

Convocation postponed again

By CLEM GLYNN

"Should SF State take and implement a position on the war in Vietnam?"—that is the question.

But last Monday, the War Crisis Convocation—which will try, through a series of discussions and debates, to define the wartime role of this college—was again postponed.

It is now scheduled to take place during the week of Nov. 13-17.

The newest question is where the Convocation will be held. Originally the Gym was selected as the site where students and faculty could best thrash out the proper conduct of this college in a time of "moral crisis."

Since then, however, Physical Education Department Chairman Richard Westkaemper has voiced strong disapproval about being "told" PE territory was to be used.

At present, plans call for use of the Auditorium along with closed circuit TV screens throughout the campus. It is hoped that the Gym can be used for the first day of debates.

Wherever the Convocation takes place, it will have to grapple with some increasingly delicate issues involving the college and the military-industrial complex.

The most immediate issue is what to do about military and "war industry" recruiting on campus during the month.

The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) have promised to picket war recruiters no matter what decisions are reached by the Convocation. Yesterday they surrounded and chanted against Coast Guard recruiters near the Commons.

Chairman of the Convocation planning committee Marshall Windmiller, whose remarks two weeks ago at an Academic Senate meeting said free public higher education is in serious danger.

"The college is under extraordinary pressure from three sources: student militancy about the war and civil rights, fiscal conservatism in Sacramento, and an increasingly hostile public opinion which blames the colleges for much of the unrest among young people," Windmiller said.

Windmiller said the Convocation is not intended to detract from the authority of the administrator or faculty, but could provide a "measurement of campus sentiment" on the issues.

He said that if the voting on convocation resolutions is heavy and represents a consensus "it may be used by the faculty and administration as guidelines for new policies."

Last year, the SDS succeeded in noisily ejecting Dow Chemical recruiter from campus. Dow is scheduled to return Nov. 30, but meanwhile the Marines, CIA and other war affiliated industries are scheduled to recruit here.

When the Convocation begins, students, faculty and staff will have an opportunity to hear opposing sides of the issues as they debate various ideological positions.

Those who wish to reply to the formal debates will be able to do so. Finally, resolutions on what should be done can be submitted to the resolutions committee by anyone who obtains 50 signatures per proposal.

If approved by the resolutions committee—a group composed of faculty, students, staff and administration—resolutions will be voted on by the entire faculty two weeks later.

It is this final say so by the faculty that has irked the SDS, which opposes the Convocation partly because it is "elitist."

The SDS says a series of resolutions would be pointless if they were vetoed by the State College Chancellor's office. Last year the Academic Senate voted to abolish class rankings, but Chancellor Glenn Dumke overruled the motion.

The matter was removed from the firing line when selective service laws changed and no longer called for computation of class standings.

President John Summerskill has urged full cooperation with the Convocation including dismissal of classes during the times set aside for the series. But the decision to participate, said Summerskill, must remain an individual one.

The Convocation will also examine the ROTC on campus, and the issue of free speech and advocacy raised during the anti-war protests in Oakland two weeks ago.

At the start of the protests, the Alameda Board of Supervisors passed a temporary restraining order forbidding use of college campuses to advocate illegal acts.

The question remains whether the ROTC is more educational than on campus anti-war activity—or whether either group belongs on campus in the first place. Hopefully the Convocation will supply some answers.

Hazardous duty for Coast Guard

By JEFF PHILLIPS

Coast Guard Ensign Alvin Ray narrowly escaped injury and death yesterday while manning his lonely post at a recruiting table in the Commons.

The peace was suddenly shattered when a band of guerrillas in red pajamas and masks overran the table, pelled Ensign Ray with confetti, and stole his pictures and leaflets.

Yelling and screaming in their native gibberish, they disappeared into a VW bus which carried them back into the jungles of San Francisco.

Ensign Ray totalling his losses, said that the marauders made off with "two boards with pictures, and the rest of my literature."

No one seemed to know who the guerrillas were, although speculation ran from a possible Red Guard invasion to trick-or-treaters jumping the gun on Halloween Eve.

