMORE YEAR: Had three-part season... at outset was adjusting well to starting role... averaged 12.9 points in support of seniors Henderson and Kerry Boagni over first 10 games... after Henderson was hurt at Portland on Dec. 22 and Boagni encountered a shooting slump, he emerged as the offensive mainstay... led team in scoring in 4 of next 5 games and was averaging 24 points for three games prior to Jan. 11 injury at San Jose State when he suffered knee and ankle injuries in a collision with the basket support... after five-game absence, returned on Feb. 1 in token appearance at CSU Long Beach before resuming starting role with two strong outings (total of 40 points) vs. Fresno State on Feb. 3 and Feb. 8... never really regained shooting touch, however, as he hit only 36 per cent from the floor (32 of 88) over the last 8 games... did go 10 for 19 in PCAA Tournament as he got back into shape... was shooting 53 per cent from floor when injured... for the year averaged 13.3 points (second best on team), 2.5 assists and

MVP of the Bay Area High School Tournament... averaged 29 points, 10 rebounds, 10 assists and 4 steals during his senior year... four-year letterman... biggest thrill was a 30-point effort that snapped a four-year unbeaten streak for Drake High School.

PERSONAL: Enjoys tennis, movies, parties and the beach... has two brothers and one sister... parents are Gloria Stamps and Richard Morton, Sr.... also recruited by Oregon State, Arizona State, Texas and St. Mary's... chose Fullerton because of its growing program and his desire to help continue it in that direction... favorite players are Larry Bird and Bernard King.

The Cal State Fullerton basketball team has dedicated its 1987-88 season to forward Derek Jones, who will be sidelined for at least one year as he recovers from gunshot wounds.

The senior-to-be was the innocent victim of a random shooting that occurred in front of his Long Beach home on Sunday evening, Aug. 30. An unknown assailant fired a shotgun into a crowd, wounding Jones and one other person. Jones was struck from behind by numerous pellets and surgery was required to repair an artery and the ulnar nerve in his left or shooting arm. He faces a lengthy rehabilitation, but the prognosis is that he will recover at least normal use of his arm.

An extra year of eligibility will be sought for Jones, who this season would be in his fifth collegiate year. If he is physically unable to attend classes, the NCAA could grant him a sixth year due to the extenuating circumstances to play his fourth and final collegiate season.

The 6-foot-7, 195-pounder played two years at Long Beach City College before sitting out the 1985-86 season to obtain his Associate Arts degree. Last year he appeared in 29 of Fullerton's 30 games, 23 as a starter, missing only the Feb. 14 contest at UC Irvine due to a dislocated shoulder suffered at UNLV on Feb. 12. He averaged 8.7 points to rank No. 4 on the team and was the No. 3 rebounder at 5.7 per game. He scored a career-high 22 points and grabbed a career-high 11 rebounds against UCI in the opening game of the PCAA Post-Season Tournament.

Although still one of the youngest Division I conferences in the country, the 18-year-old Pacific Coast Athletic Association has become a major factor on the national scene through a combination of aggressive administrative leadership and outstanding coaches and student-athletes. In terms of attendance, television exposure, post-season play and development for the professional ranks, the PCAA ranks among the elite.

● Attendance — the PCAA had one of the highest percentage increases in attendance among the top 20 conferences in the nation last year.

● TV Exposure — the PCAA is one of the few conferences to retain a "Game of the Week" package on a regional network basis. Raycom Sports of Charlotte, North Carolina will broadcast a game every Saturday in January and February as well as the championship game of the post-season tournament. Locally based telecasts include the Prime Ticket Network in the Los Angeles area as well as numerous community cable production companies.

● Post-season play — the PCAA has done remarkably well in recent seasons under the pressure of post-season competition. League champion UNLV advanced to the Final Four of the NCAA Tournament last year while Cal State Fullerton made its second trip to the NIT. The previous year, UNLV advanced to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tourney and runner-up UC Irvine advanced in the NIT with a win over UCLA at Pauley Pavilion. In 1983, four PCAA teams advanced to post-season play and Fresno State won the NIT championship with a victory over DePaul in Madison Square Garden.

● Post-Season Tournament — the PCAA was the first conference in the West to initiate a post-season tournament to select its automatic entry into the NCAA Tournament. After outgrowing the Anaheim Convention Center, the PCAA moved to the Fabulous Forum in Inglewood where more than 30,000 fans have annually seen three exciting nights of basketball. This year the format expands to four nights with all 10 teams participating and next year the venue will be changed to the Long Beach Sports Arena with its superior hotel location.

