

DIRECTORY of INDUSTRIES

& INDUSTRIAL PROPERTIES

VENTURA COUNTY — CALIFORNIA

Foreword

This edition of the Ventura County Industrial Directory has been compiled and published by Ventura County Economic Development Association (VCEDA) to promote the future development of Ventura County by showing prospective industrial clients the availability of industrial property, accessibility to major markets and the implied endorsement of the area by the hundreds of other companies that have already located here.

The remarkable economic transition that has been taking place in Ventura County over the past ten years can now be accurately forecast as only the beginning of the development of a new industrial urbanized center in Southern California. Modern freeways and adequate rail installations provide for expedient surface movement, and airline facilities plus the deep water harbor at Port Hueneme make regional, national and world trade emanating from Ventura County a present day actuality.

Ventura County represents a modern trend in community and land development with sound planning and organized expansion of service and utilities by government and private sectors alike. VCEDA is the logical liaison unit with a primary responsibility of collecting and disseminating information to aid in this type of orderly industrial growth and economic development. By working cooperatively with all agencies and organizations, the result will surely be an impressive expansion of our county's economic base both by locating new enterprises and assisting firms in expanding their existing operations.

C. E. Davidson

PORT OF HUENEME

Central California's Gateway to World Trade

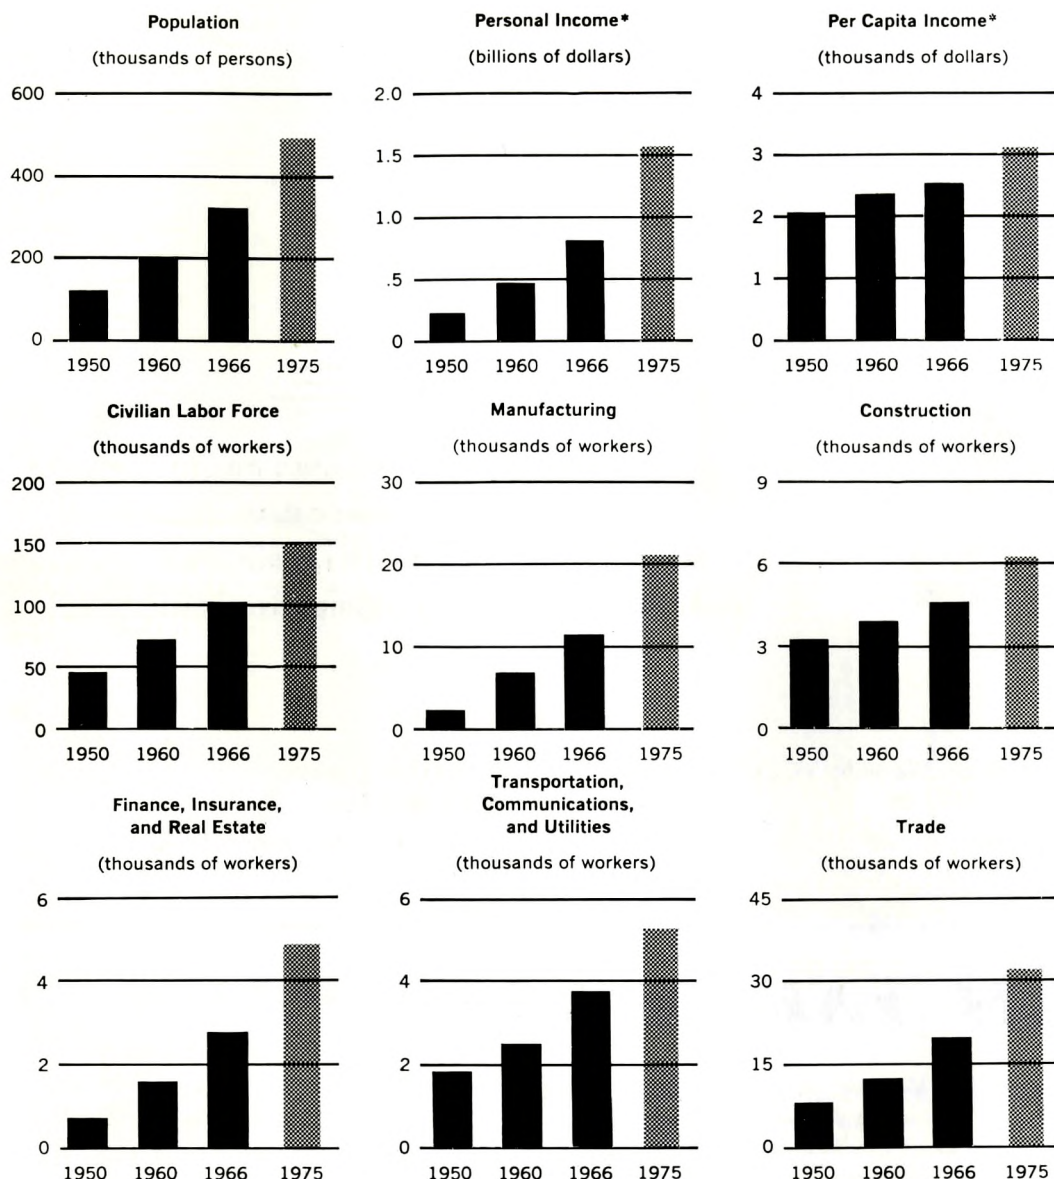

The only deep water general cargo harbor between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Anticipating central California's future growth, the recently approved $4,900,00 bond issue for harbor expansion will triple the present capabilities of the Port of Hueneme.

SEE VENTURA COUNTY FIRST The Fastest Growing County In California

* Constant dollars.

