

Dodd asks Senate for support

Public blasts draws confidence vote

SF State President Paul Dodd asked for and received from his Academic Senate yesterday their support in "cooperating fully with the Ad Hoc Consultative Committee."

Dodd, reading from a prepared statement, cited the composition of the committee as a "reservation" but "nevertheless, in the interest of utilizing the means most immediately available to resolve problems which deeply affect higher education within at least this portion of the California State Colleges," expressed his intent of cooperation.

This support request was followed by a resolution, submitted by Jordan Churchill, dean of the School of Humanities, Language, and Literature, asking for Senate support of Dodd "in the face of unfair public criticism."

John Carr, a state college Trustee, had written a letter to Governor Edmund G. Brown recently in which he charged Dodd with "gross insubordination" for support of SF State "revolutionaries."

In using the term "revolutionaries," Carr was referring to the signers of a petition requesting an investigation of the Trustees and Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke on charges of "centralized control" that would result in "irreparable harm" to the state colleges.

In addition to Carr's claims, a two-part series written by Ronald Moskowitz in the San Francisco Examiner directly implied that the "trouble" at this college began when Dodd became President in April, 1962.

Faculty members here have termed this claim as being "ridiculous."

Churchill's proposal received the unanimous approval of the Senate.

Following the vote of confidence in Dodd, a long debate ensued on a proposed statement to be sent to the ad hoc committee.

Submitted by the Senate Executive Committee, the statement re-affirms the Senate's dissatisfaction with "the pattern of operation" exercised by the Trustees and Dumke's staff in the following areas:

- Educational leadership.
- Centralized policies that might tend to destroy the identity and independence of individual colleges.
- Unilateral Trustee action without proper faculty and college consultation.
- Inability to obtain the type of financial support needed for the legitimate aspirations of SF State College.

The statement further supports the right of any group to petition the governor and also Eugene McAteer's (Dem-SF) recent statement that public education is the public's business and can appropriately be a matter of legislative inquiry.

A great deal of debate came on the section referring to the composition of the ad hoc committee and whether the Senate should urge the group's hearings be made open to the public.

On the composition question, the statement made reference to the "stacked" aspect of the committee. Six of the 10 members represent the direct interests of Dumke and the Trustees.

A motion by Stanley Anderson, associate professor of humanities, to strike this section from the statement was defeated.

After debate, the statement, in the committee hearing aspect, read:

- Committee meetings will be open to the public.
- Full opportunity will be provided for verbal testimony.
- There will be provisions for the transcribing and maintaining of a public record.
- There will be authority to request testimony from the members of the Chancellor's staff and other interested parties.

The statement, in its final form, was passed with only one dissenting vote.

In final action on the ad hoc committee question, the Senate passed a resolution setting up a 21-member group in order to develop the problems and supportive facts, but not possible solutions, to submit to the ad hoc group when it convenes in the near future.

UC prof protests university 'factory' plan for education

Discontent between the faculty and the state's educational hierarchy is compounding. Geoffrey Hazard, a UC law professor, announced Monday he was leaving the Berkeley staff because he "can't work in a factory" — sentiments similar to those recently expressed by Robert Smith as he handed in his resignation as SF State Dean of Education.

Smith complained of the State College Board of Trustees and Chancellor Glenn Dumke's "drive for centralized control over the individual colleges," in his open letter of resignation to President Paul Dodd.

Hazard, who leaves in June, after six years on the Berkeley faculty, to take a professorship at the University of Chicago, said:

"You can't work in a factory. I think the university can be straightened out, but not if they persist in this suicidal plan (the California Master Plan for Higher Education) to make everybody alike."

Hazard charged that UC was too big and diverse, lacking a clear purpose.

"We've taken on too great a responsibility for too many students," he said. "At the university, we're trying to do everything under the sun."

Hazard said that in some respects, SF State's programs, "especially English and creative arts, rival and even excel" UC's programs.

He sided with the SF State faculty in its dispute with the Trustees.

The statewide administration has a confused idea of what a state college should do, Hazard said.

SF State's faculty are "having their future hopes crushed by a lack of funds," Hazard said.

Election briefs

Members of the AS legislature, candidates for office, and the student body of SF State are invited to a press conference with Tom Ramsay, AS president.

The press conference will take place in the Gallery Lounge at 2:30 p.m. today.

A discussion for AS Presidential candidates will be presented tonight at 7 p.m. in the Merced Hall lounge.