The unscheduled raid helped draw attention to a picket line the SDS had set up advocating the removal of war industries from the campus.

Bob Broadhead, SDS, said that the SDS was picketing the Coast Guard because it is part of the war industries which have no right to be on campus.

"The war is a crime against humanity, and the perpetrators of the war, Dow Chemicals, Boeing Aircraft, and the Coast Guard, should not be allowed here."

According to Ensign Ray, the Coast Guard has committed "approximately three percent of its troops, and 26 82-foot patrol boats in Vietnam."

ENSIGN ALVIN RAY

Asked what he thought about the war, and anti-war demonstrators, Ray answered, "No comment."

As the ranks of the pickets grew to over 200, several students grabbed a megaphone and began leading the group in chanting, "US get out," and "Hell no, nobody goes."

A spectator answered from the crowd, "Anybody goes who wants to go."

Ray said the demonstrators, "don't bother me. In fact, it probably increased the turnout of interested students I talked to today."

Ensign Ray claims that today's turnout was the largest he had ever seen at SF State.

Ray said that he had given out most of his leaflets before the demonstration started.

Doda comes home

By BRIAN MCKINNEY

A new cheer may be heard during SF State's Homecoming this weekend.

"Rah, rah, sis boom bah!" is expected to lose out to "Take it off!"

Guest of honor at the Humboldt State rally this Friday will be Carol ("Just a silly silicone longer") Doda, 42-24-36.

Until the arrival of North Beach's favorite mammal, excitement about the hotly-disputed contest for Homecoming Queen will probably remain at its present level.

Five Running

At last count there were five candidates—two seniors, two juniors and one sophomore. Although both seniors are nursing majors, only one of the juniors is a psychology major. The other junior is a drama major. The sophomore is a psychology major.

Showing incredible variety for such a small field, the candidates' hair is currently blonde, brown, black, red and frosted.

Six of their eyes are either hazel, green or blue. Four are brown.

Peggy Hansen, head song girl and the candidate of Kappa Phi Delta Fraternity, says, matter-of-factly, "I'm a die-hard who'd like to see this one tradition upheld."

Shelly Estrin (from the Residence Halls Association) says, in what may be the understatement of the semester, "After attending a small, private college dedicated to Christian education, I can fully appreciate the liberal atmosphere, both social and academic, here at SF State."

Spirit and Joy

Kathy Bertalani (Delta Sigma Pi) says Homecoming is "the spirit and joy of the college as a unit as they enter the school year bright with the excitement of studies, activities and friends."

Cathy Wolveck, the Sweetheart of Sigma Chi Delta, says she would, if selected, "represent the many facets of our diverse student body."

Judy Wier, Sigma Pi, has attended every football game this semester and "can't think of a better way to spend a Saturday."

Three Parts

This year's Homecoming, like Gaul, is divided into three parts, and, if the poster distributed by the Activities Office is to be believed, into 14 exclamation marks.

The activities begin with a pep rally (seven exclamation marks) in Cox Stadium at noon this Friday. Entertainment by Miss Doda and George and Teddy is guaranteed in addition to appearances by the queen contestants, cheerleaders, song girls, and pep band.

The second event will be the Humboldt State game (three exclamation marks), also in Cox Stadium, at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. Halftime entertainment will include the announcement of the finalists in the Homecoming Queen competition.

Dance

The semi-formal Homecoming Dance (two exclamation marks), the final act in this year's Homecoming drama, will be held in the California and Musical rooms of the St. Francis Hotel from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday night.

Entertainment will be provided by the Steve Miller Blues Band and The Flower. Four dollar bids for the dance are available at Hut T-1. Miss Doda is expected to be occupied elsewhere.

Overseas study program

Students interested in studying abroad may apply for study under an official overseas program conducted by the California State College System.

Countries participating in the program include France, Germany, Spain, Sweden, Taiwan and Japan.

To qualify, a student needs 30 semester units of 3.0 work and upper division or graduate standing next fall, according to Larry Kelley of the Office of International Programs.

Information and applications for the program are available in BSS 219. The deadline for fall applicants is Jan. 15. Successful applicants will be notified by Feb. 1.

