

Cigarettes, death, disease

Golden Gater

9 of 10 victims of lung cancer smoke

The link between cigarette smoking, death and disease has been confirmed in a massive new study of smokers and non-smokers by the American Cancer Society.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond of the American Cancer Society's statistical directory said the study produced evidence which shows:

- Death rates increase with the degree to which smokers inhale.

- The earlier a person begins smoking, the greater the exposure to cigarette smoke—and the higher the death rate.

- About 50 per cent more heavy cigarette smokers wind up in the hospital than do non-smokers.

According to Dr. Hammond, the study also uncovered a vast new fund of information about the harmful effects of cigarettes in cancer, heart disease, and other ailments.

The report was based on the study of 422,094 men between 40 and 89 which covered an average of 34.3 months.

One of the most spectacular features of the study is known as the "matched pair analysis."

Two groups of men were matched for age, race, height, native or foreign born, urban or rural residence, religion, education, marital status, alcohol consumption, drug use, sickness and other characteristics.

Their only differences were in smoking habits. Each group of smokers and non-smokers contained 36,975 men, with smokers of a pack-a-day or greater habit.

In less than three years, 1,385 of the smokers died, compared to 662 of the non-smokers.

Death rates: lung cancer, 110 for smokers, 12 for non-smokers; emphysema, 15 for smokers, 1 for non-smokers; aortic aneurysm, 30 and 8; coronary artery disease, 654 and 304; other causes, 576 and 329.

The report held out hope for persons who once smoked cigarettes but gave them up. It said:

"Lung cancer deaths were considerably lower among ex-cigarette smokers who had given up the habit for several years than among those who continued to smoke."

Dr. Hammond said that as a result of the latest findings, "it is hard to escape the conclusion that this difference in the number of deaths was due to the difference of smoking habits."

Varga will premiere in concert at 1

Laszlo Varga, SF State's new Symphony Orchestra Conductor, will give his premiere performance in a program of concert today at 1 p.m. in the Main Auditorium.

Varga, who recently began teaching here, is from a Budapest family of professional musicians and has studied at the Royal Academy of Music under Leo Winer and Kodaly.

His former accomplishments are extensive and highly regarded in the music world.

Varga has acted as solo cellist for the Budapest Chamber Orchestra, New York Opera Company and Philharmonic.

300 expected to attend '63 Christmas Dinner 'Feast'

Christmas music, food, decorations, and talks will greet more than 300 diners at the annual Christmas Candlelight Dinner in the Commons Sunday afternoon.

The SF State Brass Ensemble will entertain the diners at 4:30 p.m. in the Faculty dining room where the traditional Wassail Bowl will be served.

During the Dinner, "The Noble Feast," the Chamber Choir, with Dr. John C. Tegnell as director, will move among the tables singing Christmas carols. Following the dinner, the diners will take part in singing carols.

Each table will be colorfully decorated with small candles arranged in the shape of Christmas trees.

Following the "Feast," Dr. Harold N. Englund, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Berkeley and a former SF State student, will talk on "Bethlehem and Brotherhood."

President Paul Dodd and Tom Ramsay, AS president, will extend Christmas greetings and a Christmas welcome while Mrs. Blanche Ellsworth, professor of English, will give a history of the Candlelight Dinner, an SF State tradition since 1929.

A NOBLE FEAST — Three hundred diners will celebrate Christmas a little early at the Christmas Candlelight Dinner in the Commons Sunday.

Christmas trees and carols will add to the holiday spirit.

Musical opens tonight for holiday run

"Wonderful Town," this year's musical production by the drama department, opens tonight in the Main Theater at 8:30 p.m.

All the elements of the theater, drama, song and dance are combined in the lavish musical, score by Leonard Bernstein.

The show will be given again tomorrow night and December 11 through 14. Admission is $1.50 and $2.00.

Two for practice

Bulldogs, Cal Poly on Slate

By JERRY LITTRELL
SF State's Golden Gators take to the road again this weekend as they travel to Fresno State College tonight and Cal Poly (SLO) tomorrow night for two practice games.

Both teams are high-scoring so the Gator defense, a little leaky to this point, will have to tighten up against them.

Fresno State is 0-2 so far but the record doesn't tell the story. One game was against Utah State and the other was with the University of Utah, both played in the Mormon State.

Before the two losses Fresno had been rated eighth in the nation among small colleges.

The Fresno Bulldogs are led by 6-6 center Maurice Talbott and 6-5 forward Tony Burr, both 15-point-average scorers from last year's team.

