

They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great water
These see the works of the Lord, and his wonders in the deep.

Dedication

Say that he loved old ships; write nothing more
Upon the stone above his resting place;
And they who read will know he loved the roar
Of breakers white as starlight, shadow lace
Of purple twilights on a quiet sea . . .

CALIFORNIA MARITIME ACADEMY

OFFICE OF
THE SUPERINTENDENT

TO THE CLASS OF 1974:

The maritime industry of tomorrow beckons you and future California Maritime Academy graduates. There are some people who will tell you that the American merchant marine is a dying profession and that rising costs and modernization are the culprits. Every profession, however, has its pessimists; and the sea-going profession is no different.

It is true that the American merchant marine is no longer the largest merchant marine in terms of number of ships and gross tonnage, but the American merchant marine is unsurpassed in modern transportation technology and sophistication.

The new ships being built in this country are bigger, faster and more complex. The officers needed to man these vessels will be of a new breed. They must be well grounded in the fundamentals of physics, chemistry, mathematics, engineering technology, computer science, nuclear science and the social sciences in order to keep abreast of the unprecedented changes that are taking place in the industry. We at the Academy feel that we are producing the new breed of officers who are skilled in the technology of ship operation and also in these other important areas.

You, the graduates of 1974, will have the opportunity to make maritime history in the technocratic age as many of your predecessors from the Academy have in the past. While making this history, keep in mind your alma mater which is also preparing the way for its future.

Many of you returning through the gates in a few short years will not recognize the Academy, as the face of this campus will take on a new look under the new five-year building and revitalization plan which was approved during your first class year. This is a milestone in the history of the California Maritime Academy, and your class played an active role in the planning of it. This should be a source of pride to you for many years to come.

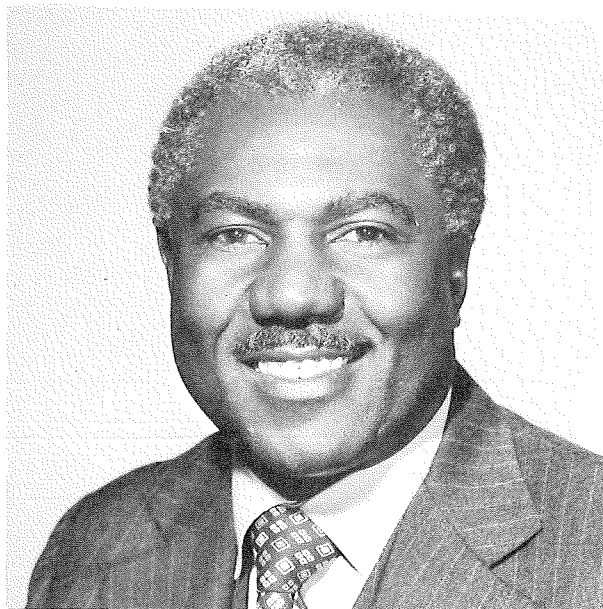

Although the face of the Academy will be greatly altered, one thing will not change -- the outstanding quality and character of the California Maritime Academy graduates. Go into the world and be what you have been trained to be -- leaders and innovators!

My sincere best wishes go with you,

GREGORY ROMELFANGER
204 Warren Dr.
San Francisco, Ca. 94131

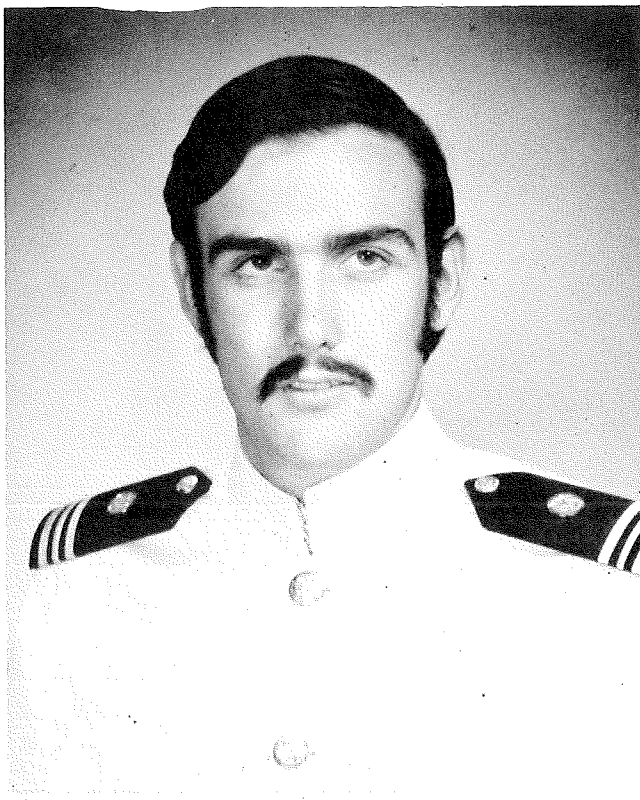

"Danger"... "4-E"... "1st Class Engineer"...
Greg only had one comment, "Who was Greg"?

