TODAY THE NEW MFR CAME OUT.

IT GAVE A REALLY GOOD REVIEW OF MY SNAKE PIT BOOK.

SNAKE PIT anthology / 52 5 1/2 x 8 1/2 - copied - 98 pgs This is really nice...great artwork (as in cool & unique), great price. A year in the life of Ben, in which he draws a three-panel comic strip about each day (except when he gets distracted by romance)...this is a compilation of his previous comic zines (all now out of print). Reminds me a whole bunch of Jim's Journal. It does get a bit repetitive after a while...but whose life doesn't? Drinking, flirting, going to shows, band practice, mac-n-cheese, bong hits, Richmond, calling in cross country bus trips, hangovers, Austin, a sick record store, Glenn Dandoy, and a special cameo by Mr. Lance Hehn. Good stuff. (KC)

Ben White
Self-published

Every day Ben would come back from band practice or getting drunk or working at the record store and do a three-panel autobio strip about his day. At first they seem sloppily drawn and irrelevant but after about 400 strips you see a greater truth, an overall pattern. You see how bored we get, how wasted we get, and how we always break up with people for no reason. Ben's shitty comics have created a book that's impossible to put down, with lessons usually reserved for more pretentious art. JENNY SOMMERVILLE
