

Discount meal tickets offered

A breakthrough has occurred in food prices at the Commons this fall with the advent of a special discount meal ticket.

The discount tickets can be purchased at the business office on the north side of the Commons which will allow customers to buy $10.00 worth of food for $9.00.

The new system was conceived by the SF State Foundation as a result of student protests against high prices in the Commons last spring.

"The discount card system offers the student a discount and also protects him against loss," said Foundation Director Fred Avilez. "Each ticket has the student's name on it, preventing use by other persons if lost," he said. "Also the tickets, as opposed to a coupon system, allow only that student to use the ticket." A coupon system was proposed last spring, allowing the user to tear off the number of coupons for the amount of food to be purchased.

The tickets are good for the entire school year, including summer sessions, and may be used at any hour in any section of the Commons except the faculty room.

Bill McClintock, Foundation Assistant, commented that the tickets will also make more ready cash available, allowing for special food purchases, giving the student population special prices on some items.

There are some drawbacks to the new system however: The tickets will take longer to process in the food line because they must be marked up on a special ledger by each cashier. "All students using the tickets should notify the cashier that they have them," said McClintock.

Several of the cashiers on duty in the Commons noted that each meal ticket purchase must be noted as a separate transaction. "The tickets are going to take more time until we are used to them," said one busy cashier. "It would be a great help if the students would tell us before we ring up the sale that they have a ticket. Otherwise, protests against high prices in it will be a terrific snarl."

Also, penny sales must be paid by the student. For example, if a 63 cent purchase is made, 60 cents will be punched on the card and the student pays the three cents. "We just didn't have room on the card to include penny purchases," said McClintock. "We feel with the discount the student receives he will be willing to pay the additional pennies."

First campus Activities Fair tomorrow

An Activities Fair, the first for SF State, will occupy the area between the Huts and the new coffee shop tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Tables representing many of the campus organizations will bear literature, hand-outs and scrapbooks for observation. Qualified organization members will be on hand to inform interested parties of their goals and functions.

Director of Organizational Affairs, Dennis Sawyer, is expecting a turnout from all fraternities and sororities as well as all political and religious groups.

"We hope," Sawyer said, "every organization can get new members, that relatively new organizations can make themselves known on campus, and that freshmen can get acquainted with the various groups."

Organizations wishing to participate in the Fair must make a $2.00 deposit in Hut T-1 by noon today. No loud-speaker equipment will be allowed at any table.

Further details will be supplied by Florence Schwartz in the Activities Office.

Students for Brown start campaigning

An intense campaign will be waged on campus to put Governor Brown back in office. These were the words of the "Students for Brown" committee head Larry Mowinckel as he outlined a three-phase campaign designed to get Brown and other Democratic candidates in office this fall.

"The student vote in the state colleges may be the deciding factor in electing the next governor," he said. "Nixon took California by 30,000 votes in 1960 . . . the state colleges combined have more than this number and could be decisive in the election."

The first phase will start Saturday when a "Dollars for Democrats" fund raising campaign will be carried out in the Parkside district. The project is expected to take about half a day. Interested persons may contact Mowinckel at OV 1-0190 or Vern Spaulding at LO 6-3029 for information.

A "political education" program will begin next week on campus as the second phase. State candidates will discuss various aspects of the Democratic party and its workings in California. Among the speakers will be San Francisco County Supervisor Roger Boas, State Senator Eugene McAteer, and Attorney General Stanley Mosk. Negotiations are in progress for Governor Brown to be on campus, Mowinckel said.

The third phase of the committee's campaign will be to get a 100 per cent voter turnout on election day. Several students on the committee maintained a voter registration stand in front of the Commons last week, canvassing a total of 488 voters.

Sabin type III the greater risk for US adults -- PHS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—What are the risks in taking Sabin oral polio vaccine and are they worth taking? The Public Health Service gives these answers to questions about the vaccine:

Q. Is Sabin live polio vaccine safe or should the American public rely on Salk dead polio vaccine for protection against the disease?

Seventy volunteers are "desperately" needed to help with the KO Polio drive on campus Sunday. The plea was made by Dr. Eugene Bossi, director of the Student Health Service, and Dr. Edmond Hallberg, assistant dean of student activities, for students to work from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. or from 3 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Those interested should sign up in the Activities Office, AD 166.

A. Salk vaccine is safe for persons of all age groups. All three types of Sabin vaccine are safe for children and both types I and II are safe for adults.

Q. Does that mean adults should not take Sabin Type III?

A. Surgeon General Luther L. Terry recommends that adults refrain from taking doses of Sabin Type III, unless they are in an epidemic area or plan to be tourists in a high risk area.

