Dear Michele,

Hello my name is Roger Perez. I'm a senior at California State University, Los Angeles, majoring in Latin American Studies and Public Relations Officer for Accion. I've also for the past eight months have been working in Oxnard at Q105 as an air personality.

Now that you know something about myself. I like to tell you that I recently went to Arroyo book store and bought your book, "Chicana Falsa." I read it and thought it was terrific. I think you have a lot of talent. Your work is original and very entertaining. It made me laugh and brought out pensive thoughts. I enjoyed reading it and was very impressed. I shared it with my friends who also have good things to say.

I have been recently been writing poems. And since I work in radio I decided to incorporate the two. I've been working on a Rock en Espanol show, in fact I've been helped out by quite a few people including, Luis Torres, KNX, David Sandoval, CSLA EOP, and Jose Rizo, KLON. Anyway I have also started to work on a poetry production. I put together some of my works along with Martin Sanchez, who has had some work published in Alchemy, and iTaj Nicole Morgan. I call it "Urban Minds Needing Souls." I'd like to keep working on it and extend the talent.

I writing to you to compliment and congratulate you on your book. And I hope that we can talk or meet and I could share some poetry and my project. I'm currently in New York, but hope to be back in Los Angeles in mid -August. I'd like coordinate a reading and hope to invite you so that more people can be familiar with your work.

Sincerely

Roger Perez Jr.
