The English Department offers majors and minors in literature and language; the junior high school and general secondary credentials in English and language arts, and the corresponding minors; and a master of arts degree. For students majoring in other departments it provides courses of general interest in reading, composition of various kinds, literature, and linguistics. Further, it provides remedial courses in grammar and reading and, for special assistance to students and instructors throughout the college, tutorials in grammar and composition. Tutorial hours are announced in the Schedule of Courses.

MAJORS IN ENGLISH

The general major in English for the bachelor of arts degree is designed to accommodate students preparing for postgraduate training in business, law, medicine, theology, civil service, and the other vocations that recommend a grounding in the liberal arts as preparation for occupational training. It requires the completion of 33 units in English, as specified below. The completion of 45 units, as specified below, is recommended for students planning advanced graduate work in English. The credential majors designed for students preparing to teach English in secondary schools, are described on page 193.

Requirements for the majors are in addition to general education requirements and are exclusive of English A, 6, and 76.

Foreign Language Requirement

Two years of satisfactory collegiate study (or equivalent) in one foreign language are required for the general major in English but not the credential majors. This requirement applies to students who will be graduated in June of 1963 and thereafter. See the general statement on page 69 for equivalents and alternative ways of meeting the requirement.

General Major in English	Units

Preparation for Advanced Graduate Work in English

Students planning to take advanced graduate work in English are advised to elect in addition to the courses required above: Linguistics 100, 131; English 120; 160, 162a, or b; 180, 181; and three units from English 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145. They should also take into account the undergraduate and foreign language requirements of the graduate schools they may attend.

MINORS

The general minor in English requires 18 units. Philos. 3 or Engl. 1a is prerequisite to all other English courses (except Engl. A, 6, and 76, which do not count toward any minor, and Engl. 14). For the general secondary credential minors, see pages 193-194.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL CREDENTIAL

The junior high school credential authorizes the holder to serve as a teacher in grades seven, eight, and nine of elementary and secondary schools. For general and professional requirements, see page 151.

The junior high school credential majors in English and language arts are the same as the portions of the general secondary credential majors in these fields which are required for the bachelor of arts degree; the minors are the same as the general secondary credential minors in these fields.

GENERAL SECONDARY CREDENTIAL

The general secondary credential authorizes the holder to teach in secondary schools and in grades seven and eight in elementary schools. For general and professional requirements, see page 152.
