

VERDUCCI DIES

Little Joe died late Friday afternoon.

Joseph J. Verducci, 53, was known to many at SF State as Little Joe. He was also this college's Director of Athletics and a Professor of Physical Education.

He died from an apparent heart attack while taking part in what he loved best—athletics.

Verducci was playing handball shortly before five o'clock with Edmund Hallberg, associate dean of student activities, when he paused to rest.

He knelt down and then toppled over.

Dr. Evelyn Ballard of the Student Health Service was summoned and gave artificial resuscitation but it was to no avail.

"There was no confusion, only shock," said Hallberg.

His death cast a pall over the Homecoming activities scheduled for the weekend. The Big-Game rally and dance was canceled shortly after 5 p.m.

Verducci was a well-known sports personality in the Bay Area and throughout the Far West.

But he didn't confine his activities to the world of athletics and football. He was widely known as a prominent figure in San Mateo County politics while serving as Mayor of Daly City and as a member of the City Council for 12 years.

He was scheduled to take office in January as a county supervisor.

Along with his political record, Little Joe's athletic record was outstanding.

After graduating in 1929 from San Francisco's Mission High School, Verducci entered the University of California at Berkeley.

He played quarterback on the Bear elevens in 1931, '32 and '33. He was the only Cal football player that ever won the Andy Smith Memorial Scholarship Award for Inspirational Leadership twice.

Following his graduation from Cal, he coached at Commerce and Polytechnic High Schools in San Francisco, compiling an amazing 55-6 record.

Verducci served in the Coast Guard from 1942 through 1945.

He coached at St. Mary's College in Moraga in 1948 and '49. Verducci was voted Northern California Coach of the Year in 1949.

He came to this college in 1950 as head football coach and Director of Athletics.

Verducci coached the Gators from 1950 to the end of the 1960 season, winning six Far Western Conference championships along the way. His Gator teams compiled a 67-26-1 record.

He was again selected Northern California's Coach of the Year in 1957.

His overall football coaching record was 162 wins, 65 losses and 14 ties.

In 1957, Sports Illustrated Magazine named him to their Silver Anniversary All-American team for not only his ability as a player at Cal, but also for his work outside of athletics.

In 1960 Verducci served with the West squad in the East-West Shrine Game as an assistant coach.

In addition to political activity, he was active in Daly City and San Francisco Boy Scouts clubs.

Verducci was the guiding hand behind this college's participation in the Peace Corps Physical Education program.

He is survived by his wife Florence; a son Jerry, 15; two daughters, Diane Verducci and Mrs. Florence Joan Armstrong; and a grandson, David Armstrong.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by Laswell's of Daly City.

49er and city mayor recall Joe's activities

"Joe was a scout for the Chicago Bears. And one year we had a shotgun formation that was really working. He scouted us, and we lost the them.

"He used to joke with me that he put blanks in the 49er shotgun."

Speaking quietly of his close friend and fellow politician Joe Verducci was the 6-9 captain of the San Francisco 49er's, Bob St. Clair.

St. Clair, a Daly City councilman, told how "The Coach" had given him special consideration on Polytechnic's high school football team in 1946.

"I was unable to make the team because I was too small and skinny. But he took an interest and encouraged me," he said.

"In political matters he was confirmed in his convictions," St. Clair added. "He said what he thought and people liked him for it."

Mayor Michael De Bernardi told how Verducci got the council moving on plans to build a city hall and civic center in Daly City.

"He was astute and knowledgeable—a man's man," the mayor said. "He will be sorely missed in the state and community.

"There are just too darn many good things to remember about him."

to fire Mrs. Lehan and Avilez, Persico said.

The student members are: Persico, Andy Weiling, AS treasurer; Mike Sweeney, AS rep-at-large; Marty Meller; Bob Fisher and Kim Krisman, residence halls reps.

The Foundation Board of Governors, which controls the campus food services, Bookstore, and TUBs, has been unable to determine hiring and firing policies for the director, his assistant, and the two managers.

Avilez is scheduled to present this policy at the December Foundation meeting.

Food price increase

By BOB DUTRA

The price reductions in the Commons and Coffee Shop announced last week by the SF State Foundation are really increases.

