Stewards of the Earth - 2009 Work Plan

This is a brief outline of the 2009 Stewards of the Earth Work Plan; provided for interested working partners, supporters and potential Board of Directors. The role of Board Directors is to support and oversee the three year success of Stewards of the Earth Projects - focused in advocating and working with communities and organizations to develop Pilot/Model Projects in the area of:

- Renewable efficient, sustainable energy, which create green jobs and move our US economy away from dependence in foreign energy sources. Our Motto is: "America Powered by Electricity in 10 Years."
- Work with The Economic Development Corporation of Oxnard (EDCO) in developing a Renewable Energy and Green Building and Green Jobs Conference, including follow-up activities to insure implementation of such in the City of Oxnard.
- Continue work with the National Hispanic Environmental Council in the on going National Climate Change Briefings, in particular the scheduled Briefing in Los Angeles.
- Provide leadership helping poor and indigenous peoples, especially from Mexico, obtain economic stability via employment training - such as computer projects - so people will be able to support themselves and families in their communities and not have to risk abusive treatment in for example - seeking jobs in the US.
- and finally to work with UCLA in documenting Stewards of the Earth Model Projects so they can be duplicated by others.

Current Stewards of the Earth working partners are:

- Ratepayers for Affordable Clean Energy (RACE) headed by Rory Cox - www.RaceForCleanEnergy.org
- California Coastal Protection Network headed by Susan Jordan - www.coastaladvocates.com
- National Hispanic Environmental Council - Salvador Ramirez - www.nheec.org

I have a great deal of experience in these areas. For further information about these efforts (when you have time) view via Google - Lupe Anguiano.
