SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA · JUNE, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FORTY

J. W. SLATTERY, M. D.

Dedication

In its recording of the school year of 1939-40 La Torre pauses to pay tribute to the memory of Dr. J. Ward Slattery, whose unexpected death on January 19, 1940, put an abrupt end to three years of service as San Jose State college physician.

One whose activities were never accompanied by any loud bombasts of acclaim or praise, Dr. Slattery filled an important post as full-time college and team doctor. He is credited with the quick recovery of many athletes injured while participating in college sports and came into personal contact with a large percentage of the college's population.

Born in Petaluma, Dr. Slattery was a graduate of San Jose Junior College and the college of Medical Evangelists at Loma Linda, California.

Perhaps the best statement of the position occupied by Dr. Slattery on the campus is to be found in the comment made by Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie at the time of the physician's death, "Dr. Slattery was an able physician and a fine and kindly personality . . . he will be difficult to replace."

President's Message

I am glad we are dedicating this La Torre to the memory of Dr. Slattery. He was not a famous physician as fame is measured, yet we consider it an honor to dedicate to him this book of our memories.

One of our own boys, with a religious background, a wholesome professional education, training and experience in many human situations, Dr. Slattery was ideally prepared for his work.

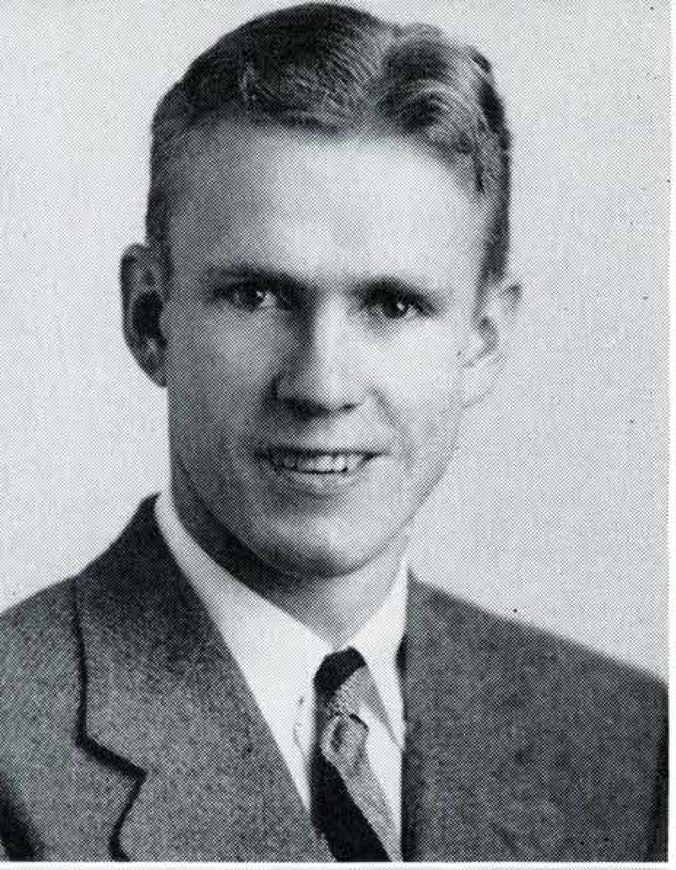

His outstanding characteristic was honesty. Simply, sincerely, unhesitatingly, he told the truth. We admired his skill, his quiet courage, his kindliness, his untiring effort, his personal interest in the individual, and yet, outstanding, was that simple characteristic of honesty. Well did he exemplify the old quotation, "An honest man's the noblest work of God."

The purpose of these two groups is to establish coordination among all campus organizations.

La Torre Goes to The Health Depar

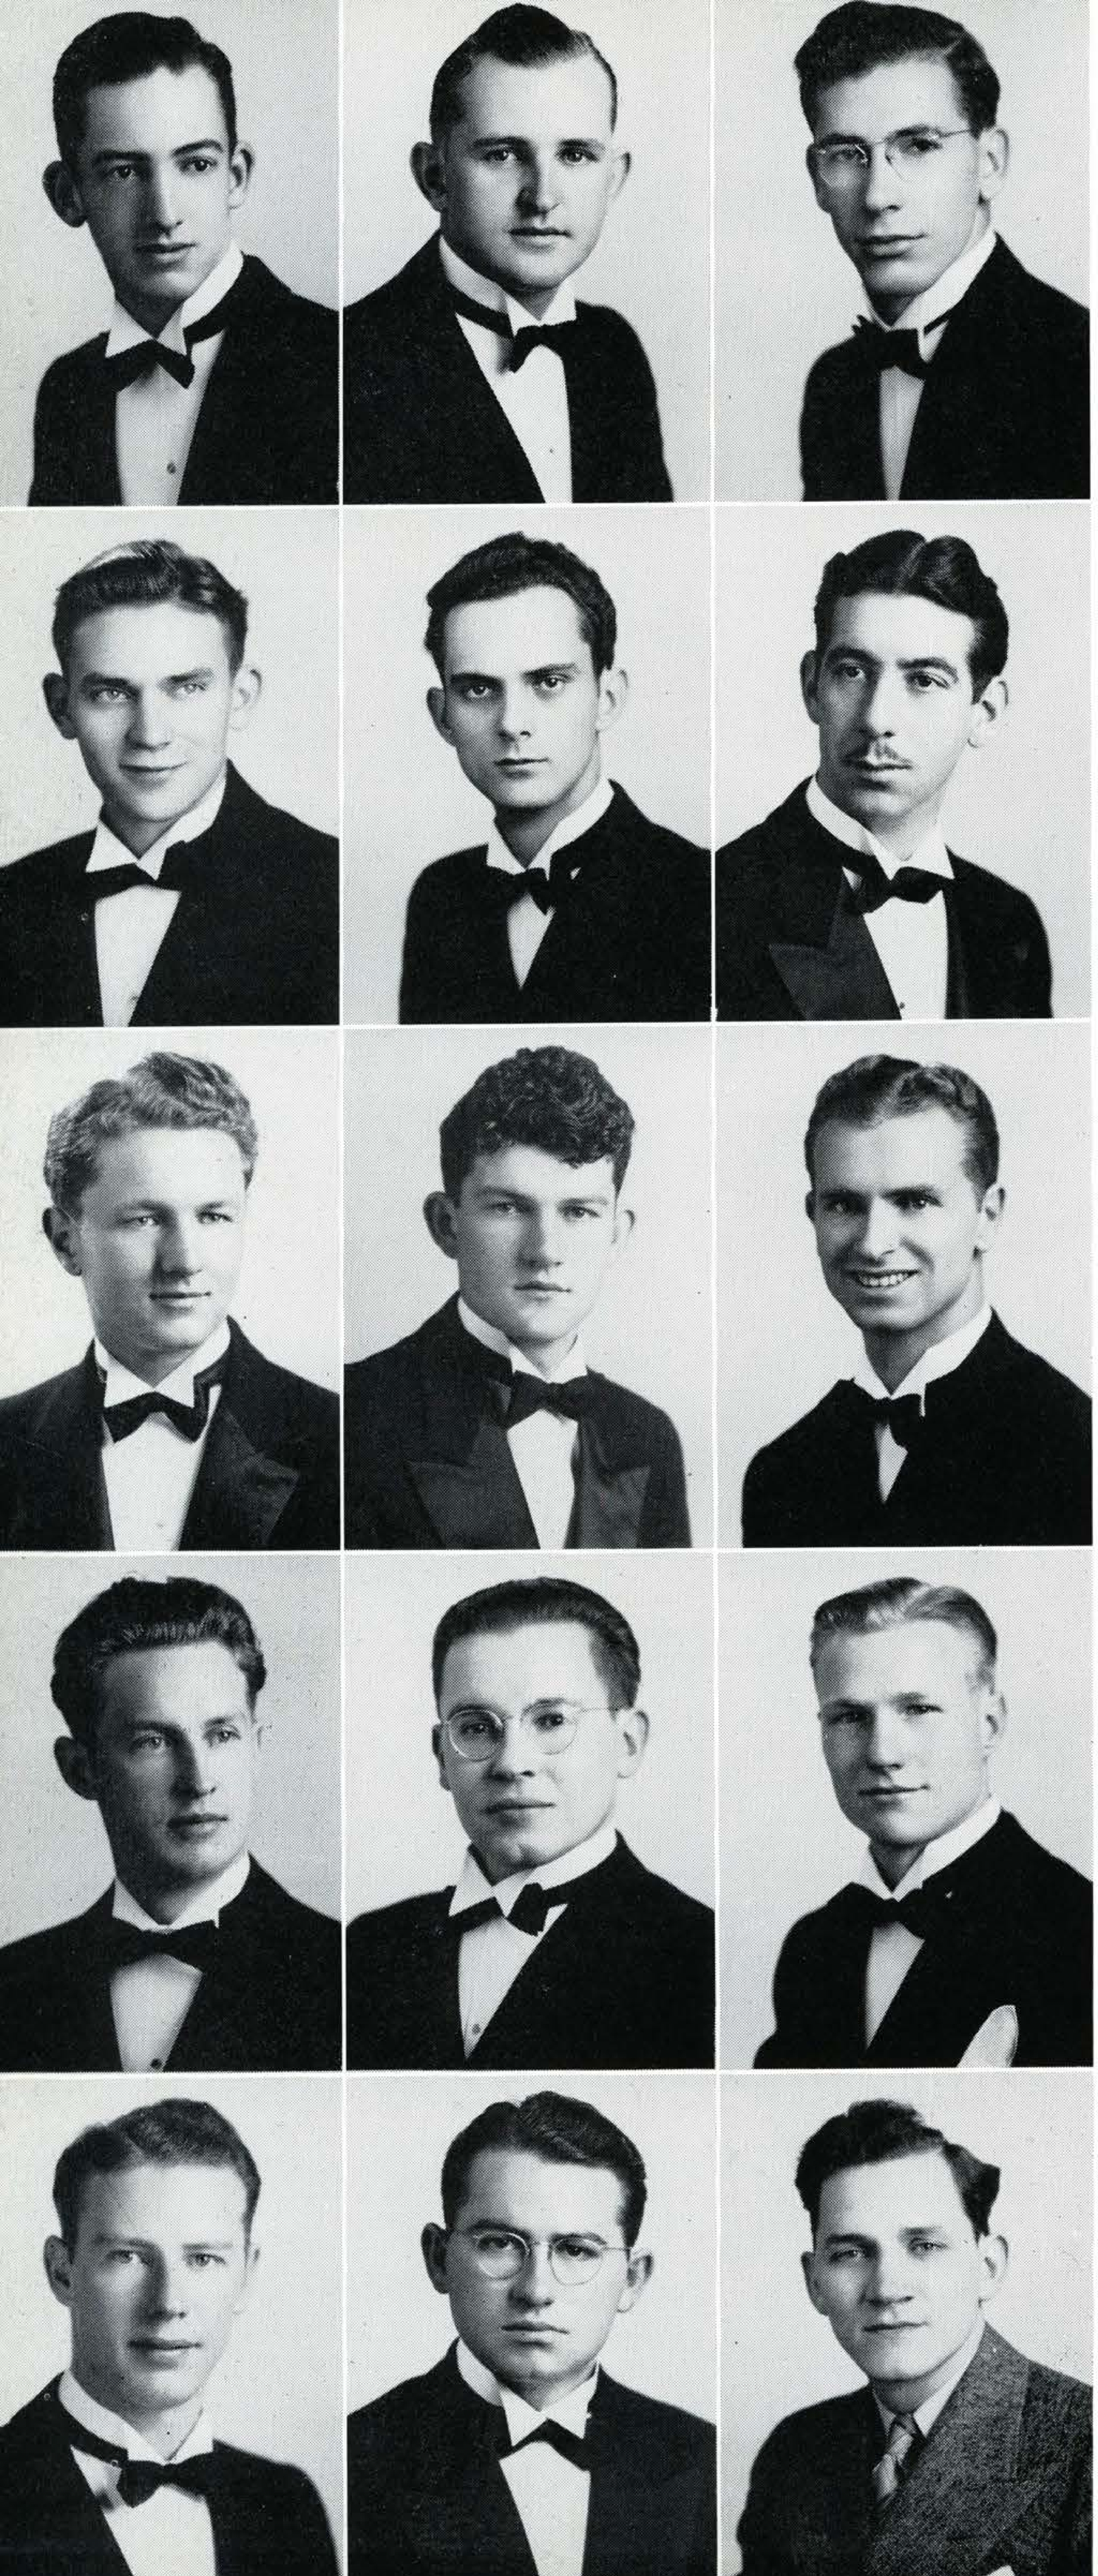

La Torre pays tribute to an institution of San Jose State college that has become an integral part of the school—the Elizabeth McFadden Health Cottage.

A nonprofit corporation administered by a board of directors who hold the property in trust for the Associated Students, the cottage is located at 430 South Eighth Street. It offers facilities for both convalescent and those students in need of simple bed care.

The staff of a chief nurse and three other registered nurses, a dietician, and a housekeeper are on hand all the time to take care of the patients. The college physicians pay daily visits to the cottage and prescribe for them. Every registered student automatically becomes a member of the Health Cottage at the time he pays his quarterly registration fee and is eligible to receive the care of the institution at any time during the quarter.

Flying

Because of its rapid growth during the past few years, the Aviation department is given special recognition by La Torre, which depicts State college life at the airport. Working in conjunction with the Civil Aeronautics Authority for the second year, the department offers flying training to students. During 1939-40, fifty San Jose students received schooling under the C. A. A. program. The federal government has expanded its flying program here, offering advanced training to civilian pilots. Also under the jurisdiction of the Aviation department is the State College Flying club, which offers flying experience to members.

Women's Athletic Association

THE WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION provides an opportunity to every woman student to participate in recreational sport not included on her curriculum.

Membership in the organization is not restricted to physical education majors or minors. Any woman interested in tennis, swimming, archery, fencing, modern dancing, or any other activity, may improve her technique in the sport of her choice through the medium of the WAA.

The government of the group is managed by a council of seven women elected from the student body at large. From these councilors, the officers are elected. To supplement this group each of the various clubs under the general jurisdiction of the central organization elect representatives who serve on the council and report back to them the business of the council.

Main events of the year's social calendar, in addition to play days with different colleges, are the Hobo Picnic and the Hay Ride, in which any co-ed in the school may take part.

Associated Women Students

San Jose State college's ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS is an important factor in the government of the college. Including as it does, in its membership, every co-ed in the college, it provides an opportunity for all women who feel the need of an outside activity.

