

The American People Need George McGovern!

George McGovern was the first man in the U. S. Senate to speak out against the unfairness of the economic controls imposed by President Nixon.

McGovern immediately saw the controls for what they were: an ironclad lid on wages, a rubberband wrapped on prices and no restraint at all on rising profits and interest rates.

As President, McGovern pledges he will remove these unfair controls on wages and replace them with even-handed guidelines that will lift the burden off the backs of American workers . . . McGovern believes that the economic load should be distributed fairly among all segments of the economy.

He wants to make sure profits are regulated along with wages.

And, the injustices under Nixon would not go unnoticed by President McGovern. He said at the Machinists' Convention this year that he would restore by executive action the 17 cents an hour that Nixon's Pay Board denied 100,000 aerospace workers . . . a loss of $450 a year to each of those working men and women.

George McGovern has proven again he cares more about people than corporations.

The American people deserve a President with vision, compassion and strength: George McGovern meets all the tests.

You Can't Take Four More Years of Nixon!

Candidate Richard Nixon said in 1968:

"I do not believe that the American people should be forced to choose between unemployment and un-American controls."

The people didn't have to choose: Nixon gave us both. Unemployment shot up from 3.4 percent to 6 percent under Nixon. Wage-price controls were imposed on Aug. 15, 1971.

Workers are paying the price for those controls . . . wages are held tight while prices continue up and profits and interest are totally free to go sky high.

The present control on wages is 5.5 percent—and some Administration spokesmen are saying the control should be cut to 2.5 percent. Nixon won't tell us how tight he'll tie the noose until after Nov. 7, however.

Nixon has turned wage-price controls into another method of lining the coffers of his friends: the rich, the powerful and the corporation executives.

Corporate profits after taxes reached a record annual rate of $52 billion in the second quarter of 1972—up 13.5 percent over the previous year.

If you were lucky, you got a 5.5% pay increase.