● NBA Draft Picks — six members of PCAA institutions were selected in the 1987 National Basketball Association draft, down from previous years due primarily to the high number of quality underclassmen playing last season. In 1986, nine players were drafted including Kevin Henderson and Kerry Boagni of the Titans, but that number pales in comparison to the "Class of '84" which produced a total of 15 NBA draftees!

Fullerton opened the season at Texas Tech on a sad note, with coach George McQuarn back in California for his father's funeral.

The Red Raiders held the lead most of the game, but the Titans were able to fight their way within a 3-point field goal of the lead.

Tech drew out in the first half and led, 26-17, 6:27 before intermission on Sean Gay's 3-pointer. But the Titans outscored their hosts, 15-4, taking a 32-30 lead seconds before the half as Henry Turner stole an inbounds pass and fired in a 30-foot 3-pointer while falling out of bounds.

Tech made short work of the Titans' lead, regaining control at 36-34 and stretching its lead to 60-50 with 7:36 to play. Back came the Titans behind Richard Morton and surprise starter Oval Miller. Morton's 3-pointer cut the lead to 68-67 with 50 seconds to play but Gay hit a jumper in the lane for a 70-67 lead 13 seconds later. Morton missed a 3-pointer before Eugene Jackson stole the ball and was fouled with five seconds remaining.

Titan Gym and a noisy crowd welcomed Fullerton back for its home opener and the Titans responded with an overwhelming performance against the Division II Roadrunners.

Bakersfield went more than five minutes before scoring and by then the Titans had a 12-point lead. After a second bucket cut the margin to 14-4, the Titans scored the next 10 points for an insurmountable 24-4 advantage less than 10 minutes into the game. CSCB trailed at the half, 40-15, after hitting only four of 23 shots and committing 14 turnovers to Fullerton's five.

By game's end, the Roadrunners had committed 32 turnovers to 14 for Fullerton, which was credited with 16 steals.

An unbeaten (5-0) Southern Utah State College team visited Titan Gym and gave the Titans a tough game for almost a half.

The Thunderbirds jumped out to a 6-2 lead and forced a Titan timeout. Coach McQuarn got the desired effect from his "pep talk," as the Titans went on a 9-0 spurt for an 11-6 lead that grew to 19-9 at the midway point of the half.

Southern Utah hung close and was within eight at 34-26 with three minutes to go. But then Fullerton exploded for a 12-1 burst capped by Richard Morton's 25-footer that inflated the halftime score to 46-27.

The Thunderbirds shot a respectable 48 per cent in the first half but 14 turnovers contributed to some easy Fullerton shots and the Titans hit 19 of 30 shots. For the night, Fullerton hit a school record eight 3-point field goals in 16 attempts.

Fullerton came to the Cougar Classic looking for a better gauge of its talent against proven competition. Against the defending Southwest Conference tournament champion TCU, the Titans' displayed their tenacious defense that held the Horned Frogs to 33 per cent shooting and forced 11 turnovers to only five for the Titans.

Three quick baskets by Henry Turner catapulted the Titans to a quick 6-0 lead and Fullerton never trailed in the deliberately played game. Fullerton drew out to an 18-7 lead against the TCU zone six unanswered points by Carl Lott got TCU back in the game and it trailed only 25-20 at the half despite shooting 25 per cent.

Fullerton edged out to leads as large as 12 points early in the second half but TCU cut the margin to as little as five at 44-39 with 4:32 to play. But Richard Morton beat the shot clock with a clutch basket and added two free throws for a safer 48-39 lead and the Horned Frogs never got closer than six points again.

Coach McQuarn got his wish for season development: a match-up with the host Cougars before a crowd of 18,120, the third largest ever to see Cal State Fullerton play basketball.

The gathering was treated to a second night of smothering Fullerton defense as the Titans forced 13 turnovers and held BYU to 35 per cent shooting.

After neither team led by more than four points in a see-saw first half, the Titans went ahead to stay at 38-35 on a 3-point Henry Turner bucket. They built the margin to 52-44 as they held BYU without a field goal for almost 13 minutes.

Alexander Hamilton's driving dunk appeared to sew up the game at 57-49 with 1:15 to go but the Cougars and the crowd got back into it. A missed Richard Morton free throw, a couple of turnovers and a devastating foul call on Eugene Jackson gave BYU an opportunity to tie with 23 seconds to go. Jeff Chatman went to the line but missed one of two and Morton then hit two clutch free throws.

Fullerton returned home with a four-game winning streak and the appreciative Titan fans added further fuel to the defensive frenzy with which the Titans played. They held defending West Coast Athletic Conference champion Pepperdine scoreless for almost five minutes and never trailed in a wire-to-wire rout.

