Seeking Faculty Speakers for “Professors and Pastries”

For the last few years, the Center for Community Engagement has collaborated with Osher and the Goebel Senior Adult Center in Thousand Oaks to organize a series of discussions in which faculty talk with members of the local community about topics relevant to their research. For example, this fall, Stephen Clark’s topic was “A Virtual Tour of Ecuador: Contemporary Culture, History, Politics, Art, and Flora/fauna,” and in December Dawn Neuman will discuss “FRANKENFOOD: Myths, Monsters or Merely Misunderstood?”

We’d like to continue this program and are writing to solicit volunteers for Spring 2011. Below is information about the time and location of the series. We hope you will consider volunteering even if you have served before (with a different topic), or if you spoke in Camarillo we’d love to have you speak about the same topic in TO.

“Professors and Pastries” in Thousand Oaks
Goebel Senior Adult Center, 1385 E. Janss Rd.
First and third Wednesdays from 6:45 - 8:45 pm
Dates for spring: Jan 26; Feb 2 and 16; March 2 and 16; April 6 and 20; May 4

For additional information contact Andrea Grove (andrea.grove@csuci.edu) with your preferred topic and preferred dates.

Sustainability Tracking Assessment & Rating System (STARS)

CI is a charter participant in the Sustainability Tracking Assessment & Rating System (STARS) a voluntary, self-reporting framework established by the Association for the Advancement of Sustainability in Higher Education (AASHE) to measure progress toward sustainability by colleges and universities.

The system consists of 100 sustainability-themed credits. By clicking on ‘STARS’ on the CI sustainability web page (<http://www.csuci.edu/sustainability/>), you will find that STARS is divided into three categories: Education and Research, Operations, and Planning, Administration & Engagement.

1. The Education and Research category focuses on how sustainability is currently being incorporated into co-curricular education, academics, and research.
2. The Operations category focuses on water and energy consumption, landscaping, waste and transportation.
3. The Planning, Administration & Engagement category focuses on our sustainability efforts related to investments, human resources, and public engagement.

Each of these three categories has their own specific web page. Within these web pages, users can learn about STARS credits and CI’s progress on each specific credit. Not all information is currently available online, but as information becomes available, it will be added to the STARS portion of the campus sustainability website.

CI Swears In One of Its Own

President Richard Rush and Chief of Police John Reid held the official Oath of Office ceremony for their newest police officer and CI graduate, Chris Jetton, on Oct. 21 at the John Spoor Broome Library.

Fellow officers, friends and family attended the swearing in and watched as President Rush signed the official paperwork and Chief Reid completed the pinning ceremony. Officer Chris Jetton completed his bachelor's degree in Psychology in 2007 and had been working in Police & Parking Services prior to entering the police academy.

CI Achieves Student Voter Registration Goal

General elections were held Nov. 2nd and 40,000 new voters headed to the polls, courtesy of a system-wide voter registration campaign implemented by the California State Students Association (CSSA). The campaign, held during the month of October, was created to increase the amount of registered student voters in the CSU system. At the CSSA September meeting, representatives to the CSSA set the ambitious goal for each CSU campus to register at least 10% of its student body in time to vote in the Nov. 2nd elections.

CI's Student Government took the challenge seriously, launching a multifaceted registration campaign that included tabling, in-class presentations, even door-to-door solicitations in student housing! As one of only four CSU campuses to meet the 10% challenge, CI exceeded its goal, registering 416 new voters on campus! Student Government Vice President Elizabeth Bingham hopes this wave of voters will herald new change in California government.

Three students named finalists in CSU Media Arts Festival competition

Three CI Art students have been announced as finalists in the 2010 CSU Media Arts Festival awards competition to be held Nov. 6 at CSU Fullerton. The competition gives talented students studying film, video, and interactive media within the 23 campus CSU, an opportunity to present their work for critical review and recognition.

Nominated in the Interactive Media category is Shannon Scobey (<http://www.shannonleighdesigns.com>), a senior Art major from Ventura, for her interactive website “Satisfactory Sweets” (<http://www.satisfactorysweets.com>). Nominated in the Music Video category are Claire Flores (<http://kazellmulynncreations.com>), a senior Art major from Ventura, for her music video “Pilar” (http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=W_uFRVmjEKI) and Ryan Hunnewell, a junior Art major from Simi Valley for his music video “Dear Chatsworth” (<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=S20VkqfPL2w>).

Since its founding in 2002, CI has had 28 finalists and has won first prize honors seven times. The finalist screening and award ceremony are scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 6, at 6:00 p.m. at CSU Fullerton in the Steven G. Mihaylo Hall.

Tattoos on the Heart: An Evening with Father Gregory Boyle

The campus community is invited to come listen to Father Gregory Boyle, author of Tattoos on the Heart, on Thursday, Nov. 18 from 6:00-7:30 in Malibu Hall 100. Father Boyle is the founder of Los Angeles-based Homeboy Industries, the largest gang intervention program in the country, offering job training, tattoo removal, and employment to reformed gang members. Father Boyle will share stories and insights from his book Tattoos on the Heart, as he looks back on his experiences both heartbreaking and uplifting to offer parables on the importance of compassion in the face of despair. Father Boyle will be available for questions and a book signing after his presentation.

This event is made possible, in part, by the generosity of the Martin V. Smith School of Business and Economics, the History Program, Extended University, as well as the Centers for Integrative Studies, Community Engagement, and Multicultural Engagement.

Stop. Breathe. Think. How to Protect Your Relationships from Anger

Everybody gets angry with a loved one sometimes. Maybe you feel your spouse has let you down. Or maybe job or family troubles have piled up until you're about to "blow a gasket." Anger is a natural human reaction. It's how we express our anger that matters. Feeling angry is normal. Reacting by yelling, throwing things or hitting is not. The next time anger bubbles up, here are some tips to help you work through your feelings and protect your relationship: http://www.csuci.edu/news/healthcare/Pacificare_November10.pdf.

New Campus Policies Approved

The following administrative policies have been approved by the President following recommendation from the President's Planning and Policy Council.

- FA.31.013 Policy on Smoking on Campus
Establishes areas on campus where smoking is prohibited and permitted. Smoking is permitted 50 feet from structures including bus stops, outdoor dining areas and outdoor recreational areas. This policy replaces the campus Statement on Smoking.
- SA.11.004 Policy on Judicial Affairs (Supersedes SA.11.003)
Defines preponderance as it relates to this policy, delegates oversight of Judicial Affairs to the Vice President Student Affairs, changes official notification for judicial related correspondence from certified mail to Dolphin e-mail, adds disciplinary warnings as University-recognized sanctions and establishes the campus directive regarding attorneys.

Full text of these and all policies may be found on the Administrative Policy Website at <http://policy.csuci.edu/>. Please direct questions regarding specific policies to the individual or area listed in the accountability section of each policy.
