Remember '05

President Dr. William Eisenhardt

April 30, 2005

To the Class of 2005,

As one travels through life, there are several “descriptors” often asked of you to help define you in the eyes of the inquirer. Whether at social occasions or in a future interview, you will probably be asked where you are from, what you like to do and “Where did you go to school?”.

At those times you often begin to realize just how important these college years were to your personal and professional development, and how much pleasure they gave you. Rarely again will you have so much discretionary time and boundless energy to do what you want amongst so many friends. The hard times will dim over the years, but the good ones will seem to live on and on amongst classmates. And so it should be.

Hopefully, you will feel great pride and pleasure at saying that you went to The California Maritime Academy. I certainly say with pride that I learned from and worked with the Class of 2005. You have justly earned the right to be called alumni.

The Cal Maritime faculty and staff join me in wishing you good luck, and may the waters of your life be calm and the winds of your destiny blow fair.

With congratulations,

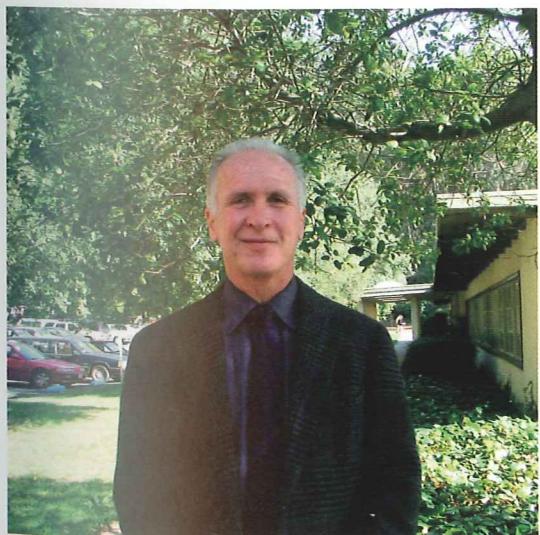

William B. Eisenhardt
President

Executive President Eric Cooper

Those who know Cooper know him to have lived his life "outside of the box." Thanks to his unconventional methods of micromanagement he has made huge changes during his time here at CMA. Personally Cooper loves the Sacramento Kings, Shopping at the mall, and stories about Maine. In his spare time he practices his southern accent so that he can fit in when he moves to Charleston after graduation. Above all we know Coop for keeping us laughing. And for the record, Coop, you did run that stop sign!!!

Executive Vice President Andrew "Hank" Perretti

It has been quite a year for Hank. As VP he presided over one of the best years ever. The number of clubs increased substantially as did the amount of students involved. Hank did all of this while being 4D Division Commander, being an RA, and making frequent trips to Bakersfield. And if that wasn't enough good fortune, the Red Sox won the pennant.

