Three student assistants are working in the CLRC this year. They are: Monica Vera - a graduate student in Spanish, Yolanda Tapia - a senior majoring in computer engineering and Elizabeth Munoz Rosas - a sophomore majoring in business. Monica is from the East Bay and San Luis Potosi. Yolanda considers Gilroy her home town and Elizabeth is from Guanajuato, Mexico. They would be happy to assist you with your information and research needs.

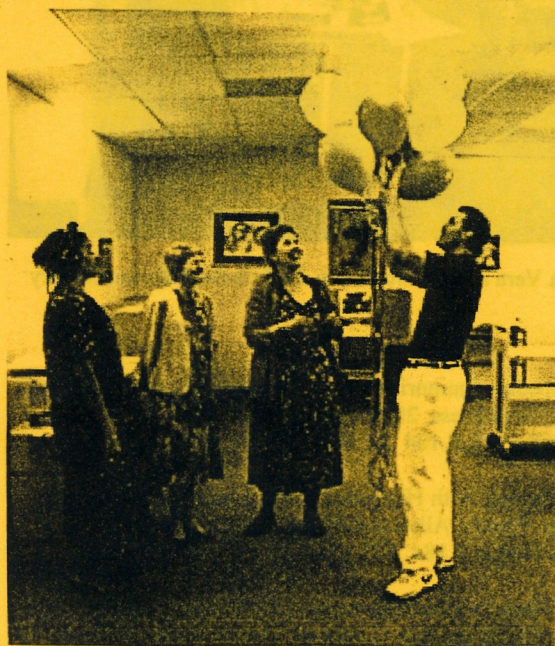

WE MOVED

The Chicano Library Resource Center has relocated into temporary quarters until the new Joint Library is ready for occupancy in 2003. The Chicano Library is located in Module A in a space that is shared with the Africana Center. Module A is located near the 9th Street walkway, opposite the Industrial Studies Building and near the Student Union.

OPEN HOUSE CELEBRATION

An Open House/Modular Celebration took place on June 6th to welcome Modular residents to their new quarters. Interim Provost Lela Noble read the following statement regarding the history of the Chicano Library at that event.

"The Chicano Resource Center arose out of planning efforts in 1979 and early 1980 that involved faculty from the Mexican American Studies Department, the College of Social Work, the bilingual program in the College of Education, and the Library, as well as a student from the College of Education. Dedicated in November 1982, the Chicano Resource Center has provided a single locus for books, periodicals, reference tools, pamphlets and clippings relating to Mexican-American history, culture, and community. In addition, the Center serves as a community center. Since its inception, Librarian Jeff Paul has served both as the coordinator for the Center and the librarian for the Mexican-American Studies Department. The University appreciates his long, valuable service in these roles."