"They have a strong team but we might be a little speedier than they are," said coach Paul Rundell. "We hope to be able to work the fast break more against them."

Against Cal Poly (SLO) Saturday night the Gators will face one of the finest all-around cagers in the state, Bob Horwath.

This 6-2, 185 pound performer alternates at forward and guard, as he is a fine rebounder and an excellent outside shooter.

Twice he has made the West Coast Athletic Conference's all-star first team as a guard and he needs only 120 points this season to break the all-

Garter's coming

In a joint statement to the Gater, the two editors of Garter said:

"Garter will appear on campus December 9," the first joint, Ron Whyte said. "That's a Monday. Please tell everyone to stop beating on our office doors trying to get advance copies."

"Copies are two bits," Rich Ramos, the second joint, said. "Of course, after we get banned the price for bootlegged copies will increase."

Both joints promised this issue would be the funniest issue ever published by anyone in this hemisphere.

"Garter is the official humor organ of SF State College," they said, in chorus and jointly. "So those of you who like funny organs should not miss it."

time California Collegiate Athletic Association scoring record.

The Gators still have their two big problems to overcome—guard scoring and post position defense.

Starting guards Dave Roberts and Bill Nocetti have unquestionably played excellent ball handling and floor games but neither has really opened up in the scoring column.

The scoring load so far has fallen on the willing shoulders of forward Brad Duggan, who in the first two games has a 57 point total.

Although the 78-70 win over the Santa Clara Broncos was a higher-than-usual score for the Gator type of basketball, fans can expect more of the same as the season progresses.

The reason is the new rule this year that states the clock must be stopped after each violation.

In past seasons the clock was stopped only for fouls or time outs.

"The statistics show that that this will add an average of two or three minutes to each game," Rundell stated.

The extra time could add an average of 10-13 points more per-team per-game.

Still a chance for male skiers

There are still a few openings for men on the Recreation Department sponsored Christmas ski trip.

The final payment date for the trip, for which the Recreation Department offers one unit of credit, is today.

The class will leave from the college Friday December 27, and return January 1.

Jack Beckner in gym show tomorrow

Jerry Wright, gymnastics coach here and director of the third annual Invitational Gymnastics Meet tomorrow night, was talking about injuries in his sport.

"Most injuries don't occur on the trampoline, although many people think they do," Wright said. "Potentially, it is the most dangerous event, but it's been so well supervised that few injuries occur in it."

"Most injuries occur on the horizontal bar. It's awfully easy to slip on that thing."

Jack Beckner, a three-time Olympic team member who is favored in the all-around competition, was injured recently, pulling several muscles when he slipped on a horizontal bar and landed on his head.

Jack is the old man of the show at 33, but Wright believes that isn't too old for gymnastics. "Boris Shakhlin of Russia, the Olympic Games all-around champ in 1960, was 38 then."

Besides Beckner, two other members from the U.S.'s seven-man Olympic team will compete in the 1 p.m. preliminaries and the 7:30 finals.

They are Armando Vega and Larry Banner.

The prices are 75 cents for students and $1.25 for the public for the men's gymnasium program.

Ailing LSL gets ailing new chief -- unhealthy situation?

A sick campus political party, the Liberal Student League (LSL), now has a sick president to lead it.

Jim Nixon, the new chairman of LSL, has pneumonia. He contracted the disease 10 days ago and has been confined to bed since then.

Nixon took over the post when John Pearson was forced to resign from the chairmanship because of scholastic difficulties.

LSL's health problems have been of a political nature. Seven AS legislators and two members of the student executive have resigned since Oct. 22, destroying LSL's domination of student government. Assistant Speaker Marty Mellerer resigned Oct. 22 because of LSL's "European political" structure.

Their resignations were followed by those of Reps. Mrs. Nelmarie Nicholson, Chuck

McAuliffe, and Pete Margoita on Nov. 5. They termed an attempted removal of Burnett and Mellerer from their posts a "political power play" by LSL.

AS President Tom Ramsay,

AS Vice-President Bob Hill, and Rep. John Travinsky quit the party Nov. 18. Travinsky said LSL wasn't fulfilling "its commitments" to the AS as stated in its legislative program.

'Can improve teaching'

While many SF State teachers would be "outraged" at a Course Reaction Program, it can lead to better teaching, Dr. Henry C. Lindgren, professor of psychology, said Thursday.