Executive Staff

Executive VP of Finance Jose Schloessmann

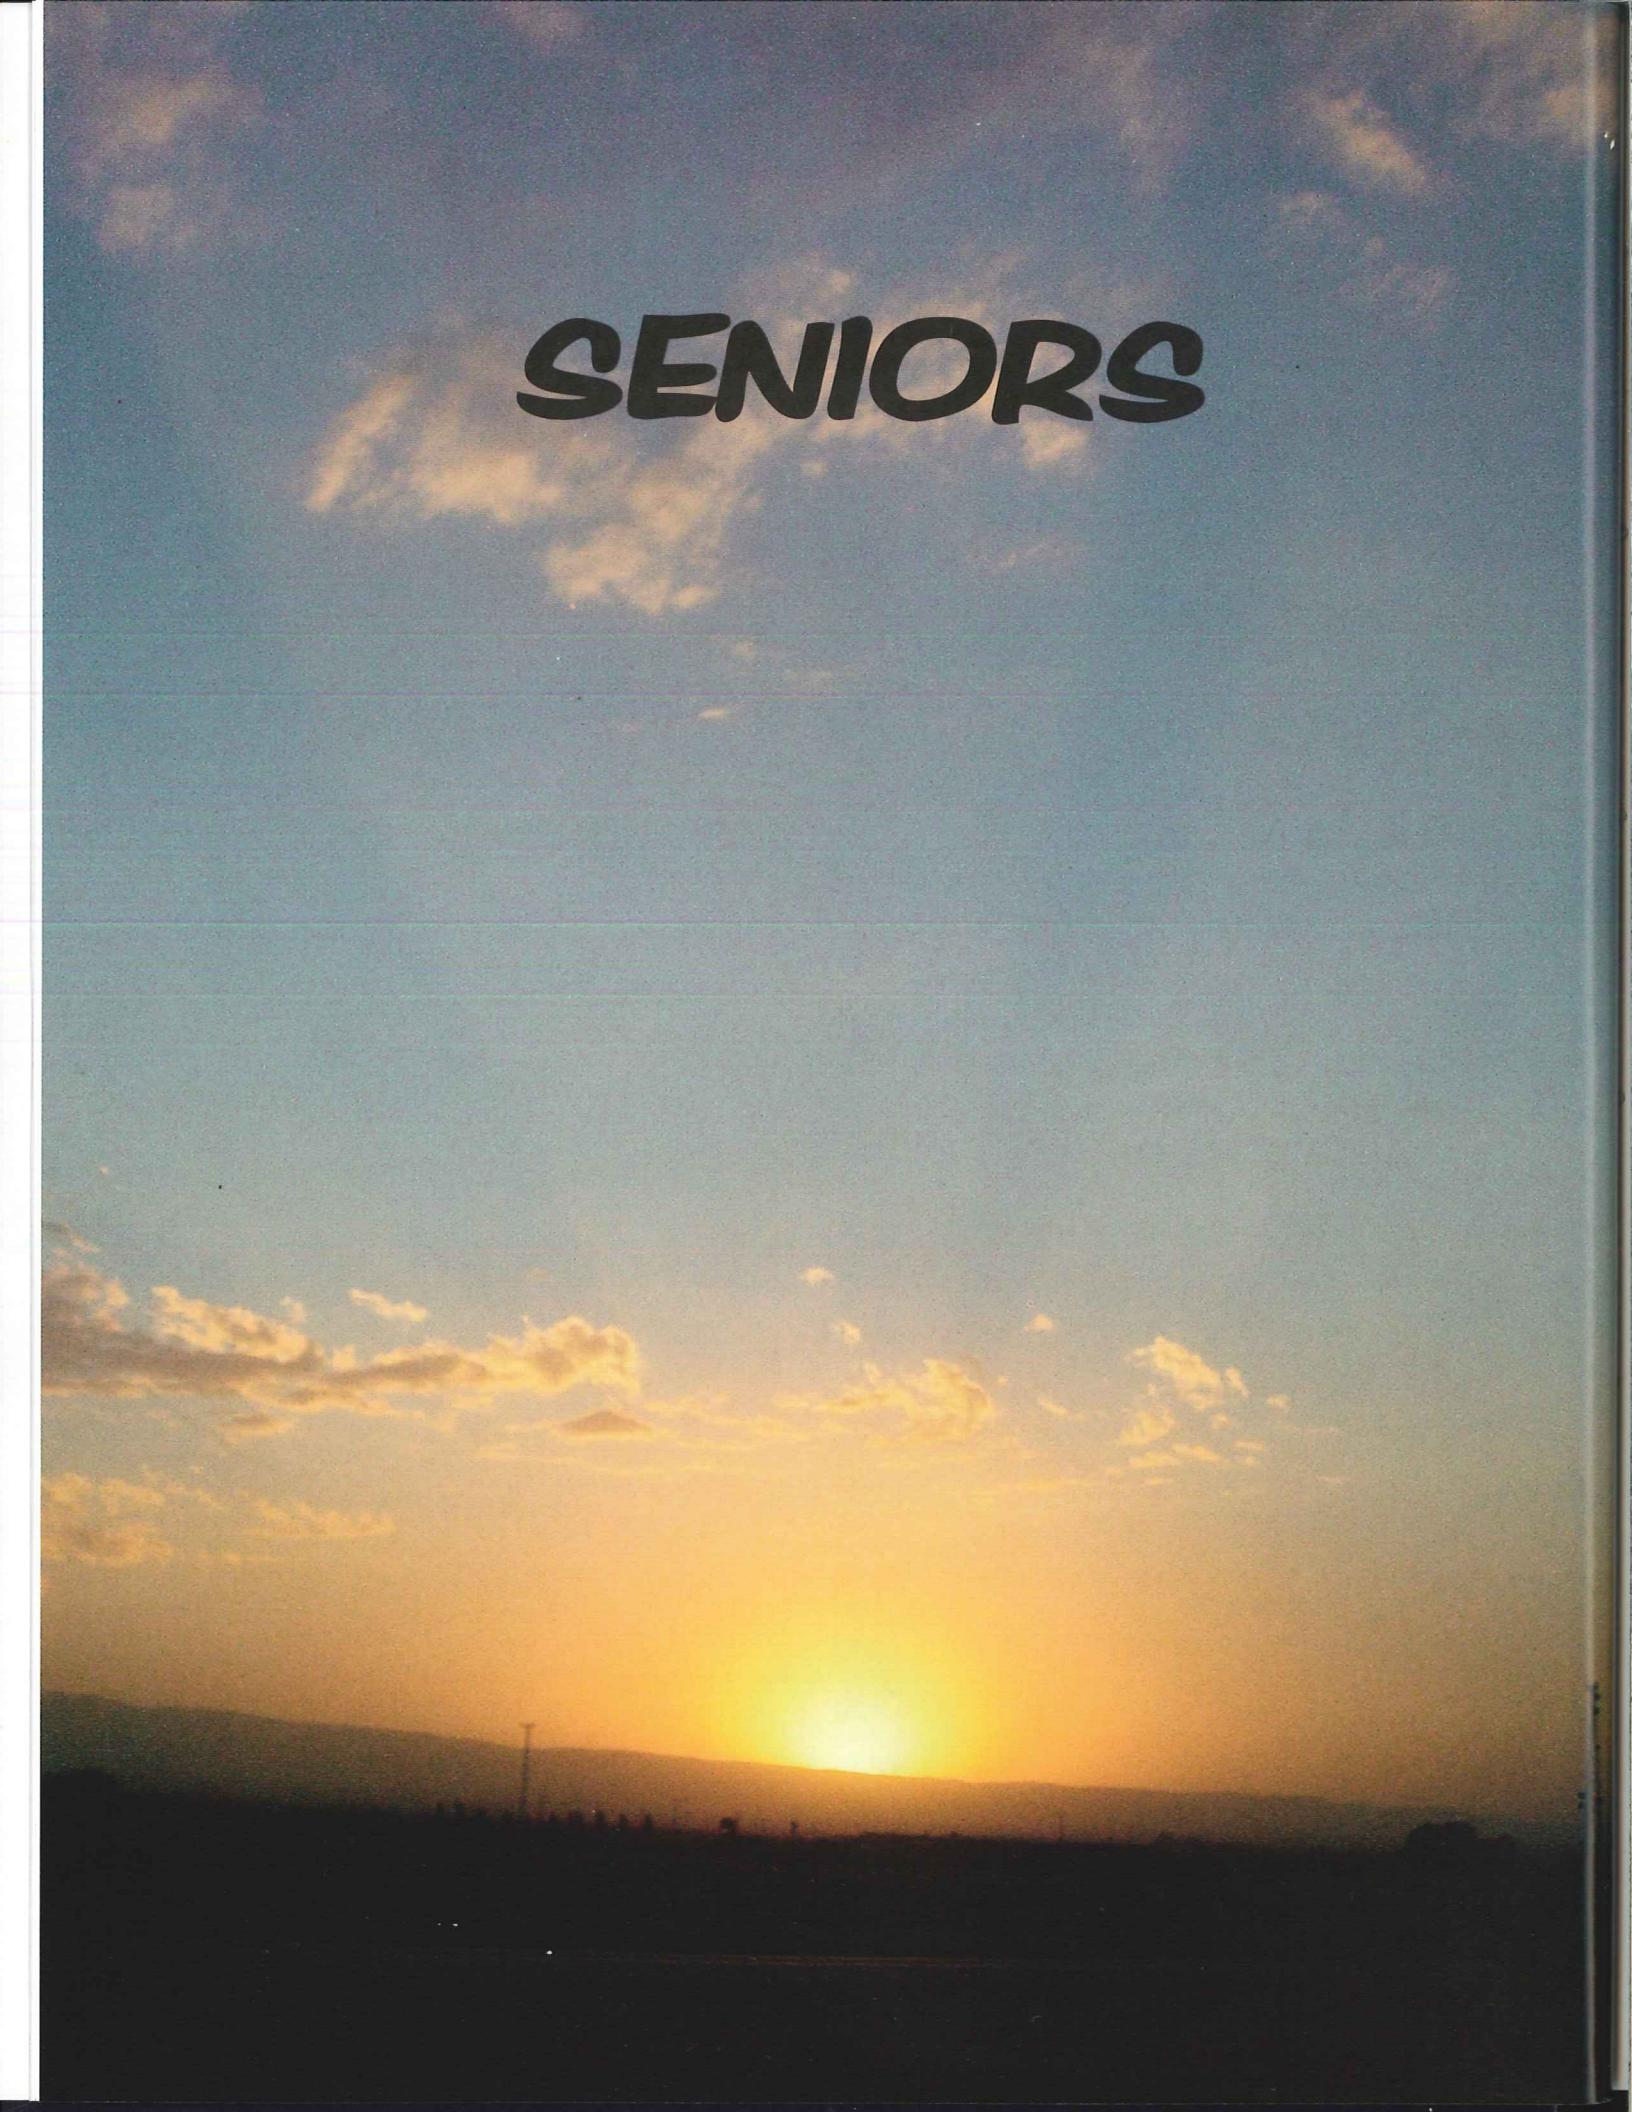

What Jose did as VP of finance will affect not only today's council but many more to come. Hours upon hours were spent with his best friend, Quickbooks. The result was better recordkeeping and organization than ever before. He did it so well that we're going to make him do it again next year.

Chief of Staff Justin Yeck

Justin Kept things in order as Chief of Staff. Whether it was organizing office hours or cleaning the office, when Justin was in charge things got done. As good will ambassador at CSSA, Justin is known at CSU campuses statewide. He put Cal Maritime on the map. We're pretty sure the other CSU representatives didn't see that coming. Justin ensures that all things just keep getting better!

SENIORS

A scenic sunset over a hill. The sky is a gradient from deep blue at the top to a bright orange and yellow at the horizon. A few wispy clouds are scattered across the sky. In the foreground, a dark silhouette of a hill is visible. On the hill, there is a tall, thin power line tower standing on the left side. The overall atmosphere is peaceful and dramatic.

