00:25:31:21 - 00:26:03:25

Speaker 1

Because I don't mind. Well, the McDonald's, because I. But it wasn't. And there are plenty of the fruits and vegetables in the meals throughout this country. Many labor camps, faraway places with strange sounding names like my home, Minnesota, from Ohio, and of course, and for now, our parents did not come here looking for sympathy or special treatment. They were simply seeking a better life for their children.

Speaker 1

Now, some of them trying to make this country home, while others dreamed of someday returning to the we love to make. These were the dreams of our parents, mostly because despite what they said, for many of them, the dream of return school somehow drifted away. Like even though we now and again.

Contrary to the belief part, to the stereotype, not only to make fun of people, workers, some of them became drivers by the way, the factory workers, they moved into the urban jungle to work in the factories of the U.S. during the mountains of the Chicago Sun, a thorn in the happiness and, of course, on the land. Now, for the older generation, even the old traditions alive was very important.

00:29:00:00 - 00:29:32:19

Speaker 1

But for their children more being born here on this side of the border, it was a whole different story because you see the new generation was being discriminated against on both sides of the border. If it wasn't made before the very end with the no man who maybe he doesn't know, but as far as I know, go back to the conclusion that I know that here in the United States, when you were born, the biggest result.

Today, 1997. We are at the threshold of the 21st century. Yet we continue to struggle. Unfortunately, often we struggle with our own man. Then we have made many advances over the years. We are still far from achieving equality. But we must first stop fighting amongst ourselves and unite in order to help our people. We must stop bickering over, pay money and help ensure that all our community organizations did financially so that we could fight a united front.

Speaker 1

But if we are to win this battle, we must flex our political and social muscle against those who want to cause harm. By casting our vote, we can help people like House Speaker Newt Gingrich and Governor Pete Wilson signing gay rights as well.
