5 finalists named in record turnout

Coronation of SF State's Homecoming Queen highlights Homecoming Week November 9 through 16.

The five Queen finalists, selected by campus vote Wednesday and yesterday, are Margaret Avery, Pam Gamble, Christy Ganas, Gigi Maher and Lynn Mochabee. They will be presented at a noon rally today on the Speaker's Platform.

The voting totals, 2,149, were the second largest in SF State history and the largest Homecoming turnout at SF State, according to chairman Dennis Luther.

The beauty to wear the crown during Homecoming Parade and game will be selected by a panel of five judges at noon tomorrow in the Florentine Room of the Mark Hopkins Hotel.

Judges include Mrs. Paul A. Dodd, Dr. Jack Yuen, Stuart Mercerau, a member of the alumni association and Bill

Boldenweck, former Gater editor.

Last year's reigning queen, Suzi Tham, will crown and enthrone her successor at the Coronation Ball tomorrow night in the Commons.

The dance will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.; sports coats for men and heels for women are required.

A closed circuit television rally, Wednesday, November 13, will introduce the new queen. She will also appear at several rallies during the week with her four attendants.

Friday, November 15, the queen will make an appearance at the campus parade and rally.

She and her court will attend the Homecoming Concert in the Main Auditorium at 1 p.m. Members of the music department and the Weavers, a folksinging quartet at the hungry 1, will perform.

There will be a rally at Cox Stadium next Friday night with the queen and entertainment present.

The Saturday Homecoming Parade will commence at West Portal at 10 a.m. Floats will proceed towards campus through Lakeside Village and Stonetown.

The queen will appear at a pre-game rally Saturday afternoon. Kickoff time for the big game against Nevada University's "Wolfpack" is 2 p.m.

MacLeish's 'J.B.' beats jinx; opens tonight for 2 weeks

By JOANNA BURKE
"J.B." has been jinxed again.

An overdose of bad luck has continuously befallen people involved in the play.

During the opening Broadway run of Archibald MacLeish's play, Pat Hingle, tackling his first major role, fell down an elevator shaft and was permanently dropped from the cast.

Martin Hansen, in the title role of the upcoming SF State production is an ardent sports fan. His energetic sportsmanship resulted in a pulled leg muscle and several days of limping around stage. Director Dale Mackley has been walking around campus with a cane since he jumped off stage during rehearsal and injured a disc in his back.

George Spack, cast in the major role of Zuss, topped all 'cast disasters' when he was rushed to the hospital for an emergency appendectomy.

During his hospital stay he has continued rehearsals through phone conversations with the cast and director.

His resuming of the role is contingent upon the doctor's permission. Should Spack have to stay bedridden, assistant professor of drama Tom Tyrell will replace him.

MAY SUB FOR GOD — Tom Tyrell, assistant professor of drama, may have to pinch hit for George Spack as God in the Drama Department's production of "J.B." tonight. Spack is recovering from an appendectomy.

Norman Thomas to speak Tuesday about war, peace

Norman Thomas, national co-chairman of Turn Toward Peace, will speak on "War, Peace and the Citizen" in the Main Auditorium, Tuesday at 12:30 p.m.

Thomas, the author of many books concerning Socialist doctrine, peace, labor and man's future, was the Socialist candidate for President of the United States six times.

Thomas received an MA and LTT.D from Princeton but resigned from the ministry in 1918. Since that time he was the founder and editor of the "World Tomorrow" and associate editor of the "Nation."

A reception, sponsored by the Interim Committee for a Campus Peace Center, will be held at 12 noon in the Gallery Lounge. Invitations may be obtained in 112 C.

Stanley Paulsen, Vice President of Academic Affairs, will introduce Thomas for the College Lecture Series. Admission is free.

Space troubles bother 'Space'

Speculation that the Speaker's Platform would hold up the 70-member cast of "Space Is So Startling" fell through yesterday when they failed to show up.

Paul Williams and Robert Harsford apologized for the mishap in a letter to the Gater. The cast had a previous conflicting luncheon date in Redwood City.

The production closes at the Geary Theater tomorrow night.

State trustees call public hearing in SF

The State College System Board of Trustees meets today at SF State's Downtown Center at 540 Powell Street.

Included in the agenda for the full Board meeting at 2 p.m. is a public hearing on plans for a diversion of students from crowded SF State and San Jose State next fall. Earlier in the day Board committee hearings include action on the 1964-65 Support budget, proposed new academic programs, and the need for electronic equipment for college data processing.

No meeting is scheduled for the Committee on Faculty and Staff Affairs.

DAC pickets strike again

The Direct Action Group will picket Harold Dobbs' Mel's Drive-ins in Berkeley and San Francisco again this week-end.