The Price is Right

The play by play:

The three day trip all started at CMA. We left the campus and our first destination was L.A., we checked into the hotel, and started having fun. After closing the bar, we went to bed. We got up early and left for Magic Mountain theme park. We spent the entire day there from open to close, since Eric Cooper faked an injury we were able to gain a wheelchair and we had front of the line access.

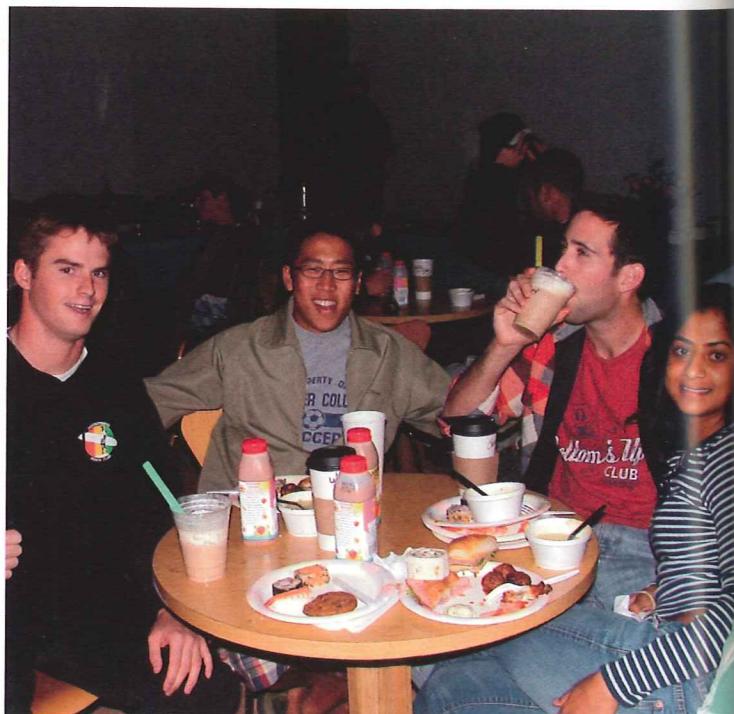

We then headed back to the Hotel for a little bit of sleep before our big day with Bob Barker on The Price is Right

Charging the American River

One of the first big ACE events of the year, the American River rafting trip was a huge success. It was quite possibly the best trip that they have ever done.

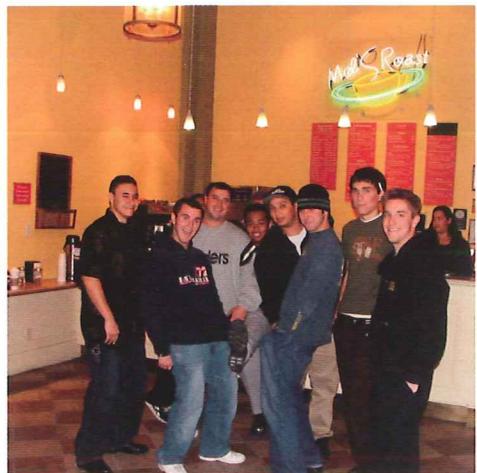

A couple times per semester Ace or the RAs set up a little coffee night at Mels Roast in downtown V-town. It looks like Jim took the words "Free Coffee" too far.

ACE

ACE is another one of those campus groups that never seems to get enough credit for what they do. Whether it is putting together the movie nights, or it is planning Changeover, or planning all of the camping trips and snowboarding trips, they are always working. The efforts of the ACE leaders have been amazing this year. I personally know that each and everyone of them puts in over 20 hours per week just to make sure that the students have a good time.

We are Baptist, Presbyterian, Catholic, Episcopal, Mennonite, Lutheran, Methodist, non-denominational, and even some who aren't sure. Despite our differences, the one thing we have in common is a desire to know God more, and to live rightly by Him. Whether it's at our weekly Bible studies, club events like barbecues and ice cream socials, or even participating in school dodge ball tournaments, we're always coming together to have good, clean fun."

"Those who go down to the sea in ships, who do business on great waters; they have seen the works of the LORD, And His wonders in the deep. For He spoke and raised up a stormy wind, which lifted up the waves of the sea. They rose up to the heavens, they went down to the depths; their soul melted away in their misery. They reeled and staggered like a drunken man, and were at their wits' end. Then they cried to the LORD in their trouble, And He brought them out of their distresses. He caused the storm to be still, so that the waves of the sea were hushed. Then they were glad because they were quiet, so He guided them to their desired haven. Let them give thanks to the LORD for His lovingkindness, and for His wonders to the sons of men!" -Psalm 107:23-31, NASB

