SYMINGTON VIEWS ON

"U. S. HUMILIATION"

Attached herewith are the first three pages of The New York Times of Friday, May 27, giving the news story (starting on p. 1 and continued on p. 3) and the complete text (on p. 2) on the talk by Senator Symington in the Senate on the preceding afternoon.

In view of the international situation following the break-up of the Summit Conference, we believe you will find both the news story and the text of the talk of great interest.

For many years, Senator Symington has been the leader in the fight for a strong America -- with emphasis on the need for economic, technological, psychological, and spiritual, as well as physical strength. This is the great issue of 1960 and the decade ahead.

It is an issue on which no one speaks with more authority than does Senator Symington.
