Past Reflections, Future Growth

California State Polytechnic College, located in San Luis Obispo midway between San Francisco and Los Angeles on Highway 101, is the West's largest undergraduate Agricultural college and second-largest undergraduate Engineering college. Unlike most schools, Cal Poly is a "learn-by-doing" college, emphasizing practical application during the learning process. To accomodate an enrollment of nearly 6,000, Cal Poly's campus is seeing a phenomonal growth in new facilities. Hosting more than 15,000 visitors each year, Cal Poly displays its progress in learning during an open house, the Annual Poly Royal.
