

Defeat Prop. 14 rally

Time--money needed

PHIL BURTON

... 'will set back freedom'

Willie Brown, lawyer and Democratic candidate for the California Assembly's 18th district, called for students to give time and money to defeat Proposition 14, in a fund-raising rally yesterday at the Speakers Platform.

Brown, Congressman Phil Burton, folksingers Bill Forshay and Ale Ekstrom were featured in the event sponsored by the Students and Faculty in Opposition to Proposition 14.

In a "non-political speech," Burton told of Negroes he had met in Mississippi whose homes had been bombed, who had been beaten and thrown in jail.

"These actions are symptomatic of the type of mentality that put Proposition 14 on the ballot.

"This is not an idle challenge. If Proposition 14 is passed, it will set back the forces of freedom everywhere." The proposition will be found constitutional, he added.

"Together we can win," he concluded.

Brown cited the Berkeley School Board vote, where strong support was given the board's plan to end de facto segregation, as a "forerunner of what's going to happen to Proposition 14.

He said the proposition would only be defeated if interested students would give time and money to the cause. Precinct workers are needed to distribute material and urge citizens to vote against the proposition, he added.

Terry McGann announced that SF State is the central office coordinating all college student precinct work. The purpose of the office, he said, is to give information, furnish precinct kits and provide transportation when needed.

"There are 3,000 square blocks which necessitates two and a half to three hours each to cover," McGann said. "It is our hope that we can get a minimum of 1,000 precinct workers from the Bay Area colleges.

"It is our opinion that Proposition 14 can be defeated and that the people of the state of California will go on public record as opposing all forms of segregation, injustice and persecution for the sake of big business as exemplified by the California Real Estate Association (CREA)," he said.

Three hundred students had volunteered to work and $128.11 was collected by 5 p.m. yesterday, McGann said.

WILLIE BROWN

... pleas for money

Proposition 14 is the proposed state constitutional amendment that would nullify present laws combating housing discrimination and would prohibit state, county and local governments from enacting future fair housing legislation.

An organization against Proposition 14 was formed on campus last month. The group has sold bumper stickers, raised funds, held a workshop and sponsored yesterday's rally. Plans include a debate next Wednesday and the possibility of a large performance featuring screen personalities and politicians.

SAN FRANCISCO STATE COLLEGE

Thurs., Oct. 8, 1964

Felix Greene lectures

Felix Greene, author, lecturer and traveler, speaks today on "Russia, China, and the U.S." at 1 p.m. in the Main Auditorium for the College Lecture Series.

Greene, British born, is the only American-based correspondent who has traveled through China a three times since the revolution.

In 1957 he gave American audiences their first glimpse into China under Communist rule. Three years later, traveling with a British passport, he returned to China and visited communes, hospitals, schools and slums.

He was granted the first private, three-hour interview with Prime Minister Chou En-Lai and spoke with ministers of state and governmental department heads.

Chinese officials say Greene has seen more facets of Chinese life and has interviewed more people than any other western observer since Communist rule came to China in 1949.

Between trips to China he journeyed through Russia, India, Laos and Japan and interviewed Nehru, the Dali Lama and other leading Asians.

Greene has written books and articles on his travels. The latest, "A Curtain of Ignorance," tells of his experiences in China.

Urban Whitaker, professor of International Relations, recently reviewed this book in "Progressive" magazine, writing, "... it probably offers Americans the best opportunity to do something about the vicious circles of sterile negativism which has been their China policy ..."

Green lives in Palo Alto and operates an importing business with the Far East.

Ecumenical open house set today

The campus Ecumenical Council will have an open house today from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Ecumenical Center, 190 Denslowe, corner of 19th and Holloway.

The Center, which has been in operation since last fall, houses the offices for the campus chapters of the Methodist, Baptist, Episcopalian and Lutheran organizations and the United Campus Christian Fellowship.

Coffee will be served at the open house and everyone is invited.

Leg to support UC rebels; ban smoking

A resolution supporting the University of California's student rebels in their fight for free speech will be presented today at the AS Legislature.

Sponsored by Assistant Speaker Jim Nixon and six of his colleagues, the resolution "lauds the brave students who protested the actions of the University ... who forced recognition and redress of their grievances."

It also "praises and supports the policies governing free speech and similar academic freedoms" at SF State.

Three days of demonstrations took place at the Berkeley campus last week when administration officials banned solicitation of funds and recruiting of demonstrators on campus.