Governed by an executive board and a council of representatives of every women's organization in the college, the organization sponsors social activities throughout the year. Entering freshmen are taken under its jurisdiction with the "Big Sister" activity, by which outstanding upperclass women are chosen to serve as advisers, playing hostesses at the Freshman Tea held before the opening of school as the first AWS activity of the year.

Other affairs sponsored by the group are the AWS Jamboree, an all-campus talent show, the Women's Jinx, the Fashion Show, High School Day, and all-co-ed assemblies.

Drama

1. "Kind Lady" at the mercy of an "East Lynne" villain, 1940 style. This atmospheric drama achieved its hair-raising effects through quietly menacing lines and sinister situations.

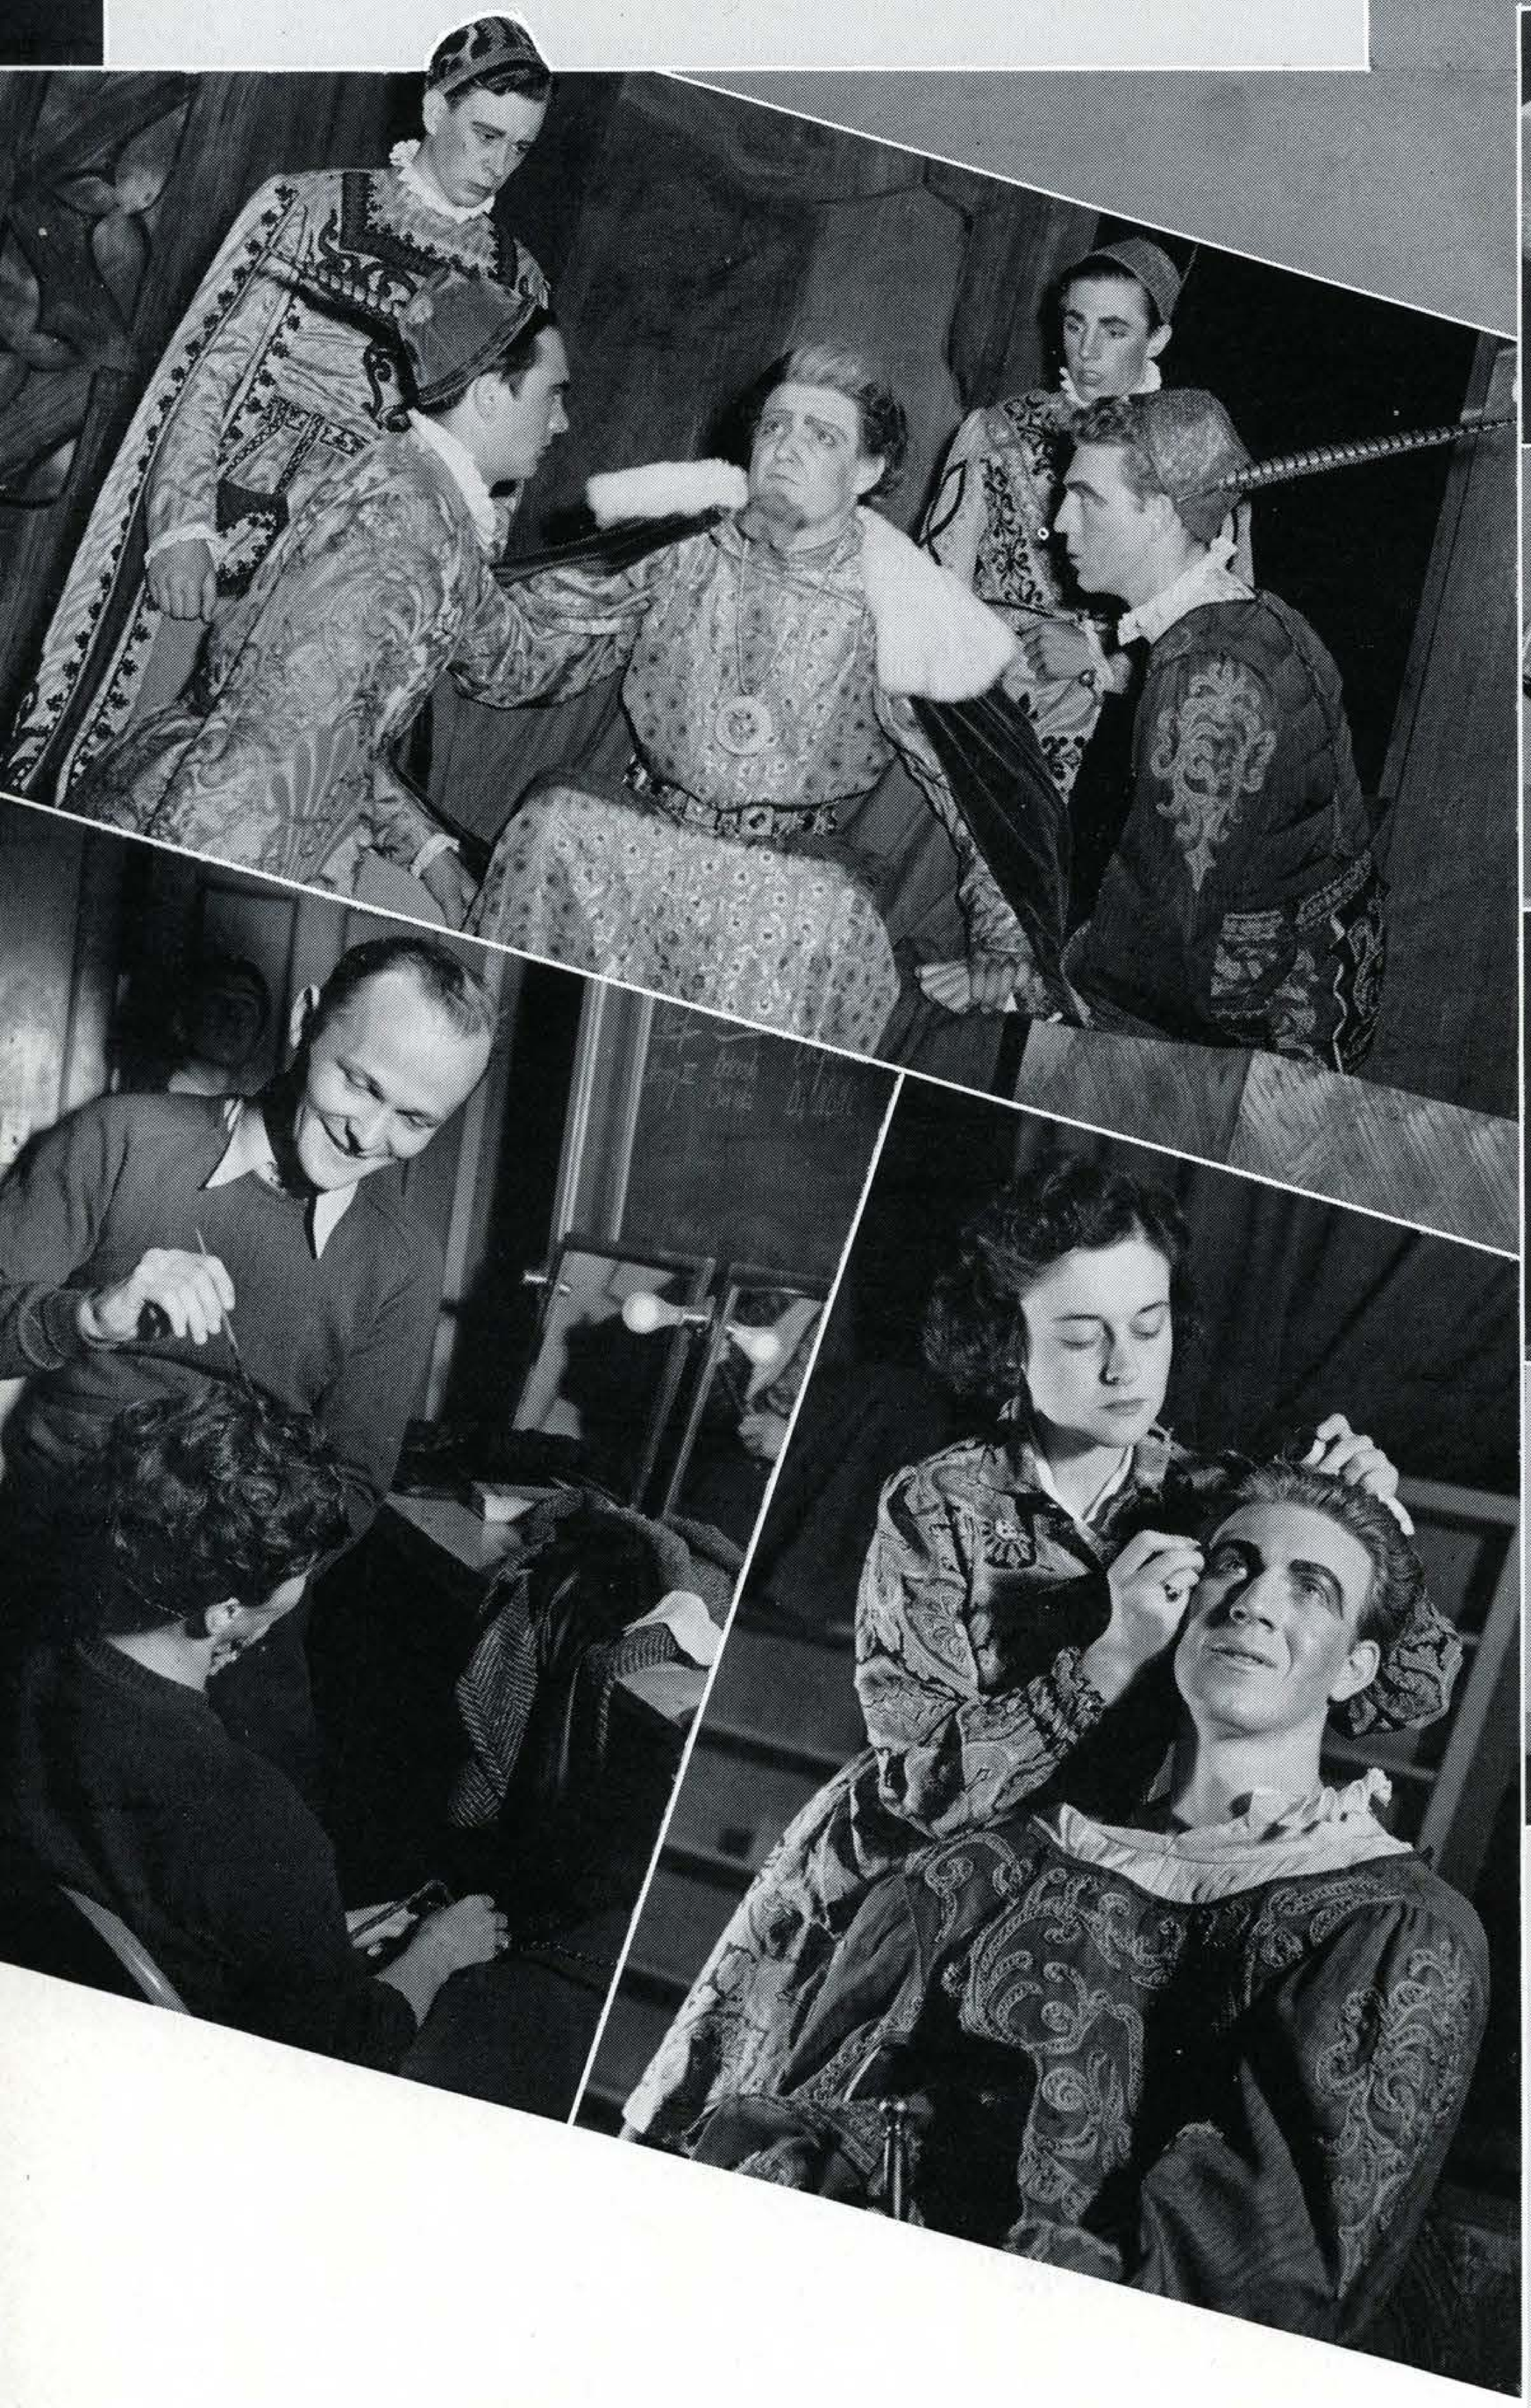

2. A contrast in Yuletide cheer . . . Dicken's famous "Christmas Carol" character, Scrooge, frowns upon earthly frivolity.

3. "I Do" in the super-Hollywood manner as depicted by Kaufman-Hart's "Once in a Lifetime."

4. Dramatic lighting proves effective in Chekhov's "Seagull."

Drama

1. Mad King Henry IV and his four secret counselors philosophize in the year's outstanding Players production of "Henry IV."
2. Director James Clancy lacquers the leading lady's locks.
3. A bit of back-stage eyebrow raising.
4. A dramatic moment during the annual Christmas play.
5. One of the more serious situations which arise in Shakespeare's rollicking "Twelfth Night."
6. "Christmas Carol" again. Tiny Tim speaks.
7. Noel Coward's "Hay Fever." This was presented as an intimate type of production.

Orchesis

Talented modern dancers enrolled at San Jose State college are enabled to further their training as members of Orchesis, women's honorary dance society. Under the direction of Miss Marjorie Lucas, the group of 20 women meets weekly in the Women's gymnasium dance studio, practices techniques and prepares programs which are presented during the year. This year Orchesis presented several performances which were well-received by the audiences.

A Cappella Choir

A nationally broadcast radio program highlighted the A Cappella Choir's 1939-40 season. This came Sunday, March 31, from Hollywood while the choir was in the south for appearances before the National Music Educators conference. Director William Erlendson also took his 64-voice choir to Montalvo, famed Phelan estate, for a concert, and gave a special program for F. Melius Christiansen, director of the St. Olaf college choir and Erlendson's former teacher.

Bel Canto

Bel Canto, women's glee club organized in 1925 by Miss Alma Lowry Williams, is the oldest musical organization on campus.

Their activities this year included contribution of music for the Christmas play; their 15th annual concert in the Winter quarter; and participation in YWCA's Spring concert.

They were honored by Elizabeth Henderson, American composer, who dedicated her "Dream Song" to them this year.