The young Waves shot 43 per cent in the first half and committed 10 turnovers to three for Fullerton and the Titans used an 11-4 burst in the final five minutes for a 39-22 halftime edge.

Any doubt about the outcome was erased as Fullerton opened the second half with a 9-2 burst for a 24-point lead that eventually grew to 32 points with 4:20 to play. With Levy Middlebrooks getting three dunks against the Titan bench down the stretch, the Waves closed the margin to as little as 18 points before David Moody hit the final bucket of the game.

The University of Washington had the dubious distinction of being the first Pac-10 team to visit Titan Gym and coach Andy Russo's pre-game fears were realized as the tenacious Titans routed the Huskies before a raucous Titan Gym crowd.

The Titans defense negated the Huskies huge height advantage on the front line and Fullerton even outrebounded the visitors despite the presence of 7-0 Chris Welp and 6-11 Phil Zevenberger.

Washington scored the game's first bucket but never led again as the Titans jumped out to leads of 8-2 and 14-7. The Huskies closed to 14-12 before Fullerton got baskets from usually low scoring Eugene Jackson, Oval Miller and Alexander Hamilton for a 20-12 cushion that grew to 15 points at the half.

Washington, the fourth NCAA tournament veteran team (Texas Tech, TCU and Pepperdine) to face the Titans this season, pulled within eight at 46-38 with 12:33 to play

A fifth successive tournament-tested team and a second PrimeTicket television audience saw another Fullerton rout despite a strong offensive effort by explosive Loyola Marymount.

The Lions, who entered the game averaging 96 points, executed well and hit 59 per cent of their first-half shots. With Mike Yoest hitting 5-of-5 shots, the Lions clung to a 28-27 lead with 6:40 before intermission. Fullerton edged ahead, 36-34, and then scored the final seven points of the half climaxed by a left-handed offensive rebound dunk by Henry Turner at the buzzer for a 43-34 advantage.

The Titans scored the first nine points of the second half, all by Herman Webster and Derek Jones, for an 18-point lead at 52-34. The Lions drew within 14 on occasion but the Titans were able to build the margin as high as 23 points on their way to seven victories in a row.

Fullerton got its long-awaited inaugural shot at the UCLA Bruins and the timing couldn't have seemed better. The Titans were riding a 7-game win streak, the Bruins had lost four of five games and were missing Montel Hatcher with an injury. And, the Bruins had only one practice day after a narrow win over CSU Long Beach while the Titans had been idle since the Dec. 23 win over Loyola Marymount.

The edge disintegrated, however, in the field-goal shooting percentages. The Titans were cold, the Bruins were hot and UCLA held on for a narrow victory in an entertaining game before a sell-out crowd of 12,352.

Fullerton led by as many as eight points in the first half, but a pair of steals by Reggie Miller sparked the Bruins to a tie. UCLA kept its momentum in the second half, drawing away by as many as 12 points before Vincent Blow came off the bench to spark the Titans. They drew within two in the final minute before Miller hit a pair of free throws that were just enough to survive a Henry Turner 3-pointer at the buzzer.

Fullerton never had won a PCAA opener on the road under George McQuarn and the unfriendly confines of Selland Arena hardly seemed the place the trend would be bucked. The young Bulldogs under new coach Ron Adams were coming off a big win over West Virginia and had the building full of Red Wavers.

However, it was all Fullerton. The Titans won in Fresno for the third time in four trips but never so convincingly as the Titans built a 35-20 halftime lead and stayed at least 11 points ahead the rest of the way. The loss was the worst at home for Fresno since 1973.

The Bulldogs led only twice, at 1-0 and 3-2, and the Titans took control in the latter stages of the first half, outscoring Fresno State 16-4 over the final 8:34.

Four times after intermission the 'Dogs drew within 11 but each time the Titans responded immediately.

On an innocent looking night in Stockton, the Titans' brilliant 1986-87 season came unglued as the Tigers posted a victory that triggered a six-game losing streak.

The most telling statistic was the shooting of Richard Morton. But otherwise, it was game that had to be seen to be believed. The Tigers came up with the big play or the loose ball time and time again, usually by center Brent Counts, who established what at that time was a career high with 26 points including four critical free throws in the final 23 seconds. They left Fullerton with a long bus ride home after the game.

