

The CMA Bulletin has been renamed "The Binnacle". The Binnacle was the name of the CMA paper for ten years; we hope it will live and grow for ten years and more.

However, the paper is yours, it is for you and it depends on you for support. The staff hopes to have it printed sometime in the near future. Such improvements depend on you, the Corps, for support.

BRIEFS

The second class Engineers will go to Gyro School on Monday, 16 April.

Father Hoffman of St. Vincent's will attend the semester's first meeting of the Newman Club on Thursday.

MARITIME PHOTO CONTEST

Do you have any good photos from cruise and shipyards? They may be good for a $50 merchandise award.

Entries may be submitted up to 8 May for color photos, and 11 May for black and white. For additional information, write Amateur Photo Contest, Ferry Bldg., San Francisco.

CALIFORNIA MARITIME ACADEMY

11 April 1956

GROUND DEVELOPMENT

Quite a few changes are being made to the campus. A new walk is being laid between the messdeck and the classroom building. The ground between the existing walk and the new walk will be asphalt, this area will be used for formations. Grass will be planted on each side of the area.

PETRI MAY BUY A SHIP

Wine merchant Louis Petri says his company may buy a tankship to carry wine between San Francisco and New York. Mr. Petri announced he already purchased the stern half of a broken tanker. If refitting that vessel is too expensive, his firm might buy another or build a new hull, he added.

INDUSTRY WINS AGAIN

The familiar figure of Mr. Averill has been missing around the base since cruise. He now is Asst. Port Engineer for Associated Oil Company.

THE LEE SCUPPER

In keeping with our new policy, The BINNACLE is starting a column hereinafter known as THE LEE SCUPPER. Here you can express any serious objections you might have to the use of words like hereinafter or any suggestions, etc. regarding editorial or school policy. We will try to print and comment on all letters received. Anything along this line should be addressed to the BINNACLE and put in the B Company mailbox.

THE BOX SCORE

With the coming of spring, the appearance of bats, balls, and sore arms has struck the campus, as the CMA softballers have started their early season training for clashes with local NINES. Under the experienced coaching of Mr. LaBombard, the veteran nucleus of last year's club, along with the new faces of the third class, have been occupying the hilltop diamond as often as possible.

Meanwhile, the tennis and golf teams have held numerous meetings in setting up a tentative practice schedule.

Water polo is getting under way with George Coppo, coach, and Mr. Lipman, Advisor.

Inter-Company softball starts Monday, "A" vs. "B".