JEFFERY L. ROMICK
6771 Hazard Ave.
Westminster, Ca. 92683

"Jeff"... "2-D"... "Peon"... If someone wanted to find Jeff at Keema he had better try finding him around mid-week or otherwise Jeff might not be found. Always on the move, usually to L.A., Jeff is the Vice President of the Down South Club. Also a member of the Propeller Club Jeff spent sometime at the handball courts.

Jeff plans to ship out and make some bucks.

THOMAS K. ROSE
519 42nd Ave.
San Francisco, Ca. 94121

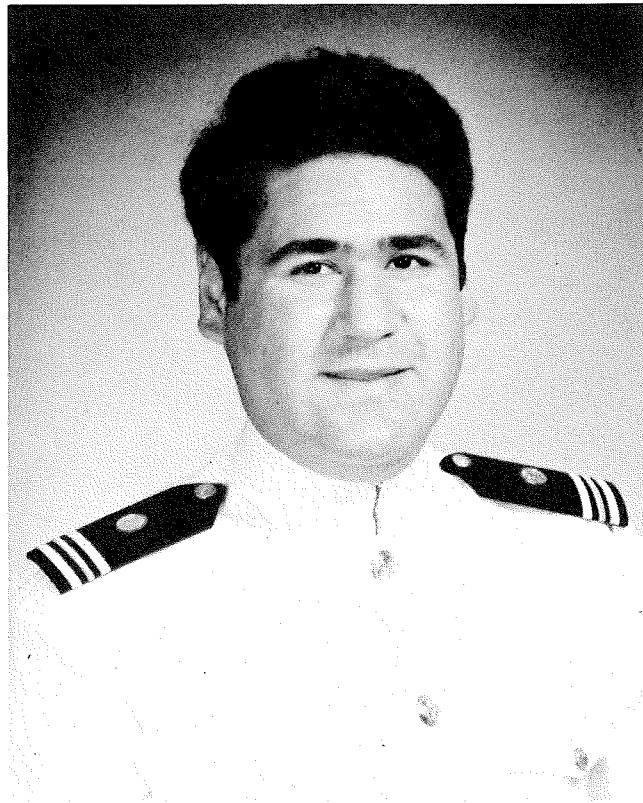

"Tom"... "2-D"... The following Tom wrote and asked it to be placed in this space.

"Not long ago I came to find a truth Yet, when I had heard their lesson, while seeing their lives when I followed their paths, while feeling them narrow I sensed it was not a truth at all... But, the past has shaded the sorrows of those days, and now it is time to stand alone.

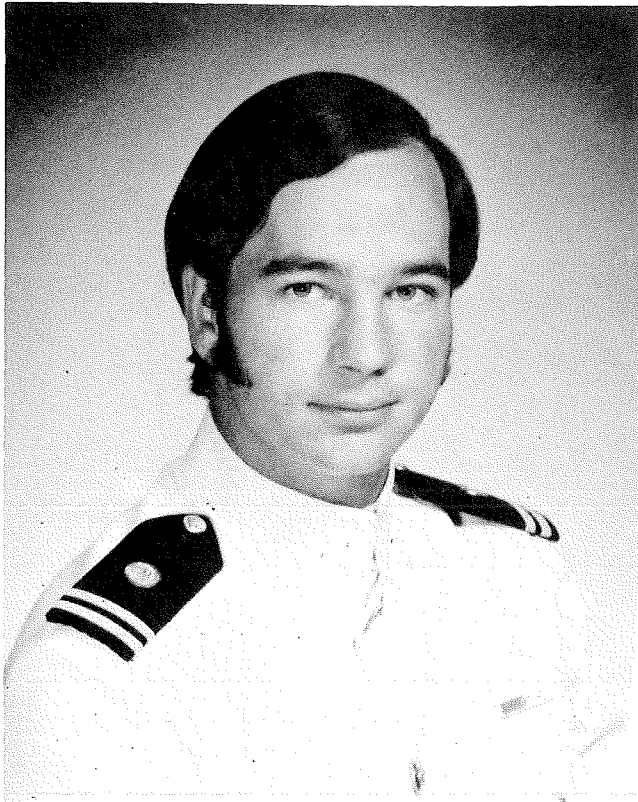

SOLOMON H. SOLOMON
11319 N. Poinsehia Pl.
Hollywood, Ca. 90046

"Sea Daddy"... "1-E Div. Commander"... Solomon was a member of the Soccer Team, Eddie's Street Club, and the Jaguar Club. His comments, "Let's hope all this wasn't for nothing, and we will each fulfill our mission in life."

