There now exists a fresh receptivity among the worlds of those who are involved in an academic-intellectual atmosphere ... The mind, the emotions, and the immediate totality of introspective and environmental cumulatives merge ... to a brilliant nuclear zone, enabling men to be thinking beings involved in matters not solely controlled by sexual impulse, rather by the insensitive understanding of the balance of being-non being — a fresh, natural, sharp & clarifying synthesis.

This neutrality is a result of unselectively nuclear thought-conjuring a center point embodiment: the total body now more empathetically, feels freely even while a practical aura of logic & practicality tend to reign in the age of technology.

8/9/66