

T-H

16 June 1957

Academy May Train A-Crews

The Atomic Energy Commission has indicated it will consider using the California Maritime Academy and other state maritime academies to train crews for nuclear-powered merchant ships when the demand for nuclear trained crews develops.

This step was recommended to the AEC last month by Congressman John F. Baldwin, whose Sixth District included Solano and Contra Costa Counties.