

be expended to support similar costs in California. Students assume responsibility for all personal costs, such as transportation, room and board, and living expenses, as well as for home campus fees. Because they remain enrolled at their home CSU campus while studying overseas, International Programs students earn full resident credit for all academic work completed while abroad and remain eligible to receive any form of financial aid (other than work-study) for which they can individually qualify.

Information and application materials may be obtained from Sonya L. Hildreth, Coordinator, International Programs (Overseas) in the International Student Counseling Office, Joyal 211, or Maurice Gendron, Academic Council Member (in San Ramon 4-101) or by writing to The California State University International Programs, 400 Golden Shore, Suite 300, Long Beach, California 90802. Applications for the 1984-85 academic year overseas must be submitted by February 9, 1984 (except for the New Zealand program where applications are due by May 15, 1984).

COURSES (I S A)

California State University, Fresno students under The California State University International Programs register concurrently on campus and at the host institution abroad, with credit assigned in terms of CSUF courses. Undergraduate students who find appropriate study opportunities at the host institution but no local counterpart course may use Independent Study (190), and International Study Abroad 92 or 192. Graduate students may use Independent Study (290), and International Study 292.

LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES

CSUF offers several interdisciplinary courses designed to meet the needs of students interested in Latin American Studies. There is no degree program available at this time, however, an interdisciplinary undergraduate minor is available. Under certain circumstances a special major may be designed to meet specific needs of students in this area. Consult the Coordinator of the Latin American Studies program, Dr. Manuel Figueroa, La Raza Studies Program, for additional information.

MINOR

The minor consists of 21 units of upper division courses in the area. The program must be approved by the Coordinator of Latin American Studies and a Latin American Studies advisor in the area of concentration. A maximum