Candidates for AS president will debate at noon today on the Speakers Platform, sponsored by the Forensics Union.

AS elections will be tonight, Thursday, and Friday, April 8-10. The polls will be open from 6:15 p.m. to 7:15 p.m. tonight and Thursday night for the convenience of the night students. The polls will be open Thursday and Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 4:15 p.m.

Tomorrow last day to register

SACRAMENTO (AP) Registered yet to vote in the June 2 primary?

You'd better look to it if you haven't. The deadline is tomorrow, April 9.

Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan today urged all eligible Californians to make certain that they'll be entitled to vote in the state and presidential primary.

"This is going to be a most important election year," he said.

"It's the duty of everyone to register and vote."

Swallows are back

Birds protest; picket pillar

What is so attractive about SF State's Bookstore that makes a swallow want to build his nest there—only the swallows know. And they're not talk-er chirping.

"I don't know why they don't just give up," said Charles Soto, assistant manager of the Bookstore.

Soto is referring to the numerous little black and white birds who are attempting a nest-in on the Bookstore's pillars—despite manful attempts to keep them off.

Approximately two months ago, wires were strung around the tops of the pillars.

"This stopped them for a little while," said Soto. "But for the last three weeks they have been at it again."

According to Soto, the swallows can no longer build nests there, because of the wires. And even though they have been stopped from packing mud at the top for nest-building, they still persist in darting about in the air, and sitting on the repulsive wires for a bird's eye view of SF State students.

Presently, Soto is at a loss for a solution.

"For both the welfare of the students, their bookstore, and the swallows," he said, "I hope this situation will soon be cleared up, and that the birds find another place which they can call home."

THE HOMEMAKERS — Swallows have returned to perch on the wires that were meant to discourage them from building nests on the posts of the Bookstore entrance. They appear to be surveying the area in search of building materials. (Gater photo)

Letters to the editor

The reasons why . . .

Editor:
The so-called "moderate" attitude of Paul K. Hartley and "14 other moderates" in the March 13th issue of the Gater clearly demonstrates the reasons why protests, demonstrations, shop-ins, and sit-ins are necessary to effect changes in our social order.

The type of moderate position advocated by Mr. Hartley has been predominant in this nation for about one hundred years without effecting any significant changes in the status of minority groups. Such a timid, half-hearted position actually aims at but one thing—the preservation of the status quo—and is a result of the I'm-for-civil-rights-but - would -you-want-your-sister-to - marry one attitude held by almost all those "moderates" of Mr. Hartley's stripe.

In order to maintain his wishy-washy position Mr. Hartley suggests that the minority seeks to rule the majority through intimidation, a preposterous suggestion derived from a view predominantly against Civil Rights. Furthermore, the suggestion is made that all protests and demonstrations have been unlawful, whereas, in fact, the majority of them have been within the framework of our laws, except in the south where the laws are changed daily to combat the Civil Rights movement.

The true moderate position in the Civil Rights movement is that taken by CORE, the NAACP, SNCC, and the recently formed Ad Hoc Committee (despite their minor differences), and not that of Mr. Hartley.

These organizations seek to obtain their ends — ends, I might add, upheld by the Constitution and the laws of the land—through peaceful negotiation and turn to demonstrations only when all other avenues are closed to them. Any violence or property damage resulting from these demonstrations is regrettable, but it is primarily a result of those opposed to the demonstrations and not the demonstrators themselves, whose battle-cry is "Non-violence."

If fewer people shared Mr. Hartley's views and more shared the views of those groups listed above, demonstrations would not be necessary at all.

Ugly American

Editor:

I want to congratulate you on your articles concerning student body government written by Jay Folberg. I am very alarmed at the turn that Associated Students has taken under the leadership of Tom Ramsay.

I, like many other students, supported Tom Ramsay in the last election and now, I find that I am greatly disillusioned by the roles played in Associated Students. I first became aware of the type of leadership we have when the ISA crisis occurred. I was actively participating in International Students and had worked very hard on International Week. I was astonished when I heard that Helen Marte was to be fired, and went right to Mr. Ramsay to find out for what specific reasons he had asked for Miss Marte's resignation. He told me that he didn't want to reveal them because it would bring unnecessary sorrow to Miss Marte.

When Mr. Ramsay appeared before the International Students themselves, he refused to discuss the issue. A great clamor arose among the students who had worked so hard for ISA. With the exception of a few, all the members of ISA wanted to retain Miss Marte. Naji Naim, a student from Lebanon, walked out in disgust. If one looks at the membership of ISA today, it is all too painfully apparent that last year's members have pretty well left the program.