On Monday, 93 students who picketed Mel's last week-end were arraigned in San Francisco Municipal Court on charges of trespassing, disturbing the peace, and obstructing business.

Jinx doesn't stop 'J.B.'

 Spaack, a first semester transfer student from Fordam University, has been extremely active in drama. "I was immediately impressed when he appeared on stage during tryouts for this play," said Mackley.

The play, often misinterpreted as a theological piece directly based on the book of Job, is a work about man and his position relative to the universe.

MacLeish's intention is not to dramatize the book of Job, but to present J.B., a contemporary successful businessman suffering the horrible calamities of a modern world, according to Mackley.

"Due to their mutual suffering, J.B. may well be considered a modern Job," explained Mackley.

"However," he continued, "the actual book is used only as a backdrop and not as a basis for the story."

"Both characters turn to God in their despair. Job is restored in the end and his faithfulness to God is cleared. J.B. must continue and try again because of love," Mackley said.

The director expressed high regard for the author and his style. "J.B." is one of the most affirmative plays in contemporary theater. This is why it appeals to me so strongly.

"I've become tired of the negative point of view characteristic of the avant garde theater. Man is continuously presented in a hopeless condition.

AN UNINVITED GUEST — J.B., the modern-day Job played by Martin Hansen, offers a toast at a family dinner while Nichols (the devil) played by Walter Hurney, watches from the shadows. Marlene Silvers is cast as J.B.'s wife, Sarah. The play, based on the Biblical book of Job, opens in the Little Theater tonight at 8:30 p.m. (Gater photo)

"MacLeish truly believed in the spirit of man and must have felt some hope," he concluded.

The author said in the introduction of his play that he wanted the American audience to identify with the characters, because the situation could happen to anyone.

Aileen Kahre has designed costumes of contemporary dress beginning with elegant evening wear and ending with drab, lifeless outfits.

The setting, designed by James Thompson, represents heaven, earth, and a place away from earth. MacLeish calls for "a circus traveling time out of mind." In keeping with this idea he has given the set an appearance of ancient age.

Cast also in the production are Marlene Silvers as J.B.'s wife Sarah, Walter Turney as Nichols, Kathy Brown as the girl and Jeff Tambor, Dan Mason and Wayne Grace as the three comforters.

Performances will be given tonight, tomorrow night and November 12, 13, 14 and 15 in the Little Theater at 8:30. Tickets are available at the Creative Arts Box Office at $1.00 and $1.50.

Ramsay psychs LSL quitters

Charges that the LSL might have been behind the attempt during last Tuesday's AS legislature meeting to remove Speaker Bill Burnett and Assistant Speaker Marty Mellera from their posts are "almost paranoid," according to AS President Tom Ramsay.

"They (Burnett and Mellera) seem to feel that they are a lot more important to the LSL than they really are," Ramsay said. "I think they're part of a rival political party of five or six Legislators and we are keeping an eye on them but as of now they're just not that important. If the LSL had wanted to remove them it would have succeeded."

Burnett and Mellera resigned from the LSL October 23. They stated in their letter of resignation that although they were in essential agreement with much of the platform of the LSL, they felt that the organization should pay less attention to "off-campus political issues" and should give the elected officers more freedom of action on campus issues.

After their resignation LSL president John Pearson charged that they had wanted the leadership of the party to come from the elected leaders, rather than from the rank and file members.

After last Tuesday's unsuccessful attempt to remove Burnett and Mellera, Burnett charged that Pearson had been behind the move.

Ramsay stated that the legislative leaders had repeatedly dealt only in personalities and had failed to act on concrete issues.

TOM RAMSAY
... Prexy strikes again

"Almost one month has gone by and I have had only one of my cabinet appointees approved," Ramsay said. (AS Treasurer Andy Welling to the SF State Foundation Board). "I finally went down to the Legislature office and found out the dates of the committee meetings, which they haven't informed me of."

He said he plans to send a representative to the meetings.

He said that he had not sent any measures to the AS as yet because he felt that any measures might get bogged down in a personality row.

"I plan to submit concrete proposals on membership in the National Students Association in the next meeting and if they (the legislative leaders) can forget for a moment that I proposed them we might get some action," Ramsay said.

Meanwhile he said, the executive branch is doing its job, "implementing the LSL platform."

He also said that at the meeting of the Activities Committee Thursday, a total of 10 of Ramsay's appointees were approved, although they still have to be approved by the Legislature as a whole.

It would be a good idea to send a representative to the meetings, he said.

"The legislature is fine," Burnett said, "and it is from there that we will get our real leadership this semester. We could get more done if we weren't subjected to the pressure of outside groups."

Culture plus free champagne

AS student body card holders of SF State are members of the San Francisco Modern Art Museum Association.

The Associated Students, for the second consecutive year, has joined the association at a special group rate of $300, according to Andy Weiling, AS treasurer.