While the prices of many items were reduced, the portions were also reduced. The price of hamburgers was dropped from 35 cents to 30 cents. But the amount of meat used was reduced from 3-1/5 ounces to 2-2/3 ounces.

Thus, hamburgers went from 10.9 cents an ounce to 11.2 cents an ounce. This works out to be almost one cent more for the new smaller size burgers.

While ice cream went from 13 cents to 10 cents a scoop, the portions dropped more than correspondingly.

Before the "reductions," students paid 20 cents for 5 1/2 ounces of french fries. They now pay the same price for four ounces.

Erna Lehan, Commons manager, denied the increases. If an increase is found it was not intentional, she said.

Joe Persico, AS president, takes the opposite view.

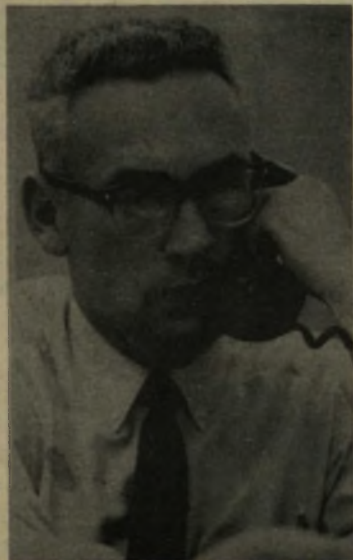

"The crisis stage has been reached in regards to the Commons situation," Persico said.

"I will move at the next Foundation meeting that Mrs. Lehan and Fred Avilez, director of the SF State Foundation, be fired," he said.

The next regular meeting is scheduled for December.

Persico said he has called a meeting of the student members of the Foundation Board for this afternoon.

The purpose of this meeting is to find out if the students, who make up a majority on the Board, will all vote

'Deeply saddened' -- Dodd

We are deeply saddened by the passing of Joe Verducci; but he will be remembered always by those who have been privileged to know him and to work with him. He gave unstintingly of himself to education at all levels, to youth, to athletics, and to the many facets of public service.

His ebullient and persuasive personality will be sorely missed by all at San Francisco State College and many in the Bay Area community. No more telling memorial to him could exist than that of the legion of people who were his friends and admirers.

Letters to the Editor

No free speech issue

Editor:

In response to Mr. Jim Wong's letter re the controversy over at UC, I would like to point out an essential error which he, like many others, has made.

The Freedom of Speech per se, the essence of which he has so eloquently laid out, is not being infringed upon by the Cal Administration. The real issue is whether the Administration may impose a ban on the solidification of funds and the recruitment of personnel for projects not related to the University.

Too often the well-meaning citizen is rallied by a slogan when the implications of the true issues are not clear to him. In this case, the term "freedom of speech" has been bastardized beyond reasonable bounds.

As I see it, the problem is whether the Administration has the right to appease the budget allocating legislature, the Regents, and other politicians. These factions have been perturbed by the involvement of the University directly in many current civil disobedience activities.

In order to protect the University budget, expansion programs, image, etc., the Administration tried to make a token concession by banning fund and personnel-raising solicitation from a small area on campus. These activities can be carried on anywhere else.

To say that fund-raising is "inherent in freedom of speech" is wrong.

To deny the Administration the right to alleviate the political pressure by making basically meaningless gestures is also wrong.

The wrongest wrong is to confuse the issues and then take a stand without comprehension of what is actually going on.

Setting record straight

Editor:

In reference to the Barrie Millman article, "40 Arabs, 4 Americans, Dispute US-Israeli Relations," I'd like to set the record straight on the following points.

1) In our meeting on Friday, October 16, there were about 30 Arabs and no less than 15 Americans, and not as reported by Miss Millman, 40 Arabs and 4 Americans. Included in those 15 Americans, were about 6 or 7 Zionists whom I personally know.

2) The rest of the Americans were either neutral or pro-Arab. Miss Millman should know that we do have plenty of American friends who are aware of the intricacies of the problem and in whom we find understanding, support and encouragement.

3) What was both amusing and silly is to find Miss Millman turning from being a "reporter" to becoming a "prophet," "... 40 Arabs ... 4 Americans ... left believing that they could not ... understand each other."