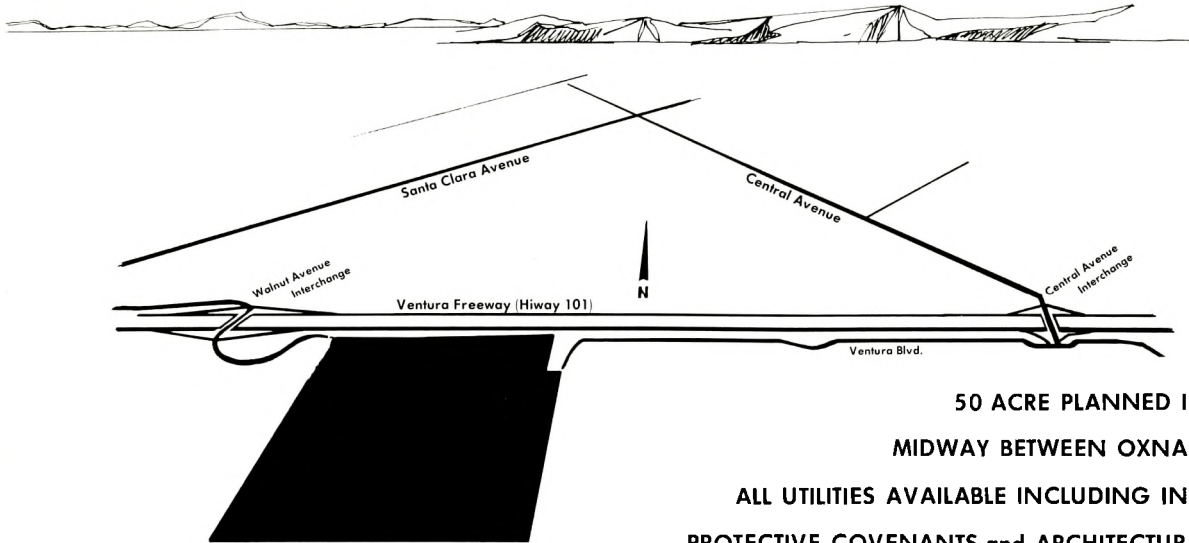

Sources: U.S. Bureau of the Census; California State Departments of Finance and Employment; California State Chamber of Commerce. 1975 forecasts by Bank of America.

The graphic illustrations above vividly portray the dynamic recent and projected future economic expansion of Ventura County, and the following pages show some of the industrial properties available to accomodate the virtually certain influx of industry —the natural by-product of growth in population, construction and retail trade.

More than 15,000 acres in the county have been zoned or reserved for industrial expansion, and coupled with the livability and scenic advantages—mountains, beaches; urban or rural environment—the area offers extremely attractive potential for industry location . . . whether it be a highly sophisticated aerospace research center, a heavy manufacturing operation, a business requiring deep water harbor facilities (opposite page) for world trade, or an industry dependent on adequate surface transportation facilities (freeway and rail) for inter-state commerce.

Janss/Rancho Conejo

VENTURA COUNTY'S MOST SUCCESSFUL INDUSTRIAL PARK
A Joint Venture of Janss Corp., and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Inc.

This light industry and research park was designed to meet a critical problem of progressive industry — the problem of providing attractive working and living conditions for their employees. Rancho Conejo's spacious sites, scenic countryside, ideal climate and controlled development give its firms a significant advantage in attracting high calibre personnel. It is part of the new community of Janss/Thousand Oaks, an entirely self-sustaining city.

Rancho Conejo houses major facilities of many well-known firms with a combined employment base of more than 5000. Tenants are:

Northrop Ventura
Westinghouse
Purolator Products
Hi Spec Electronics
Technology Instruments Corp.
Semtech Corp.
General Telephone
Union Oil

North American Aviation
Science Center
Capitol Record Club, Inc.
Packard Bell Electronics
Westland Plastics