The membership entitles each AS member to attend most of the Museum's special exhibits, contemporary poetry readings, and films free of charge.

Some restrictions are placed on the membership, according to Weiling. Students pay a reduced rate for some special attractions.

Students are invited to the champagne parties sponsored by the Museum to open the San Francisco opera season and Christmas if they can provide proper identification.

The Art Museum is located on the second floor of the Veteran's Building at McAllister and Van Ness in the Civic Center. It includes 14 art galleries, an auditorium which seats 500, a bookstore and a creative arts Library.

The Museum is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays and from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays. Students can obtain a schedule of Museum events at the Museum.

Mercy-killing debate and a toy revolver

The debater held up a picture of a deformed baby. In the other hand he displayed a toy revolver, handle extended toward the audience.

"Who will pull the trigger?" he asked.

Two Forensics Union teams debated for and against euthanasia Tuesday. Bob Burkowitz and John Vannice took the negative; John Broome and Ron Parducci spoke for mercy killing.

Broome said euthanasia is justified "to prevent needless pain and suffering where all hope is lost." Burkowitz and Vannice displayed the doll and gun to underscore their contention that euthanasia, if justified in one case, must be justified in all.

The negative team emphasized incidents in which the patient went from a momentary death wish to a will to live. Cases cited were where scientific discoveries saved "incurable" patients.

Festive flora floats follow 'Golden Banner' in parade

This year's Homecoming parade is slated for Saturday, November 16, and will begin at 10 a.m. in the West Portal section of San Francisco.

The parade will continue down West Portal Avenue, turn on Junipero Serra, continue down Ocean Avenue and Winston Avenue, and will wind up in the parking area in front of Merced and Mary Ward Halls.

The floats will be judged Friday, November 15, with an on-campus parade beginning promptly at noon. All divisions will compete against one another for a perpetual sweep-stake trophy. Trophies will be awarded to first and second place winners in each division the night of the Homecoming Ball.

On the morning of November 15, representatives from each organization which has entered will meet in the corporation yard at 11 a.m. with the parade chairman, to place the floats in the proper divisions.

The theme for the parade will be "Neath Our Golden Banner," taken from the SF State Victory Song.

Floats entered are sponsored by: Newman Club; Sigma Pi Sigma; Kappa Theta; Alpine Club; SF State Young Democrats; Mary Ward Hall (floors four and six); Merced Hall (floors two and three); Drake and Pacifica Houses; Skyline House; Lakeside and Golden Gate Houses; Delta Gamma Tau and Bib 'n' Tucker; Air Force ROTC and Angel Flight; Bayview and Marina Houses; Rally Committee, and the Engineering Society and Student Nurses.

This year's floats will be judged on construction, originality and continuity with the general theme. There is no limit as to the amount of money that can be spent on a commercially subsidized float. For privately-sponsored floats the amount ranges from $50 to $100.

The parade, game, and Coronation Ball on November 16, will climax Homecoming 1963.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES SALUTE: DICK KUSSMAN

Dick Kussman (B.A., 1953; M.A., 1959), in the short span of three years, has advanced through Pacific Telephone's management achievement program to what the company terms "district level."

In his new job as divisional commercial supervisor, he assists in the administration of over 276,000 subscriber accounts in the Los Angeles area.

During his short telephone career, Dick has had responsible assignments in the marketing, traffic and plant departments. Prior to his latest promotion, he spent nearly a year as commercial staff supervisor in charge of management and non-management training.

Dick has shown his capacity for increased responsibilities, and has opened up a bright future for himself with the Telephone Company. The proof is in his rapid advancement to a managerial position at the district level.

Dick Kussman, like other young men, is impatient to make things happen for his company and himself. There are few places where such restlessness is more welcomed or rewarded than in the fast-growing telephone business.

Federal help for colleges bill passes House; awaits Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House gave overwhelming approval Wednesday to a bill authorizing $1,195,000,000 to help the nation's crowded colleges expand.

A 258-92 roll call vote sent the bill to the Senate.

The bill would launch the federal government on a major new role in education. It calls for a three-year program of grants and loans for institutions from the junior college to the graduate school level.

The bill would authorize $690 million in building grants for junior colleges and colleges, $145 million for graduate schools, and $360 million in long-term, low-interest construction loans for all higher education institutions.

At the college and graduate school level, the grants could total only one-third of the construction cost of a project. For junior colleges, the federal share could be 40 per cent.

The bill would give a strong thrust to the development of public community junior colleges by requiring that each state set aside 22 per cent of its share of the $690 million for such construction. Each state's allotments would be based on its high school and college enrollment.

It does.

Certainly, there's no organization today conducting more vital business than the business of the United States Air Force. And very few organizations that give a college graduate greater opportunities for responsibility and growth.