Q. Why is Type III restricted for adults and not for children?

A. The Special Advisory Committee on Poliomyelitis Control reviewed 16 polio cases that followed administration of oral vaccine doses and determined that 11 — involving persons aged 16 to 52 — had "possible association" to use of Type III Sabin vaccine.

Q. The PHS recommends that children continue taking Sabin oral doses, even Type III, so does this mean there is no risk for children?

A. The risk to children is exceedingly slight or nonexistent.

Q. What is the risk for adults taking Type III Sabin vaccine?

A. The risk is slightly less than one in a million for all persons but "higher" for adults. But the risk of an adult getting polio without taking Sabin vaccine is less than one in a million — and less than one in two million for persons over age 40.

Q. In other words, adults are safer not taking Sabin Type III than taking it?

A. Yes, unless they are in a high risk area, such as an epidemic area or visiting in a country where there are more polio cases than in the United States.

Social science major plans anti-discrimination commission

By FRED FAJARDO

Next week SF State will get an arm with which to correct acts of discrimination against its students and staff.

The arm will be a part of the student government and be called the Human Relations Commission. Its chief proponents are Jay Folberg, president of the AS who will appoint the Commission, and Tom Rose, a senior and social science major who has devoted much of his time in the past to the study of discrimination against minority groups.

"The main purpose of the commission," said Rose, the originator of the idea, "is four-fold:

First of all it will focus on uncovering problems which SF State students face in human relations, specifically in the area of civil rights and in problems that deal with discrimination in housing and employment." To illustrate his point Rose told of a recent experience he had when he tried to help a young African couple find an apartment. Together they checked out 60 newspaper listings and could not find even one apartment that the Africans could rent.

"Sometimes I called," said Rose, "and told the advertiser that I had a young, mature, African couple who were interested in their apartment; the answer was always pretty much like this: 'we have nothing personally against Africans or Negroes but if we let you in our tenants would move out.'"

"After a month of looking," said Rose, "the couple finally found a place which they rented from a Negro landlord. This is a typical case, especially with foreign students. In employment the story is the same as was testified by an article which ran in the San Francisco Examiner this summer. The article used the specific case of a SF State Negro student as one of its examples.

"Secondly, after uncovering problems such as these, the commission would investigate them thoroughly and then determine the proper remedy.

"Thirdly the commission would instigate programs that would seek to make students and staff members acutely aware of the many grave human relations problems that exist in the city and nation. One possible program we would like to present is a movie called the "Birmingham Story" which is a CBS documentary that focuses on discrimination in the South.

"Finally, complaint boxes would be placed around the campus to give all students a chance to make their civil rights grievances known to the commission."

Any students who think they would be interested in sitting on the commission should contact either Tom Rose (JU 6-6957), or Jay Folberg (Ext. 251).

Used books profit students, Bookstore

WE HAVE WATCHED with interest the waves of students flooding in and out of the Bookstore. Upon entering the store ourselves, we noted stacks and stacks of books; books for every course given on this campus. Almost all of them are brand new.

Now most new books are marked up 25 per cent; in other words, one-fifth of the price a student pays for a new book is the store's margin. From this must be deducted all the operating costs, before the profit is determined.

HOWEVER, USED BOOKS are marked up 50 percent. The bookstores buy them for one-half of the new list price from the students; they sell them back for three-quarters of the new price, giving the store a 50 per cent margin.

If the student could purchase used textbooks, his book-bill would automatically drop 25 per cent. If the student paid $40 for new books this semester, the same texts would have cost only $30 if used books had been made available.

YET AT THE SAME TIME, the Bookstore could have made more money by selling the used texts. On a $10 book, sold new at a twenty-five per cent mark up, the margin is $2. It cost the bookstore $8. But if the book is bought used for one-half the list price by the bookstore and then resold for three-quarters of that price, the margin is $2.50.

Now it seems only logical that a non-profit corporation like the Foundation, which was instituted to serve the students on this campus, would attempt to obtain more used books. Not only would the students' book-bill go down, but the Foundation might just possibly find it feasible to lower prices on other merchandise with the additional profit.

Schwarz 'too busy' to talk

The long-awaited and much-publicized debate between Longshoremen Union President Harry Bridges and Christian Anti-Communist Fred Schwarz has been postponed again.

According to Steve Covington, member of AS President Jay Folberg's committee to initiate debates and speeches for the outdoor speakers' platform, Bridges accepted Schwarz's date of September 21 for the debate.

Upon trying to get confirmation from Schwarz's publicist, Covington was told that Schwarz was "too busy" to debate in the month of September.

Covington was told by Al Bendix, public relations man for Bridges, that the Union leader had promised to call Schwarz "a liar and a phony" to the latter's face in a debate at SF State.