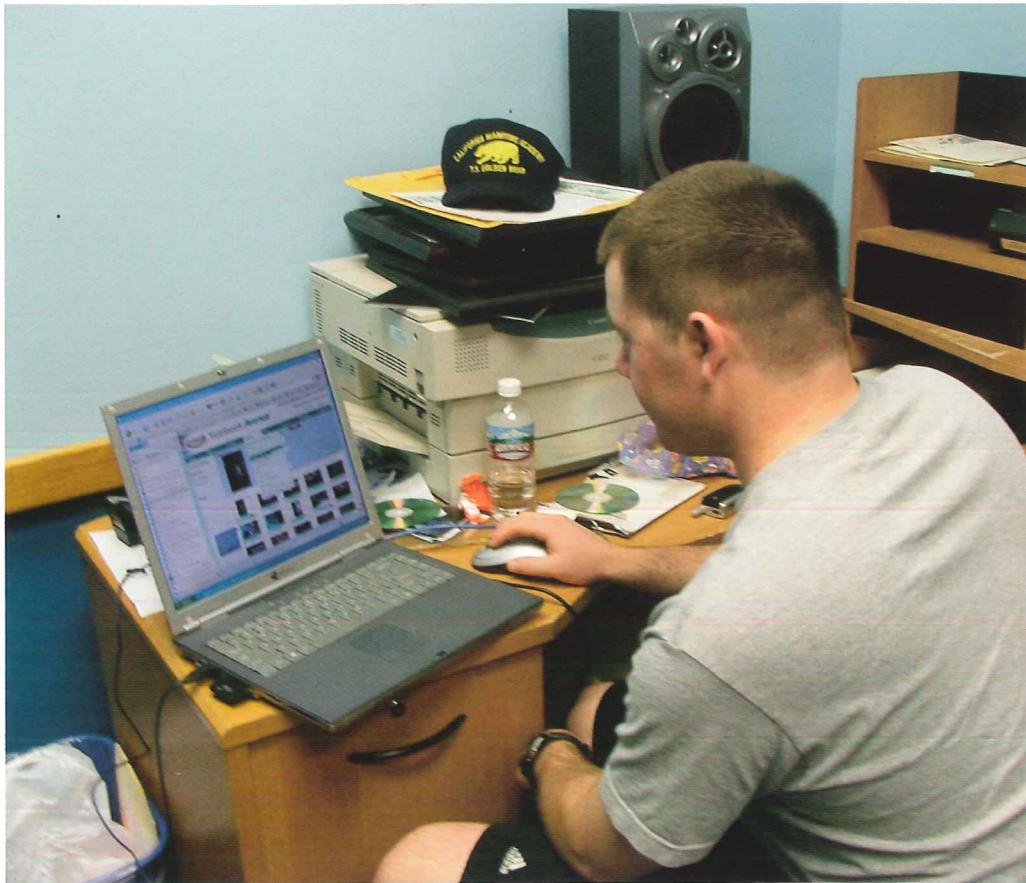

"In the end that Face which is the delight or the terror of the universe must be turned upon each of us either with one expression or with the other, either conferring glory inexpressible or inflicting shame that can never be cured or disguised. I read in a periodical the other day that the fundamental thing is how we think of God. By God Himself, it is not! How God thinks of us is not only more important, but infinitely more important. Indeed, how we think of Him is of no importance except insofar as it is related to how He thinks of us. It is written that we shall "stand before" Him, shall appear, shall be inspected. The promise of glory is the promise, almost incredible and only possible by the work of Christ, that some of us, that any of us who really chooses, shall actually survive that examination, shall find approval, shall please God. To please God...to be a real ingredient in the Divine happiness...to be loved by God, not merely pitied, but delighted in as an artist delights in his work or a father in a son -- it seems impossible, a weight or burden of glory which our thoughts can hardly sustain. But so it is." -C.S. Lewis, "The Weight of Glory", in Screwtape Proposes a Toast

A Voyage to the North Pacific

Kiska, what a beautiful island. Lots of snow and grass and not much else, wasn't there supposed to be a crazy ranger and a pub?

From Russia With Love

*Oh great
these guys
were in charge of us*

Sure we loved Russia but did she love us? Vlad was awesome, I didn't realize that so many bars could run dry, I think we made their fiscal year. But seriously the Bear was fined and detained, we had to permanently alter her stern, truly Russia did not love us back. Oh and by the way thanks for letting us know that the scary looking guys we spent the night drinking with were Russian mafia, you could tell by the trench coats

Daily Life Aboard The Bear

Days onboard the bear consist of work, work, and more work, that is unless you are in Eric Cooper's division, then you sit back relax and watch Cal Poly girls do your work.

How do you even explain this?