Booters win, Broncos next

SF State's varsity soccer team, which meets Santa Clara Nov. 8 on the Broncos' field at 2 p.m., has found the knack.

Last Saturday at UOP, the soccer squad kicked its way to a second straight victory by winning 1-0 in the second period of overtime.

After having lost a scoring opportunity in the fourth period, the Gator booters bounced back on the power of Chris Loullis' toe, as he kicked the winning goal on a penalty play. Loullis leads the squad with six goals for the season.

Soccer coach Art Bridgman described the close contest as a "tight ball game."

He cited the entire team for "outstanding performances," with particular praise for Loullis and George Pieslack.

"The game got very exciting from the standpoint of tempers," said Bridgman, "but everybody maintained pretty well."

In a clash with CS Hayward last Wednesday, tempers flared along with minor scuffiles when a Gator accidentally kicked a Pioneer player in the shins.

The soccermen are now 3-3-1 in overall action, and are tied with UCD for fourth place in conference competition.

San Jose and UCB are currently tied for first.

Bridgman said that he has been "experimenting with players in different positions" with noticeable success.

"Some of these youngsters need experience," Bridgman said, "but we've got some young blood that's blossoming."

Two SF State students may be deported to Iran

Two of SF State's Iranian students face deportation charges stemming from U.S. immigration law violations.

Khosro Kalantari, 25, and Hamid Kowsari, 24, are scheduled to go before the deportation committees this week.

Kowsari, a graduate student, will have a hearing on Friday. According to Ernest McFadden, Deputy District Director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, Kowsari has been employed without proper authority.

As a result of last Thursday's demonstration in front of the Iranian Consulate in San Francisco protesting the coronation of the Shah, Kowsari was booked for inciting to riot, resisting arrest and suspicion of assault on a police officer.

McFadden said that Kowsari has "lots of remedies" open to him but would be deported to Iran if all appeals fail.

Kalantari, also a graduate student, faces his second deportation hearing and is currently free on a $1000 immigration bond.

Kalantari was arrested in the demonstration and is currently free on $100 bail.

Kalantari's original immigration violation stemmed from charges of over staying his visa. Kalantari said he would be in danger if forced to return to Iran.

If the immigration board does not re-open his case he is subject to immediate deportation to Iran.

All Saints Day folk Masses

The SF State Newman Club will hold two folk masses in celebration of All Saints Day, today.

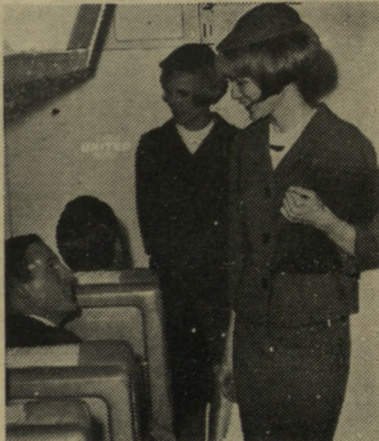

The two Masses at 11:15 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. will take place at the Newman Center, 50 Banbury Way.

As a college girl, you'll learn psychology, sociology, philosophy, economics and more.

As a United Stewardess, you'll put them all to use.

(And fly to the places you've read about.)

Learning "by the book" is the first step. Learning by doing is the next. As a United Air Lines stewardess, you'll meet people from all walks of life. You'll become a master of tact and diplomacy. It's the kind of experience that will be useful to you the rest of your life.

After a 5½-week course at our Stewardess Training Center in Chicago, you'll be assigned to one of 10 United stewardess domiciles—Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Denver, Chicago, Detroit, New York, Newark, Washington, D.C., or Miami.

During your first year, you'll earn as much as $451 a month. And you'll be given a generous travel allowance. Other benefits include a two-week paid vacation and four free trip passes after one year. As a United stewardess, you'll be eligible for reduced fares—up to 75%—on international airlines.

If you're single, between 20 and 26, between 5'2" and 5'9", weight 140 pounds or less (in proportion to height), and your vision is correctible to 20/30 in each eye, you may qualify.