The committee is also trying to set up a debate between the Young Republicans and Young Democrats on campus stating "Resolved: Richard Nixon should be Governor of California."

Utah U. finds way to benefit students

The Bookstore Advisory Board at the University of Utah, according to Tom Holt, executive secretary, will continue to seek a way to benefit the students who patronize.

This action has come since the executive secretary system was put into effect last year when the $400,000 newly constructed building opened its doors for business.

The money to build the split-level structure was borrowed from the Home and Housing Finance Administration on a 40-year basis at a rate of 3 per cent interest annually.

The bond was set up stating that the bookstore pays back $3,000 more per year than it had made in profits the preceding year. The Bookstore Advisory Board hopes the bookstore will have enough added business to pay the bond and have money left over for the following proposals:

- Students who spend more than $60 in all departments of the store during an entire year will receive a certificate for a substantial percentage of that amount. This certificate would be used in the bookstore as money.
- A small study area with room for between 40 and 45 students equipped with food and vending machines.
- An area of scholarly paperback books published by University presses and other publishers. (Over 2,000 titles.)

Students who expect to earn their master's degree at the end of this semester must submit contract programs to the Office of the Dean of Graduate Studies (Administration Building, Room 116) on or before Friday, September 28, 1962. Before being filed at the office, the contract programs must be approved by the candidate's graduate major and related field advisers, and by the graduate committee of the candidate's major division. A candidate is required to complete at least six units of his contract program after submitting it to the Dean of Graduate Studies.

FOOTBALL FEVER

By JOAN IMIG

Feel heady? Pulse fast? Want to stand up and shout? Well, it's that fever again—fever of the rough cloth, zippy air, winey smell of autumn, and the rainbow of color that stretches from goalpost to goalpost! Yes, you've got "football fever," and if you leave your doors and windows open you'll hear the call of the pigskin enthusiasts as they get in trim for the first kickoff.

When it's football time there's a throb of excitement everywhere—for the stage is being set for the big play in the field. It's an irresistible time for young and old—even our "TV Granddads" feel the beat of the majorettes and bass drums—hear the stomp and merriment as a world is turned loose in the stadium.

Well, everybody's getting into the act,—getting ready for the kickoff which starts off a new season of fun and activities. And it's time to get ready for the school-curriculum — with your chosen courses of study. How? With a typewriter from Tibbs Typewriter Company, of 821 Market Street, in San Francisco. The Tibbs Typewriter Company offers fast, dependable guaranteed services—on all makes of typewriters—electric, standards, and portables—sales, repairs and rentals. ## Gator varsity

Water polo team opens

With diplomas claiming five of last year's water polo starters, coach Walter Hanson will face a rebuilding job when his waterpoloing Gators face San Jose State in the opener Sept. 28.

Last year the Gators posted a 7 and 12 record to nab a fourth place in the State College Tournament.

Although several lettermen are returning to the 1962 squad, Hanson stressed the need for more water polo enthusiasts. Returning to the 1962 squad will be five lettermen. Larry Decker will resume his duty of shuffling between a guard or goalie spot, and Harlon Harkness will return to his guard position.

Also resuming action in '62 will be George Drysdale.

The Gator's next opponent will be the Long Beach 49ers on Saturday. Last year SF State scored 14 points in the last quarter to nip the 49ers 14-9, but this game is at Long Beach.

Long Beach coach Don Reed has a strong backfield, which will be forced to operate behind a flimsy line. As with UCSB, the Gators will play under limited substitution rules.

Jaundiced Eye

By GREG SPENCE

FANS AT THE GATOR game against Santa Barbara were most impressed by the astounding change, or revival, in the Gator's performance in the second half, when SF State rallied from a 14-0 deficit to win, 16-14.

In the first half the Gators played not like an unified team, but merely a collection of junior college and JV stars. They were, to coin a word, unjelled. They were tackling high, as if they were facing a sandlot team and not UCSB.

SF State gained 16 total yards in the first half; the Gauchos gained 188. The Gators entered SB territory but once, and then only to the 35-yard stripe.

Now a striking comparison:

AT GAME'S END (Game's End—sounds like an English promontory) the Gators had gained 233 yards, with 217 in the second half. The Gauchos totaled 189 yards, ONE in the second half.

The Gators, much to UCSB's woe, had jelled.

Two nearly-unnoticed things probably gave the Gators spirit in their comeback — Tom Manney's 61-yard sprint in the third quarter, and Don Briemle's entrance in the game as linebacker, after sitting out the first half with a knee injury. Briemle's presence on the field was respected by the Gators—he knew what was happening.
