

On the average Japanese teenagers equalled caucasian teenagers in musical ability and exceeded them in academic ability.

When you were standing and talking to a group of Japanese listeners you were impressed by the attentive way they always gave you their complete attention and the bird like swivel of their head and eyes as they followed your every movement. They seemed to be atuned to every sound of your voice and feeding on each word uttered.

I had never realized that man has the ability to manuever the earth for his benefit until I witnessed the building of a tremendous garden in one day by an organized group of men evacuees at the assembly center. This remarkable feat now ranks in my mind somewhere close behind the building of the great Pyramids and the Wall Of China.

Japanese had interesting ways of twisting the English language- - - "Watsa mattah you" for What?

"Hambuku steck" for Hamburger

"Ah So" for Is that so?

"Co-hee" for Coffee

"So-o-o-o" for an expresion of surprise.
