Unlike our Republican brethren who regularly dine on $1,000 a plate dinners, we Democrats are traditionally longer on enthusiasm than we are on money. While enthusiasm motivates our many volunteers, money provides for such mundane matters as postage, rent, office supplies and telephone service.

Nixon may now be out in front but as one of Senator McGovern's aides has noted, his support is "a mile wide and an inch deep." We believe we can cut into that support and ultimately overcome it if we can simply get the message across to the voters that what this country needs is another Democratic administration and not "Four More Years" of Nixon. To get that message across, however, we need money, money we hope you'll send us by return mail.

Thank you.
