

Pride goeth before destruction and a haughty spirit before a fall."

Dignified teachers who ride safety bicycles after dark, sometimes prove the truth of this adage. We refrain from mentioning names.

Drawing Teacher—"Now, Hatch, what is this half apple based upon?"

Hatch—"It's based on the core."

"Ah!" soliloquized the fly, as he crawled around the bottle, "I have passed the hatching age, ditto the creeping age, and now I'm in the mucilage." Then he stuck.—Ex.

Prof. Childs left for the East last Thursday to be absent until about the middle of June. Prof. Kleeberger will be acting Principal during his absence, and Prof. Randall, acting Vice-Principal.

"Robert, you may give me the name of some wild flower," said the Botany teacher. Robert thought awhile and then said, "I reckon Injun meal comes about as near being wild flour as anything I know of."

How have the busy Junior B's
Improved each moonlight eve?
By learning Word Analysis,
That this study they may leave.

Eugene—"Have you heard of the awful collision in San Francisco?"

Will—"No, what was it?"

Eugene—"Kearney and Market streets ran into each other."

A student from a neighboring institution of learning, in the Assembly Hall on the night of March 26th said he could not understand "How the professors could manage their classes if all the recitation rooms were as large as this." Adding that "the Normal graduates are sure to die of consumption within a year, you know."

"Whoever hath the face to state
That sound proceedeth at the rate
Of nigh a thousand feet a second,
Upon the facts hath never reckoned.
For instance, when the bell for ending
The recitation hour is sending
It's welcome clangor all around,
It often seems to take the sound
A full three minutes 'ere it reach
And check from eagerness to teach,
Professor Blank."

I 'clare to goodness ef it ain't sinful, the way Eliza Johnson do bring up her children. I went down pas' her house dis mornin' and thar was that innercent little brack boy, a playin' in the street; and Eliza standin' in de door yellin' "Yo' George Washington Johnson, come right in here dis minnit, and put on yo' sho's and stockens; folks 'll think yo're Irish.

Den that poor little Mary Ann started down to de creek to play, and Eliza had to yell at her, "Yo' Mary Ann Eliza, what yo' mean? Yo' come right back yere and put on yo' sun-bunnet. The idee of yo' going out bare-headed. What yo' mean? Don' yo' know yo'll spile yo' complexion? Yo'll be as black as dose niga's Stanley found in Africa. Yo' doan ack like yo' had been brung up right. Folks 'll think yo' ain't civilized.

Dat's de way Eliza pesters those chillun all the time. No wonder dot dey don't grow. Eliza is tryin' to bring those chillun up like white chillun. But she don't know nuthin'. Why las' Sunday she took dat little John Jefferson to be baptized. Broder Jones ask' her, 'What denomination am dis chile?' She said she did'n't know what he mean. So he said, 'Well to express it accordin' to yo' ignorance, am dis chile a girl or boy?' Why anybody would see dat was what it meant, an Eliza didn't have enough sense to see dat. What a beingin' up those chillun 'll have.