I would ask all of you as students and as Americans how you feel about this management of your student government. Not only has this action harmed ISA, but we will never know what effect it has had upon the foreign students returning to their respective countries.

Is this the way a Democracy works? Is the leader an absolute monarch unable to be reached by any appeal or reason? As an American who has traveled abroad and seen certain Americans disgrace us in other countries, I am incensed and ashamed of this incident occurring in our own country.

You've all read "The Ugly American." Perhaps I can offer a sequel entitled "The Ugly American at Home."

New president for CSCLA; Johnson named

California State College at Los Angeles (formerly LA State College) will inaugurate Dr. Franklin A. Johnson, 42, as the fourth president of the college on May 15, it was announced by Dr. Glenn S. Dumke, Chancellor of the State Colleges.

Dr. Johnson, an authority in the field of government, was appointed to his present post by the Trustees of the State Colleges in July 1963. He was formerly president of Jacksonville University, Jacksonville, Fla.

Nothing new in Cal, Regent FM dispute

There are no new developments in the University of California regent's refusal to let the Berkeley campus FM radio station expand its broadcasts to off campus residents. The refusal was made on grounds that the station's editorial policy might embarrass the university.

No new developments are expected until the next meeting. later this month.

Regents chairman, Edward Carter, said, "How would you like to have the same types running the station that are running the student newspaper."

The Daily Californian is the student newspaper which has an editorial policy supporting liberal causes.

"I don't think it would be very wise to turn this over to immature kids," Carter said.

President Clark Kerr took the side of the students seeking to extend the broadcasts.

"I defend this request very strongly," Kerr said. "The students who are interested in the FM station are engineering types—the types who like to turn dials — not the Daily Cal types."

Follow the Easy Instructions

Is it necessary to know the mysterious workings of the Mind of God in order to enjoy His richest blessings? Definitely not! One does not need to know the complex workings of the human body in order to enjoy perfect health. And how simple is the human body compared to the marvels and splendor of God's Kingdom!

It is popular today to build electronic kits. No training and special skills are needed. A man can know nothing about electronics or circuit theory and yet can assemble a fine hi-fi set or electric organ by carefully following the simple step by step instructions. When the last step is complete, the kit-man himself may be the most amazed of all at what has been accomplished.

The Bible is a book of instructions which, if followed, leads to a finished product—a person transformed eventually into the image of Christ. Faith is acting upon the instructions which God has given us and which God guarantees will work. Must we understand each step? No, we are to apply and put into action on faith what God has declared. To merely talk about the instruction book or discuss its relevance will hardly get the hi-fi built.

The man who follows the directions left by Jesus Christ will reap rewards far beyond his greatest expectations. All that is really necessary is to place oneself under the Master's guidance, humbly and willingly.

"I am the way, the truth and the life; no man cometh unto the Father but by me." John 14:6.

"I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness." John 12:46.

If you are not familiar with the Instruction Book of Life, we would be glad to introduce you to it. Our free Bible course in Romans is a wonderful place to begin.

Pine tree sought as beautifier

The Department of Building and Grounds has been flooded with calls from people who want the remains of the pine tree that toppled over on campus last week.

One of the more positive requests has been for three or four sections of the trunk to be permanently placed in nearby areas for—what a concerned student calls—three beneficial reasons: as a functional tool for students to sit on instead of reclining on the grass; as a scene of interest for artistic and scientific reasons; and as an addition to the natural beautification of the campus.

Other people would like to have the trunk sections for firewood.

According to the DBG no official decision has been reached on what to do with the trunk sections which are "somewhere on campus drying out."

Nazi Rockwell, Rafferty set campus talks

Max Rafferty, Superintendent of Public Schools in California, and Norman Lincoln Rockwell, leader of the American Nazi Party, have accepted invitations from the Forensics Union to appear on campus later this semester.

Although the dates and times for the two speakers has not been set, they are tentatively scheduled to speak in early May.

Psych prof Al Scodel dead at 44

Alvin Scodel, professor of psychology at SF State, died at Kaiser Hospital Sunday from a heart attack. He was 44.

Scodel had been a faculty member at SF State for less than a year and was formerly of Massachusetts.

In 1944, as a flight officer and navigator for the Air Force, Scodel was awarded the Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal for courage during combat missions over enemy Europe.