Pacific broke a 13-13 tie to lead by as many as eight in the first half and UOP had it up to 10 at 49-39 with 5:52 to play on Christian Gray's 3-point basket. Fullerton rallied to make it 54-53 on Henry Turner's bucket with 39 seconds to play and the Titans got the ball briefly when Vincent Blow stole a pass, only to throw it back errantly to Counts who was fouled.

The flu and an improved UC Santa Barbara team put an end to Fullerton's winning ways in Titan Gym as the Gauchos broke open a close game in the closing seconds.

Key Fullerton reserves Vincent Blow, Alexander Hamilton and Oval Miller didn't play and ailing coach George McQuarn doesn't even remember this game, not that he would want to recollect it, Fullerton's lowest point production of the year.

UCSB took an early 17-11 lead before the Titans rolled off a 7-0 "spurt" over 5:28 for an 18-17 lead that grew to four at the half but never more. Brian Johnson's 3-point bucket put the Gauchos ahead to stay at 36-34 with 10:20 to play. After Rodney Smith scored to make it 43-40 UCSB with 2:45 to go, UCSB scored the next 8 points to clinch the win, its first at Fullerton since 1981.

The Titans' top scoring tandem of Richard Morton and Henry Turner combined to hit only 9 of 35 shots and only 3 of 11 3-point tries.

The Titans regained their full roster in a less than totally healthy condition but lost coach George McQuarn to bronchial pneumonia and the UC Irvine Anteaters, minus a starter of their own in Joe Buchanan, took advantage of the situation to snap a six-game losing streak to Fullerton.

The Titans got off to a decent start and held a 26-19 lead late in the first half before the Anteaters began a run. They cut the margin to 3 at the half and continued the spree with a remarkable 20-5 run that gave them a commanding 49-37 lead with 13:23 to play. Several of their baskets came on breakaway layups as they either stole the ball from Titan guards or threw long football passes after CSF buckets.

The lead grew to 16 before Fullerton cut it to 6 behind Henry Turner, who ended up with a career high 25 points, but an 8-2 UCI run left it 74-62 before Turner scored the last 8 Titan points.

For the second time in four years, UNLV came into Titan Gym with the nation's No. 1 ranking and an unbeaten record. But with coach McQuarn still ailing and the team still weakened by the flu, the Titans couldn't pull off an upset as they did in 1983.

UNLV took the early advantage, utilizing a stifling trap zone defense to jump into an 11-4 lead on a series of layups. The Rebels built the margin to 11 and then toyed with Fullerton just before halftime, letting the Titans close within 3 but then spurting 7-0 in the final 90 seconds.

Again in the second half the Titans cut it to three at 51-48 but this time they sustained the rally, even taking a 57-56 lead on Herman Webster's 3-point play with 8:41 to play. UNLV regained the lead and edged out to a 64-60 advantage when the Titan bench was hit with a costly technical foul at the 5:19 mark. Fullerton gave up the ball, saw Fred Banks hit two free throws and then Armon Gilliam hit a jumper and instead of a chance to draw within two points, the Titans were down by 8 at 68-60.

A remarkable Fullerton rally got the Titans nothing more than a heart-breaking loss at Logan as the host Aggies came within one free throw of the PCAA record in a double overtime victory.

Fullerton led only briefly in the early going at 13-11 before the Aggies went on an 11-2 spurt for a 22-15 lead. After Henry Turner scored the first basket of the second half, the Aggies got the next nine points for a 49-35 edge.

When Kevin Nixon hit a 3-pointer with 6:10 to play, it gave Utah State a 10-point lead and also turned out to be its last basket until Nixon's layup in the second overtime period, 12 minutes on the clock later.

Fullerton converted a series of Aggie turnovers into layups for Eugene Jackson, who scored a career-high 14 points to get CSF back in the game. Alexander Hamilton's driving bank shot with 19 seconds left forced overtime. Although Fullerton never trailed in the 5-minute period, the Aggies forced another overtime as Mike Johnson matched Herman Webster in making only one of two free throws in the final 12 seconds.

3pt FG: Owens Perry 1-2

The Titans' misfortunes continued in San Jose as their losing string ran to six in a row when the Spartans played one of their best games of the season.

Ricky Berry was held in check with only one point in the first half and a total of 11, but Reggie Owens came alive to lead San Jose with an assist from Gerald Thomas' career-high 11 point effort.

Richard Morton regained his shooting touch in his native Bay Area and kept the Titans in the game. He gave them their last lead at 17-16 before the Spartans went on a 10-2 spurt and settled for a 5-point halftime lead.

San Jose drew out to leads as large as 16 in the second half (50-34) before Fullerton made a run on a trio of baskets by both Morton and Henry Turner. Its lead cut to 52-42, San Jose called a timeout and then got a rally-killing 3-point play from Berry in a scramble under the basket.

