MASS COMMUNICATION

The School of Graduate Studies provides administrative coordination for graduate interdisciplinary programs and courses.

The interdisciplinary master of arts degree in mass communication is based on the equivalent of an undergraduate major in journalism or radio-television broadcasting. Supervised by a joint committee of representatives from the Departments of Journalism and Radio-Television, the program has options in print media and electronic media administered by the two respective departments. Fifteen of the 30 required units for the degree must be in graduate mass communication courses; 12 units must be core courses. For specific requirements, consult the departmental graduate advisers or see the Graduate Bulletin.

COURSES (M Com)

(See Course Numbering System—Definitions and Eligibility)

201. Seminar in Theory and Research (3)

(Core) Theory of the mass media, its development and application; basic research methodologies applicable in the various areas of the mass media.

202. Seminar in Literature of Mass Communications (3)

(Core) Critical examination of the literature in the field of mass communication. Exploration of the concepts in various areas through a study of primary, secondary, and tertiary literary resources.