AS President Tom Ramsay plans to conduct a survey of student opinion on courses and teaching at SF State, possibly next semester.

The criteria for the evaluation, and the methods of conducting the program, still have to be ironed out.

Lindgren said many teachers don't like the idea of a student survey on their teaching methods.

"If it were put to a vote, it would be defeated two to one easily," he claims. The faculty is "generally outraged at this kind of thing."

"It raises anxieties . . . but they should be raised," he added. "People are bound to reject criticism, even if it might be for their own good."

Some teachers, he said, are concerned that such a survey might turn into a popularity contest. But Lindgren says students will report objectively on teacher competence, irrespective of any blandishments they may be offered.

He thinks that teaching can be improved from a survey and that students take such surveys seriously.

There are studies that "support the idea that college teaching can be improved by a systematic gathering of student opinion on an anonymous basis," Lindgren said.

He said he has become a better teacher because of a student evaluation survey he has conducted in his classes every semester since 1947.

In the anonymous survey, students are asked to rate various aspects of a freshman psychology course on a scale ranging from a high of five points to a low of one.

From fall, 1949, to the summer of 1951, Lindgren's results show, first-semester freshman approval jumped from an average of 3.9 to 4.3.

Effectiveness of the instructor for the same period and group raised from 3.9 to 4.8. Figures for the years after 1951 were not available.

Lindgren is interested in the survey for two reasons:

"College teaching in general . . . is poor."

He would "like to see the student . . . take more of the responsibility of education."

Teaching is poor, he said, because many teachers don't understand the dynamics of learning and teaching.

Many teachers are interested in doing research and being scholars," he said. But this can hamper teaching.

"It is difficult to be a scholar and a teacher," Lindgren said. "It is too easy to make the assumption that a good scholar is a good teacher."

A good scholar-teacher learns from his students by collecting data and bright comments in class that "swing into your perspective," he said.

Discussing his second reason, Lindgren said students should "react to the good and bad aspects of teaching."

Data gathered from an anonymous survey is valuable because it is dangerous for students to directly criticize their teachers.

"On a common sense basis, availability of data about a teacher is bound to have some kind of effect on the way he teaches."

Non-resident grads may be eligible for tuition reduction

Qualified nonresident graduate students will be offered a reduction or waiver of nonresident tuition fees beginning next semester, Ferd Reddell, dean of students, announced recently.

Reductions or waivers will be granted for only one semester, he said.

In order to be eligible for consideration for a waiver or reduction of the nonresident tuition fee, a graduate student must meet the following conditions:

- Be admitted as a classified graduate student in a specific master's degree program at SF State.
 - Demonstrate a high level of scholastic achievement normally through presenting a prior academic record with a grade point average of at least 3.0 (B grade).
 - Give evidence of financial need.
 - Be a nonresident student.
- For the 1963-64 academic year, fees for non-resident United States citizens are $17 per unit or a maximum of $250 on 15 units or more.
- Foreign visa students are charged $8.50 per unit or a maximum $250 on 15 units or more.
- Students who are in acute financial need will receive waivers of the tuition fee while those who can afford to pay a portion but not the entire amount of the fee will receive a reduction.

To be assured of consideration, an application for waiver or reduction must be filed by January 17 in AD 173.

Graduate students who make an application must register and continue to be registered throughout the semester for at least 10 semester units.

George Feliz, dean of graduate studies, and Ferd Reddell, dean of students, are instituting the reduction and waiver program for two reasons.

They regard the plan as a significant step in an attempt to bring to SF State qualified graduate students from outside California who normally would not be able to do so because of financial difficulties.

In this manner the graduate program at SF State will be strengthened with the addition of more qualified students and the campus atmosphere will retain its diversified, international flavor, Feliz said.

Garter goes on sale today

SF State's humor magazine, the Garter, will be on sale today in front of the library and the Commons for the inflationary price of 25 cents.

The Garter's editors hope that it will be well used, for they have gone to great lengths to elasticize the format, without stratching funds.

"The New Look" will have a Garter Girl, who is designed to titillate the senses, — and sensitize.

Cleopatra will be shown, possibly revealing her famous asp.

"Dr. Miller's Animal Advice," will add spice, not vice, to the first issue. But there are other items of interest.

New paper has been specially sent from the blackmarkets all over the world. After reading, it may be rolled and smoked, or used as a Sears catalogue substitute — rolling in the latter case is not recommended. Wadding is better.

Franciscan

Orders for the 1964 yearbook, The Franciscan, will be taken this week at tables in front of the Commons and library, and at the Franciscan office (HLL 203) and Hut T-1.