The friendly confines of Titan Gym helped Fullerton snap its six-game losing streak but it certainly wasn't easy. Not until Willie Tatum's last-second attempt at a 3-point field goal bounced off of the front of the rim could the Titans be sure the monkey was off their backs.

Brent Counts had another strong game for the Tigers while the Titans still got only mediocre shooting from Richard Morton and Henry Turner, who didn't start for the only time during the year due to a sprained ankle.

Dunks by Turner and Herman Webster gave Fullerton a 33-26 halftime lead but Pacific caught up at 43-43 with 11:15 to play. Morton responded with a 3-point basket and Fullerton led the rest of the way, by as much as 57-50 with 1:41 to go.

But Christian Gray hit a pair of 3-pointers around a missed Titan free throw and it took Morton's free throws with 20 seconds left to play to nail it down.

Shades of December began to creep back into the Titans' play as they hosted Fresno State in Titan Gym.

When you think of the Bulldogs you think of defense and Fullerton handed the visitors more than a taste of their own medicine.

With the score tied at 11-11, Fullerton shut down the Bulldogs for more than 8 minutes while building a 25-11 lead that became a 25-13 intermission edge when Mike Mitchell broke the Fresno spell with a layup with 12 seconds remaining in the half. Thirteen points in a half would stand up as the best defensive 20 minutes in the entire PCAA season.

After Mitchell hit two more quick buckets in the second half, the Fullerton defense prevailed again. In a 7-minute span, Fresno scored only three points while Fullerton netted 16 for a 43-20 lead with 11:35 to play. The margin climbed to 52-26 with 6:22 to go before Fresno State made it respectable against the Titan bench.

The agonizing month of January finally behind them, the Titans embarked with enthusiasm into February. They opened it with a win, but the last minute of the victory seemed like a month in itself.

Another outstanding defensive effort and a strong shooting night from Richard Morton lifted the Titans, who led from the opening tip and had a 38-23 advantage early in the second half. Ricky Berry got hot for San Jose and the Spartans cut the margin to four on three occasions but the Titans appeared to weather the storm, building the lead back to as many as 15 and holding a 60-46 edge with 1:41 to play and a 61-50 lead with only 38 seconds left.

Suddenly, the Titans committed two silly fouls and had trouble inboundng the ball and it became 62-60 with :07 to go. Eugene Jackson missed a free throw but Herman Webster rebounded and the Spartans never got a chance to tie or win it. Berry ended up with 29 points including 13 of the Spartans' final 19.

Fullerton took the momentum of its three-game win streak on the road and came up with the rarest of achievements — an overtime victory away from home. In fact, it was the first in the George McQuarn era on a hostile court.

The Titans didn't look they would need to bother with extra periods when they held a 5-point advantage with less than a minute to play against the Aggies, who had won four in a row. But Jeff McCool's 3-point basket, a charging foul on Richard Morton and Jock White's driving layup past Morton forced the extra period.

Things were looking very gloomy on the Titan bench when the Aggies scored the first four points of overtime on a pair of Derrick Hill dunks. But two free throws by Derek Jones broke the spell and Morton followed with a pair of jumpers to put Fullerton ahead for good at 56-54. Eugene Jackson's layup extended the margin to 58-54 and then Oval Miller and Morton converted both ends of a pair of bonus free throw opportunities.

The movement from the Long Beach Arena to the campus gymnasium by the CSU Long Beach 49ers was one of the best things ever to happen to the Fullerton program. The Titans, who had struggled to win in the Arena in 1985 and lost a four-overtime game in 1984, blew the 49ers out of their own gym for the second year in a row.

The final score is not indicative of the decisiveness of the victory. The Titans, who never trailed and led by as many as 14 points in the first half, ended the suspense after intermission. They held Long Beach to only nine points in 14 minutes while expanding a 39-30 halftime lead into a comfortable 66-39 margin. It was still a 27-point game at 77-50 with 2:13 to go when the 49ers made a late surge behind reserve Rudy Harvey.

The Thomas and Mack Center was not the best place for the Titans to take their five-game win streak but Fullerton gave the nation's No. 1 ranked team all it could handle. Were it not for a dislocated shoulder suffered by Derek Jones in the first half, the Titans might have pulled off a shocker on a night when the Rebels had cold shooting hands.

Unlike their meeting in Titan Gym, the Titans didn't let the Rebels blow them away in the opening minutes. They even led 8-6 before a 10-0 Rebel run established the tone for the half. But Fullerton kept it close and, after a Jarvis Basnight free throw to open the second half, the Titans ran off 8 points for a 38-36 lead.

