CALIFORNIA STATE COLLEGE, HAYWARD

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

On behalf of the College I should like to welcome you to the 1970 Cal State football season and a new academic year. The season promises exciting gridiron competition as the Pioneers defend their Far Western Conference championship under the leadership of Coach Les Davis and his staff. A highlight of this year's schedule will be the exhibition game with Southern University of Baton Rouge, La., to be played in the Oakland Coliseum on Saturday, November 28 at 1:30 p.m. Cal State's share of the proceeds will benefit the College's minority education program.

The continuing growth of Cal State is evidenced not only in its new buildings and progressive academic programs but by its expanded academic team of more than 1,300 faculty and staff, and nearly 12,000 students. The College has been especially successful in attracting outstanding scholar-athletes to its sports rosters. My appreciation is extended to those members of the community who have supported the College in both its academic and sports endeavors.

This year will be a year of growth into the community and one of increasing exchange and liaison with the geographical area the College serves. We hope you will take advantage of the many opportunities to visit our campus for the numerous sports events, plays, concerts and other cultural and educational performances and activities which Cal State is eager to share with you this year.

Sincerely,

The handwritten signature of Ellis E. McCune, which appears to read "Ellis E. McCune".
Ellis E. McCune
President

Southern University vs. Cal State College, Hayward

Cal State, Hayward will play its first intersectional game against one of the top collegiate teams in the nation, Southern University of Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Southern University, a member of the all black Southwestern Athletic Conference placed second to Alcorn A & M last year with a record 6-2-1. A name which is synonymous with producing professional football players is powerful Grambling College. Last year, the Jaguars of Southern knocked off Grambling by a score of 21-17.

Last year, the 1969 Southern squad had five of its team members selected in the pro-football draft, an honor which is indicative of the calibre of players at Southern. In the last few years, Southern has produced fifteen players who are currently playing in the pro ranks.

The game between Cal State, Hayward and Southern University marks the fifth time in American history that an all black school has played an integrated college in football. The first game also occurred with a Far Western Conference School in 1948 when San Francisco State played Grambling College.

The Pioneers and the Jaguars will play this historical game on November 28th in the Oakland Coliseum. This game will be the first collegiate game ever played on the Raider field, and a crowd of over 40,000 is expected to attend.

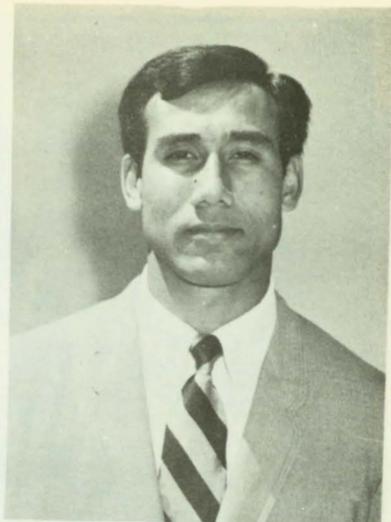

Southern plays its 1970 football schedule in some of the most prestigious stadiums in the nation. Opening their season, the Jags play North Carolina A & T in Yankee Stadium, New York, with other contests in St. Louis, the Houston Astrodome, and Tulane Stadium in New Orleans.

During the 1969 season, the Jaguars were second in the national rankings of all black colleges, behind the national champions Alcorn A & M. Florida A & M, another perennial power, is on the Southern schedule, and should prove to be a solid test in the Jaguars bid for a national championship among the black colleges of the United States.

Making their first West Coast appearance will be Southern's Super Bowl Marching Band. The band, numbering 150 members, is one of the most colorful college marching bands in the United States. Having been selected to play in the famous Super Bowl, the Marching Jaguars were seen by millions on nationwide television, and were rated an instant hit with their routines and precision marching drills.
