The Eighth Annual Commencement

OF California State College
AT FULLERTON, CALIFORNIA

Physical Education Building

Friday, June 9, 1967

10 am.

To California State College at Fullerton Graduates of 1967:

You are graduating from a college which during your years here has grown from a very small one to one of the larger colleges and universities in the state and nation. You have been a part of this growth. Many of you have participated effectively in bringing about realization of the "college community" concept, wherein students, faculty and staff have joined in advancing the best interests of the college as a whole.

The state of California representing all the people, has provided you with an excellent education. The increasingly beautiful campus is the setting. An excellent faculty and staff have tried to give you the best in educational opportunity. You have demonstrated your appreciation by your success here.

Both this California State College, and Fullerton, the community in which we are fortunate to be located, wish you well. We hope and expect to be proud of you, as we hope you will increasingly be of the growing college you now represent. For good or ill, your fortunes and success and ours are inextricably interwoven. We graduate you with full confidence that your future, and that of the college, will be replete with achievements of quality and significance.