While Cooper's division slept on the job the other divisions worked so hard they could barely keep their feet, doesn't poor Conrad look exhausted

*Wait what city
are we in again?*

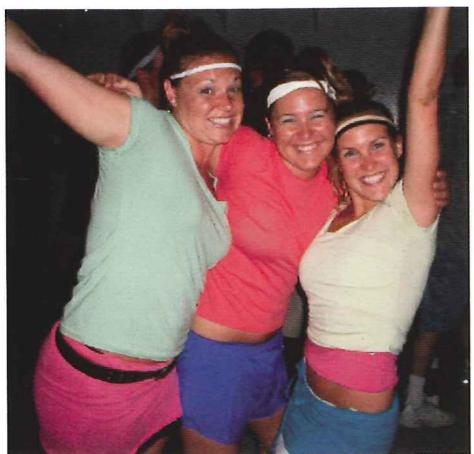

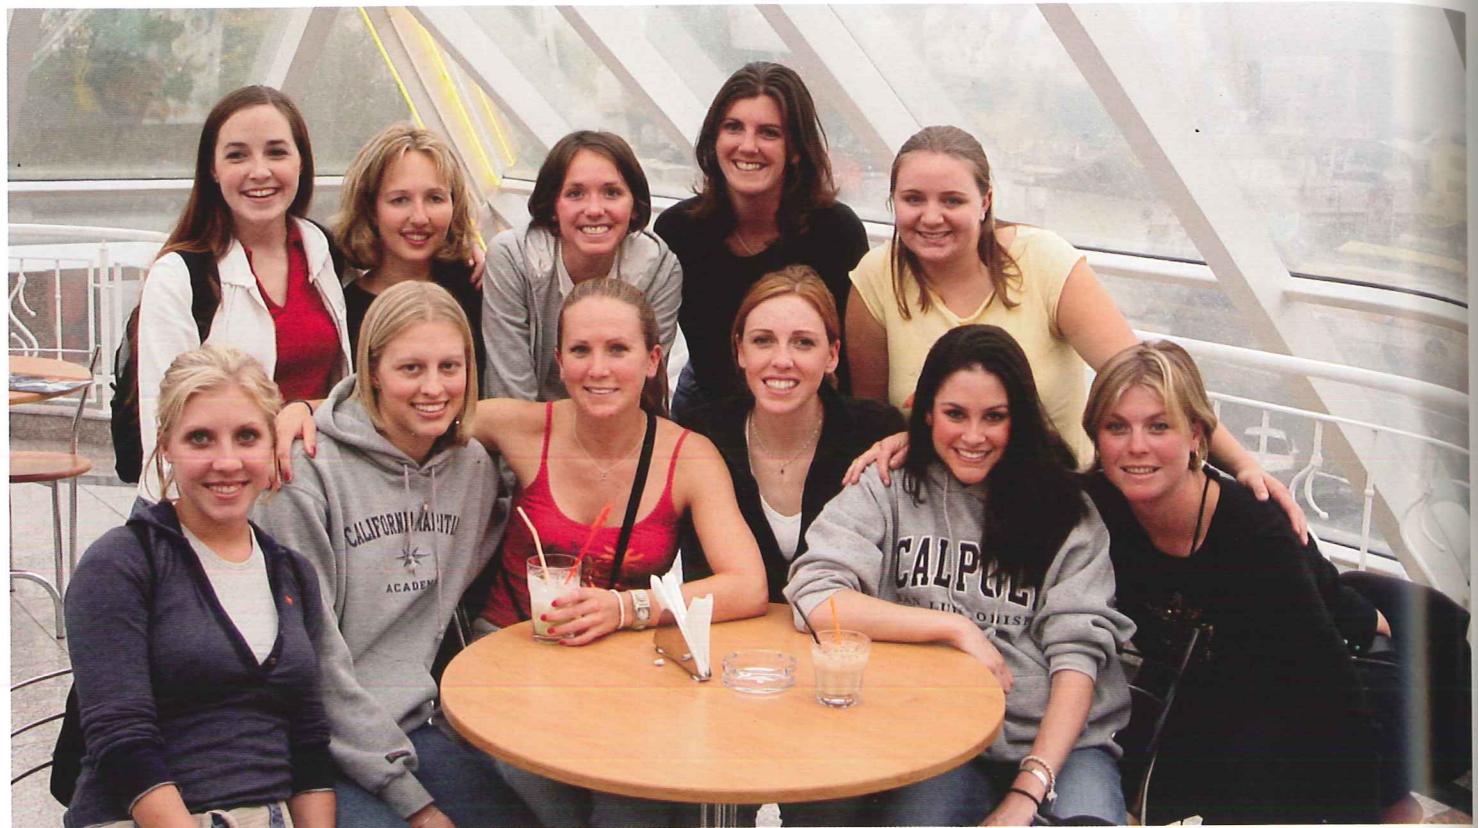

Are we in Pusan?
Actually I think we are in Seoul, wait no
we are in Mokpo.
Anyway the people
were great and it was just an awesome place
to just chill, such a relaxed port. (Plus everything was so cheap, especially booze)

More day work, wait actually all these guys did was pose for pictures

Gotta Love Poly Girls

Ok so there were Cal Poly guys too, but seriously who do you think the majority of us were looking at? Just kidding, all of the Cal Poly kids were pretty cool, and we all really enjoyed having some normal people around, it almost made us feel like we were at a normal college.