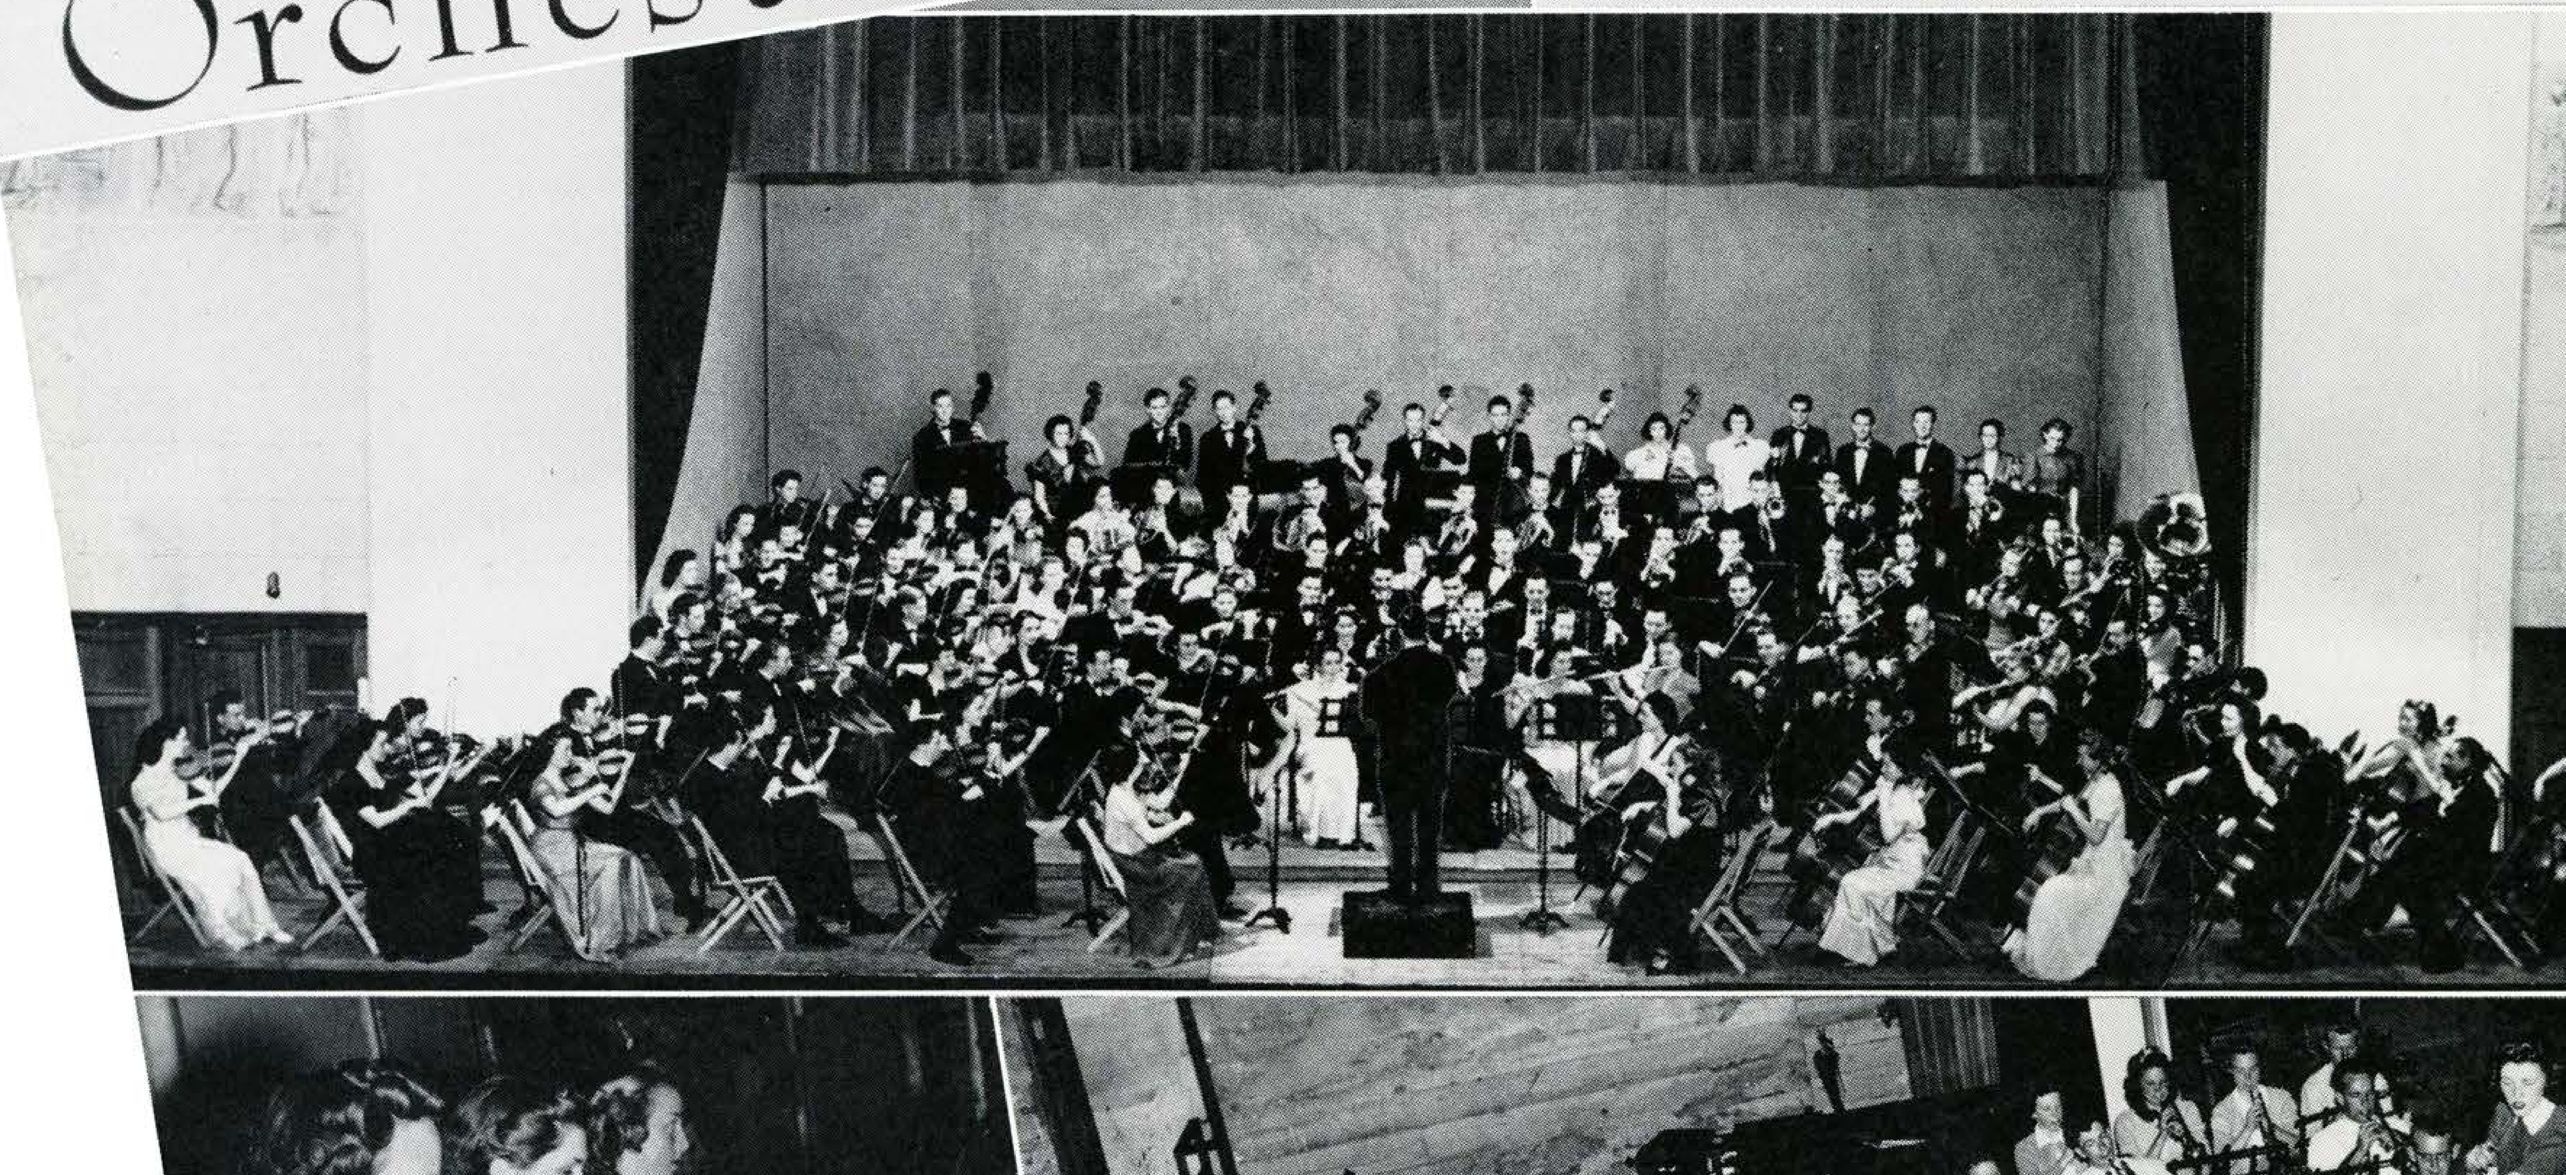

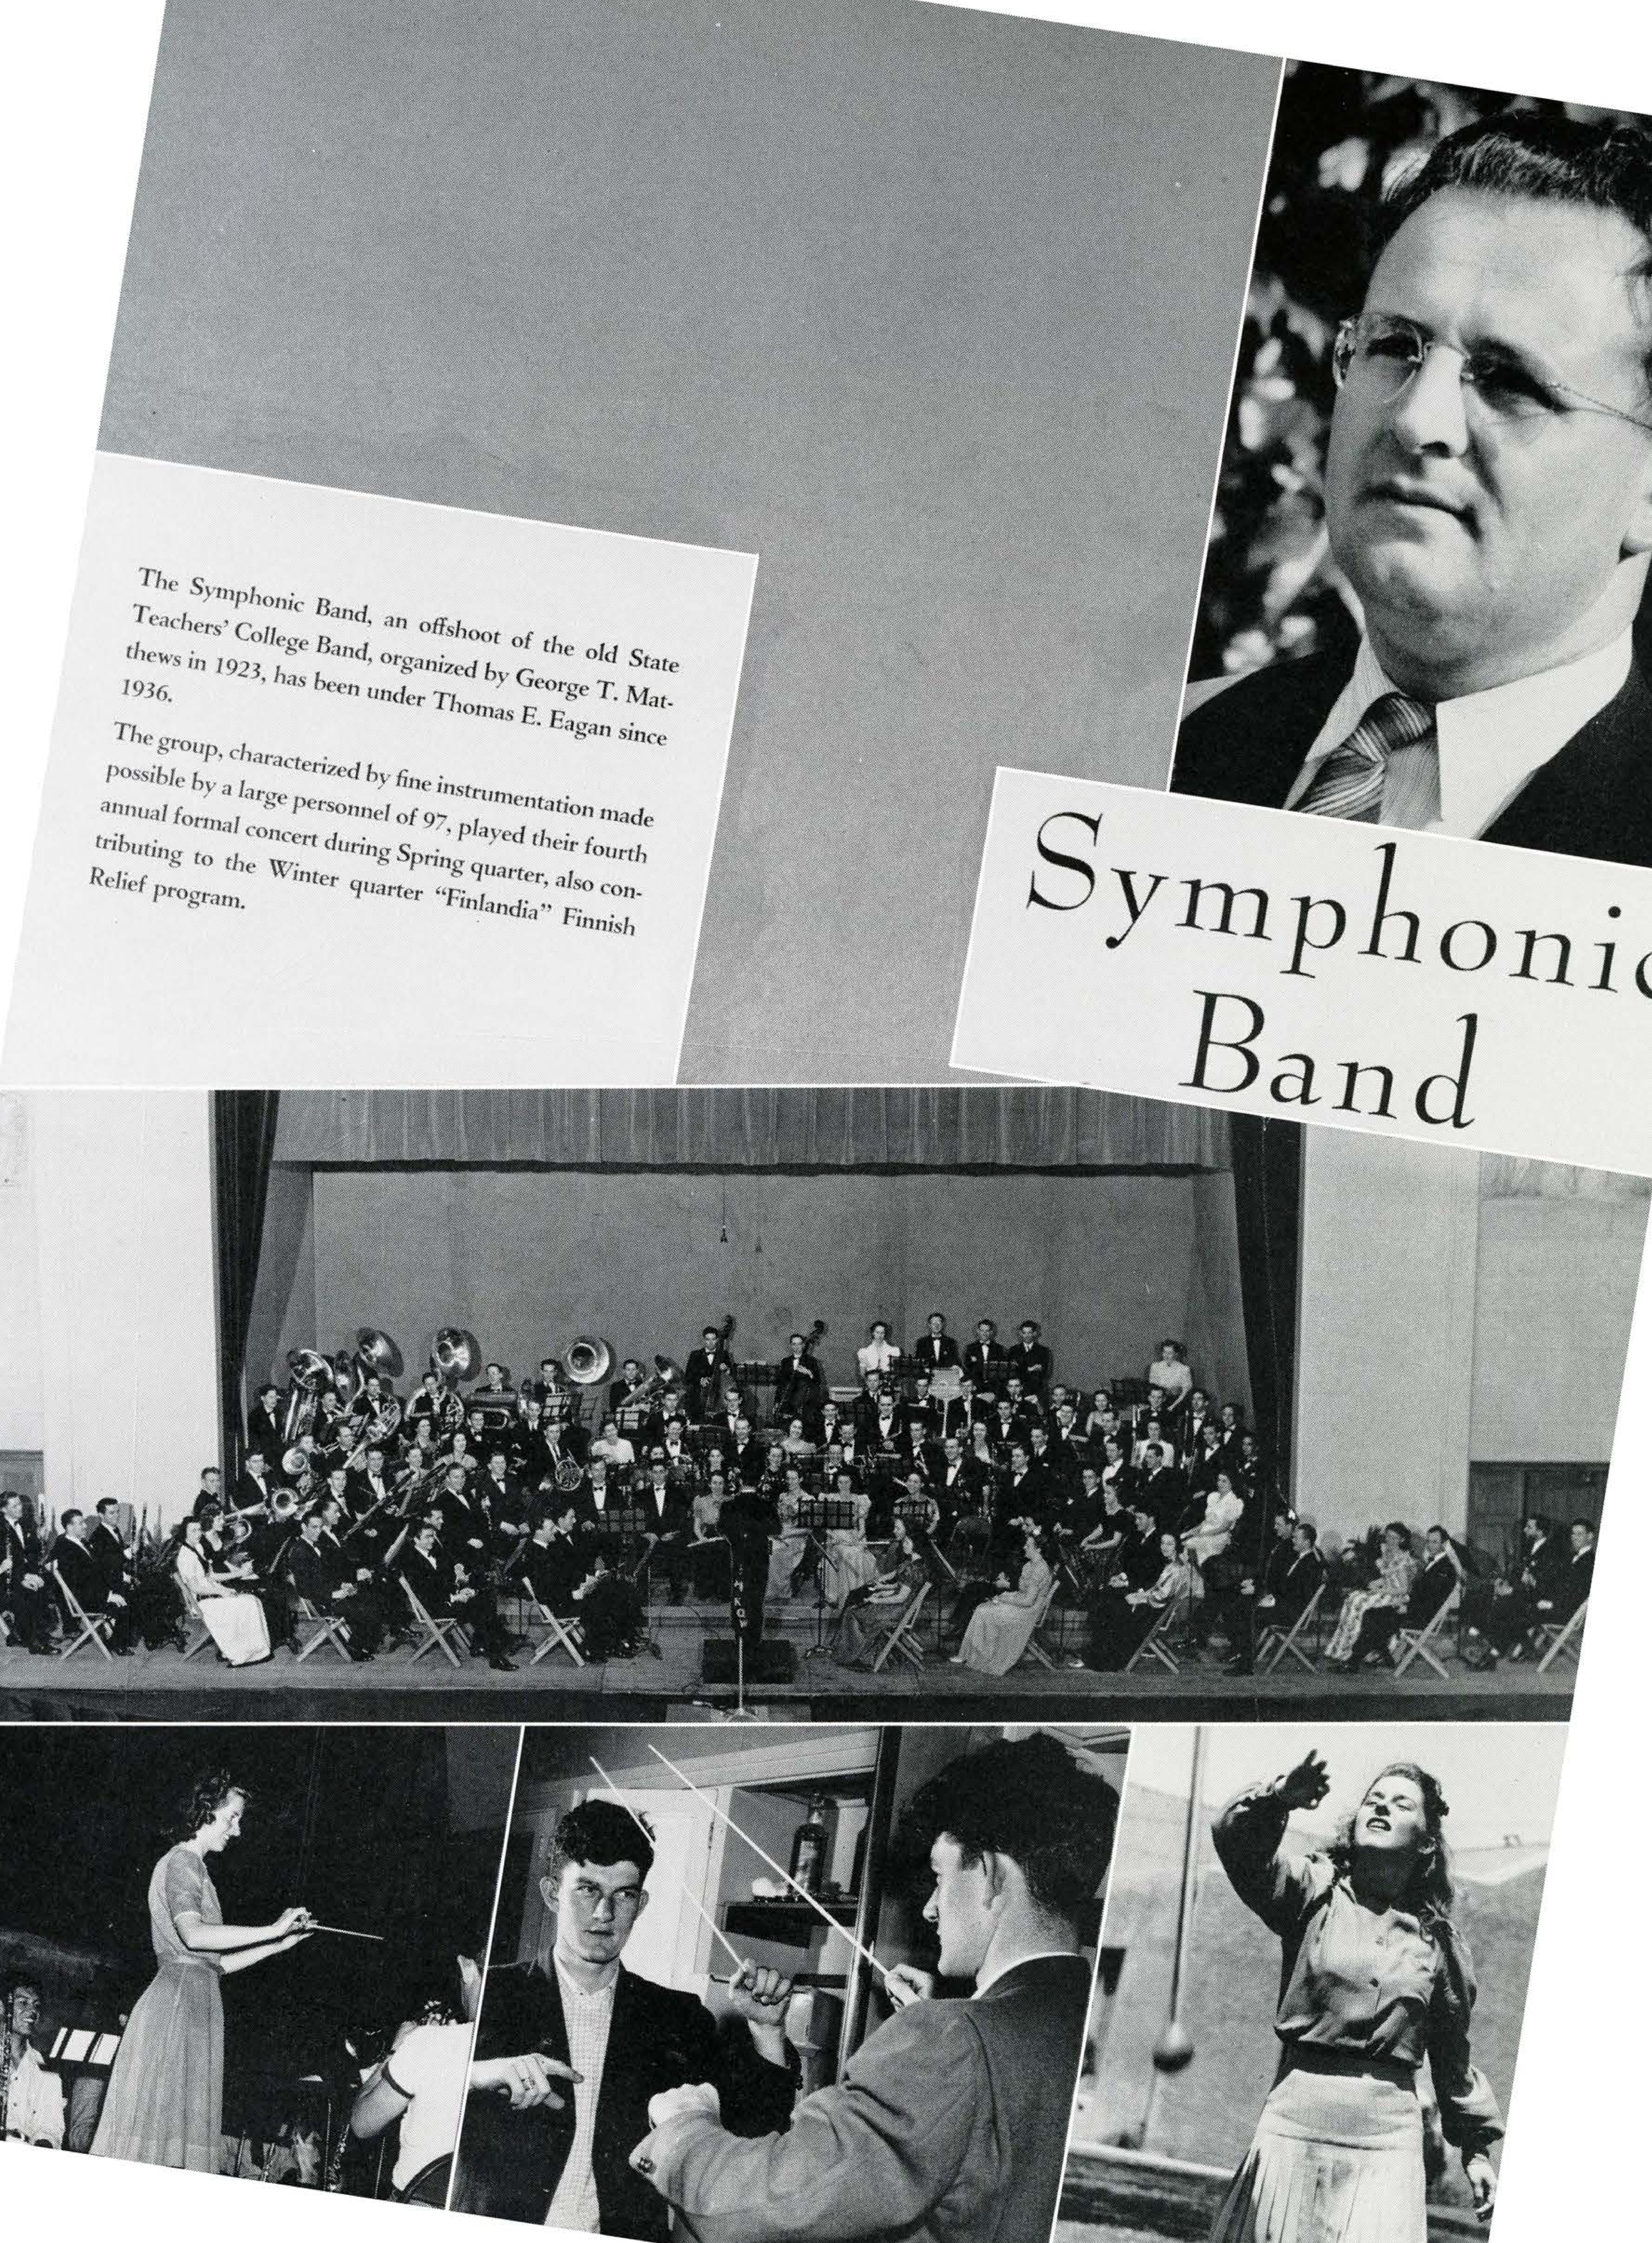

Symphonic Orchestra

Called the finest musical organization of its kind on the Pacific Coast by many leading authorities, the San Jose State College Symphony Orchestra enjoyed a successful 1939-40 season. Under the direction of Adolph W. Otterstein the 124-piece orchestra made two appearances at the Golden Gate International Exposition and performed at the National Music Educators conference in Los Angeles. Other highlights of the year were the orchestra's three annual concerts in San Jose.

Symphonic Band

The Symphonic Band, an offshoot of the old State Teachers' College Band, organized by George T. Matthews in 1923, has been under Thomas E. Eagan since 1936.

The group, characterized by fine instrumentation made possible by a large personnel of 97, played their fourth annual formal concert during Spring quarter, also contributing to the Winter quarter "Finlandia" Finnish Relief program.

Life

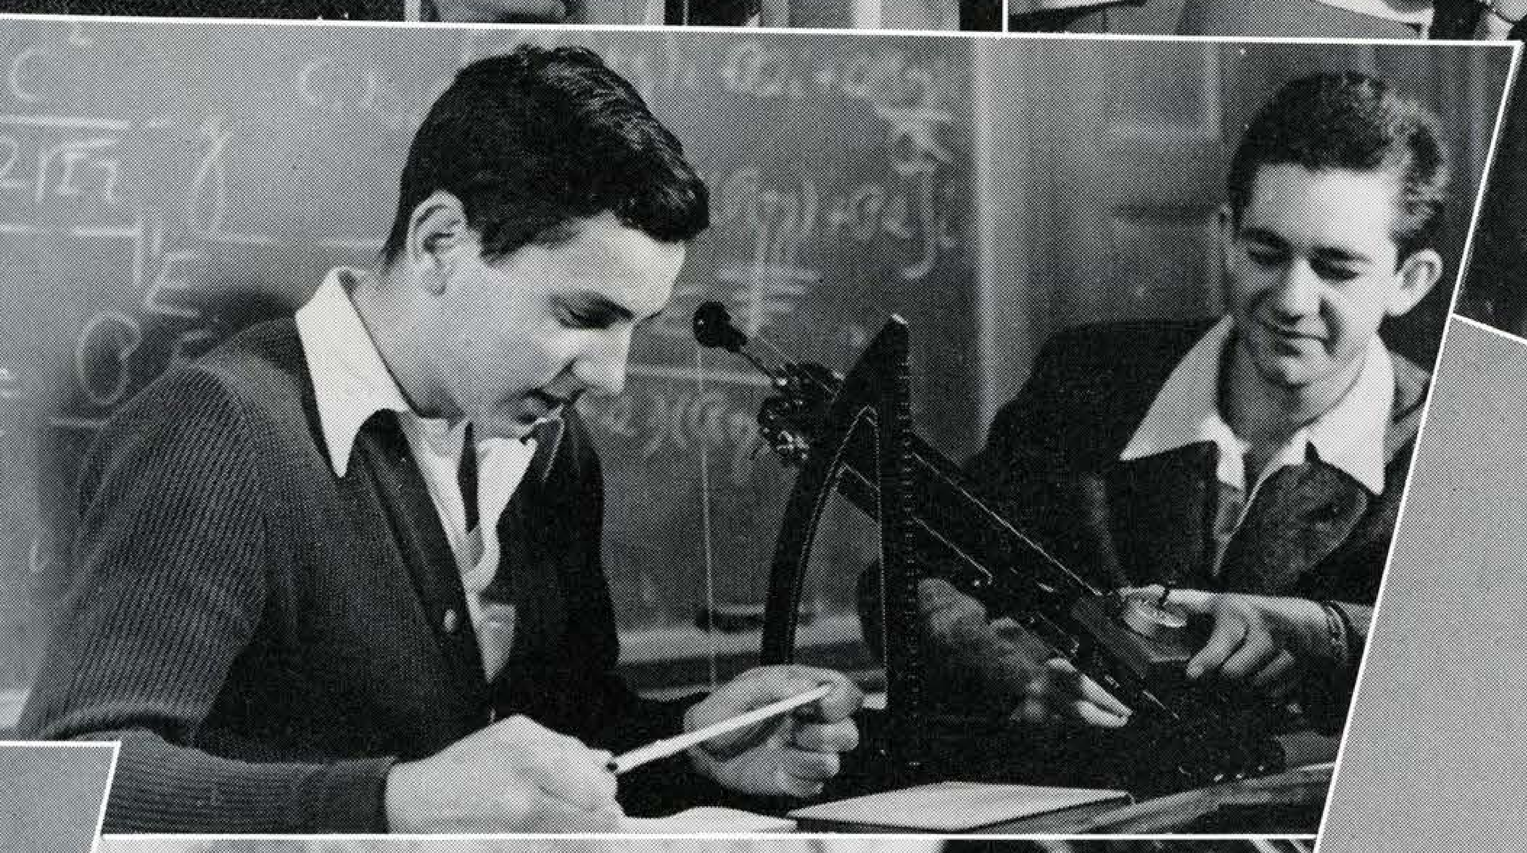

La Torre's roving cameramen delve deeply into the lives of San Jose State college students as they go about their daily routine of campus life. The watchful lens of the camera catches here a cross section of campus life and State students.

To the average Spartan of the classroom, the lab, the Quad, and the numerous other scenes of his activities, La Torre pays tribute in the form of these candid snaps of his or her activities. Although it is obviously impossible to record every phase of campus life and every student's activities, La Torre hopes that these few shots will give a picture of life as it is on Washington Square, ranging from students' activities on field trips to Ross Dwyer's early morning stretch in the Quad.

1. Flash! Metropolitan pressmen send out word of another San Jose victory to a waiting world.

2. One-two-three . . . the varsity lads show the gals how it's done.

3. "Hey, you guys . . ."

4. Tuning up on way to Stockton . . . San Jose's band gets set for action.

5. Strike up the band! . . . And Donnie Sweeney, San Jose's veteran six-year-old snare drummer, marches down the field.

6. The mornin' after . . . Bill Gonzales recuperates from Tiger encounter.

7. A San Jose lad and lassie take time out for refreshment before the game at Stockton.

8. It's a long way to Willamette! Spartan Daily editors Merrick and Maynard point the way.

9. "Pop" Warner greets Alonzo Stagg after San Jose's 13-3 victory over Pacific.

