Miss Julia Morgan,
1135 Merchants Exchange Bldg.,
San Francisco, California.

Dear Miss Morgan :

I have an idea about lighting.

I like a LOT of lighting in rooms.

I suggest that we put at least three switches in every room. One switch for one set of ceiling lights, the second switch for a second set of ceiling lights and the third switch for the side lights or standards. If we have both side lights and standards I suggest four switches.

This implies a great lot of lights, but Miss Morgan, I like LOTS of light. I find almost all of our rooms too dark,-- sometimes almost gloomy. I think even the old rooms should in many cases be livened up by lighting and abundant lighting.

Surely the new rooms should have opportunity for abundant lighting.

It can be so arranged that it need not all be used but CAN be used.

Sincerely,

W R Hearst