The representatives will also deal with the problem of students smoking in classrooms.

Rep. Andrew Mew will propose that a committee be established to consider whether the "no smoking" classroom signs should be enforced.

If the committee decides the rule shouldn't be enforced, the bill states, it should recommend that "smoking is permitted" or "yes you can smoke" signs should be erected.

Seven seek frosh Leg posts today

Representatives for student legislature will be elected today at election booths set up in front of the Commons and the library.

Names appearing on ballot: frosh representative—Russell Bass, Sybil Davis, Tim Gannon, Harvey Hukari, Steven Lazerson, Robert Reed and Ira Schoenwald; social science reps — Gary Flynn and Joe Glass.

Terry McGann is unopposed for education representative and his name will not appear on the ballot.

Conservatives vs. liberals

Decision on P. 14 due

SF State's Young Republicans are scheduled to act today on a resolution to oppose Proposition 14. The resolution was introduced last week by Tony Akelaitis.

It would "urge all voters to vote against Proposition 14 and thereby continue to keep California a free and growing state."

Proposition 14 would repeal the Rumford Fair Housing Act, other state fair housing legislation and prohibit passage of similar legislation in the future.

The California YR Board of Directors endorsed Proposition 14 last month. The move was termed "foolish" by SF State YR leaders.

Liberals infiltrate YR's

The Progressive Republicans, a liberal splinter group of the SF State Young Republican organization, have formed a steering committee for "the achievement of liberal objectives within the SF State YR organization."

Committee members are: Gary Moss, Coordinator, assisted by Roger Beers; John Makemson, Parliamentarian; Chet Rhoane, Floor Manager; Jolene Cadenbach, Secretary; Katherine Jamison, Public Relations and Murray Schneider, Recruitment, assisted by Paul de Witt.

The group does not support Barry Goldwater and opposed Proposition 14.

Letters to the Editor

Lehan's arguments

Erna Lehan's arguments in Friday's Gater are full of holes. Although I am not personally a member of XXXVII, I have learned about some of the practices of our eating service.

Red is not chosen to deface the Commons because it is "a warm color." Anyone familiar with industrial psychology is aware that red is used in interior design to drive people out. As such, red is commonly employed in rest rooms and busy cafeterias. Any increase in lighting, as Lehan has requested, would result in magnifying the situation rather than making the color less disrupting.

Lehan says "the Commons has all the same bills as a commercial restaurant except for rent." Not so at all. Here are some others that immediately come to mind that the Commons does not pay: 1) advertising, including both news media and exterior devices such as signs, 2) taxes, being a non-profit organization, 3) profits and dividends to owners, 4) parking lot facilities, 5) security maintenance, 6) rest room maintenance, 7) cleaning exterior grounds, 8) painting, a cost which Lehan specifically mentions as being paid by the State. Besides these specifics, it should also be noted that the Commons can buy in larger volume than most commercial establishments.

Heat and light bills are necessarily smaller per customer since most business is daytime, and that the employee to customer ratio is far greater than a commercial restaurant could afford to maintain decent public relations.

There is no reason whatsoever that the prices of our food should be 20 per cent higher than the University of California, especially when the University facility pays a higher wage to its student help (Fair Bear) and is also paying off the mortgage which built the Student Union cafeteria. No reason except Erna Lehan.

Blood Bank

Editor:

One of the many activities justly deserving student support at State is our Blood Bank. Last year a member of my family needed many pints of blood desperately. Our Blood Bank was able to provide much of this blood because students had responded so generously to last year's appeal. For this we are all very thankful.

When the Bloodmobile comes to campus on October 29 a large turnout of volunteer donors will make much such assistance possible. Hopefully we will be able to supply the needs of all students and their families during 1964-65. I for one know from experience how important this can be.

Freedom of speech

Editor:

There has been much discussion about on-campus political activity at the University of California. The argument for this activity is that academic freedom implies complete freedom of speech and complete political freedom. These freedoms, it is alleged, are ours because of our European tradition of the political student.

However, the University is pledged to a certain type of knowledge. This is knowledge whose value does not depend on time. Election politics are but a small part of the overall picture. They are momentary, ephemeral. For this reason the University must rise above the politics of the times. It must in fact be free of politics.

If Mario Savio was expelled it was not because of his use of freedom of speech but his abuse. He was on top of a police car exhorting students to openly defy civil authority. Two years ago the University of California turned down a gift of three million dollars because it included a stipulation that Communist speakers be banned on campus. The University appreciates freedom of speech. If we are to condone Mr. Savio's actions we must condone all demagogues and rabble rousers.