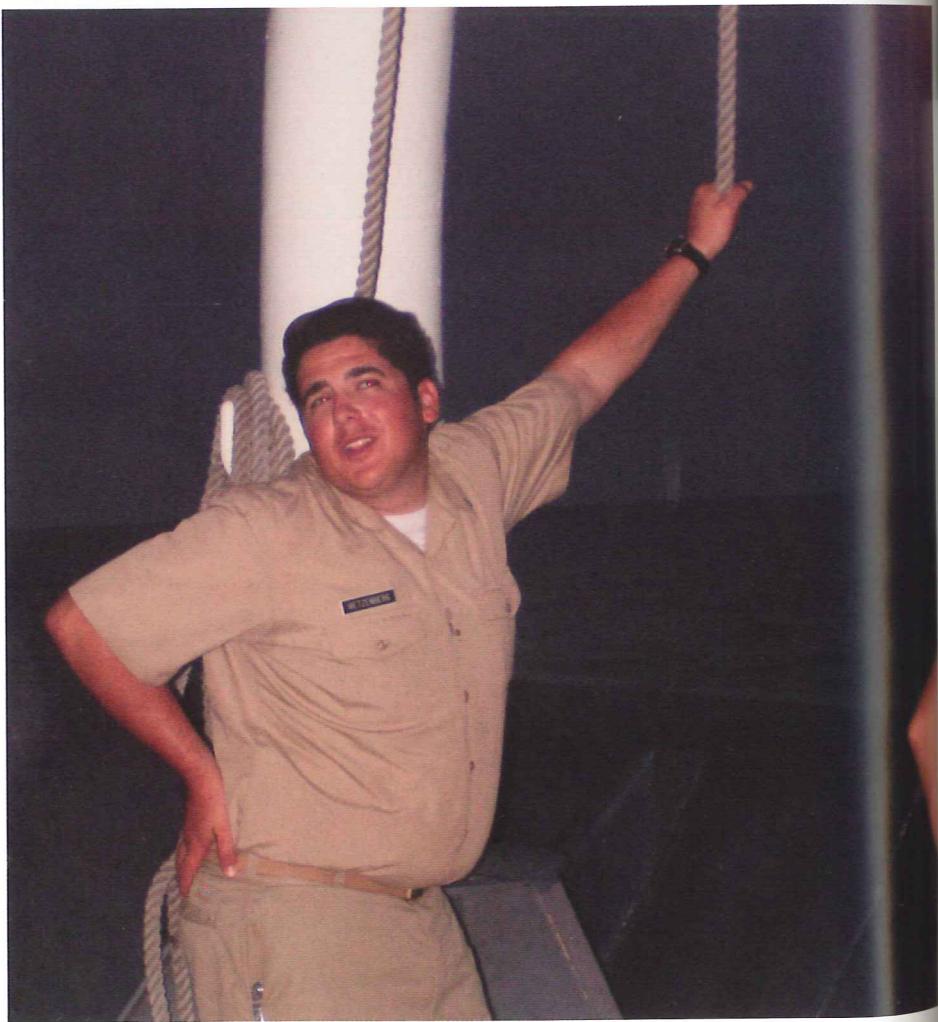

This is a good reason to not have your birthday on cruise.

