Student Housing Survey

Student Affairs will be issuing a survey next week to currently enrolled CSUCI students to gain insight into various aspects of student housing. The survey will help to inform campus staff and consultants who are planning the future phases of student housing on the campus. The online survey will be posted on the University Web site and all surveys are to be completed by the February 10 deadline. A drawing will be held for all students who complete the survey and prizes will be awarded.

For more information, contact Ed Lebioda, assistant vice president for Student Affairs, at ext. 8547.

Deadline for Spring 2005 IRA Funding Is February 28

The deadline for receiving applications for spring 2005 project proposals to be funded by the Instructionally Related Activities (IRA) Fund is February 28. The deadline for applications for the fall 2005 and spring 2006 academic year is March 31. The IRA Fund Committee approves funding for projects that are integrally related to the formal instructional offerings of the University that are associated with scheduled credit courses. Last fall, more than $128,000 was used to fund projects such as the Campus Reading Celebration, the Fall Festival of Short Plays, the Museum of Tolerance Field Trip, Student Research Presentations, and many other lectures and speakers.

Library Announces Academic Annual Reviews for Students, Faculty

The library has recently purchased the entire electronic versions of annual reviews that highlight the best published articles for all science and social science fields. The valuable collection represents an intelligent synthesis of scientific literature that is useful for both faculty and students. Each publication includes all volumes. To find the annual reviews, go to the library's homepage and roll over to "Articles & Databases" and click on "Databases A-Z." A link has also been created for annual reviews in each appropriate academic major or program listed under "Resources by Subjects and Majors." In addition, instructors may post articles for students by using the external links section of Blackboard, or the library's Electronic Coursepack Program.

CSUCI Rotaract Club Seeks Support for Charity Marathon Event

Members of the CSUCI Rotaract Club are asking the University community for its support of the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society's Team in Training for the Rock 'n' Roll Marathon in San Diego in June of this year. Individuals may join the CSUCI Team in Training, which will run together every Saturday in Thousand Oaks, Ventura, and other areas until the June event. Trainers are available to help with proper gear, nutrition, hydration, and other issues. A nine-year-old honorary teammate who has leukemia will be present at a kickoff dinner to be held Saturday, January 29, in Carpinteria. Participants do not have to be members of the CSUCI Rotaract Club.

For more information, contact Christine Popok, lecturer in English and Business and Economics, at ext. 8978.

Construction Report

Bids for the construction of the Broome Library were received on January 11. The apparent winning proponent is the design/building team of PCL Construction/Gruen Associates. PCL is a construction industry leader established in 1906. The PCL family of companies is the largest general contracting organization in Canada and among the largest in the United States. Gruen Associates, established in 1946, provides architectural, interior design, planning, urban design, environmental assessment, landscape architecture, community participation, and transportation services worldwide.

For more information, contact Juan Beltranena, director of Facilities, OPC, ext. 8496.

Around Campus

On Monday, January 24, the campus community and others celebrated the first day of the spring semester and the dedication of “Aspirations,” the new fountain located on the Science Plaza. The fountain was a gift to the University from the John Spoor Broome family.
