

Midnight 2/10/68

A wonderful event:
Patti graduated 1/26 - S.S.S.

The multiple feeling one still mulling about within the mind-body; one thing has been realized: one can - & not be held back by fear, one can - he is neither superior or lesser - one can - if he expresses his inner feelings openly.
Acceptance of one's self & barriers seem to never have been...

Moments intensified - of sense & insane instance;
Culmination of involvements & experiments;
silent things opening - & like the strength of a web spider's web the threads of many movements & of many moments & of many to the Korymb.

to passing winds
but in its side...
- it is : ... the actual action of coming to conclusions through essay, discussion, & debate can best be exemplified by Nietzsche's probing :
the seeking of principles & opinions are not these things that form one's character - but the very nature of one's thinking causes one's judging - the seeking of principles - I kind it to be a bit of both : instinctive nature the actual seeking of concluding that pro available to the situation at hand & in my opening to all inter-action of all my force is ripe
to come together with the force of my counterpart since without which no

there would be confidence -
but incomplete, leading to half-hearted confidence.

... And, as it is - a silent grand feeling throughout... this has concluded my notice of 1855.

I will now do best I could to do the same, name evidences - the same attempt to see my way out the world's will - those things that show the spirit of man - if it be a mere, mind strong - stupid of nature & length, of strength for love & peace.

And from this compare of many objects, the place where we look on as equally good & of things, I shall now try. I'll have it made to be in reference, to point up the little more of it. And: a new form, a kind, a share, point & like.
