

Richter Center Student Leaders

A Call to Lead

The RCSL program couples intensive training and ongoing mentorship with opportunities for students to create, plan, and implement service projects and campaigns for service in order to build their leadership skills and deepen their educational experiences.

The program intentionally focuses on student-driven projects which helps the leaders access and engage their own agency to make positive impacts on the campus and community.

Sharing a Passion for Service

The Richter Center Student Leadership (RCSL) program is comprised of three distinct teams:

- Richter Center Ambassadors
- Reflection Facilitators (ReFs)
- SERVE (Service Experience with Richter Volunteer Events) Committee.

RCSL members are student leaders who volunteer their time to promote and support the university's community engagement efforts. The current team of twenty-seven students have lent their skills, passion, and talents to help their peers identify and engage in meaningful service.

In 2015-16 RCSL Provided over 5,000 Hours of Service to the Campus & Community!

This year, the RCSL team organized such activities as National Volunteer Week; Random Acts of Kindness Week; presentations and workshops for Fresno State students; outreach at campus events like the Richter Center's Community Service Opportunities Fairs; peer-to-peer assistance in the Richter Center; and planning Fresno State service events like Make a Difference Day, Serving Fresno Day, and Spring into Service.