Richard Morton's 3-pointer made it 43-38 and forced a UNLV time out. It was still Fullerton by five at 48-43 when UNLV went on a typical spurt, inspired by its defense which would force a Fullerton season high of 24 turnovers. UNLV outscored Fullerton 17-4 over four minutes and the Titans could get no closer than five.

Fullerton got its first look at the new Bren Center on the UC Irvine campus and came away impressed with the building, if not the outcome.

Irvine came into the game seemingly ripe for a beating. The Anteaters had lost four in a row and injuries and illness had left coach Bill Mulligan with only six regulars in uniform. But the Titans matched the 'Eaters in misery. Derek Jones was sidelined with his dislocated shoulder, Henry Turner went down with five minutes to play with a sprained ankle and the team was in foul trouble the entire game.

After 39:55 of play, the miseries had balanced with the score standing at 66-66 and Eugene Jackson on the line for Fullerton, having just completed a 12-5 Titan spurt in the final 2:07 with a jumper at the top of the key while being fouled by Scott Brooks. But Jackson missed the free throw and the game went into overtime.

Fullerton scored the first three points but that was it.

Utah State shot a sizzling 61 per cent from the floor yet still found a way to get blown out in Titan Gym, where Fullerton rekindled its play of December.

The obvious key to the game was in the turnover column, where the visiting Aggies gave up the ball 21 times to only five for Fullerton, which was ecstatic to have Derek Jones and Henry Turner back in the lineup.

Utah State scored the game's first three points and then it was all Fullerton. The Titans immediately went on an 18-4 spurt over eight minutes for an 18-7 lead. The Aggies closed it to 18-12 but the Titans got the next seven points — a Eugene Jackson jumper, two Richard Morton free throws on a coach Rod Tueller technical and Herman Webster's dunk and free throw — and held a comfortable 44-32 halftime margin.

A 10-0 Fullerton run early in the second half made it 56-36 and the rout was on.

For the second game in a row, the opposition shot 61 per cent, but this time it was the Titans taking a one-sided decision on the chin.

The tone was set early when the host Gauchos scored 11 points on their first four trips down the floor — two 3-point baskets plus a traditional 3-point play and a routine bucket — and the Titans were down 11-4 despite scoring on two of their first three possessions.

The Gauchos' backcourt duo of Brian Johnson and Carrick DeHart didn't let up. They combined to hit 6 of 8 3-pointers on their way to 27 first-half points, as many as the entire Fullerton team could manufacture.

After intermission, UCSB went inside and got effective production from Khris Fortson and Brian Vaughns to build a lead as large as 19 points at 57-38 with 10:43 to go. Henry Turner led a Titan surge that twice cut the margin to seven points at 59-52 and 61-54 but the Titans failed to hit a second 3-pointer despite trying 10 and the Gauchos pulled away.

The three previous meetings between the Aggies and the Titans had produced overtime games and this encounter almost made it four in a row.

It was a strange game with an unusual climax. The Aggies made a late run, hitting 3 out of 3 3-point attempts, the last by Kenny Travis cutting their deficit to 61-59 with 10 seconds to go. But the Aggies took a sixth timeout, resulting in a technical foul that put Richard Morton on the foul line for two shots (which he made) and gave Fullerton the ball at midcourt.

In a sluggish first half, Fullerton had assumed a 29-24 lead at intermission and then quickly stretched it to 38-28. The Aggies went on an 11-0 run to take the lead, 39-38, and force a Titan timeout. Fullerton responded with a 9-0 run for an 8-point lead that the Aggies immediately halved. Fullerton built it back up to 9 points at 55-46 with 3:15 to go before NMSU made its final charge.

The victory guaranteed the Titans a berth in the PCAA Post-Season Tournament as well as another winning season.

The cards certainly seemed stacked in favor of the Titans as they closed out the regular season at home against CSU Long Beach. In the Titans' favor were:

--Home Court: Fullerton took a 9-3 record at home this year and a 6-0 home record for coach George McQuarn against the 49ers into the contest.

--History: Fullerton had won handily at Long Beach, 80-65, and had won six in a row over the 49ers.

--Personnel: The 49ers were missing Andre Purry and Morlon Wiley, two of their most talented players, to discipline problems and were down to a 9-man roster.

--Momentum: The 49ers had lost six in a row, the slump starting with their home loss to Fullerton, which had won 7 of its last 10.