10. San Jose Band struts its stuff at Kezar.

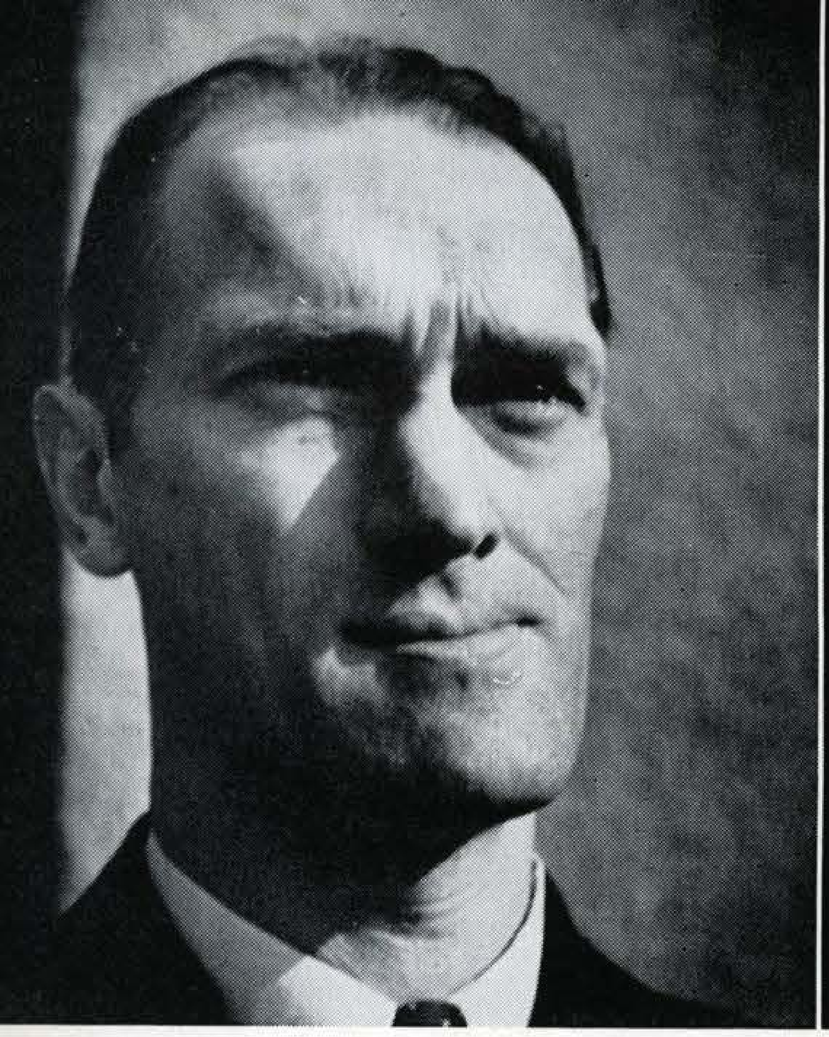

11. A new hula queen makes her debut at San Jose State . . . Helen Booth and the Hawaiians at the Spartan Varsity Show.

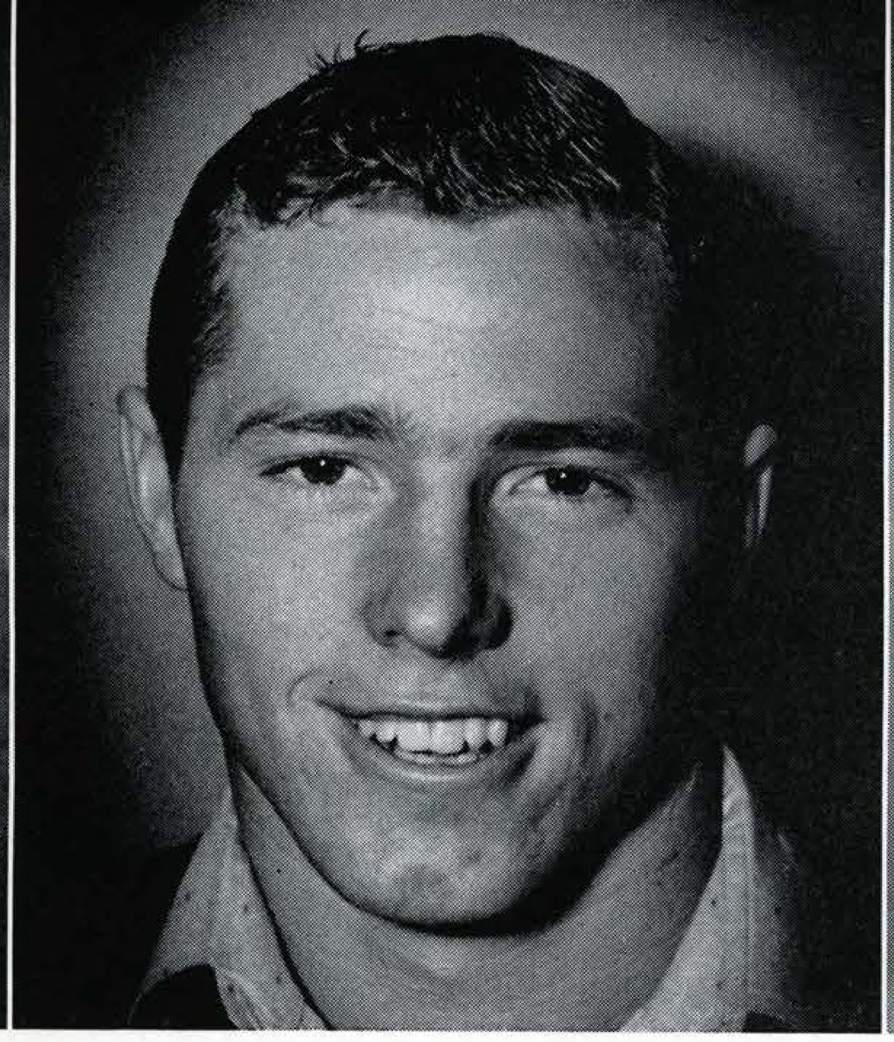

12. Sparta's own Janie May Reed, one of America's youngest drum majorettes, steps high.

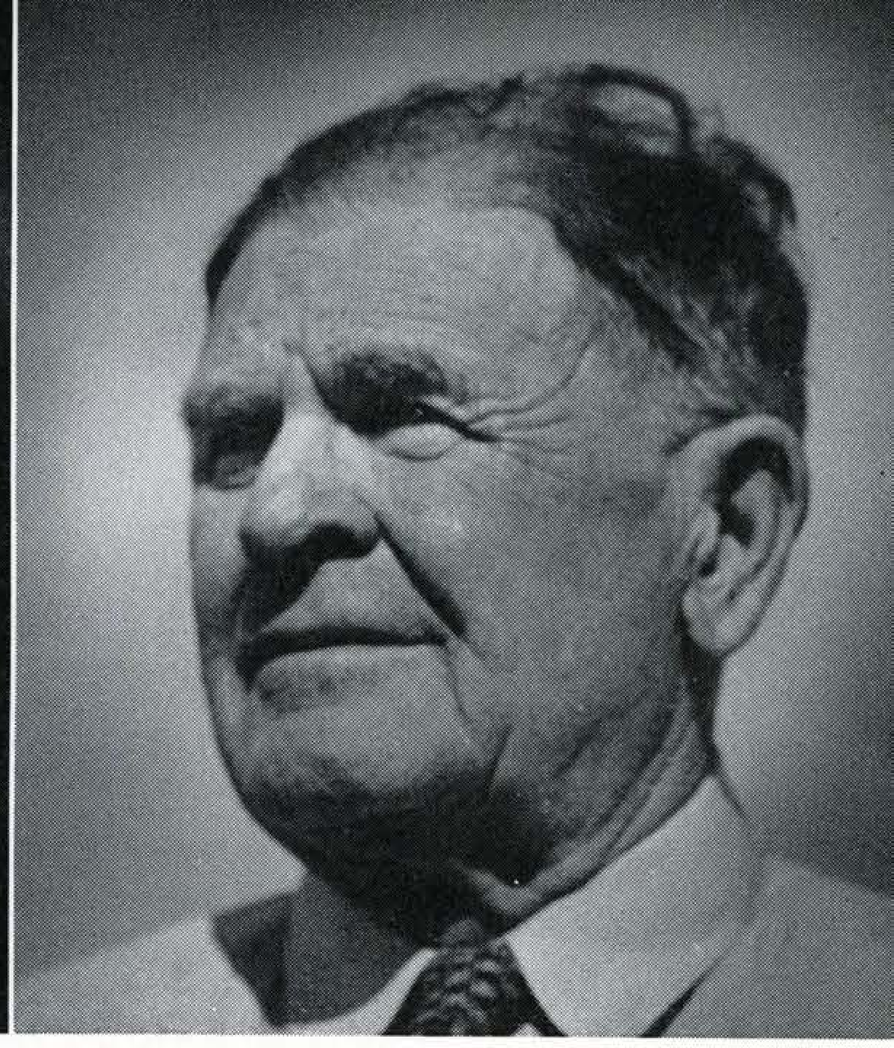

13. Spartans hail an undefeated team in post-game enthusiasm.

14. Yell leaders Taylor, Swanson, and Fahn, call for the spirit that helped San Jose score those 42 points against Fresno.

15. Hungry Fresno trekkers wait for that promised Thanksgiving turkey.

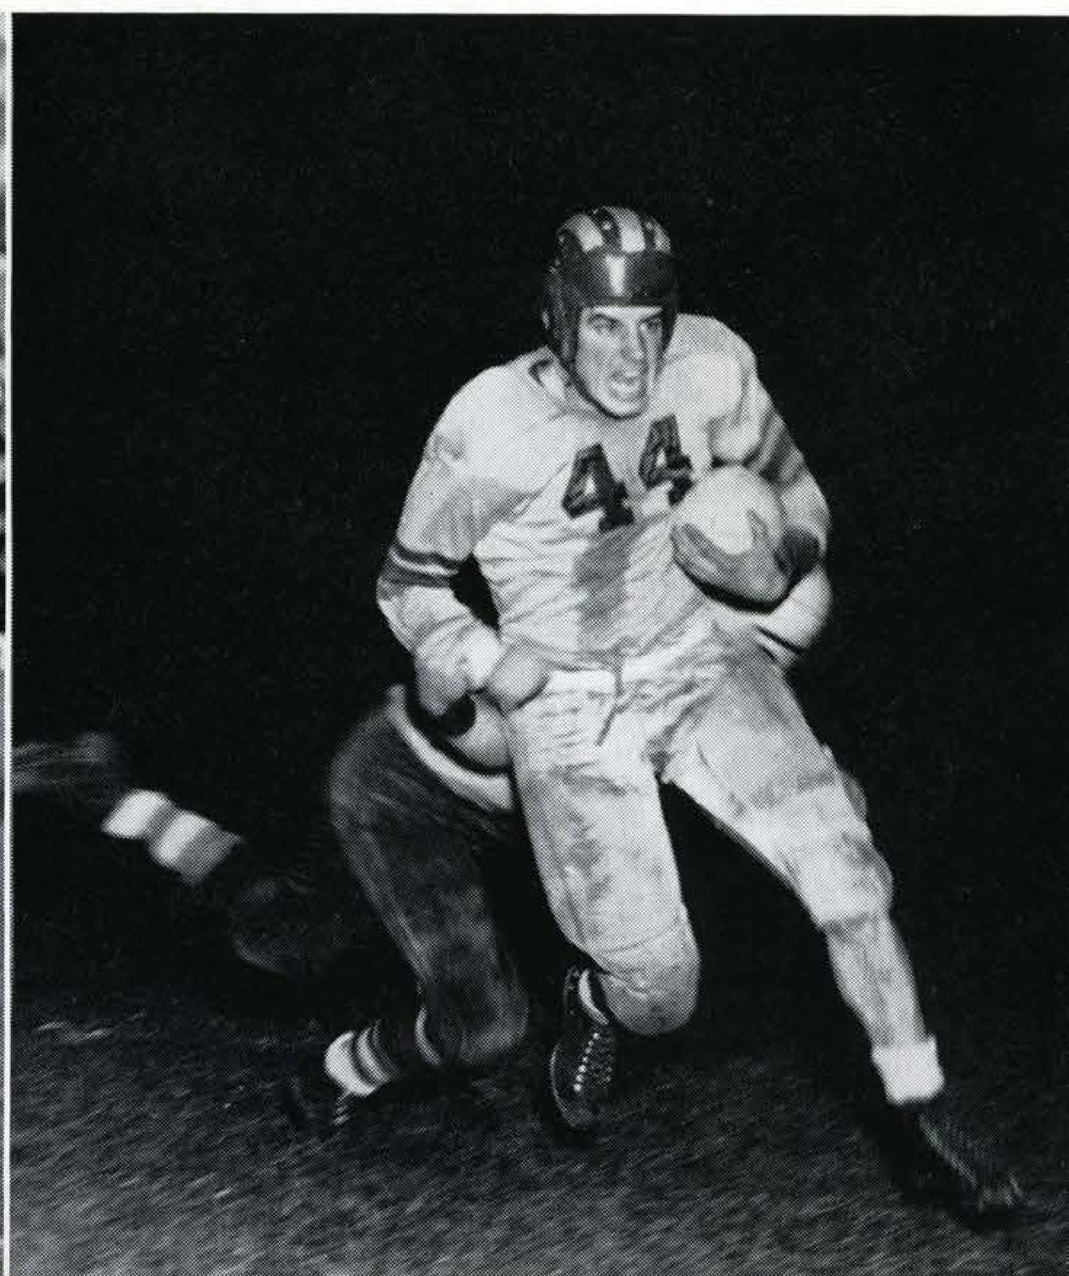

Football

With the coming of the "old fox," Pop Warner, to serve as advisory coach to Headman DeGroot, the Sons of Sparta ranked as the "greatest San Jose State college football team of all time." The statistics prove it . . . . . The 1939 eleven was the first Spartan eleven to complete its schedule untied, undefeated—the only team on the Pacific Coast with a perfect record. In rolling over 13 opponents, the Spartans won the title, "the highest scoring team in the nation," for the third straight season, amassing the greatest number of points ever made by a San Jose eleven, 324 . . . . . San Jose's offensive power surged over the opposition for a total yardage that amounted to nearly two miles . . . . . To top this off the Spartans won the California Collegiate Athletic Association championship from San Diego, Santa Barbara, and Fresno State colleges . . . . . Teams victimized by San Jose included: Montana State, 35-0; Texas A. & I., 9-0; University of San Francisco, 16-6; Cal Ramblers, 27-0; University of Nevada, 28-0; San Diego State, 41-9; College of Pacific, 13-3; Santa Barbara State, 23-7; Willamette University, 15-0; Loyola, 10-0; Redlands, 52-6; Fresno State, 42-7; and Drake University, 12-0.

Rabbit-like Aubrey Minter (5), Spartan half, scoots around end for a 19-yard dash in the fourth quarter of the College of Pacific game.

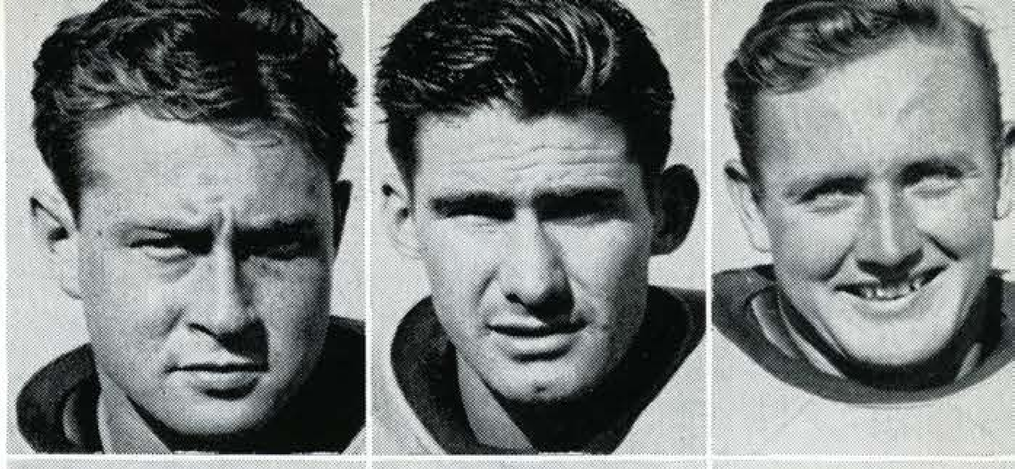

Fresno stops a Spartan thrust at the goal line in the fourth quarter of the smashing 42-6 victory for San Jose.

