

JOURNALISM DEPARTMENT

Professors: Sheehan (Chairman), Duke, Shepard
 Assistant Professor: Molen
 Instructor: Rehart
 Part-time: Crew, Gelhaar, Hennion, Walls

The program leading to a bachelor of arts degree in journalism prepares students for communications and editorial employment with newspapers, magazines, radio and television stations, and for related types of work in public relations, industrial journalism, technical journalism, general publishing, advertising, and teaching. A broad general education is required in addition to special study in journalism. Majors are advised to take electives in various areas and keep journalism units near the minimum required for a major.

The Journalism Department is accredited by the American Council on Education for Journalism. The news-editorial sequence is specifically accredited by the Council. The department is a member of the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism and the American Society of Journalism School Administrators.

MAJOR

A bachelor of arts degree in journalism requires proficiency in communication. Students must pass English 1 or 3 with a minimum grade of C and pass a typing test. All journalism majors are required to take a core of courses, totaling 20 units, in the news-editorial field as part of the major program. The remaining journalism courses needed to meet major requirements may be chosen in one of following areas of specialization: news-editorial, public relations and advertising, radio and television news communication, and technical writing and editing.