As an Air Force officer, you'll be a leader on the Aerospace Team—with good pay, a 30-day paid vacation each year, educational opportunities.

How can you get started? For many, the best way is through Air Force ROTC. But if you missed out on AFROTC, or if there's no unit on your campus, you can still apply for Air Force Officer Training School. 'Do or die' at Chico State

By JERRY LITRELL

Facing a "do-or-die" alternative, SF State's varsity football squad invades Chico State tomorrow night for a league game with the unpredictable Wildcats.

The Gators, sporting a 1-1-1 league record, need a win if they are to remain serious contenders for the conference title.

The Wildcats do not have an impressive record on the year, a 2-5 season record and an 0-3 league mark, but this is the type of team that coaches have nightmares about.

"When a team has nothing to lose they play a lot looser," said coach Vic Rowen. "We can't afford to overlook them, especially with that backfield that they have."

The Wildcat offensive backfield consists of the league's leading ground gaining machine, quarterback George Calkins, who already this season has gained well over 1,000 yards running and throwing.

Calkins is an extremely dangerous man on the rollout option play with his speed, power and throwing ability.

The main problem with the Wildcats seems to be their defense, which has allowed 181 points this season while the offense has scored only 144.

Although they won't be at full strength, the Gators won't be hurting too badly.

Placekicker Don Rodrigo is definitely out of Saturday's game with a badly sprained ankle.

Rodrigo's spot will be filled by punter George Moorhouse, last minute hero of the upset win over Humboldt State College.

Tackle Ted Freeman's head injury still has not healed but he will play with his forehead bandaged.

The troublesome right half-back slot will be filled by Mike

Burke, converted quarterback.

Probably just as important as the hoped-for win over the Wildcats will be the outcome of the Sacramento-Humboldt game, which will be played Saturday on the Hornet home field.

A win by either Humboldt or Sacramento would put that team in an excellent spot for taking the league title.

Gator hopes for a victory will rely heavily on their ability to defend against the running and passing attack of Calkins, who up until this week was rated the nation's 10th best small college ground gainer.

Matmen signups now

Signups are now being taken for the intramural wrestling tournaments which will start November 12.

There will be nine weight classifications: 121, 130, 137, 147, 157, 167, 177, 191 pounds and heavyweight.

For information consult the bulletin board in the men's gymnasium.

Ball dunkers defeat Aggies, tie for title

SF State's water polo team managed to surface from the depths of obscurity to the top of the Far Western Conference Wednesday when they defeated the front-running Cal Aggies, 7-6.

The narrow win earned for the Gators a share of the top spot in the FWC, as both the Aggies and the Gators finished league play with identical 4-1-0 records.

Final over-all standings show the mermen compiled a 4-9 season record.

Against the Aggies it was again a one man show, as the league's leading scorer, George Drysdale, made full use of his powerful forehand and backhand shots in scoring all seven of the Gator goals.

The Gators held a 5-2 half-time lead and appeared an easy shoo-in for the game when their defense tired and their passing started to go wild.

Late in the third quarter, Drysdale slammed in what seemed to be just an insurance goal to set the Gators ahead, 7-4.

Then the Aggies, continually putting fresh men into the pool to keep a constant, speedy attack going, made their move by penetrating SF State's defense for two more goals and a 7-6 score.

Drysdale, final hero of the game, almost turned into the goat when, during the attempted stall, he shot each of the last five times he had the ball and each time the Aggie defense picked up the ball and moved in for their shots.

None of those final shots went in due for the most part to the goal tending job of Leroy Farwell, who seemingly gets better each game.

Tomorrow the Gators will travel to Davis where they will compete against this same Aggie club in the FWC tournament.

Soccer tilt tomorrow

Chico State's soccer team will face the Gator booters at 1 p.m. on the soccer field tomorrow. This will be the final home game scheduled this season.

Harriers travel to Chico after beating Lumberjacks

SF State's cross-country team hits the road tomorrow for a meet with the Chico State Wildcats in Chico.

Last Saturday, the harriers defeated Humboldt State, 26-29, on the Gator's home Lake Merced course.

Humboldt's Ed Ferlatte took first place when he completed the 3.2 mile run in 17:55. Gator runners took second, third, sixth, seventh and eighth in compiling the winning 26 points.

Jim Stapleton finished second in 18:15 followed closely by Gator Bob Andrae, 18:44.

Other Gator finishers were Joe Beccera, 19:14; Ken Atkinson, 19:27, and Jack Gleason, 19:55.

JV gridders face Cal frosh

Allan Abraham leads his Gator-babies into battle against the California freshmen tomorrow morning in Berkeley. The Gator JV, with a three and two record for the season, will take on the Bearcubs at 10 a.m.

Cal has sputtered and started through a strange 1-1-2 season.
