

My Personal Experiences of Covid-19

Covid-19 pandemic has changed my life completely. It has caused a great upheaval in my life as a student. The prevalent challenges are the realization about how and when I would return to my campus and see the teachers, fellow students, and classrooms again. Peace and normal routine has become a dream for the individuals living in a community. Once, I used to attend my classes in the Campus classrooms. Now, I have to study online from my home. The campus authorities have issued guidelines regarding the continuation of study work. Studying alone is a new experience for me. The Covid-19 epidemic has affected my social life as well. I feel alone in my house without the company of my friends. Being in the Campus was joyful to me and I felt pleased while studying under the live guidance of my Instructors. There are scary feelings about the uncertainty of my future and I ask myself if conditions would ever return to normal state. I expect that I will have an opportunity to do the work again in the same way. I hope that the world can combat this situation and one day, they will be able to find the treatment of this disease.

The situation has totally changed now. Covid-19 pandemic has paralyzed the world with a fearful state of hope about the future of next generation. There is a strange silence outside, which creates a kind of shock just like in horror movies. In the beginning, most of the people did not feel worried about its spread effects on human health. The real situation is clear now and everyone is well aware of its threats. I have learnt how to live carefully and save myself from this virus. The pandemic has also affected the beauty of nature because the inner beauty of people has withered away due to the fearful state of mind. Living in the home reminds me of the beautiful planet Earth, which has now become the house of sticky novel corona virus. However, hopes are there and I believe that the world will soon return to normal life. Once again, I will be present in my campus attending the classes in the same way.
