

Saturday - Sunday
Betwixt 'n' Between

Dearest Patricia:

The dinner at the Gale's was most enjoyable - a delightful fruit salad, with the pieces of various fruits placed around + fitted over a mound of dressing to form a quite artistic pattern. Then the piece de resistance - young chicken roasted with rice, dressing and sliced young carrots cooked + seasoned to perfection.

A leisurely talk after dinner mostly about our fabulous week in Washington. But it occurred to me that these last few months I've lived a rather fabulous existence getting to know better your delightful family, having all the good news for the summer from Connie, having such a happy time with them all in the new house and the enjoyment of your company at frequent intervals, ^{except} when you've been away - but knowing during these periods that you were having an enjoyable time in good company. I'll let not one man in 500 can hope to "retire" into as reviving and as life-giving a group of associations.

So have as full a day as you can at Monterey and I'll have the strawberries and cake ready to put into short cake on Tuesday after your return.

And tonight I hope you have an ESpecially restful sleep in preparation for tomorrow. Drink in the music - including an extra lot for me and tell me all about it on your return.
Good night and sweet dreams.
Love - Carl