WILLAMETTE

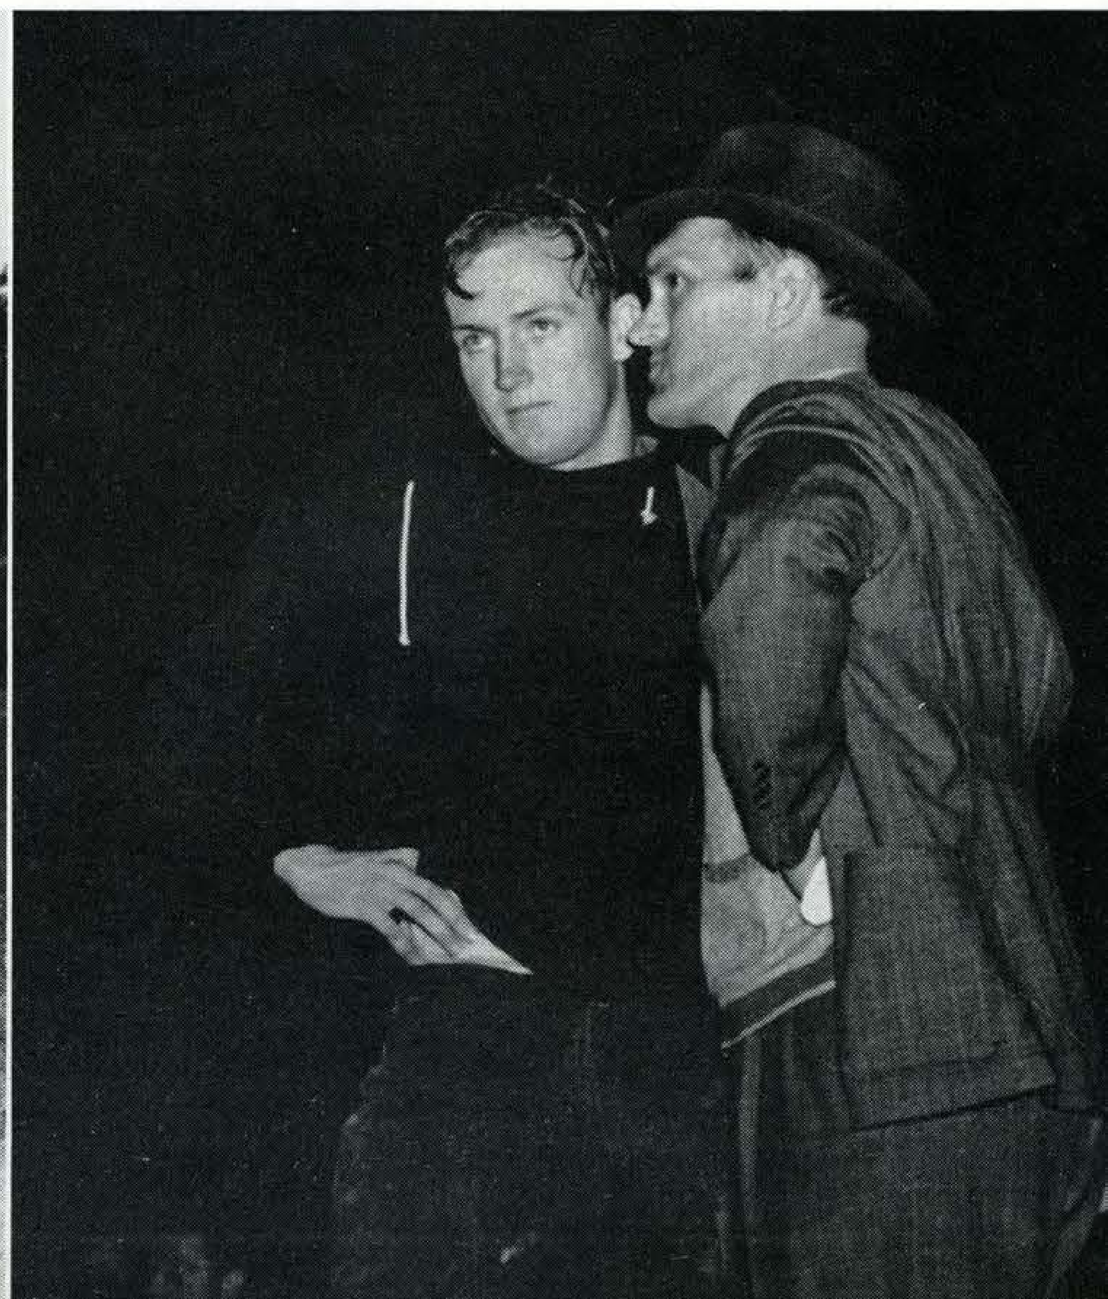

Football

Much of the Spartans' success was due to their great "Maginot Line" that held the opposition to an average of 33 yards gained from scrimmage, and riddled enemy forward walls to pave the way for Spartan ball carriers . . . . . Captain Bob Titchenal, an inspirational leader, was the spearhead of the San Jose line at center . . . . . Bob Bronzan, tackle, Chuck Johnson, end, and Ken Cook, guard, were other standouts . . . . . A place kicking expert, Cook was a valuable factor in San Jose's successful season. Against five opponents he toed through field goals to break scoreless ties. Combining his field goals with his points after touchdowns, Cook totaled 19 points for the season and finished as the fifth highest scoring man on the squad . . . . . To supplement the powerful Spartan line, Coach Dud DeGroot had an ample supply of backfield men . . . . . Triple-threat men Zimmerman, Peregoy, and Hubbell, all worked at the key fullback position; Minter, Manoogian, Zetterquist, Costello, and Staley were the ground-gaining threats on intricate Warner reverse plays to the halfbacks; Quarterbacks Dave Titchenal, Rishwain, and Sarkisian proved able field generals in calling plays.

Half Bill Clark (8) runs into a wave of Montana tacklers after a short gain. Guard Hal Buffa (23) watches from the ground.

Spartan guard Doan Carmody (51) dives at a University of San Francisco back running into several waiting Spartans. Rugged play by linemen played a big part in the 16-6 victory over U. S. F.

Right half Morris Manoogian looks up after a touchdown against the Cal Ramblers. The undefeated Spartans won this contest by a score of 27-0.

COLLEGE OF PACIFIC

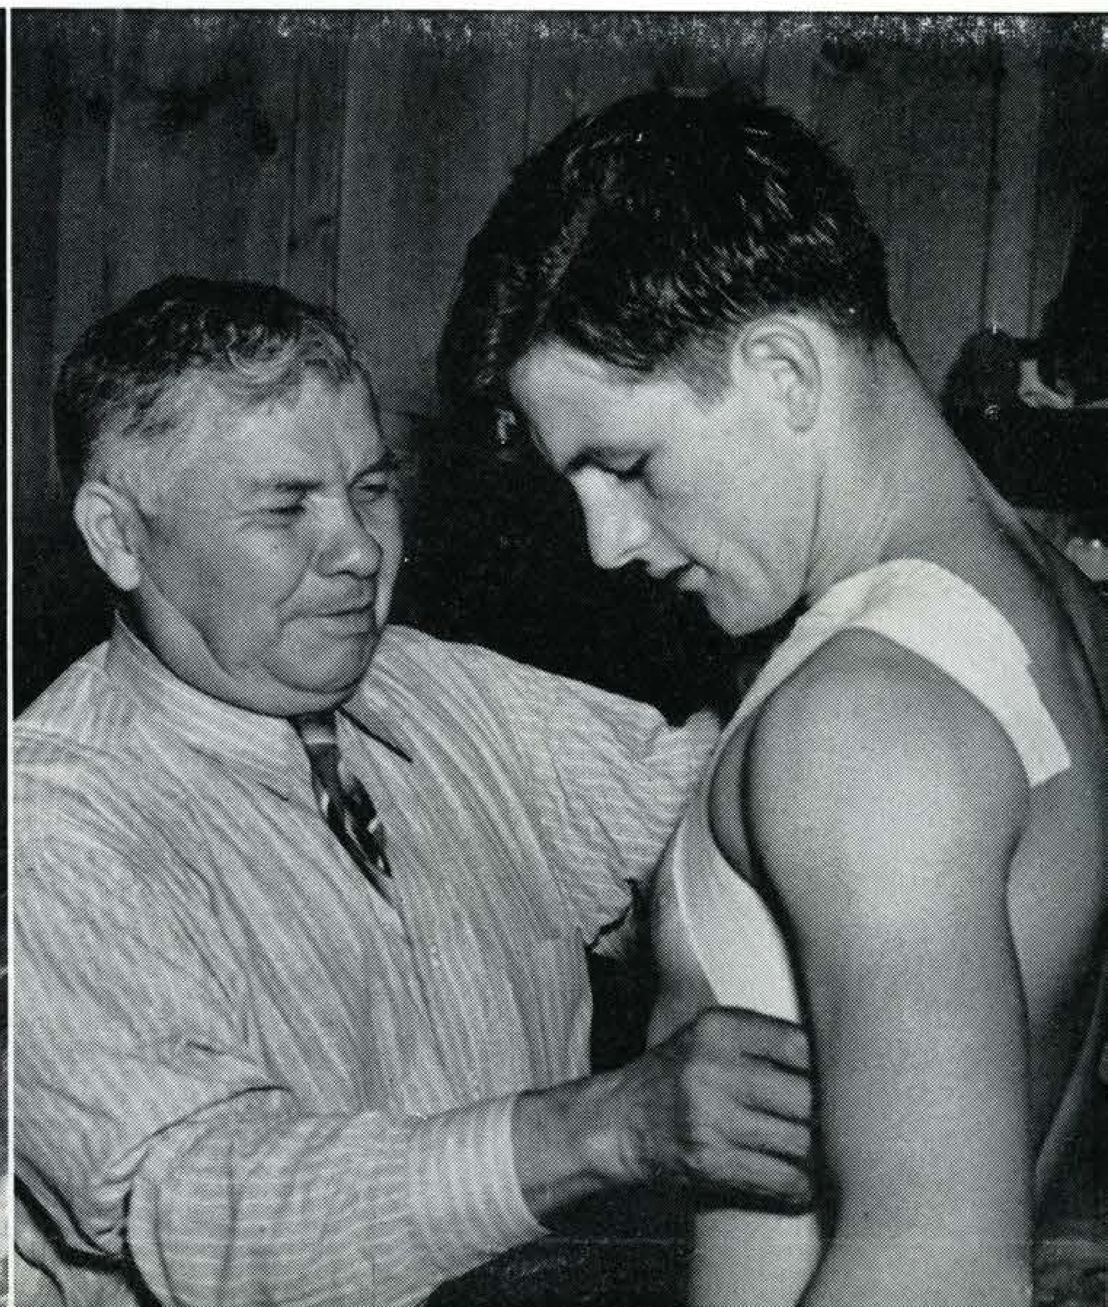

Football

The 1939 season marked San Jose's debut into "big time" football . . . . . As a team the Spartans gained widespread recognition by defeating U.S.F. and a strong intersectional opponent, Drake University . . . . . An official intercollegiate football statistical summary released by the American Football Statistical Bureau ranked the Spartans as the leading defensive team and the third highest in the nation on the basis of total team performances. Another national gridiron publication called San Jose the "team of the year." . . . . . Individual stars on the Spartan eleven also came in for their share of the glory. Fullback Leroy Zimmerman was accorded all-coast and "Little All-American" honors and was selected to play in the East-West Shrine game. His showing in this contest was heralded as the outstanding performance of the day . . . . . Tackles Bob Bronzan and Duke Tornell, Halfbacks Morris Manoogian and Aubrey Minter, Center Bob Titchenal, Ends Chuck Johnson and Johnny Allen, and Guard Ken Cook were other Spartans honored on mythical elevens . . . . . For the first time in San Jose football history San Jose was given serious consideration to play in one of the nation's post-season "bowl" games.

Spartan "Little All-American" fullback Leroy Zimmerman (35) smashes through the center of the Willamette line for a five-yard gain with giant guard Don Presley (26) leading the interference.

Determined-looking quarterback Jack Sarkisian (11) clears the way for a 16-yard gain around the Fresno left end by little Aubrey Minter (5), speedy left half.

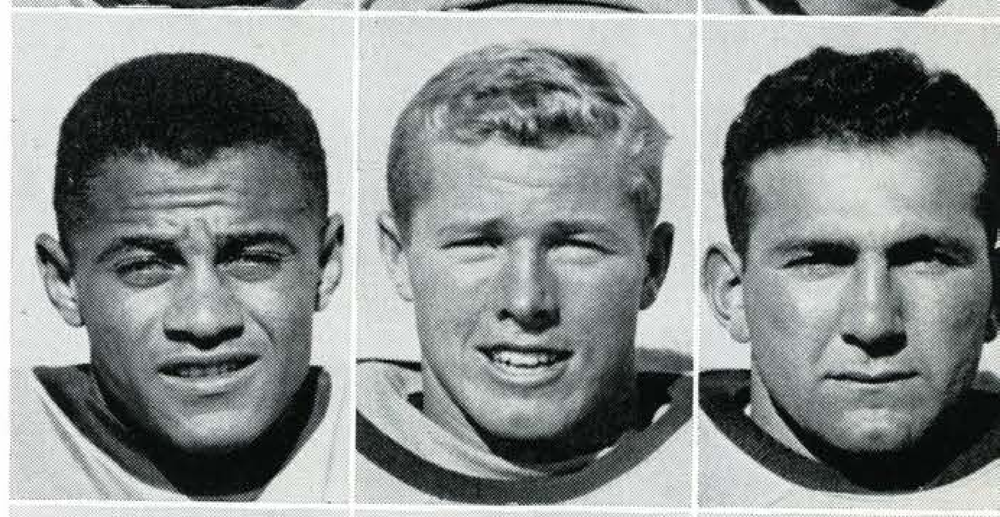

Fullback Dick Hubbell plows through a hole in the Drake line for six points. Captain Bob Titchenal (36) watches from the background after taking out his man.