A deposit of $2.50 will reserve a copy of the $5.00 yearbook.

Swastikas, names mar Hillel signs

The committee in charge of advertising for the Israeli hootenanny held last Friday dittoed up a number of signs advertising the event.

Last Thursday, four of the signs had to be taken down because of a number of comments carefully printed over the original.

The comments included "Juden (sic) Swine," "Jew," and a number of swastikas printed in pencil over the Star of David.

June Stern, president of Hillel, the Jewish religious organization on campus, had this to say:

"It is a shocking thing to have happen at this school, so soon after Kennedy's assassination, and in this era. Everyone has been hoping that after Kennedy's death there would be more tolerance, less hatred. If this is a joke it's a poor one and if it is serious, it's horrible."

The matter was referred to Ferd Reddell, dean of students, where action is to be taken.

"We have notified the Campus Security police about this and they will be watching, but there is very little chance that this will aid in catching the culprit. If we do find him it will have to be from a student witnessing him defacing a sign and then notifying me," he said.

PE election date set

The Associated Students' Legislature will conduct a special election January 2 and 3 in the Gym for the Physical Education representative.

For eligibility, a candidate must be a major in physical education, health education, or recreation having a grade point average of 2.25 or over.

Candidates' petitions must be turned in by 2 p.m. Friday, December 13 to the legislature.

African dancer

Amope Nze, a dancer from Legos, Nigeria will enroll at SF State next Fall. She owns her own dance studio downtown, has performed at the college several times, accompanying her dancing with lecture. Her specialty is the African dance.

time California Collegiate Athletic Association scoring record.

The Gators still have their two big problems to overcome—guard scoring and post position defense.

Starting guards Dave Roberts and Bill Nocetti have unquestionably played excellent ball handling and floor games but neither has really opened up in the scoring column.

The scoring load so far has fallen on the willing shoulders of forward Brad Duggan, who in the first two games has a 57 point total.

Although the 78-70 win over the Santa Clara Broncos was a higher-than-usual score for the Gator type of basketball, fans can expect more of the same as the season progresses.

The reason is the new rule this year that states the clock must be stopped after each violation.

In past seasons the clock was stopped only for fouls or time outs.

"The statistics show that that this will add an average of two or three minutes to each game," Rundell stated.

The extra time could add an average of 10-13 points more per-team per-game.

Still a chance for male skiers

There are still a few openings for men on the Recreation Department sponsored Christmas ski trip.

The final payment date for the trip, for which the Recreation Department offers one unit of credit, is today.

The class will leave from the college Friday December 27, and return January 1.

Jack Beckner in gym show tomorrow

Jerry Wright, gymnastics coach here and director of the third annual Invitational Gymnastics Meet tomorrow night, was talking about injuries in his sport.

"Most injuries don't occur on the trampoline, although many people think they do," Wright said. "Potentially, it is the most dangerous event, but it's been so well supervised that few injuries occur in it.

"Most injuries occur on the horizontal bar. It's awfully easy to slip on that thing."

Jack Beckner, a three-time Olympic team member who is favored in the all-around competition, was injured recently, pulling several muscles when he slipped on a horizontal bar and landed on his head.

Jack is the old man of the show at 33, but Wright believes that isn't too old for gymnastics. "Boris Shakhlin of Russia, the Olympic Games all-around champ in 1960, was 38 then."

Besides Beckner, two other members from the U.S.'s seven-man Olympic team will compete in the 1 p.m. preliminaries and the 7:30 finals.

They are Armando Vega and Larry Banner.

The prices are 75 cents for students and $1.25 for the public for the men's gymnasium program.

is it me...or Jack Winter!

It's you, princess, when you have the Jack Winter look. But whoa... take a minute to learn about the subject of stretch. Because once you put yourself in Jack Winter stretch pants, you are going to get the eye test. Be darn sure you can pass. Questions. Should you wear stretch pants? What kind of figure does it take? Most all figures are flattered by stretch, whether angular, triangular, or a figure eight. Even if you have an hourglass figure where all the sand has sunk to the bottom, stretch pants can do quick subtracting. You won't need a grease job to slip in, but there's no sag, bag or bind either. Jack Winter cuts 'em just right...lean and ladylike...proportioned in your proper leg-length. So it's you and Jack Winter getting all those straight-on, slant-eyed, turn-about-face looks. You and Jack Winter causing that campus stir.
