developing competence in working with culturally and linguistically diverse populations characteristic of California and other diverse regions of the country. This option provides a degree path for students wishing to pursue the Multiple Subject Credential postbaccalaureate.

Note: Pre-Credential Option students are strongly encouraged to follow the lower- and upper-division General Education pattern designated by the School of Education and Human Development Liberal Studies Blended Program. Courses in this pattern have been approved for G.E. credit for Pre-Credential Option students. See adviser for details.

The Master of Science in Child and Family Sciences program will be admitting students fall 2009, pending final approval of the program. Please check the CFCS Department Web site for further information at <http://cfcs.cast.csufresno.edu/>.