Sol plans to ship out, then open a Jaguar shop.

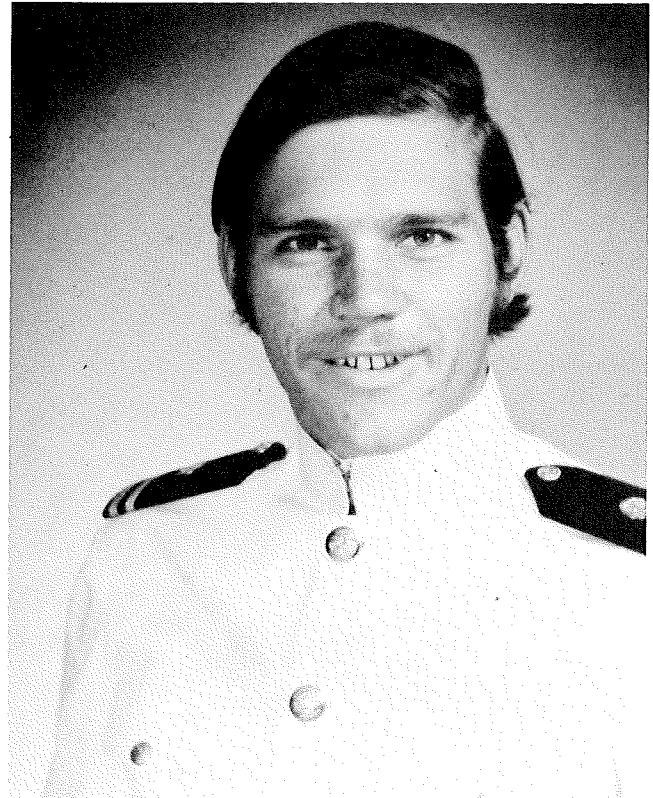

JACK SPECKLES
262 E. Elfin Green
Port Hueneme, Ca. 93041

We're rolling. On and off.

Beginning in August, we're introducing the most significant innovation in Pacific shipping since intermodal containerization.

We've just chartered two big, fast Roll-on/Roll-off trailer ships, 24,000 ton, 23 knot, 4-day crossings between Los Angeles or San Francisco and Honolulu.

Thus, in addition to your being able to ship containerizable and shoreside cranes.

It's almost like having your trailers driving Interstate Matson across the ocean.

Why RO-RO?

We're dedicated to providing you with the most modern and versatile total intermodal freight transportation system in the ocean shipping industry.

the Hawaii trade is studded with pioneering achievements.

We were the first with containerization in the Pacific, almost 15 years ago.

Our Integrated Distribution Plan, introduced in 1971, is the finest intermodal system between the Mainland and Hawaii.

RO-RO continues our development of a total system designed to meet your requirements for increasingly better service, no matter how good we were before.

conventional cargo, you can also ship almost anything that can travel on a highway—flatbeds, tank cars, trailers of almost any size or shape, buses, automobiles, cement mixers... you name it.

Dock'n roll.

Freight loaded onto trailers at your warehouse remains untouched until unloaded at the consignee's warehouse, for maximum security and convenience.

The difference is that RO-RO trailers are driven on and off the ships instead of being lifted on and off by

Even though, until now, we've been the carrier with the greatest variety of units in Hawaiian service, with flexibility of fleet to meet most specialized requirements, we realized that our customers often need to ship goods that don't easily lend themselves to containerization. So, an additional capability was needed. Therefore, RO-RO.

Another first for Matson.

Our 90 year history of service to

Imua!

That's the Hawaiian word for "Forward!"

Imua!

It's the kind of word that makes you think of the cavalry charging to save John Wayne.

The word means action. That's what we've created, and what we can achieve with your cooperation.

Imua! It's a brief way of saying, "Okay, businessmen, now you're in control of your own cargoes."

Move ahead with maritime's changing needs

In today's changing maritime industry, if you're not moving ahead to adapt to evolving needs you may be left behind.

The California Maritime Academy is making changes in its course of study to meet the challenges of the 70's. And we at Chevron strongly support this endeavor.

Chevron too is moving ahead. The CHEVRON HAWAII, a 70,000 DWT tanker delivered in June, 1973 is the latest to join our U.S. flag fleet. To meet tomorrow's demands we're building new ships with advanced systems. Systems which will require technically trained officers of the highest quality.

CMA graduates, we're proud to say, have shipped with us since 1933 when the Academy's first class graduated. And today, we're proud that many of our sea-going officers as well as shoreside staff are Academy alumni.

If this is your year to graduate, you will face in your maritime career challenges and opportunities. But we know you are prepared to meet these challenges and seize the opportunities.

Congratulations to this year's graduates.
