Dear Jane:

The CTA Political Action Conference at Anaheim last weekend was attended by over 125 teachers from 60 teacher associations in Southern California. You will be pleased to learn that the participants enthusiastically praised the quality of the program and the specific expertise and talent of the speakers. I also want you to know that I personally enjoyed seeing you and hearing your remarks.

Teachers are indeed a force in California politics today, and it is crucially important that they gain a solid understanding of the skills of effective political action. It is the contribution of skilled and articulate persons like yourself which makes that possible.

On behalf of all of us, I thank you for sharing with us your special and valuable insights.

Sincerely,

Joyce Fadem
Political Education Executive