He is survived by his wife, Barbara, and four children.

NO!

DON'T BOTHER TO CARRY AN EXTRA SUPPLY.

New Carefree® tampons promise so much more protection—you can leave the extras at home!

The principle of this superior protection is simple, natural. Most old-style tampons flatten, thin out, elongate when moisture strikes. This shape simply cannot cover the area of flow properly. Thus embarrassing accidents occur.

But a Carefree tampon (firmly compressed so it needs no rigid applicator) expands into a natural, round shape that conforms to your own body's structure, responds to your own body's needs. It gives you more comfort than any tampon or napkin ever developed.

Actual use tests proved that the new Carefree tampon absorbs, without leakage, 73% more than the leading tampon—starts to absorb more quickly than any other.

Better protection—longer protection. That's why you can leave that extra supply at home.

*Trademark

†Because Carefree is far more absorbent, there is no need for a Carefree super size. If you are using tampons for the first time, you may wish to try Carefree Slim (the smaller size).

Gator jayvee nine splits; travel to Oceana today

By JOHN ARBERRY

The SF State junior varsity baseball team lost to the powerful Santa Rosa Bearcubs, 8-2, Friday but then fell back into their class to trip the El Camino High School Colts, 4-0, Monday.

Against the Bearcubs the Gators played their best game of the season but also met the best team they have played. The Gators were unable to cage the depth laden Bearcubs.

SF State took the lead in the second inning. Bud Bresnahan reached first on an error and then Bob Brandi walked. Dan Wilson then whacked a single to score Bresnahan and give the Gators an early 1-0 lead.

In the third inning the Bearcubs tied the score and then passed the Gators with a three-run spurge in the fifth.

The Gators hit the scoreboard again in the ninth inning as consecutive singles by Dick Schultz and John Devos were followed by Bresnahan's sacrifice fly to drive Schultz across the plate.

A major thorn in the Gators' side was the Bearcub pitching which set 10 Gators down via the strike-out route. Gator pitcher Jim Zentner registered seven strike-outs.

Offensively, coach Bob Mansfield's young fledglings got seven hits while the Bearcubs went for 11. Dan Wilson was the Gators' leading hitter, going three for four.

In the El Camino game Ron Fell gave a sparkling pitching performance, limiting the Colts to only two hits in nine innings' work. Fell had a no-hitter for six and two-thirds innings to pace the Gators' win.

Hiroshi Sakamoto opened the first inning with a single, Dick Schultz then blasted a double to drive Sakamoto across the plate. Schultz went to third on an error by the catcher and then scored on Bud Bresnahan's ground ball.

GATOR SPORTS
Jerry Littrell—Editor

This gave the Gators a quick 2-0 lead and behind Fell's pitching, all the runs they needed. In the third inning the Gators added three more tallies. After Sakamoto had walked, Schultz blasted a triple, sending Sakamoto home with the Gators' third run.

Schultz eventually scored on a ground ball by Ignoffo. Offensively, the Gators got six hits while Ron Fell registered seven strike-outs and walked only two men in nine innings of hurling.

Leading the individual hitters were Schultz and Sakamoto, each going two for three. The Gators travel to Oceana High School today with game time at 3:15 p.m.

Netters uphold weekend record--lose to Chico

Undefeated Chico State downed the SF State tennis squad, 6-1, last Saturday on Chico courts.

The Gator netmen now have a 1-2 record in FWC competition.

Gator Mike Schneider won, defeating Chico netman Don Ronald in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3. This makes the eighth victory for fifth-seeded Schneider out of nine matches played.

For the April 10th match against San Jose State, coach Dan Farmer plans to put Schneider into the fourth man slot. Farmer hopes Schneider will keep winning against stiffer competition.

In the two doubles matches, Guzman-Hager (C) def. White-Gordon (SF), 6-3, 1-6, 6-4; and Oldemeyer-Hinman (C) def. Kim-Schneider (SF), 6-3, 6-2.

In singles competition, John Oldemeyer (C) def. Fred White (SF) 6-0, 6-2; Marcy Guzman (C) def. Roger Kim (SF) 2-6, 8-6, 6-3; Paul Hager (C) def. Jim Gordon (SF), 6-4, 6-4; R. C. Hinman (C) def. Dick Moses (SF), 6-0, 6-0, and Mike Schneider (SF) def. Don Ronald (C), 6-3, 6-3.