Basketball

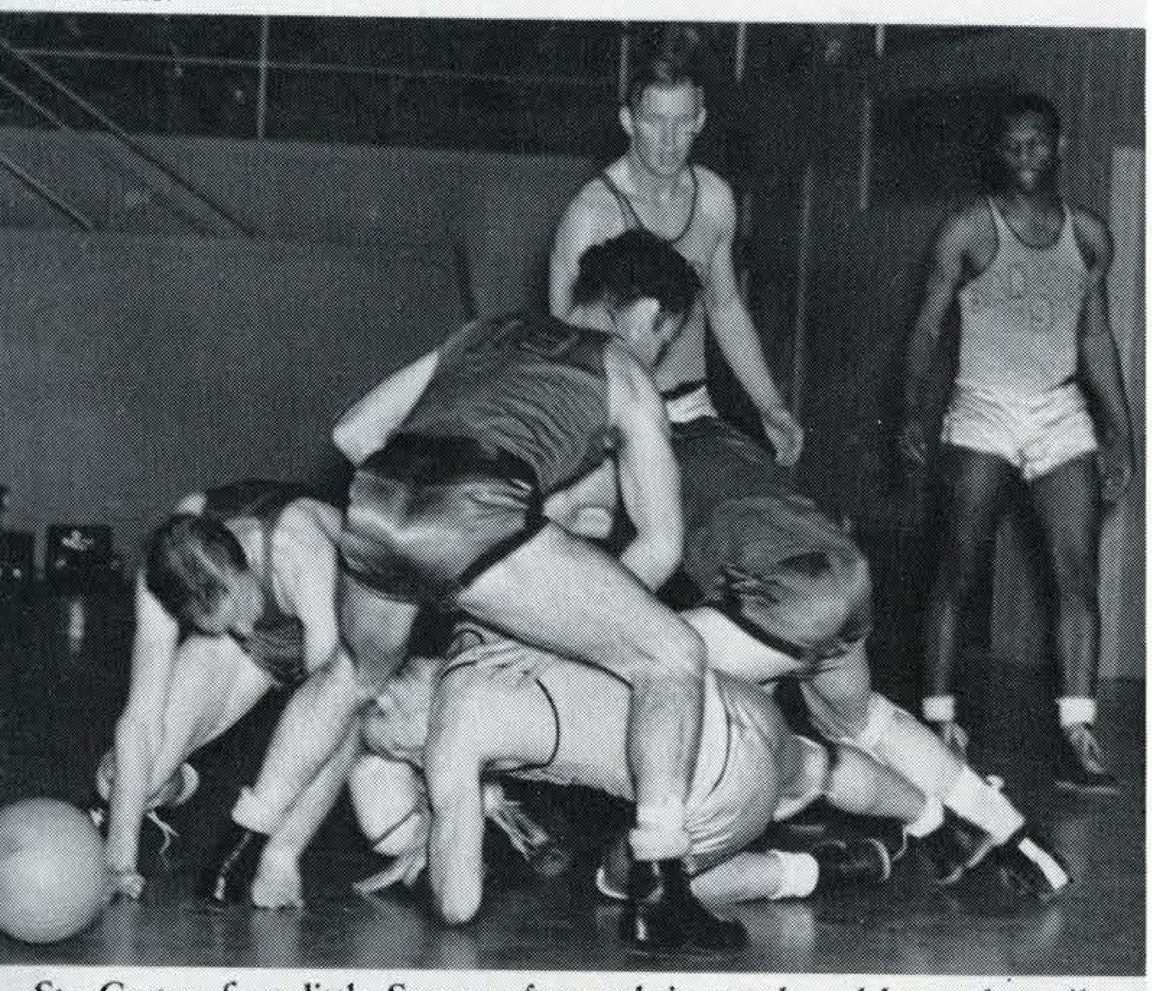

A sensational whirlwind finish by the Spartans salvaged an otherwise dismal basketball season for Coach Bill Hubbard's team . . . . . the late spurt by the San Joseans landed them in the runner-up position in the California Athletic Association pennant race. The team that "arrived," but too late, vindicated itself with two rousing victories over San Diego State college, rated as one of the strongest teams on the coast and runners-up in the National Collegiate basketball tournament in Kansas City . . . . . In conference play the Spartans won three and lost three and had a total season's record of nine wins and ten losses . . . . . Most consistent of the San Jose quintet was ballhawking Johnny Allen, whose brilliant play at guard earned him an all-conference position along with Captain Gus Kotta, forward. Other Spartans who contributed noteworthy performances were Duke Tornell, guard; Dick Uhrhammer, center; Captain-elect Hal Carruth, forward; and Stu Carter, forward. The only first string man playing his last year for the Spartans was Gus Kotta, giving newly-appointed Coach Walt McPherson veteran material to work with in 1941. "Swede" Smersfelt, a three-year veteran, was the only other senior completing his career.

Spartan Center George Ford (13) loses possession of the ball to San Diego's Hodgetts (17) and Echle (24) in the second game of the series which San Jose won 39-28. Forward Hal Carruth (6) watches the scramble.

Stu Carter, fiery little Spartan forward, is smothered beneath a pile of San Diego men in one of the many spills that marked the Aztec series. Teammates Dick Uhrhammer and John Allen look on.

Spartan Center Dick Uhrhammer (17) shoots over the head of a San Diego man as teammate Stu Carter peers out from under a falling opponent. Captain Gus Kotta does a ballet step in the foreground.

Track

Despite the array of outstanding individual track and field talent on the squad, San Jose State's cinderkickers failed to impress anyone with the performances as a team. The Spartans lost dual meets to Fresno State, Stanford University, San Diego State, and the Olympic Club. They defeated Santa Barbara State for their only California Collegiate Athletic Association win, which placed them third in the final league standing . . . . . San Jose's bright spot has been the outstanding, consistent performances of co-Captains Ed "Ticky" Vasconcellos and Tony Sunzeri, and Vince Ruble. These three men alone have been responsible for four new school records this year. Vasconcellos has a mark of 24 feet 4¾ inches in the broadjump, which should make him a serious threat in the future invitational meets that San Jose will compete in. Sunzeri, under the careful coaching of Glenn "Tiny" Hartranft, vaulted to a new pole vault mark of 13 feet 10 inches. Ruble has been the iron-man of the Spartan team. He runs the 880, mile, and two mile when called upon. He established the school mark in the 880 of 1:54.7 and a mark of 4.25 for the mile . . . . . Vasconcellos and Sunzeri competed in both the Long Beach and Drake Relays as the only San Jose entrants. Both placed second at Drake, while Vasconcellos took first place at Long Beach and Sunzeri tied for second . . . . . San Jose competed in the Fresno Relays and CCAA meet before hanging up the spikes for the season. Sunzeri and Vasconcellos were slated to go to Minneapolis for the Nationals.

John Peek, stellar high hurdler, low hurdler and broadjumper sails over the high barrier with inches to spare. Peek was a consistent point winner during the season.

Co-Captain Edmund "Ticky" Vasconcellos strains for an extra half-inch in a 23-foot leap. Broadjumper Vasconcellos went to the Drake Relays, placing second.

Relay man Vin Ruble, holder of the school half mile record, takes the baton from Bob Woods in the meet-deciding mile relay against San Diego State college.

Baseball

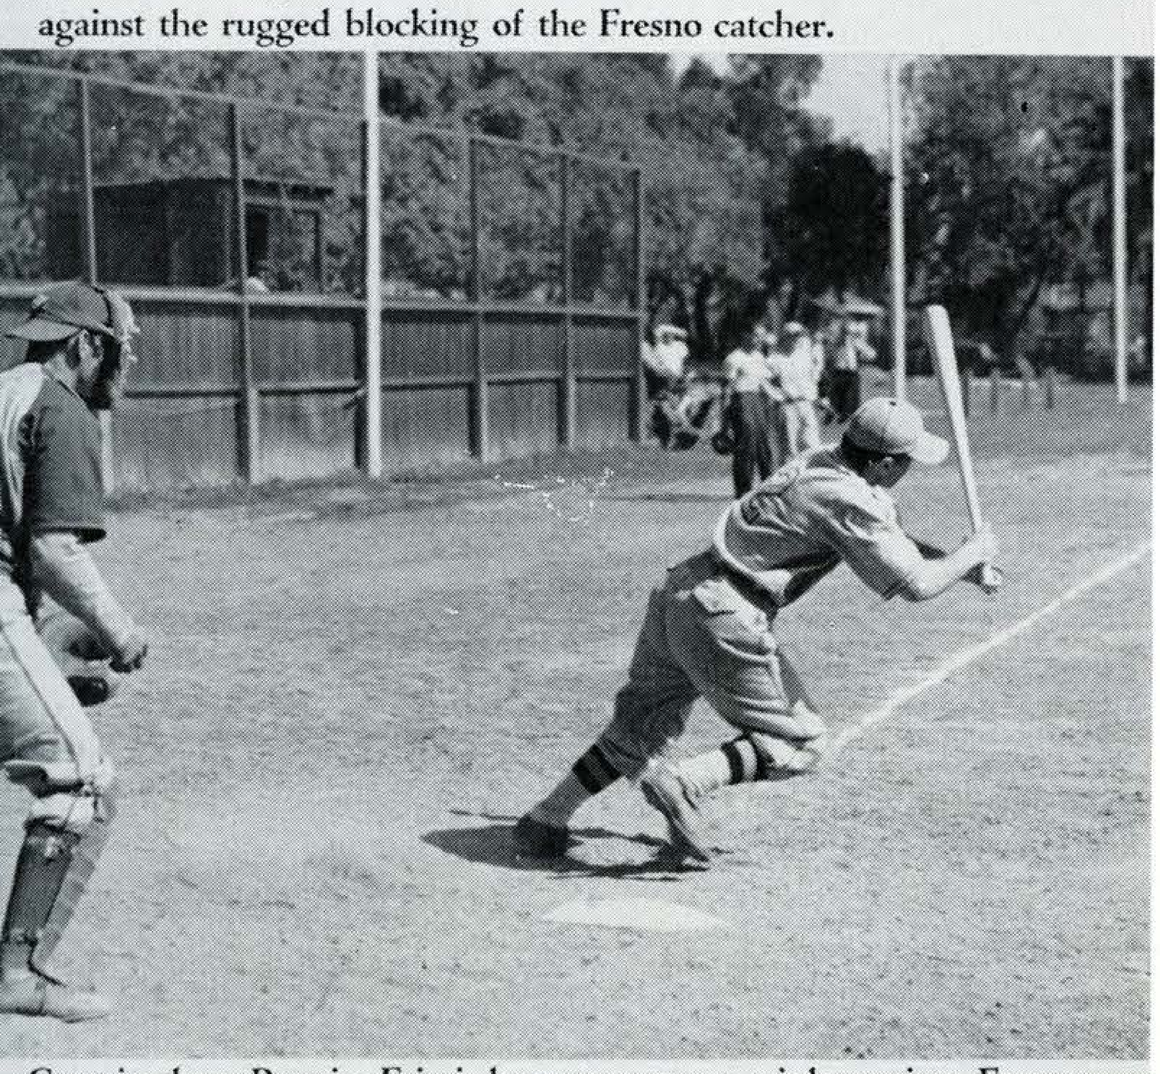

San Jose State's varsity baseball nine completed their schedule for the year by winning six of their twenty-one games and finished in last place in the California Collegiate Athletic Association. The Spartans, under their new mentor Walt McPherson, defeated San Diego State 8-2 and won a close 6 to 5 tilt from Fresno State for the only two conference wins of the season. They won four of their nine practice games, losing to USF, California, and Saint Mary's during the season . . . . . Depending on Pitcher Tony Nasimento, veteran of three years, the Spartans looked impressive in early season games. Nasimento was forced out for the season when he dislocated his shoulder while umpiring a frosh game. With him went all hopes of a CCAA title, for the Spartans sadly needed a chucker who could go the entire nine innings . . . . . Veterans Captain Harvey Rhodes, John Allen, Ben Frizzi, and Jack Fancher carried the Spartan's chances for a successful season. The rest of the team was comprised of sophomores and junior college transfers. Newly elected baseball captain Ben Frizzi and John Allen, along with Rhodes, were the batting and fielding power for San Jose. Frizzi led his teammates at the plate with a .329 average, followed by Rhodes with .319 and Allen with a .312 average . . . . . Nasimento, when not pitching, was used as a pinch hitter and finished the season with a .363 average, but he only competed in half the games played. San Jose loses only one man from this year's team.

Shortstop Eddie Hunt encounters opposition at home from a Fresno man in the San Jose State vs. Fresno State series. Hunt failed to score against the rugged blocking of the Fresno catcher.

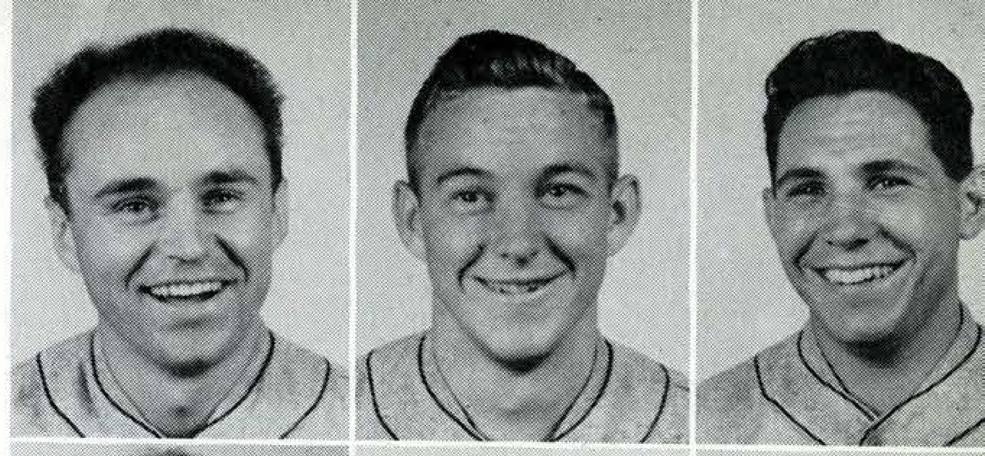

Captain-elect Bennie Frizzi hammers out a triple against Fresno. Frizzi led Spartan hitters with a .329 average for the season. The McPherson-coached squad split a doubleheader with Fresno.