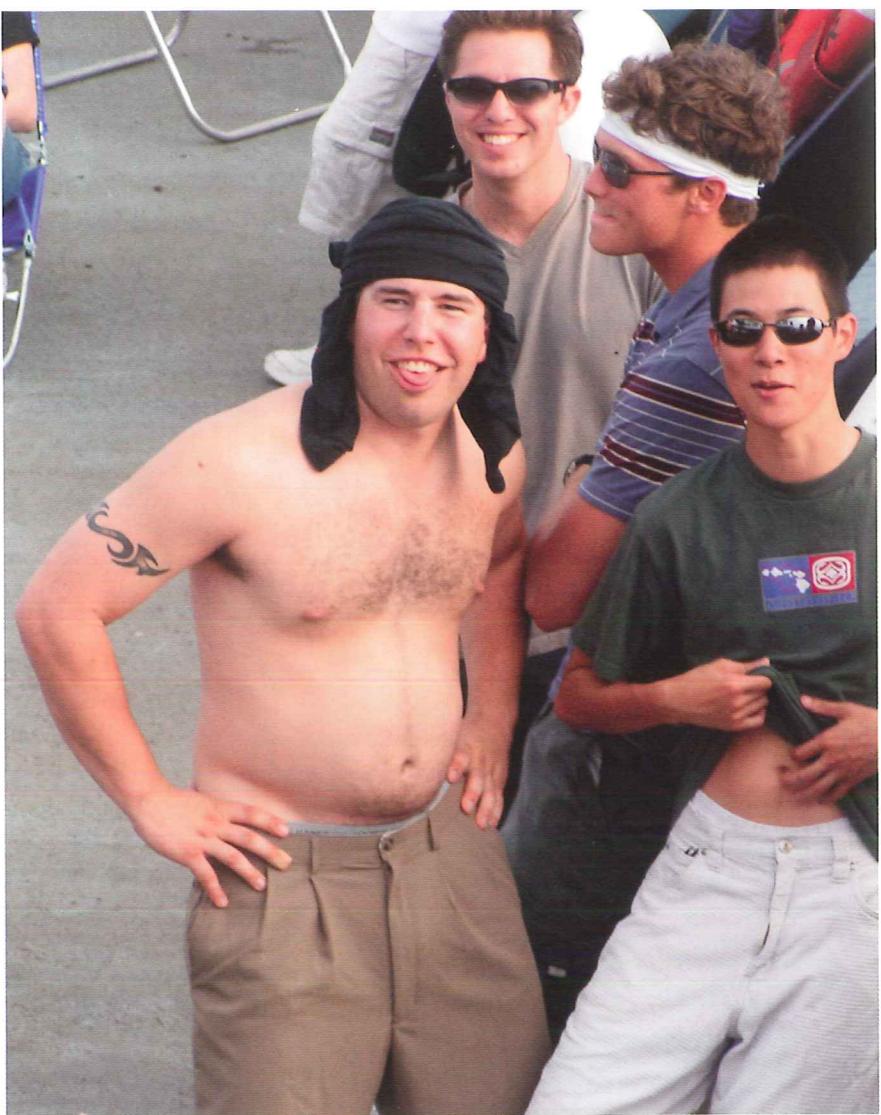

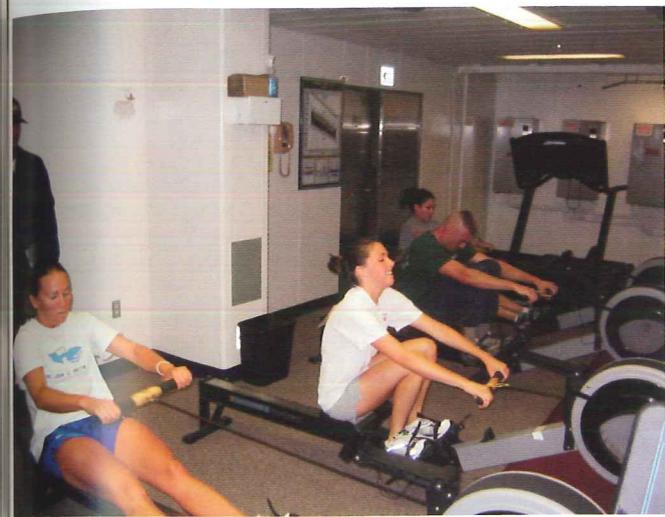

On the right we have Conrad showing just how "super" he was on cruise

China

The best place I never went.

Well, we were supposed to go to China. They told us that we were going to China. And then we sailed past China, and just kept on going. I hear there was a push back at CMA to send us somewhere else, and frankly I am really happy. China would have been nice, but what about SARS. Anyway Saipan was the bomb.

And so we came to the end of our voyage, many never to sail aboard the Golden bear ever again. You whine and complain for two months about how you never get any free time on the ship, you are always working, and then you realize, this has been a once in a lifetime opportunity. Nobody else from my high school did anything like this, nobody I grew up with did anything like this, I am totally unique from 98% of the population. And suddenly all of that hatred of the Bear turns into love, and I don't know about you but I can't wait for my senior cruise.

Editors Comments

As many of you may know, we have not had a yearbook in about ten years. The reason I decided to bring back The Hawsepipe is that it was a tradition at our school. CMA is steeped in tradition, but thanks to circumstances that seem beyond our control, we are quickly losing what it is that makes CMA great. We are losing our identity. Many students here do not understand what CMA used to stand for, and I will admit we really can't; however, through traditions such as this yearbook, a newspaper that we hope to be seeing more of soon, we can regain some of what this school used to be. Believe it or not our school used to be something to have pride in. Our corps of cadets used to be something to have pride in. We were unique, and we still are. We must realize that and fight to keep what we are, and who we are. The students here don't realize their power. The only way to fight the apathetic stance that most students are taking is to bring back the great traditions of the past. Losing OUR yearbook, OUR newspaper, and OUR Corps, it is only the first step. Soon we will no longer have the identity, the character and the pride that the school once had. You are probably all wondering how. How do we make a change? How do we as students have the power? My question is more simple, how do you not see your power? We didn't like the watch situation last semester. WE changed it. We didn't like the registration situation. WE changed it. OUR power should be obvious to you. WE do have a voice; WE have the power to make this school as great as it can be. If we allow these changes to happen it will run this school into the ground and the only one to blame is ourselves. We can effect change, and the best way to do it is through Associated Student Government, and through the Corps. I challenge all of you to come to the AS meetings, voice your opinions, be heard. If you as the students show your commitment to making this school great for yourselves, and for future generations, then maybe WE as a united front can effect the changes that are important to the students.