As usual in sports, the team with seemingly no chance didn't get the message. Even though they were down by 16 early in the second half, the 49ers made a run at Fullerton and got as close as four points before clutch shooting by Herman Webster and Richard Morton allowed Fullerton to prevail.

Two historical trends clashed as Fullerton met Irvine in the PCAA Tournament's opening round.

In the two previous seasons, one of the two Orange County rivals swept the season series and UCI was going for the hat trick in 1986-87. But also in the two previous seasons, Fullerton had been the one to prevail in the opening round of the tournament.

Chalk one up for tournament history. Not to mention superior rebounding as the Titans won the game on the offensive glass to knock the Anteaters out in the first round for the third year in a row.

Henry Turner's hot hand — he hit his first six shots — helped catapult the Titans from a 19-19 deadlock into a 34-25 lead midway through the first half and Fullerton never trailed as its rebounding dominance — 40-25 overall but more glaringly 17-4 in the offensive department — and late free-throwing ability offset a UCI charge fueled by the 3-point field-goal shooting of Joe Buchanan and Scott Brooks.

To beat UNLV, the nation's No. 1 squad, a team must play a near perfect game and hope for some breaks. When it's the Rebels playing at the top of their game, the result can get ugly real fast.

Gerald Paddio hit a 3-point field goal only seven seconds into the game and it took the Titans almost two minutes to counter with a Derek Jones layup for two points. Little did the Titans know, that would be as close as they would get. With UNLV on its way to a 71 per cent shooting first half including 6 of 11 3-pointers, and Fullerton not getting its second basket until the 12:37 mark, UNLV jumped out to a 17-4 lead on its way to a 57-point first half against a team that was allowing only a little more than 60 points for an entire game.

The end result was the most lopsided loss in George McQuarn's Fullerton career since his first game, a 100-65 defeat at the University of Portland in 1980.

3pt FG: Johnson 2-3

California used a second-half rally, crucial foul calls on Alexander Hamilton and finally an overtime period to end the Fullerton season.

With a capacity crowd of 6,450 jammed into 54-year-old Harmon Arena, the teams battled as if the NCAA championship were on the line. They sparred for the first 10 minutes before Fullerton opened a 23-16 lead with six minutes to go in the half.

After settling for a 4-point halftime lead, the Titans extended it to 11 at 42-31 with a 10-3 surge out of the locker room to quiet the participant throng. But Jon Wheeler and Kevin Johnson ran off seven unanswered points to get the crowd back into the game and launch a 16-3 Cal spurt that gave the Bears a 47-45 lead with 9:00 to go. After a series of lead changes, Cal pulled out at 58-53 and fouled Hamilton out. But Richard Morton sent the game into overtime at 60-60 with a 3-point bucket with four seconds on the clock.

—TITAN HISTORY—

HISTORY OF TITAN ATHLETICS

Obstacles and adversity. Grass roots support and coaches with "sandwich board" signs. Stunning upsets and courageous performances. All have been a part of Cal State Fullerton athletics as "Titan Pride" has taken limited resources to athletic successes disproportionate to such a young institution.

How many universities can claim national championships in seven different sports, a star major league third baseman, men and women basketball players in the Olympics, two rookies in the Super Bowl and the subject matter of a Walt Disney feature film?

The tenor was set by the first Titan intercollegiate team — men's basketball. In only their second season, the Titans of coach Alex Omalev advanced five rounds into the NAIA national playoffs in 1961-62.

Sixteen seasons later, the entire nation watched another "cinderella" Titan five advance to within one victory of the "Final Four" as Bobby Dye's 1977-78 team won the Pacific Coast Athletic Association post-season tournament and then beat nationally ranked New Mexico and USC to gain the finals of the Western Regional.

The basketball tradition, which included coach Billie Moore and star Nancy Dunkle on the women's 1976 Olympic team, was continued in 1984 as Leon Wood helped the men to a gold medal before he became a first-round NBA draft choice. Coach George McQuarn's past six teams have been factors in the PCAA race and have a victory over the nation's No. 1-ranked and undefeated team to their credit. Fullerton also has competed twice in the NIT Tournament.

Gymnastics has brought Fullerton more fame. Coach Dick Wolfe won three college division titles (1971, 1972 and 1974) and has had recent teams in the Top Ten at the Division I level while winning 10 PCAA titles in a row. His 1987 squad was ranked No. 1 in the nation led by former Chinese Olympian Li Xiao Ping. Lynn Rogers began the women's program in 1976 and the Titans have finished fifth or better in the nation every year but one including the national title in 1979. One-armed Carol Johnston was an All-American and star of the Disney film, "Lefty," while more recently, Tami Elliott won 10 All-American awards before suffering a fractured vertebra in her senior season.

