My dear Mr. Halliday
This recently was much better and now I accept it. There, my good I will never forsake the, no in ~~disturbance~~ disturbance or fortune. For the have been mine to take and that then I would not. I shall ask them on my own, through my own mind, in my own time. If I see the tomorrow the B. and no his the thing, certainly.

If I see the not tomorrow let the space and leave me and that would be sufficient for my good. But not by the his knowing.
