

CALIFORNIA POLYTECHNIC STATE UNIVERSITY

Fall CONFERENCE

September 12-19

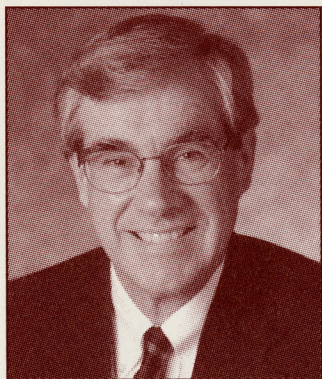

2003

MESSAGE

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Welcome!

I am pleased to welcome each of you to Cal Poly's annual Fall Conference. This year, we have invited Senator Bruce McPherson, a distinguished Cal Poly alumnus and staunch advocate for education, to be the keynote speaker at our General Session.

His Senate responsibilities in Sacramento permitting, Senator McPherson will address the critical role of education, K-University, in securing California's future, but with special attention to the role of higher education in general (and Cal Poly in particular). Today, with a large and diverse new generation of college-age young people, we know public higher education is more important than ever. We also know the state is faced with significant structural budget problems. Senator McPherson will comment on options for ensuring long-term funding of public higher education in this troubled budgetary environment. He will also consider the long-term role of public higher education, and Cal Poly in particular, in developing an educated citizenry, securing the state's economic well being and sustaining its quality of life. And he will discuss higher education's role in helping to provide students with a seamless educational experience, as part of a broader K-University system.

We also look forward to recognizing Cal Poly's distinguished teachers, outstanding faculty advisor and outstanding staff members, a moment each year that permits us to reflect upon the critical roles that our dedicated faculty and staff play in making Cal Poly a great university.

Finally, I will share a few thoughts about key priorities for the academic year, including implementation of the campus master plan and conclusion of our Centennial Campaign. We will also consider progress on three key themes identified last year, student success, diversity and university citizenship, and the need for continued attention to these important issues.

Again, welcome to Fall Conference and to another year full of important challenges and opportunities.