Did she ask the people present?

4) It would be silly to assume, as Miss Millman evidently does, that our aim in holding such discussions is to find solutions for such complex problems. So far, the U.N. has been unsuccessful to do so in spite of long and successive sessions!

God Is Inescapable

The Psalmist David wrote, "Whither shall I go from thy Spirit, or whither shall I flee from thy presence; if I ascend up into heaven, thou art there; if I make my bed in hell, behold thou art there. If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea; even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me. If I say, Surely the darkness shall cover me; even the night shall be light about me. Yea, the darkness hideth not from thee, but the night shineth as the day: the darkness and the light are both alike to thee." (Psalm 137:7-12)

David discovered in his own personal experience that it is quite impossible to run away from God. This fact is a torment for those in hell, for in hell lost souls experience the eternal wrath and consuming fire of God's holiness. The omnipresence of God, is, however, a constant comfort to the children of God who live in fellowship with their Creator and Redeemer, for they experience the warm fire of His unending love.

Paul told the people of Athens when he preached from Mars Hill: "The God who made the world and everything in it, being Lord of heaven and earth, does not live in shrines made by man, nor is he served by human hands, as though he needed anything, since he himself gives to all men life and breath and everything, having determined allotted periods and the boundaries of their habitation, that they should seek God, in hope that they might feel after him and find him. Yet he is not far from every one of us, for in Him we live and move and have our being." (Acts 17:24-28)

The God who made us is omnipresent, but he is not the God of pantheism, for he infinitely transcends his creation and all that are in it. His purity and holiness are so great he is said to dwell in unapproachable light (I Timothy 6:16). God sees and knows the hearts of all men, but most men are not in a saving relationship with him, being enemies and aliens (Romans 5:10). God the Holy Spirit is always near at hand speaking to the non-believing about their sins and lost condition. God the Holy Spirit indwells the believer, revealing Jesus Christ in those who have been reconciled to God through faith in Jesus Christ. In fact, Father, Son and Holy Ghost are all said to indwell every Christian (Ephesians 2:6), and for this reason the believer is admonished by Scripture: "work out your own salvation with fear and trembling, for God is at work in you, both to will and to work for his good pleasure." (Philippians 2:12, 13).

You may try to repudiate God and deny his existence, or even deny your need for God, but God is still a living reality. What is your relationship to him, are you friend or foe? Do you know him personally because you have acknowledged Jesus Christ as Lord? For all eternity you will never escape the presence of God, but your only chance to be brought into a saving relationship with him is here and now during your present short life-span on earth. If you will allow him to, he will prove himself to you through the Lord Jesus Christ.

Lecture tonight on life on Mars

Friday morning an interplanetary rocket named Mariner 3 was fired into space from Cape Kennedy and began an 8½ month journey to Mars.

The mechanical explorer was ticketed to fly a lonely voyage across 350 million miles of space before passing close to the red planet next July 17.

When the rocket nears the planet, a television camera is to snap 22 close-up pictures and sensitive instruments are to probe for scientific data.

Tonight a member of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) will discuss what Mariner

3 might discover when it passes near Mars.

Richard Young, director of the Exploratory Division for NASA's Ames Research Laboratory in Sunnyvale, will talk on the possibility of life on Mars in S 210 at 8 p.m.

The exobiology division that Young heads is studying biology outside the earth's atmosphere. The word exobiology is a new term meaning "biology outside the earth."

The exobiology division has a model of Mars in which is a duplicate of that planet's environment.

Young's talk is being sponsored by Sigma Xi, a national science fraternity.

Special room for special students

From the outside, the study room for the blind and visually handicapped on the college library's second floor looks no different from any of the other cubicle-like rooms in the library.

But inside, atop the tables and desks, are pieces of special equipment such as braille-writers, typewriters with extra-large print size, and an ear-phone - equipped phonograph section.

The room, in the Education section of the library, is also furnished with 24 storage lockers, catalogs of magazines available in braille, a 36-volume Webster's Students Dictionary in braille, and a file of records.

