

Round Hill

COUNTRY CLUB...

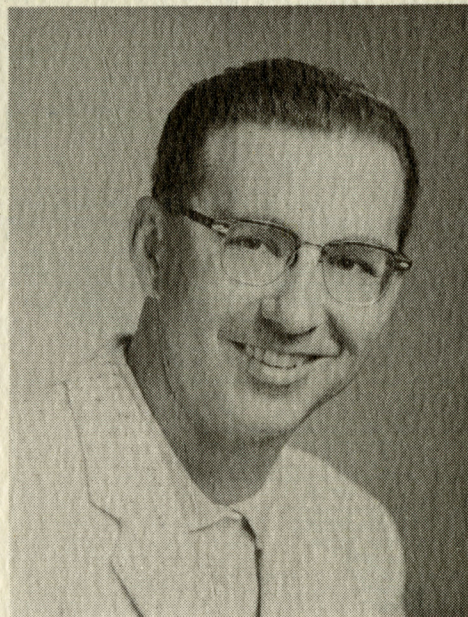

...WITH COORDINATED
RESIDENTIAL DEVELOPMENT

RAY M. McCOY
Resident Manager

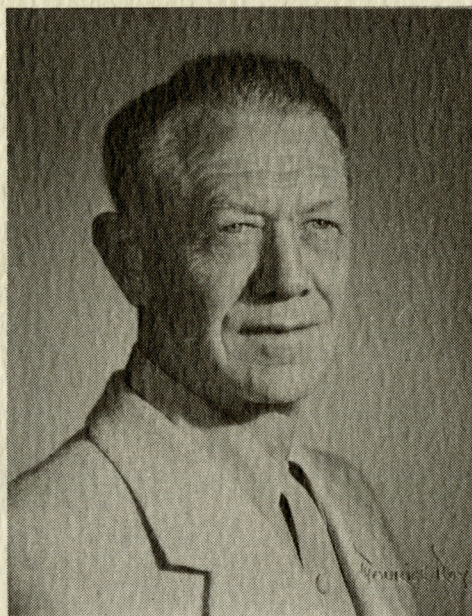

WILLIAM F. CODY (A.I.A.)
Country Club Architect

NORMAN TAUSCHER
Golf Pro

LAWRENCE HUGHES
Golf Course Architect

DESIGNED AND SUPERVISED BY EMINENT

(See inside fold for layout of course)

SUPERVISED BY EMINENT SPECIALISTS . . .

(See inside fold for layout of course)

No expense has been spared in employing the best talents available for the design, construction and supervision of the ROUND HILL Country Club.

The championship 18 hole golf course has been designed and is under the direct supervision of Lawrence Hughes, eminent course architect, who has designed many outstanding golf courses including Thunderbird and Eldorado in the Palm Springs area, Paradise Valley in Phoenix and the Desert Inn in Las Vegas.

Mr. Hughes has stated that ROUND HILL will compare in quality with the best facilities in the country, and that several of the holes are distinctively individual in character. When completed, the course will lend itself to championship tournaments, and yet will not be too difficult for high handicap players. Moreover, the terrain is conducive to the use of carts for those who wish to take it easy.

William F. Cody, internationally known architect (A.I.A.), who created the magnificent buildings and facilities for such outstanding country clubs as Thunderbird, Eldorado, Tamarisk, De Anza, Palo Alto Hills and Villa Real Golfotel in Havana, Cuba, and many others, is the architect for the ROUND HILL clubhouse and recreational facilities.

Ray M. McCoy, resident manager, has had wide experience in country club management, including his service as manager of the popular Sequoyah Country Club.

Norman Tauscher (P.G.A.), golf pro, is also well known and eminent in his field, having been identified with various Bay Area country clubs.