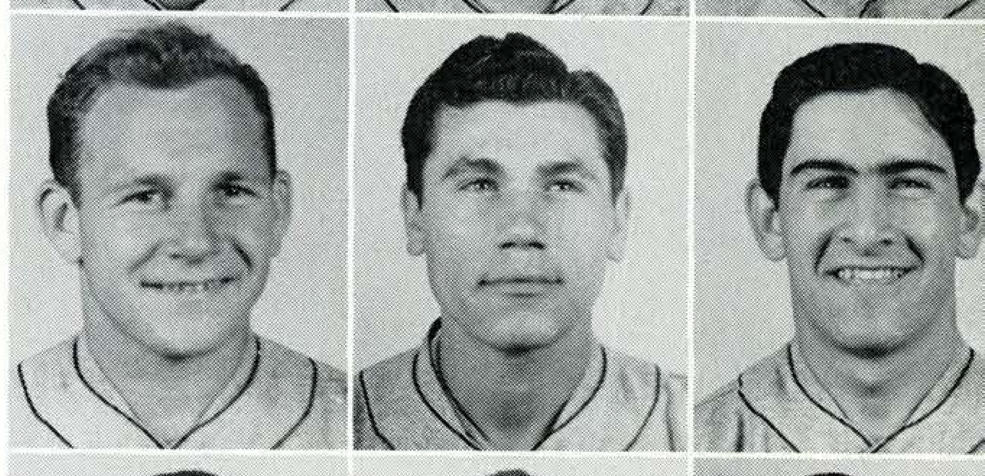

Captain Harvey Rhodes, playing his last season for Sparta, nips Fresno runner at third base. Coming out of an early season slump, Rhodes hit his stride in the last four games of the season.

WRESTLING

Led by Captain Fortune Masdeo and Mel Bruno, who won Far Western titles for the third consecutive year, Coach Gene Grattan's Spartan wrestlers were undefeated in dual-meet competition but were hampered by injuries in tournaments. Highlight of the season was the dual-meet victory over University of California. At the start of the season, the matmen won four titles in the Northern California Invitational tournament, and wound up the season with three Pacific Coast Intercollegiate titleholders and a tie for second place with UCLA for the Coast championship.

GOLF

Two championships highlighted the 1940 season for Coach Walt McPherson's smooth-stroking golf team. The Spartan divoters won the Northern California Intercollegiate Golf Conference and the California Collegiate Athletic Association championships. Paced by Captain Warner Keeley, whose season was climaxed with a neat 68-game, the San Joseans extended their two-year winning streak to 33 games, with 14 consecutive victories for the season. Against San Diego, Santa Barbara, and Fresno in C. C. A. A. competition, the Spartans finished 32 strokes ahead of their nearest rivals.

SOCCER

Fielding one of the strongest San Jose State college squads in history, Coach Hovey McDonald guided his Spartan soccer team to the Northern California Intercollegiate championship. Getting off to a slow start, the Spartan kickers soon caught their stride, and as the season progressed, they were virtually unbeatable. Heading into the homestretch of the season, the San Jose team found itself in a tie with California after upsetting Stanford and U.S.F. A play-off was held with the Bears to decide the title, which the Bears forfeited because of an ineligible man.

Coach DeWitt Portal's San Jose State college boxing team made progress in its climb toward national prominence. Facing the finest boxing teams in America in the National Collegiate tournament in Sacramento, the Spartans finished in a tie for third place with Louisiana State. Captain Bill Bolich turned in the best year of his fistic career to win the Pacific Coast 155-pound championship. Bantamweight Bill Sellers, a rapidly-developing newcomer to the Spartan ranks, won highest individual honors of the year for a San Jose boxer, finishing as runner-up in the National 120-pound division.

Women's Sports

Women's Sports

San Jose State College's highly organized women's athletic program offers to interested students participation in almost every type of sport. Under the direction of Dr. Irene Palmer, head of the department, the staff of eight instructors works with students and attempts to aid each in the perfection of individual techniques. Every woman student is required to take six quarters of activity, including swimming and fundamental rhythms. Some students, with poor health ratings, are excused from active sport but must gain credit for rest periods spent in the gym.

Physical education majors may take one of two courses, each of which will fit the graduate for a different position. She may either earn an AB in Physical Education which will not entitle her to teach but will fit her for recreation work or, if she is approved by the department for teacher's training, the student may earn a credential which will enable her to secure a position in secondary schools.

In addition to the regular major program, the department also offers a minor in P. E. which some girls consider a good foundation for the elementary school program.

New courses offered for the first time this year were Country Dance, Gymnastics, and Intermediate Social Dancing.

In addition to the regular departmental program, there is the Women's Athletic Association, made up of representatives from various clubs organized for the purpose of promoting interest in individual sports. This organization receives an allotment from the student body funds and conducts play days with other schools throughout the county and in surrounding territories.

Clubs represented in the larger group are swimming, archery, riding, badminton, tennis, fencing, and Orchesis and Junior Orchesis.

Sneak Day

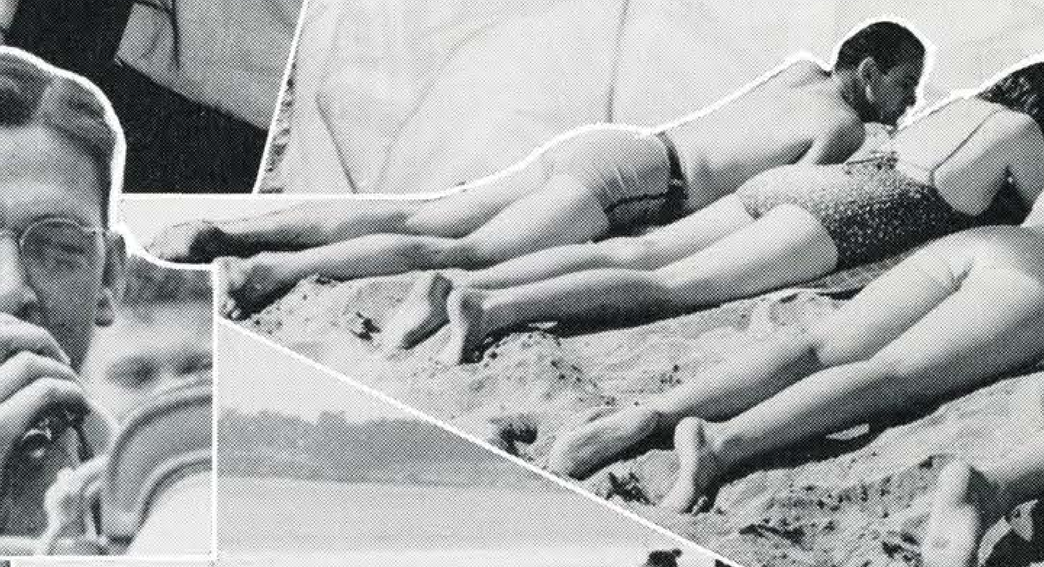

In the most ambitious Sneak Day plan ever attempted, 350 San Jose State college seniors joined in a mass overnight migration to the YMCA camp near La Honda, scoring a "moral victory" over the pursuing juniors who didn't arrive at the Seacliff beach destination until after the 12 o'clock deadline. More than 25 faculty members joined the seniors in a barbecue supper, a night in the woods, and a day at Seacliff beach.

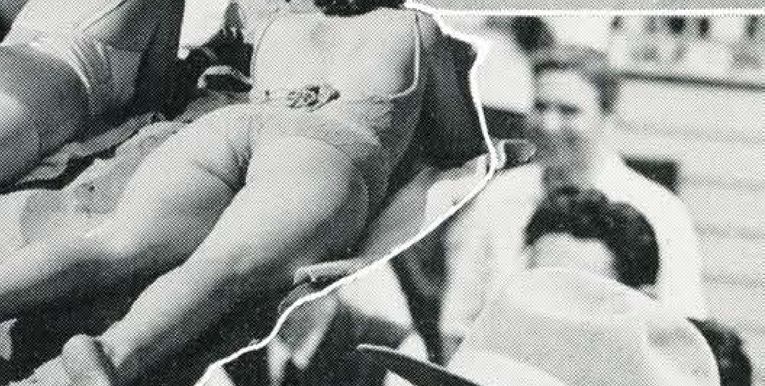

With both sides laying campaign plans for weeks in advance, all tricks of espionage and "blitzkrieg" tactics were employed. The official opening of Sneak activities was the Junior-Senior Mixer, called the most successful in the history of upperclass get-togethers by class advisers. A night of excitement and interclass kidnaping forays, climaxed by a mass battle on Fourth street just as the dawn was breaking, followed the Mixer. On Wednesday, juniors learned of the 24-hour sneak, rushed in pursuit, arrived too late for a victory, but had plenty of time for an afternoon of fun.

Spardi Gras

Spardi Gras Day, possessing all its tradition and color, found the largest number of citizens of Spartatowne ever to partake in the fun and mirth. Festivities began at high noon with the explosion of a radio bomb that gave collegians the cue to start the extensive merrymaking that lasted until 1 o'clock the following morning. Picked from the comeliest of Spartan co-eds by radio and screen star Bing Crosby, Margaret Hull reigned as Queen of Spardi Gras, and chose Stanley Murdock to rule as king.

Dressed in a brilliant and unique array of costumes, Spardi Gras celebrants swarmed through the Quad, which was lined with typical carnival concessions. While photo bulbs flashed and students laughed in approval, fun-provoking contests were held in which winners in pie-eating and beard-growing competition were crowned. Prizes were given for the best costumes; the campus Cinderella was found; the police force shunted "law-breakers" off to jail; and clubs raffled off ancient Model T Fords, rounding out the afternoon's entertainment.

Spardi Gras

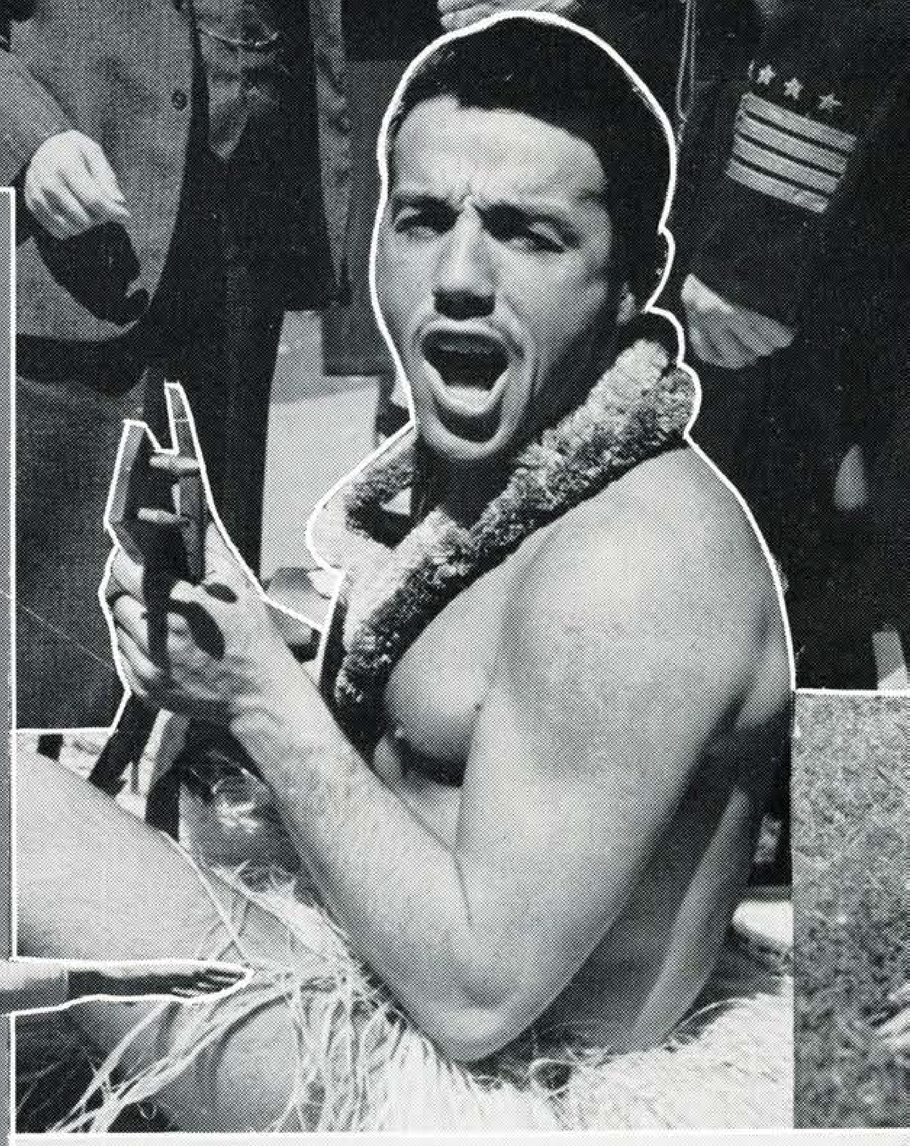

Following an evening dinner in the East Quad and a brief recess to change from costumes to orthodox street wear, students attended the annual Spartan Revelries. The last in the repertoire of activities was the Spardi Gras dance. To accommodate the college's increased enrollment two dances were held, one in the Men's and one in the Women's gymnasium. Both gymnasiums were filled to near-capacity, and two different types of orchestras, "sweet" and "swing," provided the music.
By midnight the crowd began to thin, and finally with the end of the dance and Spardi Gras, celebrants turned homeward—tired, but happy.

Behind the annual Spardi Gras celebration lay a great deal of planning and effort. Under the supervision of Chairman Bob Payne, initial work for the carnival began early in the fall quarter, and as the date of Spardi Gras neared, the committee worked tirelessly. Several campus organizations undertook the responsibility of sponsoring concessions; local merchants donated prizes for winners of the various contests; newspapers cooperated in giving publicity ; and every phase of the celebration met with success.

Revelries

An important part of Spardi Gras Day, Spartan Revelries, annual musical show, found one of the best arrays of talent ever to perform before a Washington Square audience. For the first time in three years the show was staged on-campus, running for a two-night stand in order to meet the large demand for tickets. Under the direction of Bill Van Vleck and featuring 85 campus entertainers, the show portrayed two newspapermen sent by St. Peter to "The Inferno" to find out the reason for a decrease in applicants for admission to Heaven. Supplementing Wes Hammond's and Jack Windsor's enactment of the two major roles was a widely-varied program of songs and dances. A majority of the songs were student written and arranged. Profits from the show, estimated at $500, went for new band uniforms.