The New York Times' "News of the Week," a recording of top news stories, is received by the library by subscription; a collection of recorded poetry, philosophy, and other educational material is donated by Whitney's of San Francisco.

Another gift to the library is "Choice Magazine Reading," selected articles transcribed into braille and distributed monthly by the publisher.

Students using the room, according to Education librarian Miss Barbara Anderson, number between 15 and 20. Each person employs two or three readers who also use the facilities.

Authorized students, according to the State Education Code, include those with no more than 20/200 central visual acuity after correction or with a limitation of field of vision such that the widest diameter of the field is no more than a 20-degree angle.

The large-print typewriters and a print-magnifying machine are for the use of the visually handicapped.

"All together, we have six two tape recorders as well as the equipment in the room," said Miss Anderson, "so we are able to take care of everyone who needs the room."

According to Miss Anderson, students learn about the room through word-of-mouth — not from official college sources.

"There are probably some blind students on campus who still don't know about the facilities. All they have to do is come up and ask about it."

SF State station broadcasts election

Gater beats SF dailies on returns

The Golden Gater's 6 a.m. election extra Wednesday gleaned later results than the downtown morning dailies—Chronicle and Examiner.

The Gater used 6 a.m. Associated Press election figures.

In the Presidential race, the Gater was ahead of the two dailies by roughly six million votes for President Johnson, and nearly four million votes for Barry Goldwater.

In the California Senatorial and Proposition 13 races the Gater was roughly one million votes ahead on both issues.

SF State's junior varsity basketball team, 21 strong, has begun practice in preparation of a scheduled 16 game season.

The Gators will be small this year as compared to last year's squad. The tallest player is Mike Paulle, a 6-6 center, while Ken Canada, a 5-2 guard, checks in as the smallest.

The hoopsters will play their first contest December 1 against St. Mary's.

Signups are now being taken for the fall intramural table tennis tournament. Deadline for signups is November 9.

There will be competition in singles and doubles categories and plaques will be awarded to winners.

Signups are accepted in the Men's Gym.

FWC faces expansion to eight college teams by 1966

The Far Western Conference will expand next year to include Sonoma State College in varsity basketball competition and Cal State at Hayward in varsity football competition.

Sonoma State, which has never had a varsity basketball squad, will play out the remainder of its 1964 basketball schedule on its jayvee level.

The addition of Sonoma's varsity squad to the FWC will increase the league to eight teams. The last team to enter on a varsity basis was Cal State at Hayward two years ago.

Sonoma will also enter three-way meets in cross country, track and swimming. Swim meets will be scheduled at other colleges because Sonoma does not have a pool on campus.

Other varsity sports Sonoma will be participating in for the 1964-65 season include wrestling, golf, tennis and baseball.

Sonoma athletic director G. Edward Rudloff said that there are no immediate plans for Sonoma to compete in football on either a varsity or junior varsity level.

CAL STATE HAYWARD

Hayward will organize a varsity football squad for the first time next season. This year the Pioneers played various colleges on a frosh and junior varsity level.

The Pioneers will play in the FWC next year but their wins and losses will not officially count in the conference standings until the 1966 season.

This "get-acquainted" year will be used to give the varsity players and coaches experience in preparation for full league competition.

When the Hayward footballers join the FWC for the record they will be the seventh conference team.

Hayward has participated in FWC varsity basketball for two years. It also competes in tennis, baseball, golf, swimming and cross country.

SF State was a member of the FWC until 1952 when it left for two years.

Oregon College of Education, a college of 1,400 students in Monmouth, was then a conference member and SF State dropped out in protest of the compulsory trips to Oregon for games.

When OCE exited from the league in 1954, SF State returned.

FWC teams now competing in football and basketball are Humboldt State, Chico State, Sacramento State, UC Davis, Nevada and SF State.

Matmen prep for Invitational

Varsity wrestlers will meet for their first practice of the season today at 3:30 p.m. in the Men's Gym.

Signups now include 20 prospects. Those of the 20 who make the team will travel to San Jose State for the Spartan Invitational Wrestling Tournament on December 5.

The Invitational rules allow one man per weight classification in the varsity competition while the frosh-novice class is allowed two men in each weight division.
