

April 17, 1966

My dearest Patricia!

I beg to report

that one carton is cleared + out of the living room and already the place looks better! It will not be long now till I shall be ready to begin Polynesianizing, for now that I've started, I shall keep at the cartons until I have them all cleared out.

My talk last night was - as I knew it would be - well received.

There were many favorable comments. The occasion was the first on which I've talked to so well prepared an audience. I didn't have to give them the basic data, for all being biologists in a sense, they already knew the basic problem.
I doubt, however, if any of them (somewhat under a hundred persons) knew any of the special problems

I presented to them. They paid excellent attention and seemed grateful for data on the nature and the urgency of population problem urgency that I presented. About half the group have been practicing microtechnologists for some years. Among these were a few I've known for ten years or more plus a lot of "new faces." Some were U.C. or southern California trained but most were from San Jose.

Your records I've listened to over and over so that I could learn to recognize Moussovsky's interpretations of the different themes involved. This too, has been interesting. Tomorrow - "Today" when you read this I'll be taking celery juice to you mom again, so I can take anything else you'd like to send, if there is anything, such as the eggs she wants - in case you have them. You can let me know when I take you to the Clinic. I'll see you at 3:30 and 6:00.

And now I'll wish you good-night and sweet dreams.
Love - Carl.