Speech is no longer just communication. Sophistication in propaganda techniques has made speech a very powerful weapon. As a weapon it must be controlled.

Furthermore, the ban is not on all political activity. The ban refers to "on-campus" political activity only.

At SF State there is a "no smoking" ban in most classrooms. Do students consider this an infringement on personal liberties?

Prof warns society of young offenders

Delinquent behavior is becoming more extensive among middle class youth now, according to Donald Gibbons, associate professor of sociology at SF State.

A possible step toward checking these potential threats to society will be accomplished with the publication early next year of a book by Gibbons titled "Changing the Lawbreaker."

After 10 years experience in the correctional field Gibbons concludes "just as there is not one kind of cure for all illnesses, there is not just one kind of treatment for all crimes."

His book classifies the kinds of treatment which he believes should be applied to each type of crime and delinquent act.

In reference to the Bay Area, Gibbons states "there is no particular growth of crime here because of the shrinking middle class population."

Negroes, according to Gibbons, have high crime rates, but not much higher than lower class whites.

He warns, however, that if the Caucasians don't change their racial bias attitudes, there could be serious danger soon.

His final comment deals with the relationship between narcotic addiction and crime. Smoking and booze excess is more harmful than drug addiction, he said. Addicts are not important when compared to alcoholics in terms of crime rates.

Study of SF State's image nearing finish says Smith

A $6000 study of SF State's image and the relationship to the surrounding community is nearing completion.

The study, begun last Spring, is being done by Kenneth Setterdahl, president of the West Coast division of the G. A. Brakeley and Co.

Glenn Smith, assistant to president Paul Dodd, said the first draft of the written report should be done by November. The college has been receiving oral reports on the study since its start.

The study is an effort to see how well regarded SF

State is in the community, Smith said.

Smith added that the college has been in San Francisco for 60 years and it is time for an objective self appraisal by someone not connected with the campus.

Setterdahl has had interviews with students, faculty, administration and alumni besides off-campus interviews in San Francisco.

G. A. Brakeley and Co. has done surveys for the University of California at Berkeley, the universities of Utah and Hawaii, and Grace Cathedral.

Money for the survey came from the surplus funds of the SF State Foundation.

Eighteen nations boot for Gators

By BRIAN MacDonald

Coach Arthur Bridgeman has run into a rather delicate problem with the JV soccer squad this semester, but it hasn't been that they've played poorly or that team spirit isn't high.

Bridgeman simply cannot speak their language. The 42 JV players speak 12 different languages, one of which is further separated into two separate dialects.

The booters are also composed of 18 nationalities, which complicates things even more.

The coach must learn names such as Daniels Doniama, Jean Baptiste Ikoku, Juan Lopez, Micha Riemer, Eugene Sama, and Jean Pierre N'Gole.

The JV team, led by former French Congo students, have secured wins in their first two league starts.

The dominating force so far has been an Arnold Palmer-type finisher named Daniels Doniama.

In Tuesday night's game against the University of California, Doniama scored not only the first goal, but the last three as well, to rescue the booters from a losing 2-1 start.

On the bus back to campus, the team enjoyed an internationalized victory chant. It sounded sweet in very language. Ole! Victorie! Victoria?

Sprint rally and dance set

A rally will take place Friday night at 7:30 p.m. in the Women's Gym to meet varsity athletes and spirit raisers.

The free rally will precede a dance which will run from 9-12 p.m.

Students will be able to meet varsity and jayvee football players, and members of the soccer and water polo teams. Song girls and yell leaders will be present.

Dorm bowling to start next week

A bowling league for students in the residence halls will be held every Wednesday beginning next week. The games will continue for 10 weeks from 4 to 6 p.m.

About 25 students will participate with three players on each team. Individuals will probably bowl two games each week.

The students, who will meet at Serra Lanes, will all be expected to provide their own transportation.

Another swinging coach

CHICO (AP) — Head football coach George Maderos was hanged in effigy Tuesday night from a tree on the campus of Chico State College.

Chico's Wildcats lost 45-6 to Santa Clara last Saturday and 20-0 to Lewis and Clark the week before.

Maderos, a top athlete in three sports while an undergraduate at Chico State, has a 25-32-1 record in his seven years here. He played two seasons with the San Francisco 49ers.