Baseball exploded on the national scene with the arrival of coach Augie Garrido. He broke the USC monopoly in the western regionals in 1975 and won the national title in 1979 behind the play of Tim Wallach, now of the Montreal Expos. And he won the College World Series again in 1984 with players such as pitcher Greg Mathews of the St. Louis Cardinals. Pitcher Mike Harkey was the fourth player selected in baseball's June free agent draft, going to the Chicago Cubs.

Women have sparkled on the Fullerton diamonds, too. Coach Judi Garman founded the softball program in 1980 and the Titans have been a powerhouse, making seven trips to the College World Series in eight years. The Titans brought home their first NCAA Championship in 1986 and have been ranked No. 1 in the nation most of the past two seasons.

There have been national titles in men's cross country and women's fencing and individual standouts like golfer Martha Wilkerson and runner Mark Covert. In football, the Titans have won their share as well.

Dick Coury was the inaugural coach in 1970 and he built an instant winner at the Division II level. The Titans were 27-16-1 over the first four years under Coury and successor Pete Yoder before the growing pains of moving up to Div. I were endured. But the program came of age under the guidance of Gene Murphy, who won back-to-back PCAA championships in 1983 and 1984 and remains a topflight program.

TITANS IN THE N.B.A.

Ozell Jones

Greg Bunch

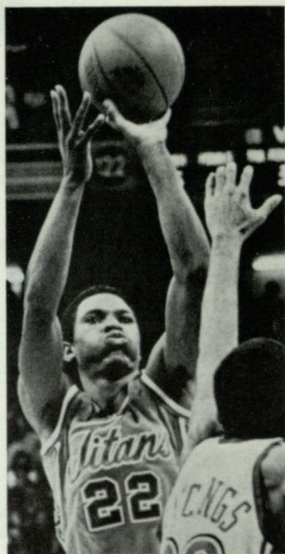

Mike Niles

Cal State Fullerton has been well represented at the professional level despite the relative youth of the intercollegiate basketball program.

Coach George McQuarn has seen six of his Titans drafted in the past four years. The Titans hit it big in 1984 when two players made National Basketball Association rosters — guard Leon Wood with the Philadelphia 76ers and center Ozell Jones with the San Antonio Spurs. Each has subsequently been traded twice — Wood to the Washington Bullets and more recently the New Jersey Nets while Jones went to the Los Angeles Clippers before landing with the Phoenix Suns.

The third former Titan currently in the NBA is guard Kevin Henderson, who was drafted in 1986 by the Cleveland Cavaliers but first gained a roster berth with the Golden State Warriors during the 1986-87 season.

Kevin Henderson

Other Titans drafted but unable to make a roster were Ricky Mixon (Los Angeles Lakers, 1983), Tony Neal (Los Angeles Lakers, 1985) and Kerry Boagni (Utah Jazz, 1986).

Leon Wood

Earlier Titans to play in the NBA were forwards Greg Bunch with the New York Knicks and Mike Niles with the Phoenix Suns. Several recent Titans have played in foreign leagues including last year's center Herman Webster, who was playing in Israel at press time.

BROADCAST PACKAGES

TELEVISION

Ed Larkin

A varied combination of a regional network package, delayed coverage of selected home games, the Prime Ticket cable channel, the University cable channel and the various packages of institutions the Titans will visit will keep Cal State Fullerton basketball "on the tube" most of the 1987-88 season.

The Pacific Coast Athletic Association continues its "Game of the Week" schedule with Raycom Sports of Charlotte, North Carolina again in 1988. All 10 teams will be spotlighted over the course of the Saturday afternoon telecasts as well as the two teams who gain the finals of the PCAA Post-Season Tournament at The Forum. The Titans' appearances are scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 23 at San Jose State and Saturday, March 5 at home vs. Cal State

Long Beach. The games are seen on a network of stations throughout the western United States.

Financial News Network was scheduled at press time to air nationally the Titans' home game on Jan. 13 vs. UNLV.

Most of Fullerton's remaining home games will be televised on a delayed basis via Titan Cable Sports under the production of professor Larry Ward with Ed Larkin providing the play-by-play coverage. The feed is used to provide the games to cable subscribers in Fullerton, Yorba Linda, Placentia, Anaheim and Villa Park via the auspices of the University channel (54) in Fullerton and (39) and Anaheim/Villa Park.

Of course, the Titans also gain exposure on the road when home teams send their games out on cable, VHF and UHF stations.
